FLASH PHILIPPINE CHAMPION #30

PH CH. JANESA
STRUTTIN N
STUFF

"STUFF" capped a great career with Best of Breed from the classes under English breed expert Moria Anderson. He is our 36th Philippine Champion or our 8th Champion for the 10-month period ending October 31, 1995.

Bred by Jerrie Freia, STUFF is by Ch. Bev-Nor Toastmaster and Am. Ch. Janesa Hi-Struttin Daisey (by Am. Ch. Southland Toasted Fudge). He is also a littermate of Am. Ch. Janesa Struttin Ubet. He is siring some wonderful puppies from the Janshar and Hadleigh/Maxamillian bitches.

FIREFOX

of Canton

FOX is a heavier-boned version of Eng. Ch. Hadleigh Shining Star...his pretty face, his enormous fiery red coat and overall balance. He is going to play an important role in our breeding program, particularly when we outcross the Janshar line to Hadleigh. He has already sired several exciting show prospects.

Also pictured is a littermate to Fox, Am. Ch. Janshar Harley Davidson, who enjoyed great success in the American show rings.

Both of these stunning boys were bred by Sharon Hanson, Janshar, and are owned by Basilio C. Yap.

BET YOU CAN'T OWN JUST ONE!

AUTHOR UNKNOWN

Why own a show dog?
There's a danger you know.
You can't own just one for the craving will grow.

There's no doubt they're addictive
Wherein lies the danger
While living with lots
you'll grow poorer and stranger.

One dog is no trouble
and two are so funny;
the third one is easy-
the fourth one's a honey

The fifth is delightful
the sixth one's a breeze.
You find you can live with a household, with ease.

So how 'bout another?
Would you really dare?
They're really quite easy - but, Oh Lord, the hair!

With dogs on the sofa
and dogs on the bed,
and crates in the kitchen
it's no bother, you've said.

They're really no trouble
Their manners are great
What's just one more dog
And one more little crate?

The sofa is hairy
The windows are crusty.
The floor is all footprints
The furniture's dusty.

The housekeeping suffers,
But what do you care?
Who minds a few noseprints
And a little more hair?

So let's keep a puppy,
You can always find room.
And a little more time
For the dustcloth and broom.

There's hardly a limit
To the dogs you can add;
The thought of a cutback
Sure makes you feel sad.

Each one is so special
So useful, so funny,
The food bill grows larger
You owe the vet money.

Your folks never visit
Few friends come to stay.
Except other dog folks
Who live the same way.

Your lawn has now died
and your shrubs are dead, too.
But your weekends are busy.
You're off with your crew.

There's dog food and vitamins
Training and shots.
And entries and travel and
Motels which cost lots.

Is it worth it you wonder?
Are you caught in a trap?
Then that favorite comes up
And climbs in your lap.

His look says you're special and you know that you will Keep all of the critters
In spite of the bill.

Some just for showing
And some just to breed
And some just for loving
They all fill a need.

But winter's a hassle,
The dogs hate it, too.
But they must have their walks
Tho' they're numb and you're blue.

Late evening is awful
You scream and you shout
At the dogs on the sofa
Who refuse to go out.

The dogs and the dog shows
The travel, the thrills
The work and the worry,
The pressure, the bills.

The whole thing seems worth it
The dogs are your life
They're charming and funny
And offset the strife.

Your lifestyle has changed
Things just won't be the same
Yes, those dogs are addictive
And so's the dog game!

D ID YOU KNOW... THAT OWNING A DOG IS A HEALTHY THING TO DO!!!

From being our best friend and protector, our dogs change our lives in positive ways that we may not even think of.

1. When we pet our dog, our stress levels, heart rate and blood pressure decrease.
2. Pets can be used to help improve the cognitive and socialization skills of emotionally handicapped children.
3. Pets are many times used as therapy dogs in nursing homes. Their visits resulted in people talking, smiling, and feelings of depression were lifted.
4. Owning a dog helps people overcome the debilitating feeling of loneliness.
5. Studies show that elderly people who own a dog make less trips to their own physician.
6. A dog's love of exercise and the great outdoors helps many people to get motivated to exercise by taking their dog for a walk.

The relationship between human and canine is one of reciprocal love. As 1996 unfolds for each of us, may we all appreciate and love our dogs more.

