PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE

(713) 358-2775

As you all know by now, the April issue of the Review, which we had planned to have ready for distribution by the end of April, was unavoidably delayed, due in no small part to the loss in transit of our negatives from the past two years. Fortunately, the negatives were found, which will allow advertisers to continue to take advantage of re-using their pictures from past issues at no extra charge. HOPEFULLY you will be reading this July issue in early July and we will be back on schedule once again. Please note the change of address for our editor and thank you for your patience during this period of transition.

You will note a change of address for me as well. By the time this appears in print our family will be relocated in Kingwood, Texas, a suburb of Houston. Since we have always considered Texas to be an area of especially heavy Pom competition, we are looking forward to attending some of the shows in the area and seeing first-hand what we have heard about for so long.

As I now prepare to leave Wisconsin with its high unemployment rate, I can't help wondering how the state of the economy has affected breeders in other parts of the country. In our area the common complaint seems to be that the pet market has all but disappeared over the last year and a half. Newspaper ads go unanswered and our little pets accumulate in our homes and kennels. It is a strain on our time and our doggy budgets, and worry mounts that our pet-quality puppies will soon reach an age that the pet-buying public looks upon as "too old." What are we to do? Some breeders have considered lowering the price of their pet puppies to make them more "affordable" to people whose jobs are often uncertain or whose budgets have been chipped away by inflation to the point that a family companion has become a luxury that is beyond their reach. It seems ironic at a time when we, as breeders, are also facing ever-rising costs of kibble, vet bills, show entries, gasoline and motel rooms, should have to consider lowering the price we charge for our pet puppies. Along with doing this goes the worry that our puppies may fall into the wrong hands in spite of careful screening. The logical alternative is to breed less and as carefully as possible. Make every breeding count for as much as it can. Look objectively at each dog and bitch you plan to breed — do they really possess enough virtues to make a valuable contribution to your breeding program or are they more likely to add to the overburdened pet population? We all know that pets occur from even the best breedings — why add to our problems by using a deck that is stacked against us from the beginning? Above all, now more than ever, do not be tempted to breed your stud dog to pet bitches when their owners approach you, simply to help compensate your pocketbook for dwindling pet sales. It is a disservice to the breed as well as to the people who come to you for help. Be honest with them. Let them know that there is little call for pets now and that they could find themselves with an entire litter as an addition to the family. Point out the expense and work involved in breeding a litter and the always-present danger to their beloved pet in breeding dogs as small as ours. If you are sincere, chances are they will reconsider breeding and simply love their pet as it was meant to be, and the market AND the breed will be spared yet another onslaught of pet puppies.

At the time of this writing, the Board is in the process of choosing a third member and chairman of the By-Laws Committee. In the meantime, please send any suggestions you might have for the Committee to either Rick Megenhardt or Marlene Scott Halsey.

The October Summer Specialty in Arizona is shaping up to be a most enjoyable one. Start planning now to attend; a three-show weekend has an almost irresistible appeal to most exhibitors.

I would like to take time in this column to thank Judy Blocker, our Circulation Manager, for the tremendous job she did in Ch. Emcee's Golden Honey Bun ("Bunny") is a daughter of Ch. Emcee's Solid Gold Diamond ("Tico") and Emcee's Adorable Bit of Gold ("Honey"). She was shown for the first time in the 6-9 month puppy class at the New York Specialty. Mostly because of the newness of everything, her showmanship left a great deal to be desired, as she exhibited all the sparkle and enthusiasm of a snail. Once home, however, she underwent intensive training with the expert help of our friend, Maynard Wood.

COVER STORY

The new Bunny actually started her show career with Nadine Hersil on April 17. This "first" time out, she took Best of Winners for 2 points. By the 15th of the following month she (now called "Dr." Bunny by Nadine to distinguish her from another with the same name), had one major and all of her single points for her championship. A scarcity of majors in the area necessitated that she wait until June 12 to pick up that coveted second major — and her championship.

We would like to thank all the judges who recognized Bunny's quality and made her show career "short and sweet:" Robert Wills, 4/17/82, BOW, 2 pts. Frank E. Oberstar, 4/25/82, BOW, 2 pts. Roy L. Perso, 5/1/82, BOW, BOS, 1 pt. Darrell W. Baker, 5/2/82, WB, BOS, 2 pts. Dawn Vick Hansen, 5/8/82, 4 pt. major. Mildred Bryant, 5/15/82, WB, BOS, 2 pts. Maxine Beam, 6/12/82, WB, 3 pt. major

I guess you could call Bunny a "breeder's dream." Not only was she outstanding in the show ring, but she is also large enough to be a good brood bitch, unlike much of her competition. She weighs about 6 lbs. and carries an extremely heavy clear-orange coat.

Bunny's litter sister is well on her way toward her championship and should be finished by publication of this issue. A repeat breeding has produced another lovely female, Emcee's Chiquita de Oro ("Chiqui"), who will start her show career soon. A second repeat breeding should bring forth another litter around August 1.

We wish to thank Nadine Hersil for the expert handling and TLC which "Dr. Bunny" enjoyed while under her supervision.

Judy's job has always been a big one, with little thanks, and she is long past due for a big "THANK YOU." SECRETARY'S REPORT

by Dudley Roach and Karen Holder
American Pomeranian Club, Inc.
Board Meeting, February 7, 1982
Lowe's Summit Hotel, New York City

Committee Reports:

1. Karen Holder made the motion that Fred Bassett be show chairman for the 1982 Specialty in New York City. Sam Zaneoff seconded. Motion Carried.
2. Sam Zaneoff made the motion that Peter Galindo be show secretary for the 1982 Specialty in New York City. Gertrude Jacoby seconded. Motion carried.
3. Head of Standards Committee said that this should be tabled for 1-2 years due to lack of interest at this time.

Old Business:

1. Review — Discussion about commercial publishers and the cost involved. Discussion about increasing subscription rates.
2. Kennel visits — Discussion about letting members vote for who gets kennel visits, and republishing guidelines. Decided that we need to find out when prior guidelines were established and if new ones are needed to let the membership decide upon criteria to follow.
3. Lateness of next Review — notify members in annual report and do mailing to non-member subscribers. Marlene Scott Halsey made motion to notify subscribers and members. Sam Zaneoff seconded. Motion carried.
4. Gazette Columnist — Sam Zaneoff made motion that Olga Baker continue. Gertrude Jacoby seconded. Motion carried.
5. Discussion about breed inquiry committee. Determined that Dudley Roach sends out breed brochures when asked. Decided that was sufficient for now.

6. Sam Zaneoff suggested that by-laws committee consider adding that a member must serve on board for one year before holding an office in APC.

7. Marlene Scott suggested that we send out letter to all members asking for suggestions on revising constitution and by-laws.

8. Motion by Sam Zaneoff that by-laws committee be set up. The motion was seconded by Karen Holder. The committee consisted of: Richard Megenhardt (chairman), Sally Baugnet, Marlene Scott Halsey. All of the above are pending the acceptance of the named individuals.

9. Discussion about Sophie Mayes resignation. Marlene Scott Halsey made motion that we accept Sophie's resignation. Seconded by Sam Zaneoff. Motion carried.

10. In line with suggestion made by George West in Annual Meeting, Sue Goddard was asked to serve on the board. She declined. Jackie Liddle was next in line and had declined previously. Fred Bassett was next and he accepted position on board which was vacated by Sophie Mayes' resignation.

New Business:

1. Audit Committee: Motion by Karen Holder and seconded by Sam Zaneoff. Carried. Fred Bassett (chairman because he knows a CPA), Richard Megenhardt, Morris Carson.

2. New Members: Motion by Karen Holder and seconded by Gertrude Jacoby. Carried. Tony and Connie Tellez. Motion by Marlene Scott Halsey and seconded by Karen Holder. Carried. Mary Vickers.

3. Specialty Shows. (a) Motion by Marlene Scott Halsey, seconded by Fred Bassett, carried to hold Summer Specialty in conjunction with the centennial show provided AKC allows us to hold our February National Specialty as scheduled. (b) Motion by Fred Bassett and seconded by Karen Holder, carried — to accept Columbia Specialty. (c) Motion by Karen Holder, seconded by Marlene Scott Halsey, carried to accept Houston Specialty.

