PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE

by Roberta Massey
1015 Fairway Farms
Kingwood, TX 77339
(713) 358-2775

It can be difficult to write of Club activities in this column, knowing that by the time it appears in print, the status of many projects will have changed. By the time you read this, the Summer Specialty, hosted by the Pomeranian Club of Greater Phoenix, will be upon us. The Phoenix Club has put much hard work into this endeavor. We hope that you will help to make it a success by attending and enjoying. We look forward to meeting you there.

I am happy to report that Fred Bassett, Dorothy Bonner and Jessie Young will make up the committee to work with AKC in developing a slide/tape program on the Pomeranian. We are grateful to Jessie for chairing this important undertaking. The Committee will be aided by Derial Jackson and Bob Goodrich, who have agreed to help with the history of the breed and allow us the use of their extensive photo collections of old Poms. As work progresses, the Committee will undoubtedly be getting in touch with many of you for photos of or photo sessions with your Poms. Please help them to make this a complete, successful presentation that will help educate breeders, judges and newcomers alike on our breed for years to come.

The By-Laws Committee also has a new Chairman, Larry Combs, who has had considerable experience with parliamentary procedure. We are fortunate to have someone with Larry's expertise in the Club. If you have suggestions for the By-Laws Committee, please send them to Larry at 715 East 9th, El Dorado, AR 71730.

Elsewhere in this issue you will read details for plans for a "Craft Boutique" to be held at the February Specialty, provided we can get enough support for it from the membership. ALL proceeds will be donated to a group yet to be designated, to benefit our breed, as an addition to the Club's yearly contribution. To be successful, we need help from all of you. Please read the details and do what you can to help support this project. This is something we can all contribute to in one way or another and in doing so, help our breed.

By the time this appears in print, the Nominating Committee for the 1983 Club Officers and Board will already be at work. Committee members are Molly Miller, Chairman, Judy Blocker and Erin Hundley. Alternates are Rosalind Goltz and Margaret McKee. You can help make their job easier and at the same time help get some fresh faces and ideas on the Board. Although the Committee members represent different areas of the country, there are bound to be some very capable people who are unknown to them. If you would like to serve as an Officer or Board member in 1983, or if you know someone you think would do a good job in any of the positions, let Molly know. The Committee's work must be completed before the end of October, so don't delay in contacting Molly. Her address is P.O. Box 717, League City, TX 77573, and her phone number is (713) 332-1847.

I have received many comments from breeders lamenting the lack of exchange of information in Yips & Yaps. Only you can correct this situation. You may have experienced a strange problem and been puzzled at how to solve it. Only by letting other know of it will someone be able to come forward with an answer. We can learn so much from each other but it does take some effort to do so.

On the same note, I was disappointed to learn that one of our columnists, after repeatedly pleading for information from breeders and exhibitors in her area, as a last resort sent out self-addressed, stamped envelopes and had NO replies. The Review needs your help to be a complete and interesting magazine. We are in need of articles written by Pom breeders and fanciers, now more than ever. Please keep in mind that our new editor is being paid to assemble the magazine, not to dig for articles on Pomeranians. The Review will be what we make it.

COVER STORY

Dear Friends,

It is with great pleasure that we present our BIS Ch. Anwin's Lil Sirius as the October cover dog. Truly a Pom Fancier's dream, we are quite proud of him, so please pardon us while we relate his story.

In April 1981, we regretfully said farewell to our BIS Ch. Dendy's Miracle Boy. Our friend Marlene Scott Halsey told us at that time of "Sye," who she felt could fill the gap in our stud force. He was shown by Maynard Wood for his breeder Mrs. L.L. Winslow and finished quickly. Upon the death of Mrs. Winslow, Maynard allowed us to purchase "Sye." We were anxious to continue our Great Elms linebreeding and since he was of predominantly Model's line, we felt he would be a correct addition.

Just to show the local breeders our new addition, we entered Sye in a couple of shows close to home. Lo and behold, he went Best of Breed at both of them — over Best in Show and group winning competition — owner handled! We even placed a respectable 3rd in a nice Toy Group.

Due to job responsibilities, Sye wasn't shown for a while but stayed home and matured. Now after 24 shows, his record stands at 22 Breeds, 6 Group 1's, 14 other Group placements (2nds and 3rds, no 4ths), and a Best in Show. Shown only sparingly by his handler Marlene Scott Halsey, we are tickled pink with his record.