D ID YOU KNOW... THAT ANIMAL RESEARCH ONCE TESTED ON DOGS FOR HUMANS CAN NOW BE USED ON DOGS!

Before pacemakers were used in humans, they were tested in dogs. Now, those same pacemakers that saved humans lives, can be used to save the lives of dogs. The following is the account of a dog that gave birth and the result of what it took to save her and her puppies. Shortly after "Suzie" gave birth for the first time, she fainted several times. She couldn't nurse and she had trouble breathing. She had experienced a long and hard labor and at first her owners thought this was the cause of her condition. Suzie was taken to her vet and it was noted that her heartrate was only 43 beats a minute and the normal is around 120. An electrocardiogram indicated that Suzie had a third-degree heart block. This is a disorder of the heart muscle that means the nerves conducting her heartbeat were not contracting. The solution to this problem would be to implant a pacemaker. The surgery consisted of cutting a hole in her diaphragm and reaching forward with an electrode and connecting her heart muscle to a pacemaker. The pacemaker was inserted inside a pocket that the vet made near the incision line in the abdominal wall.

The pacemaker was half the size of an ice hockey puck. It weighed about 3-1/2 ounces. It now became the conduit to life for Suzie. The recuperation time was four days. Suzie was not able to nurse her puppies but the instinct was there. A size one month baby sacket turned upside down was placed on Suzie with the snaps pointing upward around her neck to protect her from the litter. She was able to lay with her puppies while they were fed by their "human" mom.

To date, the original pacemaker has been replaced with one the size of a silver dollar and she continues to be monitored by the veterinarian.

D ID YOU KNOW... THAT COMMON SENSE MAY JUST BE THE ANSWER TO MANY PUZZLING VETERINARY ILLS?

The following article appeared in a recent issue of ShowSight Magazine, the acclaimed all-breed publication owned by the publishers of The Pom Reader.

ON THE LINE by BJ ANDREWS
BRILLIANT SCIENCE OR SIMPLE SOLUTIONS?

I was so impressed by the following article that I contacted Dr. Todd for reprint permission. After chatting with him a few minutes, I was even more dazzled with his quick mind and down to earth sensitivity.

Last month's column contained criticism of the medical community. I make no apologies for that but am always gratified when I come in contact with professionals like Dr. Todd.

Discussing the serious, sometimes fatal side effects of Prostaglandin therapy, he explained that he still uses it in closed Pyometra but for a much shorter time.

Prostaglandins have been a boon for many, but not without high risk an high cost. We will pay any price to prevent spaying a valuable bitch, previously, the only treatment for closed pyometra. We accepted the possibility that it could jeopardize future reproductive ability. We knew it didn't always work, and we cared not that the treatment was fairly profitable for our vet.

Maybe it's the cynic in me that I can't help but wonder how many other bright young professionals have considered Dr. Todd common sense approach and discarded the idea. D&Cs are performed on woman by the thousands. (Sometimes needed, sometimes not.) for the most part though, it works well in human medicine.

And I've just got to share another of his simple solutions, which cat lovers should pass along to their own vets. Confronted with a delicate surgical procedure, Dr. Todd was concerned about scarring and the possibility of the cat opening the incision. As everyone knows, a cat's tongue is covered with tiny look-like projections which are worse than sandpaper. Rather than subject the cat to collars, heavy sedation, or other standard management techniques, the inventive Dr. Todd simply shaved the cat's tongue! Yeah, he solved the problem with no discomfort, no risk, and no permanent effect upon the feline patient. The rough surface of the cat's tongue grew back by the time the incision was safely healed. I told you this guy is brilliant!

For every problem there is a solution. Some not as profitable as others but many are definitely kinder to the patient. Let's hope this article by Dr. Todd gets us all to thinking.

"There are many times in veterinary medicine that decisions are made on other than original teachings. We are taught for such and such a condition, you use this medication; for such and such arthritic malady, you perform this surgical procedure; for prevention of such and such disease, you give this vaccine; for pyometra-you spay.