4. Fred suggested that we publish topics and motions in capsule form in Review to keep publishing costs down.

5. Standing Rules were reviewed. Fred Bassett made motion, Gertrude Jacoby seconded, motion carried to add that a synopsis of board meetings should be

THE COLUMBIA POMERANIAN CLUB SPECIALTY

December 6, 1981

I submit this report of the Columbia Pomeranian Club Specialty with my apologies for the delay. I volunteered to write up the show, and then procrastinated until the deadline had come and gone.

Referring to the notes I made, reminds me again of the great hospitality shown by the CPC. This is one of our favorite shows. The bench was decorated with Santa in his toy laden blue sleigh which is pulled by blue Pomeranians through a Christmas landscape. Each bench crate was individually trimmed with hand crocheted pot holders which had been carefully rolled into bell shapes. For the Poms, individual mittens were filled with doggie goodies. The Trophy table was laden with stained glass treasures, from miniature Poms designed to hang in your window, to large glass picture windows for the Best of Breed.

Judge Mr. Gordon Parham examined each exhibit carefully before making his choices. He had a large entry of hopefuls from which to choose and this is the way he placed them:

Puppy Dog 6-9: Bar-B-Jo's Mighty Casey, Barbara J. Jones.

Puppy Dog 9-12: Jayjay's Son of Irish, Jean Schroll.

Novice Dog: Haji Baba, Robert C. Bitner.

Bred by Exhibitor Dog: Bradley's Big Bad Woof, Shirley I. Bradley and Catherine A. Herington.

Open Dog: Westmost Cubby's Josh, Wayne George.

Open Dog Red, Orange Cream or Sable: Andrew's Laddies Trailblazer, Phyllis and Clyde Andrews.

Open Dog AOAC: Rainbow's Taco Hi, John Nye.

Winners Dog: Andrew's Laddies Trailblazer.

Reserve Winners Dog: Que Sera Mountain Fresh of Bi-Mar, Jessie Stephens.

Puppy Bitch 6-9: Jambo's Community Property, Alicia L. Kvamme and Nora Higbee.

Puppy Bitch 9-12: Jayjay's Irish Tammy, Jean Schroll.

Bred by Exhibitor Bitch: Tillabay Muffin's Lil Abbey, George and Jane Reed.

American Bred Bitch: Little Jo Lee, Wanda Bittner.

Open Bitch, Red, Orange, Cream and Sable: Westmost Lady Nip, Wayne George. Winners Bitch: Westmost Lady Nip.

Reserve Winners Bitch: Que Sera Buttonabow on La Rita, Rita M. Laverne and Erin R. Hundley.

Best of Winners and Best of Breed went to Andrew's Laddies Trailblazer, over several nice specials. Best of Opposite Sex went to Westmost Lady Nip from the Open Bitch class. She completed her championship at this show, too. Best Puppy went to Jambo's Community Property.

The warm weather is finally here in the Midwest. Some of us thought it would never come. Unfortunately with summer comes pests like fleas. Last year the fleas were just about impossible, but hopefully with the record cold temperatures of last winter we won't have such a problem this year.

There are some 2,250-odd flea species known. Some fleas have been seen on Alpine snow and some have even survived the ice in Antarctica. Fortunately, these are not the species we are familiar with. Most common are cat and dog fleas. The cat flea is found on both cats and dogs and is the most adaptable and widespread. So, this summer when you see those fleas on your Poms (Heaven forbid!), you will know a little more about the pesty critter.

Our club has had a big change in its activities. We have decided to go more for socializing and helping each other rather than pushing for point shows. Sometimes it is rather hard to step back and look at what is really going on; to know if your goals are really the right ones for you at this time or if it is better to wait for a later date.

"Smokey"

Ch. Moreno's Critic's Choice

Continuing on his winning ways with . . .

Group 1 — Sacramento K.C. in April, judge, Mr. Harold Spira.

Group 2 — Sir Francis Drake K.C. in April, judge, Mrs. Glenda M. Cook.

Group 3 — Del Valle K.C. in May, judge, Mr. Thomas C. Conway (pictured).

Thank you, judges, for making "Smokey" close to getting on the list of the top ten toys in the U.S. In strong California competition, he is the to winning son of Ch. Quenaire Gambling Dude in the country. We are proud to be his owners.

Our new boy in the ring, Moreno's Jubilee Connection, "Rusty," has a Best in Match to his credit already, however, due to a tragic accident, he will be out of the show ring until he heals. "Rusty" does thank everyone for his personal cards of good wishes he has received and is re-cooperating well at home.

"Smokey" is owner-handled by Julie Moreno.

Kenosh Cty Pom Club, con't. from p. 8.

We held our first social meeting at the Luccas' house scheduled for, believe it or not, card playing. Surprisingly we had a larger showing of members than we have had in a long time. But the funniest thing about the evening was that we never had time to play cards! We got too involved in the discussion of Poms, dog shows, judges and the like that there wasn't any time left!

One of the discussions involved the idea of exhibitors "judging" the judges so the AKC would know how we feel. It was mentioned that some horse shows have an "opinion" box or a questionnaire on hand for exhibitors and spectators to fill out.

We know that there are plenty of judges who are fair and know the breed. Yet many times you will get a judge who seems to forget or is not aware of our standard. Once in a while you will get someone who may be more familiar with larger breeds and will forget that a Pom cannot have its mouth opened roughly or his back pushed on too hard. A good show prospect who is just beginning his show career could be scarred by such rough treatment.

As you can see, our evening was very interesting.

Quickly, before I close, congratulations to Betty Petterson for Luell's Tiny Tim getting a big major at Janesville and Dr. Carson's major on Emcee's Golden Honey Bear, handled by Nadine at Janesville. Also, to Nadine and her "Duffy," for taking the groups and Best in Shows, handled by Jackie Liddle.

EAST COAST NEWS

by Beverly Norris

Hi, my name is Beverly Norris and I will be reporting the news on the East Coast. I will also have several other breeders on the East Coast working with me and we hope to have an interesting article for each upcoming issue. We will also try to include a breeding problem, etc., which we have experienced, and the preventions or precautions we have taken. We hope to help the novice breeders or newcomers who may not know what to do, but as you will also see, we each have our own ideas.

Assisting me in these articles will be Morris Carson, Ann Cannon, Diane Johnson, Mary Vickers, and any of our other East Coast breeders who would like to get involved.

The first news on the east coast is that we are forming our own Pomeranian Club. The response has been great, and there is so much enthusiasm! — an important ingredient in starting any club. Our first informal meeting was April 24, at the Old Dominion Kennel Club and for those who worked Saturday, we also had another meeting the next day at the Bowie Show. We were surprised at the turnout, and the response from the ones who could not make this meeting. Although members will come from Virginia, Washington D.C., Pennsylvania, New Jersey, and Maryland, it was decided that the Baltimore, Maryland area would be the best meeting spot. In getting organized, temporary officers were appointed: President — Diane Johnson; Secretary — Mary Vickers; Treasurer — Morris Carson. Our first newsletter, published by Fran Warren, was sent out in April. Nancy Marshall, who is helping us with organizing the Club, has formed many other breed clubs. Anyone who has not been contacted, and is interested in joining, may contact Morris Carson, Diane Johnson or myself.

Anyone on the East Coast who would like to express his news and views or participate in this column, please get in touch with me. I'd love to have you. I want to make this a group column and not an individual column — so if you have something to say, let me know. Anyone finishing a champion on the East Coast, please let me know and it will be my privilege to publish it.

For the first article, I will present several views on Hypoglycemia. Until next time, happy showing.

(Editor's Note: Please remember that these comments are based on the experiences of these particular breeders. Hypoglycemia is very complex and for more specific medical information, be sure to contact a vet who is familiar with both Poms and Hypoglycemia.)

Ann Cannon:

Hypoglycemia is a condition of low blood sugar. When sugar is given as a treatment, the blood sugar rises initially but drops again, lower than what it was originally — inducing another bout of hypoglycemia. This is true hypoglycemia. In humans, it is treated by a diet high in protein, near absence of sugar and six or more small meals daily.