Sye's value as a producer is just now being proven with several litters on the ground including 5 litters out of daughters of BIS Ch. Dendy's Miracle Boy. These are truly the prettiest little girls we have ever produced. Look for them in the ring next summer. Around mid-October, a few will be for sale to show homes.

Sye is truly a joy to watch and meets the standard one to one. His head is outstanding; his showmanship smashing. More than one judge has taken a second look because of his "sound as a rock" movement. Truly a beautiful Pomeranian.

We wish to say a special thank you to friends Margaret McKee, Maynard Wood and Bob Goodrich for their encouragement and sense of sportsmanship. Also, a very

CRAFT BOUTIQUE

Do you knit, crochet, paint or do needlepoint? Maybe you're into ceramics or decoupage, macrame or novelty items. Whatever your talent, we need it!

For a number of years now, the American Pomeranian Club has donated $200 per year to a "scientific, educational or charitable organization." Some of the groups who have received donations from the Club have been the American Dog Owners Association, the Cornell University School of Veterinary Medicine (for parvo research) and the University of Pennsylvania (reproduction studies).

This year, we would like to significantly increase the amount of money donated by holding a Craft Boutique at the February Specialty. In order to do this, we need help from the entire membership. We need your donations of craft items to sell. Everybody can do something. Maybe you can bake up a storm — the items do not have to be doggy-related, just appealing to buyers!

If the materials you use are simply too expensive to be donated outright to the Club, let us know how much you would have to have for each item and what you would recommend we sell it for. We will gladly take items on consignment — perhaps you know a dog supply dealer who would be willing to let us have some items wholesale on consignment or, preferably, who has a big heart and would be willing to donate a few items for a good cause.

In order to make the Boutique a reality, we need a lot of help and a lot of items to sell. We intend to ask permission of the other Specialties held in the hotel to put up a sign at each one advertising the Boutique, so we can reasonably expect a good attendance, but in order to offer a variety of items that will appeal to every taste, we need a great many contributions from all of you. We also need someone to take charge of gathering and pricing the items and getting them to New York, and we will need a few people to man the booth at the Specialty. If you would like to chair this project, please contact the President immediately. In the meantime, please write or call the President to let her know what items you plan to donate, how many, price, etc.

We will announce in the January issue the specific group that the money will be donated to. Remember, ALL proceeds will be added to the Club's yearly donation. If you have a group in mind that you would like to see the money go to, drop a note to the Corresponding Secretary and give him a brief outline of the work the group does. One under current consideration specializes in reproductive studies. This includes work on hypothyroidism, hormone imbalance that can cause many problems such as resorption, infertility, pyometra, etc. If you have ever experienced the heartbreak and frustration of a lovely new champion losing all his hair due to hypothyroidism or a special girl repeatedly failing to conceive or repeatedly resorbing her litter or perhaps having abnormal seasons that prevent breeding at all, you will appreciate the work that can be done in this area. Helping to resolve problems such as these or in other areas that are equally worthy, in even a small way, is certainly time and money well spent and we just may provide the funds that will make the difference.

And it will be fun! Let's all get busy on this project and do all we can to support it. To discuss donations or volunteer to work, please contact Roberta Massey, 1015 Fairway Farms, Kingwood, TX 77339, (713) 358-2775.

A VISIT TO BEV-NOR KENNELS

by Skip Piazza

Beverly Norris purchased her first Pomeranian, Ch. Theldun's Almond Fudge, on September 10, 1975. Two weeks later she purchased her first female. Beverly had just these two Poms for two years. Then she produced four champions and was off and running. The next Pom Beverly purchased was Ch. Tom-Cin's Tarzanna of Lennis. Tarzanna was all Great Elms breeding and instantly became the love of Bev's live. (It was a grave tragedy for the Norris's when Tarzanna, who was a special housepet along with Fudge, died recently.) Watching Tarzanna every day, Beverly became enchanted with the Great Elms bloodline. Ch. Tarzanna produced only two puppies in her lifetime, but they were knockouts who did their mom proud. They were Ch. Bev-Nor's Tarzan who won two Bests in Show and Am. Can. Ch. Bev-Nor's Sadie Ray who won Toy Groups in both Canada and the U.S. Beverly's next purchase was Bev-Nor's Sweet and Sassy,