"I was confronted with just such a situation where a very important feline was presented with pyometra. Classical symptoms of vaginal discharge of purulent materials, dehydration, low grade fever and white blood cell count of 42,000 (normal = 6000-17,000). This particular cat was important to the breeder because of a particular color gene, as well as the genetic makeup that would have been lost if she were spayed. This breeder had worked for many years to obtain this combination and it would be a real loss. She was hesitant to spay, so we talked about options. Medical treatment of pyometra is routinely plagued by adverse reactions to hormones and the likely scarring of the uterus because of damage to the endometrial lining, due to the nature of the infection. We considered several options and chose to use a human procedure, and do a D&C. But how, in the world, do you do a feline D&C when it's not in the textbook? I decided to do an exploratory to assess the tissue of the uterus and at that point elected to proceed."

"The uterus was opened with a small incision at its bifurcation, where it changes from its command body into its two lengthy horns. The necrotic material was swapped for culturing and the rest was evacuated by gentle massage. We then used, I liter of sterile saline solution to which we added 1 gram of cephalosixin. Many flushes were done by syringe with enough force to expand the uterus. Sterile cotton tipped applicators were then used to debride (scratch the surface) the entire endometrium. I feel this step was important to remove necrotic material and deep clean the uterus of pockets of bacteria. Finally, re-flushing was done, using the mixture as above. Closure of the small uterine incision was then routine. I instructed the owner to continue with antibiotic prescribed unless I notified her to change based on the culture results, and to allow breeding at the next available heat cycle. The bottom line for this breeder was four very healthy kittens born to carry on the gene pool that was so important"

"Typically medical therapy has risks, as did this procedure. However, the benefit of observing the uterine condition by exploratory, at least allows you to take either option. Medical therapy should not be done when the uterine tissue is weakened as it may rupture and risk losing, not only the uterus, but the cat as well."

"I hope this procedure is done more often in the right circumstances. It made quite a difference in this particular instance."

John M. Todd, DVM
Manassas Animal Hospital
Manassas, VA

Dogs Howl And

IF YOU THINK '95 WAS TOUGH, YOU COULD HAVE BEEN...

Larry Hanratty.....named as the unluckiest man in New York by the New York Daily News. Larry was nearly electrocuted in a construction accident in 1984 that put him in a coma for weeks. He then lost the lawyers fighting for his disability claim. One was disbarred, two died and one ran away with Larry's wife! Then Larry, who has spent years fighting heart and liver disease, was involved in a car accident last year. After the police left the accident scene, he was held up and robbed.

"How much more am I going to be tested!" the hapless Larry proclaimed. He soon found out. The insurance company is trying to cut off his Workman's Compensation benefits and his landlord has threatened to kick him out of his apartment. That could lead to yet another problem - Larry suffers from agoraphobia, a fear of open spaces!

Becky Kelly.....who found a cute little monkey in an orchard near her home in Holidaysburg, PA.. Becky caught the cute little fellow and brought it home, where the monkey played happily until it saw 2 men walking up Becky's driveway. The monkey then ran screaming through the house, where it picked up a paring knife in the kitchen, then it bit Kelly, picked up a lighter and repeatedly tried to "flick it", as if the monkey knew how it worked!

The Monkey then proceeded to the kitchen where it raided the cupboards, using the knife to slice open bags and eat marshmallows, brown sugar and bread. Kelly called the police, but when an officer entered the house, the monkey got even more excited, bared its teeth and screamed.

The police (and presumably Becky) waited outside until an animal control officer arrived. After a half hour chase through the house, the monkey was caught with a snare and placed in a cage...where it immediately died of a heart attack! Gunther Burpus.....of Bremen, Germany, who locked himself out of his house and tried to get in via the cat door at the bottom of his front door, where he got stuck. A passing student "prankster" (I'd say monsters is the better word!) stole his pants, painted his bottom orange, stuck a daffodil between his buttocks and erected a sign reading: "Germany Resurgent, and essay on street art. Please give generously."

Passers-by assumed Gunther's screams were part of the act and not until an old man complained of the screaming noise did Gunther get rescued by police. "I kept calling for help," Gunther said, "But people just said, very good! Very clever! And threw coins at me!"

David Cannon.....Who found a way to get even with his bank! The 66 year old farmer from Newcastle, England had suffered a 5 year legal battle with his bank and in sheer frustration sprayed 4 tons of cow manure inside the bank offices. It took 2 weeks for workmen to clean up the muck. Said David: "I didn't mean to do any damage." (Next time they bounced your checks...)