Frankly, I don't believe hypoglycemia as a disease exists in Poms. However, you can have a symptomatic puppy who suffers from isolated incidents or attacks of low blood sugar. From my observations, these incidents can occur because of either stress or trauma. Stress in puppies of five to fourteen weeks of age can, for example, be a change in the type of food, environment, or severe harrassment by littermates. Trauma usually is associated with stress, so the two can go hand in hand. But trauma is more physical — being dropped, or an allergic reaction to an injection.

If an incident occurs and the gum color is pale, I give 50% dextrose or dark Karo syrup orally. I do not use honey because of the botulism deaths in infants. If the puppy has more seriously progressed to the seizing state or is comatose, and the gum color is almost white, then administration of dextrose by injection, along with lactated ringers is one treatment.

Considering the excellent nutritional analysis of the commercial dog food now available and the supplements that are given to the brood bitch, the extra bottles of Esbilac given to nursing puppies and finally their transitional gruel, and then use of free feedings, I believe we have abolished hypoglycemia as a disease, if it did exist in Poms of earlier years.

Beverly Norris:

My personal experience with Hypoglycemia is mostly in young puppies, and is apparently caused by stress due to change in environment, weaning, etc. My first experience with it came with my first Pom, a young pet puppy. With the change in environment, even though showered with love, she started seizures. When taken to the vet, he said she was having epileptic fits, which would be very expensive to control. I was not satisfied, so I took her to another vet and he said it was hypoglycemia. I started giving all my dogs wheat germ with sugar and honey added. I had seen it in the grocery store and it is a very inexpensive way to control the problem. Since I have used wheat germ (about 6 years now), I have had no problems with hypoglycemia. Maybe this small amount of sugar and honey added to their balanced diet does make the difference.

Morris and Betty Carson:

Our experience with this condition indicates that it occurs mainly in puppies around 12 weeks of age. I think that it is largely precipitated by stress. This is easily observed, as a pup under stress exhibiting lack of coordination, sunken eyes, depression and muscle tremors. This will continue into coma and finally death. The very first thing I do each morning is to look each puppy in the eyes. This is the best indicator if something is wrong. Therapy must be directed immediately to remedy this problem, usually by giving syrup or honey. If the situation persists, see a vet.

It is advisable to use the following preventive measures:

1. Don't overtire the pup.
2. See that the pup eats every 4 hours.
3. Make sure he has a proper diet.
4. Leave syrup or honey in the drinking water.

Diane Johnson:

My thoughts on hypoglycemia are rather uncertain. I realize there is a problem, but exactly what causes the problem is what I am uncertain about. In the past, I have had dogs that had attacks of hypoglycemia. When sugar water, syrup or honey is given, these animals come back from near death to acting as if nothing had ever happened to them . . . in a matter of less than five minutes! I realize that something sweet cures the problem. On the other hand, I do not feel that the lack of sugar causes the problem. I am more inclined to believe that a lack of protein or other minerals, or a good balance of nutrients causes the attacks. Therefore, I do not believe giving sugar every day is the answer. I realize that giving something sweet every day may keep these animals from having severe hypoglycemia.

A VISIT TO EMCEE KENNELS

by Bob Goodrich

If you ever drive through Virginia on Interstate 95 and want to give yourself a treat, take the Atlee-Elmont exit (between Richmond and Ashland), and visit the home of Emcee's Pomeranians and their owners, Morris and Betty Carson. Visitors to their spotless facilities are always welcome, but shouldn't expect to take one of their beauties home with them. Many people wait years to own an Emcee's Pom.

Front view of house and sun porch with adjoining kennel.

The Carson's home is tri-level, with the bottom level devoted to the dogs. The large back yard is fully fenced and provides four, extensive runs. A sun porch, which is warm even on the coldest of sunny days, adds extra space for puppies during the winter months.

Sun porch — baby beds for pups and adults.

The kennel and grooming areas, both of which are heated and air-conditioned, are attached to the sun porch.

Side view of kennel. Poms looking for "in."

Partial view of inside kennel — grooming area.

As the Emcee's Pom family grew, more space was needed for expectant and nursing bitches, so a small downstairs bedroom was turned into a "nursery." All whelpings take place in this room, which also provides kennel space for puppies until they are old enough for their initial shots. Then the puppies are moved to the den (adjacent to the nursery), where they are socialized and, often, "humanized."

Both Morris and Betty are very cautious about letting their puppies go. They prefer to keep them at least 12 weeks; longer in the case of show prospects. Select homes and loving, caring people is always their first priority.

Nursery — bedroom where all pups are born.

The Carsons are often asked how they got started in this endeavor. It seems that many years ago, while shopping one night, Morris and Betty saw a lady holding a Pom in her arms. Neither of them had ever seen a Pom before, nor did they have any idea of the name of the breed. However, they both fell in love with the red ball of fur and discovered that it was called a Pomeranian. They decided right then and there to own a Pom someday. At the time however, their pets had to be kept to a minimum because both Morris and Betty were teaching at a North Carolina college. Morris was still in graduate school and summer months were taken up with study and travel, so it wasn't until the spring of 1973, when one of their cats disappeared, that they decided the time had come to purchase a Pom. (As Betty recalls it, the day after the arrival of their new puppy, the cat returned and lived to be 17!) Their first bitch, Carson's Little Miss Priss ("Prissy") produced one champion, Ch. Emcee's Sassy Lady, owned and handled by Russell and Evelyn Churchill, and some beautiful pets for happy people all over the U.S.

During this time, Morris began to study the breed standard and became interested in owning and exhibiting show Poms. As is the case with most novices, they made the mistake of initially buying inferior stock. I advised them to stop buying indiscriminately, purchase one good bitch, and breed her to the best male available. They responded with, "Who's going to sell us this female?" I told them to come to my place and I'd see what I could do. This resulted in their purchase of Model's Solid Gold ("Cindy"), a heavy-coated, orange-sable bitch.

Her first breeding was to my dog, Ch. Model's Truly-A-Diamond. On October 26, 1975, she whelped Chips of Diamond, who become the Carsons first home-bred champion. It was also at this time that they adopted the kennel name of Emcee's Pomeranians (formed by spelling out Morris's initials "M.C."). I'm sure they have been asked many times why the Emcee's prefix was not attached to Diamond's name. Morris always gives a long, complicated explanation, but Betty, who tells it like it is, says that Morris is frequently the typical absent-minded professor and probably forgot to include it when he registered the dog!

Subsequent breedings of Cindy to Diamond produced Ch. Emcee's Solid Gold Diamond, winner of the APC Specialty in 1978 and second top producer in 1980; and Ch. Emcee's Truly Solid Gold, owned by Mrs. C.W. Stevens.

In 1976, Marlene Scott Halsey introduced Morris to Lennis Raines, who at the time was getting excellent puppies out of Ch. Lennis's Tar Baby of Great Elms. Morris purchased a clear orange Tar Baby daughter, Emcee's Tartan Tam ("Tammy"). Tammy matured at around 5½ pounds and became the real foundation bitch in their breeding program. Tammy, herself pointed, produced Emcee's Sparkling Hot Tamale (pointed), Emcee's Golden Girl of Tara (pointed), and Emcee's Gold Tam O'Shanter, all of which have been kept as their basic bitch stock. Males out of Tammy include Ch. Emcee's Tiny Mite of Tico, owned by Mary Hechinger, and Ch. Emcee's Sparkling Tamboy, owned by Russ and Evelyn Churchill and has been awarded 35 Bests of Breed, 3 Group I's and numerous group placements.

Emcee's Sparkling Hot Tamale ("Molly") has produced the following champions: A/C Ch. Emcee's Sparkling Chip, owned by Frances and Michael McDonald, Ch. Emcee's Chip Off The Ole Block, owned by Jerrie Freia and Rose Anne Jones, and Morris' pride and joy, Ch. Emcee's Chips of Diamond, who was whelped 9 days after the death of his beloved sire.

Morris, Stevie and Poms at play.

APC Specialty and has precipitated a change in their breeding program. In addition to their beautiful orange Poms, they can now produce blacks and black and tans. Previous breedings to Emcee's Tar Lisa Sonrisa (sable/pointed) and Emcee's Tar Gold Trina (black & tan) have produced desirable results.