"Baby." Baby, not wanting to let Tarzanna outdo her, produced Ch. Bev-Nor's Toasted Fudge (number one Pomeranian for 1981 with fifteen Bests in Show), Ch. Bev-Nor's Almond Fudge (Best in Show at nine months of age), Ch. Bev-Nor's Fudge Ripple (a Toy Group winner who is also proving himself to be quite a producer at Bev-Nor as well as for others), Ch. Bev-Nor's Fudge Fancy Pants, Ch. Bev-Nor's Mstofy Elegant Lady, and Bev-Nor's Fudge Delight, who has eight points toward her championship. Baby is also Great Elms breeding — a Ch. Tar Baby daughter. Beverly bred Baby into the Showstopper line by breeding her to Champion Theldun's Almond Fudge. The above champions speak for how beautifully this cross of Great Elms and Showstopper goes together. These dogs are soundness personified and lovely specimens of the breed. Beverly is now working with Karen Holder and me on a Bonner/Showstopper cross. She is very anxious to see how this works and so are we. I often laugh and accuse Beverly of having a Midas touch as everything she touches turns out terrific.

Bev and Bill Norris with Ch. Theldun's Almond Fudge at nine years — #2 Top Producing Sire for 1982.

Actually it is careful planning and lots and lots of study. Beverly has practically memorized everything in print about Pomeranians.

Old Fudge (Ch. Theldun's Almond Fudge) is now nine years old and producing better than ever. When one goes to visit Bev and Bill, he is greeted by Fudge at the front door and if you spend the night Fudge is disgruntled when you take his favorite sleeping spot on the couch (yes, Fudge still jumps up and down off all the furniture).

Bev-Nor is but a very small kennel with only six females and three males and Bev produces very few puppies each year. Bev-Nor Kennels is very proud to have produced three Best in Show dogs, five Toy Group winners, two Canadian champions, two Bermudan champions and one Venezuelan champion. Beverly has finished sixteen homebred champions, with several others almost finished. Bev-Nor's Ho-Lea Delight only needs a major to finish while her litter sister, Ch. Bev-Nor's Ho-Lea Terra, finished as a puppy and is a Toy Group winner as well.

Bev and Bill have been married for nineteen years. They have one son, Billy, who is a great help to Beverly with the puppies. Bev gives Billy the credit for bringing out the personality in all her puppies. Billie plays with puppies patiently and lovingly by the hour. He leaves the cleanup detail to mom, but Bev doesn't mind. Beverly carefully brushes each Pom every day and keeps everything scrubbed to perfection. Bev-Nor Pomeranians have a lovely facility right in Beverly's home — each one is spoiled rotten and I can think of few "only-kid-Poms" who have such a good life.

Billy with two Bev-Nor puppies.

Babies are raised and socialized in the built-in area in the middle of everything in the house. Bev-Nor puppies get lots of attention from everyone and there is a constant parade of friends and relatives through the Norris house as there is always an extra plate, a big smile and a friendly ear and lots and lots of Pomeranian conversation. Beverly has one entire wall of her kitchen covered with show wins and she now has to rotate pictures because she just can't put all the pictures on the wall.

Bev and Poms in the kennel. Above is one end of the big room where the Poms live, and below is the other end.

Beverly's parents live in Pasadena as well and stop by often. Bev's mom Pom-sits on the rare occasion that Bev and Bill do get away from home overnight.

Beverly gives much credit for her success to Ruth Beam and the Great Elms dogs who have helped her to establish her foundation and her Bev-Nor type and bloodline.

Beverly and Bill are party people who love to have a good time. However, Beverly always gives top priority to babies and mommas. Beverly did not know until the last minute whether or not she was going to get to go to New York this year as it all depended on whether or not Delight was a mommie by then and settled. As luck would have it, all was okay by the day of the Specialty and Bev and Bill were able to go to New York and see Toastie win the Specialty. A visit to Bev-Nor Pomeranians would not be complete without mentioning Ed Jenner and Susie Fisher. Ed Jenner purchased Ch. Bev-Nor's Toasted Fudge and Susie Fisher has been his exclusive handler. Toastie is always treated with the best of care. Susie once told me that he even has a bronze crate which Ed has provided for him to sleep in. Toastie was last year's Specialty winner and Group 2 the next day at the Garden. This was a terrific thrill for Bev and Bill to watch.