Don Aull.....The unabarbecuer who dropped off a packaged present in an Owensboro, KY post office, bound for his daughter in Sarasota, FL. The Owensboro postal workers found the package making suspicious noises and saw a plume of smoke streaming out. The post office was evacuated, the fire department stood by, until the Feds arrived to investigate the mysterious package. Don was contacted and innocently proclaimed that he simply was sending his daughter some home-barbecued mutton, packed in dry ice. The FBI and members of the Bureau of Alcohol, Tobacco and Firearms opened the package and found—dry ice and mutton!

Gerald Lydell Voyles....who walked up to the Polk County, FL jail information window and demanded the $3000.00 reward for his capture. Then he surrendered and tried to collect the bounty. The police believe Gerald was quite serious about receiving the reward money, but said Gerald is not eligible.

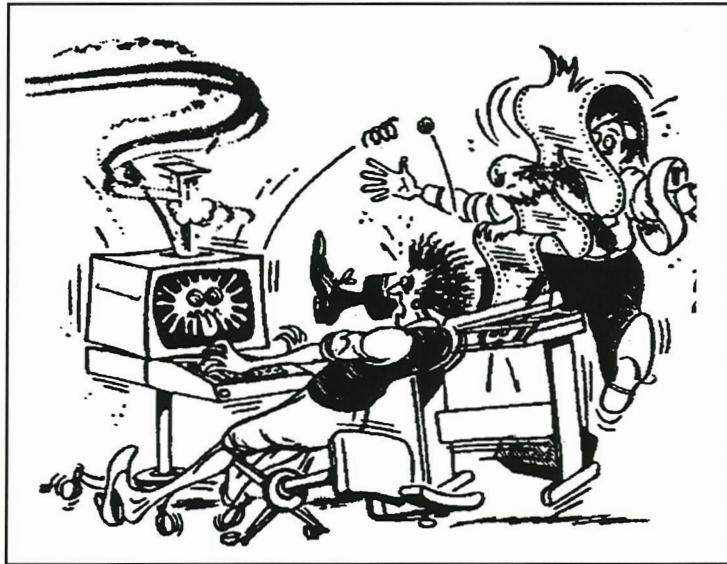

Gerald was arrested and jailed on murder charges.

The class genius...who scored 520 on the annual scholastic aptitude test, while Mark Ryan, sitting at the next desk scored a perfect 1600! Mark, a junior at White Station High School in Memphis, TN., is your average teenage student, making B's and C's and is on the wrestling team, works as a bagboy parttime at a local grocery and had only one previous big claim to unaverage fame—bringing a BBQ grill to school and grilling burgers behind the building during lunchtime!

How rare is a 1600 score! About 1.8 million students took the SAT in 1995 and only 25 made the perfect score! (Will Mark or the "Class Genius" be President in the year 2024????)

Daniel Mitchum....An escaped prison inmate being tracked by police who found the trail cold-almost. Daniel, clad only in gym shorts, hid out at the home of his girlfriend and when police arrived there to check, Daniel thought of a unique idea. Only problem was, unlike him, his 2 year old daughter was "Honest" she pointed to the refrigerator and said: "Daddy's in there." (Reminds me of our over-honest 3 year old grandson, who, bringing Bernie an elaborately wrapped B'day present, proudly laid it on the table and declared: "It's a big secret!...Its blue, has no stripes and is a shirt!".)

(The above was compiled and condensed from the year end annual "Newswatch" column by Tom Zucco in the St. Petersburg, FL. Times.) For those of you who first read it in the January 1991 Pom Reader who found it funny enough to request again for themselves and for new readers, here is our Annual New Years' recipe:

BEST RUM CAKE EVER

1 or 2 quarts Rum

1 cup butter
1 teaspoon sugar
2 large eggs
1 cup dried fruit
1 teaspoon baking powder
1 teaspoon lemon juice
1/2 cup brown sugar
1 teaspoon baking soda
1/2 cup chopped nuts

Before you start, sample the rum to check for quality. Good, isn't it?