Morris and four Emcee studs: Ch. Hillsboro's Golden Chip, Ch. Emcee's Solid Gold Diamond, Ch. Emcee's Chips of Diamond, and Emcee's Sparkling Memento.

Emcee's latest champion is Emcee's Gold Honey Bun, but by the time this is published, I'm sure there will be others. Because the dogs are only a hobby for the Carsons, Emcee's kennel is not a large one. Quality remains of prime importance to them and each breeding is done with the idea of producing better puppies than before. The Carsons have, therefore, quickly reached their goal of producing top quality Poms.

BROOD BITCH ISSUE

The October issue will again feature the Brood Bitch. We look forward to seeing a great many of the valuable producers who are contributing so significantly to the improvement of this breed. Customarily we only see ads in the Review on bitches that are shown. While we certainly don't mean to diminish the importance of these fine bitches, we know that there are some pretty important matrons working behind-the-scenes who also deserve recognition. In fact, a great many of the dogs finishing championships in the recent years have come from non-champion bitches.

Although we can't offer the 1/3 page special rate like the Stud Register, we know you breeders will want to send pictures and pedigrees of your broods. Why not also include a list and/or pictures of their produce, whether they are champions, pointed or just plain loved? By supporting this issue, your bitches whose get make a valuable contribution in the future, will be pictured here. Then when you are asked what Ch. Big Star of the Day's mother looking like you can say, "She was pictured in the October 1982 issue."

Since you may not have current photos of all your girls and will have to get some, let me say a few words about pictures. Is it because Poms are small dogs that I get so many teeny, tiny pictures? They are cute, but they just aren't practical. Small pictures are usually low in detail and when they are enlarged for full page ads, they appear dark and muddy. Since you asked, a good size to order is 5 x 7 — and I'm not talking about show pictures. I'm talking about the pictures you take in your backyard. Since some of the broods you will want to advertise may not be seen except in Brood Bitch ads, it will be important to make this picture as representative of her fine qualities as it can be.

The deadline is August 15. Send your ads, lovely pictures, pedigrees and checks made out to American Pomeranian Club, to the Editor. Don't forget to enclose the $7.00 photo reproduction charge.

1982 Stud Register

This is Pomeranian Review's 1982 Register of outstanding stud dogs. On this and the following pages — and in some of the display ads — are stud dogs that, for their individual excellence, unique characteristics or special breeding, stand ready to help every breeder in the country. Inevitably, some owners of fine stud dogs failed to send their entries in, for one reason or another. But with so many represented, from every section of the country, and of so many different bloodlines, we feel that our Register this year is very complete. May we request that when breeders send inquiries to stud dog owners, they mention: "I saw your stud in the Review."

THE CLEAN MACHINE

(A New Slant on the Responsibility of the Stud Owner)

by Jean Simmonds

reprinted with permission from Sheltie

Articles concerning the stud-owner's position in the breeder's scene have made appearances from time to time, and most have amply covered the common sense and moral obligations to the visiting bitch and her owner while she is in his care.

Certainly it goes without saying that the bitch should be comfortably and securely housed, well-fed, and regularly and carefully exercised.

However, what is on my mind is a new twist. In our present-day knowledge and experience, more and more of today's stud owners are requiring a culture and Brucellosis test to be given each bitch prior to its acceptance for breeding to their dogs — and rightly so. It not only protects the stud dog, but the bitch as well. We have seen all too many top-notch and influential studs, in the not-too-distant past, "gunned down," so to speak, by some lurking virus or bacteria concealed in the vaginal tract of some apparently healthy, unsuspecting bitch — to the degree that his siring days are over. The bitch with such an infection generally loses some, or all, of her puppies, if she does, in fact, whelp a litter.

Nowadays, bitches bred to most prominent studs are checked out carefully beforehand. They are, of course, skipped and treated accordingly should some unwanted organism rear its ugly head. But pound clear, this clean, "safe-for-the-stud" girlfriend is sent off to her chosen mate — in all good faith.

The "new slant" I am approaching is the stud owner's obligation to KEEP HER THAT WAY.

Hopefully, the stud owner is concerned with his own dog — one would assume he is — and has him checked out at regular intervals with culture and Brucellosis tests, as well. Once again for the protection of all concerned.

Equally important, he should do all in his power to see to it that the visitor to his stud is kept as free of contamination as possible, for she is, naturally, "open" to anything that might creep along. Certainly this is best accomplished by letting her exercise in her own pen if at all feasible. Secondly — and perhaps more importantly, he should keep foreign objects and matter out of the bitch. Yet, time and again I have seen stud owners bring a bitch in to the breeding area, stand her up, and proceed to make an internal digital examination to check her for "readiness." If she is open, the next step is often to daub one's finger into Vaseline, and apply this liberally into the bitch's vagina in an attempt to make entry easier for the stud. Both of these actions — the exam and the application of the Vaseline, are extremely dangerous to her "clean" environment. Who knows where our hands have been previously, or what micro-organisms may be latches onto them, just waiting for a warm, nourishing environment such as the inner folds of a bitch's vaginal tract? The Vaseline only enhances the prospect of contamination, since it is non-water-soluble, and thus lies in the folds of the vaginal walls for some time afterward. Actually, nature provides the animals with their own lubricants, but if the stud owner feels the need for a greater amount, he should use K-Y jelly, or another substance created solely for that purpose, as these are water soluble and thus quickly flushed out with the rush of the seminal fluids at the break of the tie, or shortly thereafter with the normal vaginal discharge.

There are, admittedly, times when it is necessary to do an internal examination of the bitch — particularly on a maiden, or one that seems difficult to breed even though willing. But these exams should be performed with the aid of a sterile finger cot, an item purchased very reasonably at any drug store, or through some of the veterinary supply catalogs. If one gets caught short, plastic gloves will suffice. In a

PUGET SOUND POMERANIAN CLUB OF SEATTLE

The Puget Sound Pomeranian Club of Seattle, WA has enjoyed another successful "B" Match. There was an entry of 19 judged by Elaine Young. This was our fourth "B" match in 9 months, each chaired by a different team. We are very proud of our club members as each match was a little different and a little better than the preceding one. For this match there were trophies offered in each class. This club is going for an "A" match next and we are hoping for AKC approval in the near future.

Best Adult and Best in Match went to Que Sera Button A Bow on La Rita, shown by Erin Hundley. Best Puppy was Harbin's Black Diamond of India, shown by Sylvia Harbin.

Mike Jackson acted as photographer and presented the club with photos comparable with those from all-breed shows. He has filmed previous matches for our members to enjoy at club meetings. As you might guess, Mike has been asked to act as photographer at all future club events.

The Club welcomes its new officers for the 1982-83 year. Erin Hundley will be President; Terry Fisher — Vice President; Marjorie Baer — Secretary; and Katherine Bartos — Treasurer. We hope the new year will be as successful as the past year has been. The Club members would like to extend a special thanks to those persons stepping out of office and Bernard Niehous who, between he and his wife, Virginia, have been the club's treasurers for the past six years or better.

The Club has not as yet assigned a new writer for this column. We regretfully accepted the resignation of the current columnist, Jessie Stephens. The membership thanks Jessie for all her hard work and wishes she and Tom the best in their new location.

THE DEADLINE FOR THE OCTOBER ISSUE IS AUGUST 15.

OCTOBER KENNEL VISIT

The October Kennel Visit will be to the Bev-Nor Kennels of Beverly and Bill Norris in Pasadena, MD. We feel sure that the owners and admirers of Bev-Nor Poms across the country will want to support the Visit with congratulatory ads.

KENNEL VISIT ELIGIBILITY

To be eligible for a Kennel Visit, an individual must first be a member of the American Pomeranian Club, Inc., for at least five years and must have bred at least one champion. All Club members meeting these requirements will be considered for a Kennel Visit. Please send your suggestions for future Visits to the Corresponding Secretary, address on page 3.

CORRECTION

A typographical error in the President's Message of the April Review changed the meaning of the whole sentence. On page 5, second line, second column, it says, "Due to action taken at the meeting, summaries of the Board's minutes will not be printed in the Review." The word "not" should have been "now." Please notice that a summary of the Board Minutes from New York — the meeting at which this particular policy was changed — is printed in the Secretary's Report on page 6 of this issue. I apologize for this error and hope it didn't cause undue confusion.