Ch. Bev-Nor's Toasted Fudge is pictured winning the 1982 APC Specialty in New York under judge Miss Jane Ablett.

There is never a dull moment with Bev and Bill. Beverly is very talented in many areas — she drew the blue prints and completely designed her house which is energy efficient as well as beautiful. Beverly goes to auctions and is a champ at picking up bargains. She really has an eye for things with potential. Bill has become interested in restoring an older Corvette. He and several of his friends who are also interested in older Corvettes get together for weekly rallies. Bill is an active member of a softball team and Beverly supports the team with lots of moral support and cheers. Billy is on a softball team as well and let me tell you, that Billie plays the meanest video game you have ever seen. When he discovered that his mom was practicing up during the day while he was in school, he started hiding the cassettes. Beverly is threatening to buy her own cassettes!

Bev-Nor's Sexy Susie — littermate to Ch. Bev-Nor's Toasted Fudge.

This is a fun-loving family of humans and Pomeranians. When you are in Pasadena, Maryland, call and you will be greeted with warm smiles and great company from the humans and wags and pats from the Pomeranians. I always know I am welcome at the Norris's any hour of the day or night and I can always count on Bev to have cooked more than a dozen people could eat in a week. I can also always count on not leaving when I had planned because such good company is tough to give up.

Norris's home in Pasadena, MD and Bill's Corvette.

KENNEL VISIT ELIGIBILITY

To be eligible for a Kennel Visit, an individual must first be a member of the American Pomeranian Club, Inc., for at least five years and must have bred at least one champion. All Club members meeting these requirements will be considered for a Kennel Visit. Please send your suggestions for future Visits to the Corresponding Secretary, address on page 3.

Desiree's Poms

We have chosen to honor "Victoria" this year. She is a daughter of "Lov" and litter mate of "Hope." (October 1981, Review).

Victoria is pictured here with her 4 puppies sired by Bev-Nor's Ch. Theldun's Almond Fudge. The puppies are 12 weeks of age and Victoria would like to apologize for the condition of her coat, but you Pom people know how it is when you have 4 puppies this age.

THE COLUMBIA POMERANIAN CLUB SUMMER SPECIALTY

Friday, July 16, 1982
by Erin Hundley

When we arrived at the show site, the sun was shining on the trees, grass, Poms and people. It couldn't have been a more beautiful day. Just enough breeze to keep us all comfortable.

Twenty-three Pom puppies were getting the finishing touches by as many owners and handlers. The judge, Mrs. Elaine Young began her assignment and had some very difficult choices to make. This particular group of puppies was as fine as I have seen anywhere. This is the way Elaine saw them.

orange male, winner from the 9-12 month class. His owner, Linda Gallacher beamed proudly as she accepted "Skeeter's" award.

Fred Bassett judged the regular classes with care and consideration. By this time the sun was overhead and the temperature was rising. Shade from the trees helped and Judge Bassett made sure that all the Poms were in this shade, except when actually being judged. The handlers appreciated this consideration, as did the dogs. The 43 entries were outstanding. Almost every color was represented. The spectators were heard to comment on the exceptional quality of the entire group.

Judge Bassett demonstrated his knowledge of the breed as he reviewed all entrants. This is the way he placed them.

Judge Bassett chose Que Sera Mountain Fresh O' Bi-Mar from the Open R,O,C, or S class as Winners Dog. "Rainy" is the picture of the perfect Pom. Bred by Mary Rosenbaum and formerly owned by my son Chuck, he was retired from the ring because he hated dog shows. After a time with Jessie Stephens he became Jean Schroll's, who loves him especially because he looks so much like his grandfather, Ch. Holders Little Red Flash ("Texas"). This was a popular choice. Rainy never looked so good. Reserve Winners Dog went to Sunswept Anticipation.