Now go ahead. Select a large mixing bowl, measuring cup, etc., check the rum again. It must be just right. To be sure rum is of the highest quality, pour one level cup of rum into a glass and drink it as fast as you can, repeat.... With an electric mixer beat 1 cup of butter in a large fluffy bowl. Add 1 teaspoon of thugar and beat again. Meanwhile, make sure the rum is of the finest quality. Try another cup. Open second quart, if necessary. Add 2 arge leggs, 2 cups fried druit and beat til high. If druit gets stuck in beaters, just pry it loose with a drowscriver. Sample the rum again, checking for tonscisticity. Nest sift 3 cups of pepper or salt, (it really doesn't matter).

Sample the rum again. Sift 1/2 pint of lemon juice, fold in chopped butter and strained nuts. Add 1 babble- spoon of brown thugar, or whatever color you can find. Mix mell. Grease oven and turn cake pan to 350 gre- dees, not pour the whold mess into the coven and ake. Check the rum again, and go to bed.

"Happy 1996!"

A Visit To
Jan-Le's Poms • Jane Lehtinen
 — by Roberta Massey —

When I met Jane Lehtinen in 1979, Jane Le's Pomeranians was no more than a dream. An impossible dream, I thought, given that Jane lived in the northeast corner of Minnesota, literally hundreds of miles from most of the shows at that time.

But as unconventional as the idea of a serious toy kennel on the Iron Range seemed to be, I soon learned that nothing about Jane was particularly ordinary — not her location, her determination, or her drive.

Even my introduction to her was unusual. Most dog people meet through other dog people or become acquainted at shows, training classes, or other doggy goings-on. Jane and I met through my father. When he told me he'd met someone who lived five miles from him who wanted to start breeding and showing Pomeranians, I was more than a little skeptical. My comment was, "She'd have better luck with polar bears."

Although I dismissed that conversation from my mind, it soon became obvious that neither my dad nor Jane intended to let me forget about her. I kept her hearing about her and eventually received a letter from her. Then another letter. And another.

We met some months later when I visited my parents, and it was pretty clear that Jane's enthusiasm was going to make up for the difficulties caused by her polar-bear locale. I learned that Jane had become "hooked" on Poms a couple of years earlier when she saw them at a show while visiting relatives and showing a Doberman in Obedience in Des Moines. She said the Poms reminded her of a miniature version of the Malamutes her parents had bred and were a lot more portable! Something clicked and the Poms became "it."

Given her inclination toward the unusual, Jane was drawn to the rarer colors in Poms, and she purchased a black male puppy from Marge Gorman, Boulder River Pomeranians. She crossed her fingers that she'd be able to shoe "Inki" in conformation, but he grew too large for the ring and was neutered. As other blacks followed, and more disappointment, Jane was ready to consider the more "typical" colors when Marge introduced her to Ken Bishop, Ken Nor's Poms, the following year. Ken sold her Nickie, an orange sable of Theldun-Golden Glow background who became her first champion, Am. and Can. Ch. Ken Nor's Don't Let Em Kid Ya, with a win at the Garden on the way to his American title. Ken also sold her Nicky's father, Theldun's John John, a Ch. Blair's solitaire grandson and one of the deepest reds I've ever seen. She finished him in the next two years.

Because she had two dogs of Theldun background, Jane made a point of stopping to visit Thelma Dunn on a trip from Ken's. There she saw Johnny's grandfather, May Morning Social Lion (Tommy), and was impressed with his heavy coat, rich red color, and soundness, even though he was quite old by this time. She asked Thelma to keep her in mind for a bitch closely related to him. The following year Thelma sent her Theldun's Tia Maria, a red Tommy granddaughter, who produced for her Am. and Can. Ch. Jan Le's Til We Meet Again (Tillie), dam of her BIS winner Am. and Can. Ch. Jan Le's Willie Makit ROM, GC.

Although Jane's dogs and ours had little in common (we both spelled Pom the same), Jane and I wrote frequently, exchanging information and, as more clubs in Minnesota began holding point shows, seeing each other more often. I don't know if I can pinpoint just when we became "sisters," but the fact that we did eventually led to a change in the direction of Jane's breeding program.

Over a period of years I found that, even though I often didn't agree with some of Jane's breeding plans, I did admire many of her practices. It was obvious that the good of the breed was her top concern, with no exceptions. This dedication manifested itself from the beginning of our friendship, when she didn't hesitate to neuter or spay a dog that she felt shouldn't be bred, whether because of a characteristic of its own or a quality it was producing that she deemed objectionable. And she adamantly required that every pet she placed be spayed or neutered.