REMINDER

All members of the APC desiring a certificate from the Club for Champions and Obedience Titles published in the Gazette during 1982 which were owned by you, please submit your name as owner, dog's name and month published in the Gazette to: Sally Baugniet, 11224 County Highway B, Mishicot, WI 54228, BEFORE February 1, 1983.

As this issue goes to press, I am eagerly awaiting the arrival of puppies from Ch. Emcee's Chips of Diamond and my Bob-A-Lou's Sunny Buttons.

Special congratulations to Morris and Betty Carson on their kennel visit. BEAUTIFUL PEOPLE WITH BEAUTIFUL POMES. Morris and Betty have been a great source of inspiration to me and many others, in our endeavor to attain "Pom Success."

Since I have just recently had the honor of a Kennel Visit and try to make it to the APC Specialty every year, I hope some of you know me. Those of you who don't I won't bore you. I guess the most important things are — I breed Poms and I live in Canada. It's "up north" to all of you, but to some I'm sure it must seem as far away as Greenland. I can assure you it's not and I'd like to extend an invitation to any of you to come up and see us some time! In another column I'll try and provide details of a trip to Canada.

The Top Pom statistics for Canada are now out for 1981 and I thought you might like to hear a little about these dogs' wins and their backgrounds:

The #1 Pom is Ch. Bavanew's Taria Shannara, owned by Matt Heindl. She is sired by Matt's Sir Igor of Sandhill and out of a female bred by Joan Grant, Jayenn's Pretty Redwing. "Missy" went Best in Show at one of Canada's largest shows under judge Gerhart Plaga. A very deserving distinction for one of the hardest working members of the Canadian Pom Club.

The #2 Pom hails from the west coast. He is Ch. Pomirish Tigger's Hunny Bear N, owned by Leslie Rogers, whose Forever Kennel produces some top quality Shelties as well. Bear, I believe, is the sire of several nice get in the U.S., including two American group winners. He was bred by Mrs. Sally Baugnet, who is gaining a well deserved reputation for selling "good ones" to other countries.

The #3 Pom hails from the other side of the map — the east coast. She is Ch. Chriscendo Carlotta, owned by myself, who picked up Best in Show as a puppy under Anne Robers Clark and a Toy Specialty under Michele Billings. She is also Top Winning Puppy for the year with 11 groups and 12 Best Puppy in Show awards.

The #4 Pom I unfortunately know very little about. His name is Ch. Okodawn's Rusty Prince Chico, owned by Linda Stanger.

The #5 Pom, Ch. Bell's Chriscend Carmichael, who at the time was co-own by myself and his breeder Betty Bell Vermont. This guy is also a Best in Show winner and a repeat breeding of Carlot above. He was Sweepstakes winner at last year's APC Specialty.

The #6 Pom is Tom Ho's Georgia He Wave, owned in the U.S. by Jessie Stever and J. Moran. He won a Best in Show under Tom Gately as a puppy. He is bred by Tommi Hoban of Massachusetts and sired by well-known, multiple Best in Show winner, Ch. Honeycrest Razzel Dazzl Dante.

In the #7 position is Kay and Fred Baxstrone's Ch. Chriscendo Causin' A Commotion, bred by myself and sired by Ch. Millamor's Rock Medallion. "Andy" made a brief appearance this year "for fun" after being #1 last year and picked up a Best in Show and several groups. The Baxstrone's also own the #8 Pom, Ch. Maracaibo's Liberty Belle. Although not their first home-bred champion, as they are very successful Sheltie breeders, she is their first home-bred Champion Pom. Fittingly enough, she was raised by a Sheltie! Libby won a group from the classes to finish. She is sired by Ch. Millamor's Rock Medallion x LLL Mite of Gold Patsy, bred by Janice Luginsland of Americus, Kansas.

The #9 Pom is American Ch. Jay Jay's Ounce of Bounce, owned by the George's and handled by Jean Schroll. This guy came to Canada and picked up three consecutive group first wins. A really successful trip! I believe this guy is sired by Can. Ch. Holder's Lil Red Flash.

All of the above are group and/or Best in Show winners. Also of note are the following group winners, all owned by U.S. fanciers: A/C Ch. Amadois Dark Fancy, owned by Anne Welshinger of Winconsin, Can. Ch. Mercer's Touchdown, co-owned by C. Heartz and Dan Mercer of Nebraska; Can. Ch. Paw Back of Wacks, owned by Anne Knowles of Massachusetts.

Before I leave you, I would like to share with you a poem by Hope Henry, Hy Hope Poms of British Columbia, which appeared in our Canadian Pom Newsletter recently.

Did you know that there is a great deal of difference between your dog and mine?

Yours is shy, mine is sensitive.
 Yours is fat, mine is substantial.
 Yours is vicious, mine is aggressive.
 Yours is skinny, mine is a slow maturer.
 Yours is stupid, mine is a slow learner.
 Yours is a rotten producer, mine was bred to the wrong bitch.
 Yours lost because the judge was good, mine lost because the judge was bad.
 Yours is uncontrollable, mine is exuberant.
 Yours messed in the house, mine sprained his leg.
 Yours is hysterical, mine is full of life.
 Yours is spoiled rotten, mine is part of the family.

Hope Henry,
 Lower Nicola, B.C.

Lots of luck in all your upcoming endeavors.

POMERANIAN CLUB OF GREATER PHOENIX

by Isabelle B. Gryder 903 East Loyola Dr.
 Tempe, AZ 85282

The members of our Phoenix area club have been very active in the past few months with various club activities. A "B" Match was held in February, and everyone in attendance had a great time. In the winners' circle that day were: Shanna Sneed, Best Junior Handler; Jolly Wee Fancy Dan's Delight, Best Puppy (owned by Isabelle Gryder) I-Dora's Sun Bear O Jalesh, Best Adult (owned by Alesha and James Herren); and Jolly Wee Tuff Stuff, Best Pointed Dog (co-owned by Isabelle Gryder and Randy Frech).

An Easter Breakfast was held in April at the home of Hall Bradshaw and Cliff Morris. Everyone had a super morning enjoying the pleasant company, "dog talk" and great food. Hand-made items were auctioned with proceeds going into our treasury. A special thanks to Hall and Cliff for the use of their home and for the tour afterwards.

A "B" Match is planned for June 26 in the Valley, and we are all looking forward to taking our puppies into the ring for the first time. Due to the summer heat in the Valley of the Sun, the match will be held inside one of our local shopping malls so it should be very pleasant for everyone.

Our Poms have also been busy in the show ring recently. Winners include Rider's Don Juan, owned by Dora Henderson, who won a 3 point major at the Scottsdale Dog Fanciers Association Show in Scottsdale in November. "Don" also went WD in Scottsdale in March for 2 points and the next day went WD in Tucson for 2 points. He now has 4 points left to go for his championship. Jolly Wee Fancy Dan's Delight, owned by Isabelle Gryder, took BOW out of puppy class at her first show for 4 points at the Sahuaro State Kennel Club Show in March. "Dee Dee" also went WB two days later at the Kachina Kennel Club Show in Phoenix for 2 points. Congratulations to all!

Several "work get-togethers" have been held recently in preparation for our club's hosting of the APC Summer Specialty to be held in conjunction with the Sahuaro State Kennel Club Show on Sunday, October 31. Two other all-breed shows will be held that same weekend: Superstition Kennel Club on Saturday, October 30, in Mesa and Kachina Kennel Club on Monday, November 1 in Phoenix. We have had a lot of fun at our "work sessions," and everything is progressing smoothly for what we hope will be a special day for everyone. A hospitality hour is planned for Saturday evening, and a dinner will be held on Sunday evening following the Specialty. Judges for the Specialty include Jean Fancy, regular classes, and Olga Baker, sweepstakes (both subject to AKC approval). We are all looking forward to seeing many old friends from out of state and meeting new ones. Mark your calendars now and make plans to attend.