Open Bitches Any Other Allowed Color

1. Harbin's Black Gold of India, breeder/owners Irene and Sylvia Harbin
2. Cotterell's Orphan Annie, breeder/owner, Agnes E. Cotterell

The winners of the classes returned for one more careful review by the judge. With such a beautiful group of ladies, the choice was hard. Harbin's Black Gold of India, lovely black and tan, was chosen. "Toby", at 8 months of age, already has an impressive list of credits and a total of 10 points — three Best of Winners and Best Opposite wins and this Specialty win. Reserve Winners Bitch went to her mother, Tiffany's Star of India.

The champions led their proud owner and handlers into the ring. I'm sure Mr. Bassett was pleased to see so many Pomeranians of high quality in this competition. He went straight to work, still being sure that we took advantage of the made. Each dog was carefully examined and given full allotment of the judges attention. Best of Breed went to *Ch. Bi-Mar Sundance Kid. "Sunny" is a deep red orange of exceptional soundness. He was bred by Mary Rosenbaum and sired by Shirley Bradley's Ch. Tomanoll's Tiny Teddy Bear and out of Bi-Mar Kandi Kane.

Winners Bitch was Harbin's Black Gold of India, owned by Irene and Sylvia Harbin. The judge was Mr. Fred Bassett.

Best of Breed was Ch. Bi-Mar Sundance Kid, bred and owned by Mary Rosenbaum. The judge was Mr. Fred Bassett.

Sunny finished his championship in short order — ten shows, including 5 breeds and only 1 reserve. Shown twice as a special, Sunny has 2 Breeds, 3 Group 3's in the U.S. and 2 Canadian Group placements. Best of Opposite Sex went to Ch. Marantha's Lil Tabitha, who was bred by G. & S. Carlin and is owned by Jessie Stephens. Tabitha is sound and typey and has won many awards. I understand she has become a mother since this show. Best of Winners went to Que Sera Mountain Fresh O' Bi-Mar.

And, last but not least the puppies for Best Puppy — a very important award. The Champions show us where we were; the puppies show us where we are going, and these are going in the right direction. After his usual careful appraisal, judge Bassett picked his winner from the 6-9 Puppy Bitch class, Char-Mur's Glorious Dream. Bred and owned by Muriel Gunther, Glory was handled by a good friend, Rita Laverne. Sired by Ch. Que Sera Spirit of LaRita and out of Char-Mur's Wendy Bear, we will see more of this one.

Veteran Dog went to a classy black and tan named Rainbow's Tallo High, breeder, Margaret McKune, owner, John and Camie Nye. Best Brace in Show went to Rainbow's Tallo High and Ch. Rainbow's Willowmar Hi-Ho, owners, John and Camie Nye. The Parade of Champions gave us another look at Harbin's Mr. Ralph's Stormy and Ch. Rainbow's Willowmar Hi-Ho.

The show was over but not the fun. John Nye barbecued hamburgers for all the hungry Pom lovers. Club members had out done themselves with a great pot-luck. So, we sat under the trees, relaxed and rehashed this and many other wonderful Columbia Pomeranian Club Specialties.

POMERANIAN CLUB OF GREATER HOUSTON

by Sue Goddard

Our club has just held its 8th Specialty, very capably guided by Roxie Campbell, show chairman, and an active, co-operative list of committee members. Everything proceeded smoothly as Doug Bayham of Dallas passed judgement on 11 Sweepstakes entries and found his Best in Sweepstakes in Erika Moureau and Kathy Flanakin's adorable little orange male, Tomboy's Pico Chico. Best of Opposite in Sweeps went to Sunray's Golden Charmandi, owned by Brenda Pierson.

The regular classes were judged by Mrs. Jacqueline Klein from Silver Springs, NY, a noted Pom breeder (Silver Meadow's Kennel). She chose as her Best of Breed, Ch. Jolly Wee Macho of Moonrock, co-owned by Sue Goddard and Mrs. Randall Frech. Best of Opposite Sex was won by Ch. West's Sugar Bear, owned by Jean West. Winners Dog and Best of Winners was won by the Bred by Exhibitor Dog, Texican's High N Mighty, bred and owned by Erika Moureau. Reserve Winners Dog was Wagner's Royal Sun of Cynray, owned by Cindy and Ray Miller. Winners Bitch went to the Bred by Exhibitor bitch, Tellez Simply Cinnamon Star, bred and owned by Tony Tellez. Reserve Winners Bitch was Tim Sue's Charlie's Angel, owned by Tim and Sue Goddard.