Her insistence on breeding and showing only her best dogs led her to the practice of rarely selling show prospects to other breeders, which she has continued to this day, saying that too often a "prospect" doesn't mature as expected or hoped and she doesn't want to be responsible for disappointing anyone or to see one of her dogs in the ring if she doesn't feel it belongs there.

I also liked the fact that Jane kept the dogs in the house with her, rather than in a separate kennel building, and she never considered caging them as their numbers grew. That has continued throughout her years in dogs. In 1989, when Jane and Russ, her husband-dog sitter par excellence, moved to the house they live in now on 3.2 acres in Iron, (Minnesotan for "the middle of nowhere"), the first thing they did was to tear out the carpeting and put in vinyl flooring throughout the house so the dogs could be with them. She does have a room separated into sections by dismantled exercise pens attached to the walls as needed for dogs who need to be separated from the others, as well as a large kitchen area, again separating with pen sections as needed, for puppies and any other dogs who need extra attention. It sometimes makes for a bit of an obstacle course for humans, but it does ensure the greatest comfort, security, and attention for the dogs.

These similarities in our ways of thinking finally let to a major change in 1984. I had gone back to school full-time in 1983 and had my hands full with classes, schoolwork, and our two-legged kids, and a houseful of dogs. The thought of getting to shows became more remote with each semester; in addition to my lack of time, Jon's allergies, which had grown to include the dogs in the late '70's, had become so severe that he was unable to pick up most of our dogs without developing a burning rash, in spite of years of allergy shots. His reaction to the numbers of animals at a show site became unmanageable, leading to coughing spasms that actually frightened nearby dogs!

The timing, from a "doggy" point of view, couldn't have been worse. We had wonderful results from the breedings of our girls with their Dixieland-Bonner backgrounds to Rocky, Ch. Dixieland Rock of Millamor, whose mother, Dixieland's Veronica, was a full sister to Dixieland's Melody Box, the dam of our Ch. Dixieland's Little Bagatelle, who had sired many of our girls. Three of these Rocky kids were particularly good, in our opinion, and the idea of their reaching old age without ever being shown struck me as a waste of everything we'd worked toward with the dogs.

At the same time, Jane, who loves showing more than breathing, was climbing the walls because she had finished all of her own possibilities and had no prospects within several months of show stage. During some period in our mutual bemoaning, we played with the idea of her showing our dogs as a solution to both of our problems. I don't think either of us realized that we were setting in motion a new direction for her breeding program and the end to John's and mine.

We agreed that Jane would show Midas Rock Tempo (T.K.) and Midas Ragtime Rock (Pudding), Rocky sons, and Midas Sophisticated Lady (Beth), a T.K. daughter, in exchange for T.K.'s and Pudding's breeding services to Jane's bitches. To be sure that Jane didn't come up on the short end of this arrangement, we also sent her Beth's mother, Dixieland's Music Box (Delta), to breed, with the idea that Jane would keep the litter. Delta was a daughter and granddaughter of Ch. Millamor's Rock Music, a half brother to Ch. Millamor's Moon Rock, Rocky's father. Although Delta herself fell a little short in the looks department, at least in my opinion, she had already proven her worth to us by free-whelping a litter of three that included two outstanding pups.

From Jane's perspective, the use of our kids in her breeding program meant a chance to add improved type and coat to her dogs' good bone, sound movement, and short backs. She put American and Canadian championships on T.K., Pudding, and Beth very quickly included Group wins from the classes for Pudding and Beth. At the same time, she repeated the breeding of T.K. and Delta, which gave her multiple Group-winning Am. and Can. Ch. Midas Fascinating Rhythm, who sired Ch. Jan Le's Mark My Word, Am. and Can. Ch. Jan Le's Johnny Hates Jazz, and Ch. Debonne's Boxcar Willie, the sire of Maker, Jane's BIS-Winning Am. and Can. Ch. Jan Le's Willie Makit ROM, GC.

Along the way, I had to face the fact that Jon's and my breeding days were over, and we signed Delta over to Jane. Breeding Pudding to Delta gave her multiple Group-winning Am. and Can. Ch. Jan Le's Ragtime Music (Screamer), who sired Am. and Can. Ch. Jan Le's Til We Meet Again (Tillie), Makers's mother.