A big "thank you" to those of our friends from out of state who have

POMERANIAN CLUB OF GREATER HOUSTON

by Sue Goddard

The new officers for this year are:

President	Darrell Baker
Vice Pres.	Roxy Campbell
Secretary	Tony Tellez
Treasurer	Bobbie Gibson
Board	Carolyn Crockett
	Erika Moureau, George West

Most recent news for our club centers around the March Texas circuit and the Dallas Fort Worth Pomeranian Club Specialty. Our two clubs work closely together, and several members have dual memberships.

Our members, Bobbie and Dave Gibson are the proud owners of a brand new champion, Ch. Mac's Gallant Man, bred and shown to his title by Estelle McDonald. He completed his championship by going Winners Dog at the Dallas Specialty. Another big winner at the specialty was Nancy Wharton (from Amarillo) and Barbara Camp's Winners Bitch, Wharton's Honig Von Baerle, who I understand finished shortly thereafter. Jean and George West had the Best in Sweepstakes with their lovely West's Sweet Summer Dream, who needs only two points to finish her title. A near tragedy occurred the next day when Summer broke a foreleg, but we understand it is healing nicely and we hope to see Summer back for those concluding 2 points very soon.

The day after the specialty found most of the specialty entries back in the ring. Tony and Connie Tellez were thrilled when their Tellez Simply Ms. Tuff Stuff won an additional 5 pt. major and now needs but 3 single points to finish. Saturday was a lucky day for Joan Reilly, too as her special Ch. Cheelan Chesai Strutter took Best of Breed. Sunday's big winner for a Houston club member was Jolly Wee Macho of Moonrock, owned by Sue Goddard and Mrs. Randall Frech, taking the 5 pt. major win in dogs. At the concluding show on Monday, Erika Moureau's striking puppy dog took the points. So many beautiful dogs and such an outstanding entry made this an exciting weekend. Most of these dogs will no doubt be finished when this comes to print. Most of our members are very active breeder/exhibitors and, even though the competition is keen, everyone seems to enjoy each other's successes almost as much as their own. You rarely hear a cross word . . . this is dog showing at its very best!

The next big group of dog shows for our area takes place in Louisiana, in and around one of my favorite places, New Orleans. Many of us plan to go.

We are looking forward to and making plans for our Annual Specialty July 29, which is held in conjunction with the Combined Specialty Clubs and three area all-breed clubs, making four BIG days of shows in the fantastic Astro Hall. This is getting to be the place to be for outstanding dog shows. We hope many of you have made plans to attend. Mrs. Jackie Klein is judging the regular classes and Mr. Doug Baynham will judge our sweepstakes entries. Roxy Campbell, show chairman for this event, has a lot of fun things planned for the Pom folks so, . . . as they say in Texas . . . "Ya'll Come!!"

PACIFIC NORTHWEST NEWS AND VIEWS

by Erin Hundley
19101 67th Ave. S.E.
Snohomish, WA 98290

In a recent letter, Sally McGilbry reported on a show weekend and just the fact that she was able to attend the shows was good news. Sally's health has not permitted many such excursions in the last few years, so it was good to hear she was well enough to get out again. She was also pleased to report the wins, as Sally's partner, Alicia Bauer showed Golden Glow Lovely to Best of Breed in Corvallis. Winners Dog was Golden Glow I'm A Warrior, shown by his new owner Jean Schroll. On Sunday in Salem, OR, Ch. Jestom's Tom Ho Georgia Heat Wave ("Samson") — whose mother is a Golden Glow Pom — was Best of Breed shown by his new owner, Jim Moran. Breeders Jessie Stephens and Tomi Hoobin really picked a good combination when they bred Golden Glow Heidi to Ch. Honeycrest Razzle Dazzle Dante. Golden Glow Lovely was Winners Bitch and Best of Winners and Golden Glow Regi was Winners Dog on Sunday. I want to thank Sally for making my job as reporter easier. I only wish she had included the names of the shows and judges. We sometimes forget that without the dog clubs there would be no shows, and without the judges there would be no winners.

Many other lovely Poms are also being seen. Last December in Portland, Andrew's Laddies Trailblazer was Winners Dog, Best of Winners, and Best of Breed over some nice specials. "Rascal" is owned by breeders Clyde and Phyllis Andrews and shown by Clyde. Clyde is now recovering from a sudden stroke which I hope will not keep him out of the ring too long. Clyde has always shown his dogs in the manner of a gentleman. No grandstanding — just quiet, calm presentation of a well-trained, beautifully groomed dog. Get well soon, Clyde. Another local breeder has reason to be proud. Bi-Mar Sundance Kid, bred and owned by Mary Rosenbaum, was Winners Dog and Best of Winners on May 8th at the Whidby Island Kennel Club Show. Best of Breed was Ch. Jestom's Tom Ho Georgia Heat Wave, Best of Opposite Sex was Tiffany's Star of India, bred by Helen Krafcik and shown by new owner Irene Harbin. The judge was Mr. Roland Adaeck. On May 9th at the Olympia Dog Fanciers Association Show, judge Mr. Jack Russell awarded Best of Breed to a very sound, creamy orange dog with excellent pigment, Pomirish Tigger's Hunny Bear N, bred by Sally Baugniet, owned by Lesley B. Rogers and shown by his best friend Donna Roadhouse. "Bear N" has several Canadian Bests in Show and missed being Top Pom last year by just a few points. Best of Opposite Sex went to Harbin's Ruby Red Robin.

I had a nice talk with Jessie Stephens who now resides in Concord, California. (This is temporary, she tells me. They will be back in the Northwest in July). Her Marantha's Lil Tabitha is showing very well now. On May 8th she was Winners Bitch and Best of Winners under judge Mrs. Merle Smith and on May 9th judge Stephen Shaw gave her Best of Breed over specials. Needless to say, Jessie and Tom were extremely pleased. I saw this little bitch as a 9 month old puppy. She showed great promise then and apparently has matured as expected.

Sometimes the lessons we learn are very expensive. I had to hand raise a litter in March. The mother had a normal section (her first after several normal deliveries.) She came out of the anesthesia and started caring for the three 5 ounce puppies. We put them all in a box and covered them against drafts for the drive home. When we arrived, the mother was dead. An autopsy showed that she had thrown up and choked on the material. I could easily have prevented this by keeping her in a separate box for the fifteen minute ride home, so that I could watch her. Fortunately, I was well prepared with baby bottles, Esbilac and tube feeding equipment. I thank my many teachers, Phyllis Andrews, Dianna McKeever, Irene Harbin, Jessie Stephens, Mary Rosenbaum and the other who have shared their experiences with me. I was able to pass on their knowledge just last week when I received a panic call from a new friend. Sadly, it was too late for her puppies, but next time she will be ready and I'd like to pass on the advice I gave to her:

1. Always be prepared — to the point of expecting the worst — even if your mother dog has always free whelped, and has always cared for her puppies.

2. Weigh the puppies every day. A puppy that loses even a little should have supplemental feedings before it gets too weak to nurse.

3. Check the mother's nipples daily, more often the first day. Sometimes too much milk may make the nipple hard for a small puppy to get in his mouth. Make sure you actually see each puppy sucking. They often snuggle in under the mother and sleep quietly until it is too late to save them.

4. Always have food and equipment on hand. I like bottles best, but be ready with the tube. I use the biggest one I can get. It is less likely to go into the lung. Linda McClannahan shared this trick with me. After you have the tube down into the puppy, pinch its foot. If he can cry, the tube is not in his lung. I asked my vet about this. He said it was logical because the tube in the lung would press on the larynx, preventing the puppy from uttering a sound. The tube should be marked at the length suitable for the puppy. Measure from his navel to his nose when his head is stretched out and mark this point. Be careful as you depress the plunger on the syringe. The puppy will be spitting the tube out as fast as you put it in and if the opening in the tube passes by the wind pipe as you express milk, he can inhale it and die. With a puppy that is too weak to nurse, you have to get food into him, so use the tube. Puppies that have become used to the mother may refuse the bottle and also have to be tube fed.