The show was followed by a dinner attended by many members and guests. To cap off the evening, the Combined Specialty Clubs hosted a country western dance at the Astro-Hall. We think judge Jackie and her husband, Ron enjoyed their visit to Houston, which even included an evening at "Gilley's" (of Urban Cowboy fame). Jackie and Ron seemed genuinely surprised and pleased with our Texas hospitality. We hope they will both plan another trip back as honorary Texans!

Our club has voted to hold a Spring Specialty in 1983 in conjunction with the March Texas circuit. This will give the exhibitors the opportunity for two Pom Specialties and hopefully more majors during this circuit.

Another big undertaking for our club is a Futurity, scheduled to begin with August 1982 litters now being nominated for a competition to be held early in 1984. This is open to all Pom breeders and detailed information can be obtained from Olga Baker, 207 Shirleen Dr., Seabrook, TX 77586. Futurities are held by other dog clubs and are similar to those held for race horses. It could be profitably for the winners as well as an event to plan toward with your promising puppies.

Members boasting new champions finished at our recent Astro-Hall shows were Texican's High N Mighty, owned by Erika Moureau. He won his points entirely from the Bred by Exhibitor class and finished one day after his first birthday.

Jolly Wee Chatty Cathy made her owner, Roxie Campbell very happy with her finishing four point major. Tony Tellez's Winners Bitch at the specialty added another major and needs only one point to finish for proud new owners, Dave and Bobbie Gibson. There are several others quite near their titles.

Many of us are making plans to attend the APC Summer Specialty being held in Arizona, looking forward to giving Sweepstakes Judge, Olga Baker, fellow club member, a difficult choice. Hope to see you there!

Ch. Jolly Wee Macho of Moonrock, bred by Mrs. Randall M. Frech is Best of Breed at The Pomeranian Club of Greater Houston Specialty Show, July 29, 1982 under breeder/judge Mrs. Jacqueline Klein. Macho is handled by co-owner, Sue Goddard.

She is the grandmother of Ch. Brown's Rock N Robin and Ch. Brown's Billy The Bandit. Also, other pointed children and grandchildren. Mackie was shown to 10 points, but got so busy with motherhood that she did not finish. Now at 12 years of age, she seems to be enjoying her Golden Years.

ADVERTISERS!

It is critical that the copy you send with your ad is not only legible, but accurate. That may sound silly but since I am not yet familiar with Pom names and pedigrees, I am finding it a real struggle deciphering so many different handwritings. It is stated that ALL COPY MUST BE TYPED OR PRINTED CLEARLY, but not everyone complies. When I do get typed copy, it frequently has not been proofed and I have seen some names spelled two and three different ways in one ad! You may say, "Call if you have questions," but if I called everyone whose copy was confusing, I'd do little else. PLEASE, double check your ad copy.

Many advertisers are happy to let me "do my own thing" as far as their layout is concerned. If you want your ads done a certain way I'll be happy to comply, but if your requests demand too much extra artwork you may be charged accordingly.

In an effort to make Pomeranian Review the best it can be, your help will be appreciated.

Thank you.

HELPFUL HINTS

by Margaret R. McKee
7660 Idlewyld Road
Richmond, VA 23225

WARNING: There are fads in foods, fashions, and unfortunately, in medical care. Remember when every child got his tonsils out? The current fad in veterinary treatment seems to be cortisone. Generally it is prescribed for limping and skin ailments. But cortisone is not a cure. It only masks the problem, relieving pain and itching, but not the cause of the symptoms. And it can have serious side effects. Lorinda Vasuta of Akron, Ohio had a horrendous experience with excessive cortisone. It was administered for an itchy skin condition. Later, the dog became very lethargic, had little appetite, and lost all his coat. It was discovered that the cortisone overdose had caused the adrenal glands to cease to function. The dog has responded well to months of treatment, the adrenals are working again, and the coat is growing back. But what a shame that Lorinda and her dog had to go through this experience. Whenever your vet prescribes any medicine, ask him what it is, what it will do to the dog, whether there are side effects or alternatives.