Maker undoubtedly was Jane's most satisfying achievement, a wonderful culmination of the dogs from her earlier breedings and from ours. From the day he was born, this little guy had that extra-special look we always hope for but rarely see, and it soon became obvious that his attitude was as extraordinary as his appearance. Jon, the original Mr. Wait-and-See, saw him at the age of eight weeks and came home raving about the spectacular puppy who owned Jane's place. In addition to his "Look At Me!!!" manner, Maker was a striking deep, clear orange, very typey, cobby and sound-moving. He had everything every breeder works toward.

He started his show career at seven months of age, won back to back Group I's, and finished at the age of eight months at the Des Moines Pom Specialty by going Best of Breed over a Special. He won the specialty three years in a row. His Best in Show came at Dubuque in 1993. Best of all, he demonstrated that he could reproduce much of his type, color and attitude, siring six champion kids to date: Ch. Millamor's Millie Makit, Ch. Millamor's Makin Music, Ch. Jan Le's Justa a Dash of Millamor, Ch. Millamor's Brandi Maker, Ch. Jan Le's Maker of Fools (Chance), and Ch. Beaver Creek Simon Says.

Maker, tragically, was killed this past summer at the age of four in a freak accident when Jane's Schipperke jumped a fence, and landed on top of him. Jane lost not only a valuable breeding and show dog, but also her best buddy and bed companion. He does have more children nearing show stage, and Jane says that one of his sons, Chance, is a near-perfect image of him.

A loss such as Maker might have destroyed the will to continue in a less determined person, but Jane continues to work with Eleanor Miller, who she met at Jean Brown's years ago when she took Delta to be bred to Rocky. After many letters and much conversation, Eleanor sent her Bev Nor's Brandi of Millamor, the daughter of a black and tan, on a co-lease. Bred to Maker, Brandi produced four champions to date out of seven puppies: Ch. Millamor's Brandi Maker and a litter of three that all completed their championship by thirteen months of age, Ch. Millamor's Makin Music, Ch. Jan Le's Just a Dash of Millamor, and Ch. Millamor's Millie Makit. One more is near finishing, and the remaining two are waiting to start their careers.

Jane is also knee-deep in brindles, much to her delight. She had first seen one in Canada being shown by Tiil Labovich in the mid-1980's. In addition to type and sound movement, Can. Ch. Jayenn's Tea Cup Tiger's pattern rekindled Jane's interest in unusual colors, and she wasted no time in taking Patty's Happy Tyme Gypsy Rose, sired by her early Ch. Theldun's John John, to be bred to this dog. Although the resulting bitch puppy appeared to be black at birth, Jane was astonished to discover orange hairs on a back leg the next day when she examined the puppy in the sunlight. She had her brindle.

Jan Le's Tiger in My Tea (Lindy) was the beginning of four generations of brindles for Jane to date. In the fourth generation, Jan Le's Rumm Tumm Tigger, a Maker daughter co-owned by Judy Mehciz, became the first major-pointed brindle in the history of the breed last spring, and Jan Le's Color Me Badd (Nedd), a Maker son, being shown by Erika Moureau, won a major in the fall. Both are sound, typey, with good, harsh coats, and have their father's outgoing personality, which, combined with their color, makes them hard to ignore.

Jane has found other breeders' reactions to the color to be polarized: They either love it or hate it. Judges often don't know what to do with it; the Standard doesn't specifically list brindle as a recognized color. When I saw it for the first time at Jane's this past summer, I was fascinated by it and look forward to the day the Standard is revised to allow all colors and patterns.

If one were to say that Jane's life revolves around the dogs she loves, it is certainly true; dogs are her hobby, and also her profession. Jane has been an extremely successful professional dog groomer since 1979, and currently operates a very large grooming shop in conjunction with an extremely plush pet supply salon in Virginia, Minnesota, near her residence town of Iron, Minnesota.

My visit to Jane left me with deep admiration for the much she has accomplished in pursuit of her goals. When we returned from Minnesota, a local breeder asked if Jane had anything good right now, and, after thinking about it for a minute, I had to reply, "I don't think I saw anything bad." The sight of Jane's dogs, with their lovely faces, striking colors, and heavy coats, playing in the sun will stay with me a long time, and it's gratifying to know that our dogs played some part in making an "impossible dream" come true.