5. Everything that goes in must come out. I lost a whole litter of Dachsunds once — 6 puppies. I was so afraid of hurting them that I handled them very little and they bloated up and died, one after another. I now make sure that they eliminate very regularly. If you watch a mother with her puppies, she is after them all the time. She wakes them up by licking them, then pushes them away and watches them struggle back to her. This exercise keeps them stimulated and if she isn't doing it, or can't do it, you must. Handle them often. Rub the genital area with a moist cotton ball. If you see no results, use baby suppositories that have been quartered lengthwise. (Ed. Note: If you are having trouble with puppies that are not eliminating, it would be best to consult a vet before doing anything.) If this is not effective, give an enema. One cc of warm water usually works well. I use a small feeding tube cut off about an inch from the syringe and lubricated with vaseline. Do whatever you have to, but get results at least once a day and more often if possible. I hope this will save someone the very sad and expensive lesson of losing puppies that could have lived. One last word. If you have done all of the above and the puppies still die, then you can be sure that you have done your best. I always try, but some puppies just do not respond and this is nature's way of saving you from heartbreak later on. There are some puppies that are born defective and nothing we do can keep them alive. The ones who live make it all worthwhile, though.

Now you've done it. You've bred your beloved little bitch. Now what do you do? If you're a normal, healthy, reasonably intelligent Pom owner, and this is your first or second litter, you are probably having some misgivings and doubts. Will your bitch be okay? Will you be able to handle the whelping? You are right to be concerned. Getting Pom babies into this world isn't always easy. But, you're already committed, so the most important thing you can do is to be thoroughly prepared.

The first thing you should do is try to forget that she might be pregnant. For the first four weeks, you won't be able to tell if she conceived, so there is no point in harassing the poor girl by scrutinizing or poking her belly. One clue she might give you is "morning sickness." If she is normally a good eater and goes off her feed for 2 or 3 days at about three weeks along, she may be pregnant. However, if she doesn't refuse any meals or have any "morning sickness," it tells you nothing. During the first month, she needs no special care, so let her continue her usual routine, diet and exercise. Just give her an extra pat or two.

Some of the rules that apply to human pregnancies are good for dogs too. Don't give your bitch any medication without consulting your vet. It is assumed you had her checked and treated for worms before she was bred. Do, however, keep her on heartworm preventative. Evidence shows it is safe. Many Pom breeders swear by a pinch of raspberry tea in her supper from the day she was bred. (Ed. Note: For more information about raspberry tea see Michael Tierra's book The Way of Herbs.) I've never had to restrict the activities of a Pom, other than stop showing them after the fourth week. Nor do they need to be encouraged to exercise. I've had Poms in labor jump on and off the couch.

If it is important to know for sure that she's expecting (e.g., her due date coincides with a Specialty!), then a good vet can usually confirm by palpating for fetal lumps at around 28 days. This is a good time for a prenatal checkup. Tell your vet her due date and ask for advice. Ask your vet to give you his home phone number in case she has trouble after office hours (she'll invariably whelp after office hours!).

Contact any nearby toy breeders and ask for advice and help. Some may be willing to let you watch while one of their bitches whelps. Bless them! One might even be willing to come and help when your bitch's time comes. Sanctify her! It doesn't hurt to ask.

READ. The more you know, the better. As midwife, you'll want to be prepared for all kinds of eventualities. I've found the following books very helpful.

1. Dog Owner's Home Veterinary Handbook, Carlson and Giffin. This is a must for your dog library. Of course, it covers the whole range of dog health, not just obstetrics. It is well organized, thorough, and an excellent reference book. Good index.

2. The Joy of Breeding Your Own Show Dog, Seranne. See Sophie Mayes' review of this book in Oct. '81 Reveiw, p. 57, to which I add "Amen." I've read it over and over, and have used it as a reference source. The author's long experience with toys is particularly valuable for us. Good bibliography.

3. The Mating and Whelping of Dogs, Graham. Lots of information and interesting anecdotes purveyed in a very entertaining style.

4. Your Dog: His Health and Happiness, Vine. Another excellent general health book everybody ought to have. Available in paperback.

5. Dog Breeding for Professionals, Richards. This one's heavy on pictures. It shouldn't be the only book you read.

I would hope that by this time you have a comfortably working relationship with a veterinarian who has a proper respect for the Pom's size and proneness to whelping difficulties. I had an unpleasant experience when I had to take a bitch in premature labor to a vet I didn't know. Even though I told him it was this particular bitch's sixth pregnancy, and I was experienced with Poms, he talked to me like a child and persisted in saying things like, "She won't whelp if you're watching her." I finally exploded and told him she'd whelp in my lap if I'd let her! It was only after my predictions were correct that the vet began talking with a little respect. This shouldn't be the case. You and your vet must be a team. Just as you need his advice and skill, he needs your knowledge of your breed and of your dog in particular. If you are not comfortable with your vet, it's not too late to change. Your bitch's life may be at stake.

Around the fifth week, begin increasing the protein and vitamins in her diet. I begin by adding a small breakfast of cottage cheese or eggs scrambled with milk. I switch from regular vitamins to puppy vitamin powder. Gradually increase the amount of meat at supper. Keep an eye on her weight and don't let her get fat and lazy. Most of the weight is gained during the 5th to 8th weeks. A five pound bitch may gain about 2 pounds, but there are no hard and fast rules.

Begin getting together supplies and equipment for the big day.

1. For a whelping box, I have a 2 x 3 ft. wooden box (exactly the size of the sheet of newspaper). But I've also used cardboard boxes which served just fine. Either way, I spray it thoroughly with Lysol disinfectant spray.

2. Lots and lots of newspapers. Send the kids to collect from the neighbors.

3. A big stack of clean soft towels. Tea towels or hand towels are a convenient size for rubbing wet puppies. Bigger towels are bedding for mom and babies.

4. Heating pad and/or heat lamp.

5. Scissors.

6. Alcohol or peroxide

7. Thermometers, rectal and room.

8. Vaseline or baby oil.

9. Hemostats, clamps, or "hair pullers." These are very handy for clamping and crushing the cord, especially when the placenta doesn't come out with the pup. A cord that has been crushed doesn't need to be tied with thread, which is an awkward procedure.

10. A pad of paper or notebook and pen to keep records.

11. Baby bottles, stomach tube, syringe, and bitch's milk replacement (such as Esbilac). You just might need these and you don't want to have to dash out and try to find them at a critical time.

12. Small box or plastic dishpan to put pups in while another is being delivered.

13. Iodine or Betadine, to coat the end of the cord.

14. Large plastic garbage bags.

Some books recommend cotton balls, guaze squared, and monsel powder, but I've never needed them. A small bottle of oxygen is nice if you can get it.

About two or three weeks before the due date, set up the nursery. Cut a large plastic garbage bag down one side and across the end. Lay it flat on the floor and cover it with a thick layer of newspaper. Set up a six panel exercise pen on it, and put the whelping box, a dish of dry food, and a water dish inside. The prospective mom should spend a lot of time here from now on so she'll feel this is her spot. Put your other supplies and equipment nearby. Put the vet's phone numbers near the phone.

One week before the due date, I have her x-rayed. (Ed. Note: Check with your own vet. Opinions on x-rays differ.) Don't let the vet tell you what is on the x-ray — have him show you. You can learn to read x-rays. In addition to knowing how many puppies to wait for, you can see if any are likely to be breech. Comparing size of pups to bitch's pelvis is iffy, but a single large puppy and a small female are a strong hint that a C-section may be necessary. And of course, x-rays do confirm that she is pregnant if there were any lingering doubts. I recently had a bitch that I was positive wasn't pregnant . . . until she whelped, that is. I hadn't had her x-rayed. Yes, they can fool you occasionally.

On the 56th or 57th day, start taking her temperature and recording it twice a day. When the temperature drops below 100 degrees, clear the decks. Plan to stay home! You'll likely be in business in 12 to 24 hours. If you're planning a C-section, notify your vet. Keep a closer eye on your bitch. This is the time she'll attempt to sneak outside and build a nest under the toolshed.

Once the temperature has dropped, trim

REBEL REPORT

by Jane Johnston
3429 Oak View Dr.
Lakeland, FL 33803

Time to say hello again to all you nice people.

Decided to write Ted Birk a while back and inquire about Kathryn. He replied very promptly, saying she is doing very well and really enjoys cards and mail. He takes her out for dinner Sunday evenings. I read in the ADOA that Ted has been having some health problems too, although he did not mention anything about it. I had lost Kathryn's address so, for the benefit of anyone who would like to send a card or note, here it is:

Mrs. Kathryn Birk

After Ch. Chriscendo's Coy Coquette's breed win at the Dallas-Ft. Worth Specialty, she has accumulated more wins — Group 2 at Acala, Group 3 at Gainesville and Group 4 in Jupiter Beach. "Amanda" is co-owned by Eleanor Miller and Chris Heartz. I attended the Ocala show with Eleanor and it was truly a pleasure to watch "Amanda" in the ring — a real little doll. I was very pleased to meet Rebecca Mixon from Georgia. Also got acquainted with her two lovely new champions, Sugar and Spice. They were not entered, but seemed to be enjoying the whole thing. Talked with Edna Girardot for awhile. She was relating an interesting experience. Maybe some of you have heard of this, but I hadn't. One of her bitches gave birth to identical twin male puppies (both in the same sac). They were very tiny and were tube fed for several days. At the time I talked with her, they were about nine months old and she said she still finds it rather difficult to tell them apart.

I understand Anne Riddick has a nice little male doing a lot of winning these days — WD in Spartanburg, BOW in Danville, WD in Greensboro and BOW in Fayetteville for a 3 point major. At this rate the little guy, named Cedarwood's Image of Diamond, will soon have a Ch. in front of his name.

Millamor's Tangerine Twist, a puppy bred and owned by Eleanor Miller, took a 3 point major in Tallahassee.

I have an eight week old puppy in a pen by the desk and I am trying to concentrate on writing this and watching his antics at the same time. I always think it must be so lonely for a puppy alone, but he certainly seems to keep himself amused.

There are some more Florida shows coming up in June so, hopefully I will see some of you then.

SAN DIEGO POMERANIAN CLUB

by Anna La Fortune
3139 Florine Dr.
Lemon Grove, CA 92045

At the last San Diego Pom Club meeting, it was voted to have another Puppy Futurity. The rules are as follows:

1. Two dollars to enter bitch (in whelp).
2. One dollar for each puppy (age 8 weeks).
3. One dollar for each month there after.
4. In one year, on the day of the Futurity, a drawing of three members will be made and they will be the judges. Money will be divided among the winners.
5. You don't have to be a member to join the Futurity.

One member talked about her female eating her puppy after it was two days old. She was given a kitten to raise, so that she would keep her motherly instinct. We hope this will not happen next time. "Lucky" is 3 weeks old now and doing just fine. "Lucky" that is, that he didn't get eaten!

Ch. Phyner Black Sombbrero

In his first weekend out as a special — “Sam” was Best of Breed at Chief Solano K.C. 4/24/82 under judge Mrs. Jean Fancy, owner-handled. He is now being campaigned by Nadine Hersil.

“Sam” is now proven and is at only very limited stud to extremely select bitches.

I usually have young and older dogs for show, show prospects, breeding and pets available. Please state exact wants in first letter.

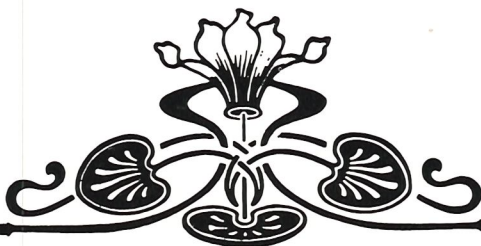

NOW, until I get around to writing you personally, I wish to thank all you good people for your birthday and Easter cards. Seems the older I get, the more popular I become. This helps to make me proud of my 79 years of a difficult but full life. The path we take and the rate of maturity we experience, will differ but the sum total of our experiences will determine our place in growth and in life.

YIPS & YAPS

OLGA AND DARRELL BAKER

Houston, Texas

After a long time, it is now appropriate to send a "Yips & Yaps."

Darrell and I traveled to Wisconsin (judging assignment for him, travel-fun for me), affording an opportunity to see famous dog-folks in the "Cheese Country." They are there . . . Nadine Hersil, cute as ever, bubbling, smiling . . . what a gal! Jacqueline Liddle (crazy little thing, NOT a Wisconsin product, but showing dogs, busying around, and acting like a Wisconsin person anyway.) I'll try hard to be brief — not easy for a "mouthy" Texan!

Lou and Eleanor Luccas would not be exhibiting, so we were able to visit the extraordinary Luell's Kennel . . . a treat we'll not soon forget! Lou was busily preparing puppy beds for two litters, only an hour old, with happy mothers. Eleanor's wonderful smile greeted us, along with her absolutely adorable 81-year-old "Mom," a "live-in" there, charming us and telling Lou she had a date that evening for a senior citizens' affair . . . but explaining to her son-in-law that she had no plans to marry her gentleman, or any other man-friend, but might very well "live with them for a while"! What an angel! The kennel there (breeding, boarding, grooming) is probably the finest we have seen anywhere . . . spotless, convenient, well-fitted for boarding, grooming and caring. Dogs were clean, happy, LOVING both Lou and Eleanor, with happy pet owners picking up their reluctant-to-leave little Poms. I begged for a job there cleaning the kennel or anything! (Darrell however, corraled me and got me back to Texas!) A wonderful place, but Southerners would FREEZE absolutely in winter weather such as they have in Wisconsin, of that I'm sure!

Following the dog show, we could then visit uninhibitedly. Show Chairman for Sheboygan, Sally Baugnet, bless her, worked her behind off all day long . . . also the poor child was freshly in from 3 weeks of traveling to dog shows ALL ALONE in her motor home!! Her handsome husband, Dick, had a time recognizing her! They invited us to visit though and while Sally's Pom kennel of many gorgeous dogs was wonderful, I hate to admit that Darrell and I were MORE excited about Dick Baugnet's special tour for us of his giant (maybe 6,000) mink ranch, seeing new-born litters of 4 to 7 mink "kits," and getting to touch real mink hair (likely as close as I'll ever be to a mink coat). Dick and Sally entertained so warmly . . . their home and kennel rests out in a beautiful Wisconsin countryside . . . can't tell you how lovely it all was!

ENOUGH . . . we had a fine mini-vacation, drove in rented car up to Chicago to stroll along Lake Michigan's shore, acting like "country folks come to town" . . . imagine THAT? And us from giant 3-million populace HOUSTON, TEXAS!!

EDNA GIRARDOT

Floral City, Florida

My trip to New York in February for the APC Specialty and the Westminster Show was another great event in my life. While I did not have any spectacular wins, did have a good time and when I benched my dog at the Garden, there on the back of my bench was a yellow sign on which was printed in red, the following: "Congratulations on your 50th Westminster Show!" This was a real surprise and it followed that I was interviewed and was on TV that evening. Was that a surprise! I actually saw myself as others see me.

I also want to share something with you folks that you may be familiar with, but I certainly wasn't. On July 4, 1981 I had a female deliver a set of identical twins, two males, in one membrane and one placenta. I know my mouth must have flown open when I made this discovery. They were so tiny — only one and a half ounces each. They were lively, seemed full term, but too tiny to nurst on the mother. Fortunately she had plenty of milk which I pumped out and tube fed for five days. I then bottle fed them for another five days and by then they were strong enough to go onto the mother.

She washed and cared for them and they just all of a sudden, started nursing. I named them Nip and Tuck, for it was just that to keep them alive. These two are identical in every way and they can not be separated. They wash each others' faces, cuddle, guard one another and do such strange things as taking a bone and giving it to the other — food, too. They were subject to hypoglycemia spells at first, but by giving honey and water daily in a small crock, they are o.k. now.

These two males create great interest when guests visit and see them in the kennel. They are so perfect and beautiful, everyone wants one "just like them." I can't help but wonder if anyone has ever had a set of identical twins and how they turned out.

Dear Pomeranian Friends,

I have read many articles about hot spots, black skin and heavy dandruff, but none has ever told of a cure. I have several cures, both internal and external, and they do work. I even have an old recipe from Gladys Schoenberg.

I know that a lot of you need help with skin problems, so send me a self-addressed, stamped envelope and I'll be happy to share my cures with you. Skin problems can be very serious — can even cause the death of your dog — so get on it now.