What may seem to be a great hint to me may be an old familiar practice to you. For example, I thought everyone knew about Sevin, but apparently not. If you use flea powder on your dog, you probably buy it at a pet shop or at shows and pay $2.00 for 5 oz. The basic ingredient in most flea powders is a compound called Sevin. If you go to the garden department of a discount department store, or your feed store, you can buy 4 pounds of Sevin powder for $2.00-$2.50! It comes in a bag. Then get a flour shaker or large salt shaker from the kitchen department to put it in. Look at all the money you saved — the equivalent of two entry fees!

Did you know that artificial colors in dog food can affect the color of your dog's coat? (My source for this is Michael Fox). If you have a white, cream, or parti-color Pom, you might want to read the ingredients label and avoid artificial colors.

I save the plastic bags my grocery store provides to put produce or frozen foods in. They have numerous uses. I carry one in my left hand when I clean up the yard and empty the pooper-scooper into it. A quick knot and into the garbage can go my problems. At shows, I attach one to the outside of the exercise pen for a litter bag. They are also handy for packing shoes into a suitcase.

I have a really neat gadget called a Sudsy Sue (available from Miles Kimball, Osh Kosh, WI for less than $2). It is a 9" plastic bottle with a screw-on cap that is a nylon bristle brush. It is intended to be filled with soapy water for washing dishes. It is great for a swipe at dishes and pots before putting them in the dishwasher. However, I have a second one that I couldn't do without. Into it I put one-third cup white vinegar and a few drops of liquid dish detergent, then fill to the top with water. I use it to dab at puppy accidents on the carpet. Very handy!

Pat Forst mixes goats milk half and half with water, then adds baby rice cereal "kind of thick." She feeds this to pups from a regular baby bottle with a cross-cut nipple. She says they take it just fine and it doesn't go up their noses. (How old are these pups, Pat? They must be pretty good size if you can get a human-size nipple in their mouths.)

From Vilma Louis in WA: "I recently read in our local newspaper that an excellent solution for dehydration had been found and was being used in India. Plain old molasses and water has replaced intravenous feeding. Having a 3 month old, 1½ pound Pom boy who suddenly decided to become hypoglycemic, I tried molasses instead of the usual honey in an emergency and found it worked just great. Apparently molasses contains salts and minerals lacking in honey and helps retain body fluids. My pup loves to lick it from my fingertip. Don't feed more than half a teaspoon or it may cause diarrhea." Remember, honey carries botulism spores and has caused deaths in human infants.

Margaret McKee of Richmond, VA has sent us some wonderful Pomeranian obedience news. She writes that at the Gaines Eastern Regional Obedience competition in College Park, MD the end of May this year, she and Mary Vickers cheered to the point of tears, for Lennis Red Denim Levi and Tammy Carrell who turned in an "absolutely gorgeous" performance on the first day with scores of 198 and 198.5. Tammy and Levi, who are from Roanoke, VA plan on attending the Gaines Classic competition. Now, Margaret also has some exciting good news of her own. Her "Penny," Idlewyld Har Pendant, finished her CD this spring in three straight shows — Raleigh KC, Fayetteville KC and Dog Owners TC of Lynchburg. "Penny," incidentally, already has seven conformation points. Also, her "Gem," Ch. Idlewyld Gemstone, finished his CDX this July in fine style — third and fourth legs each with 195.5. His wins included a first, a second, and a tie for second! Margaret informs us that more show quality and champion Poms are showing up now in obedience rings. Wonderful! Margaret is also training her "Gem" and "Tiara" in Utility and her Ch. "Pooh Bear" in Novice. She has already put eight obedience titles on six Poms and is rapidly coming up with the ninth.

A sad note comes from Ruth Potts of Niles, Michigan, whose beloved "Tawny," Duke's Tawny Oberon, was put to rest. This dear and beautiful little dog did very well in conformation and easily won his CD title. The whole family, including all of the other Poms miss him very much. Our sincere sympathy to you. "Tawny" was 12 years old. Ruth's daughter Lori is busy training her "Candy" for Utility and Ruth is training one of "Candy's" pups for Novice.

Most books and many breeders suggest that Poms and little children are not a good combination. Generally I agree. Over the phone, I recommend to inquirers about Poms that another breed be considered for children under 6 years of age. However, I have violated this prescription by raising three kids with Poms, and it has worked out well.

Of course there are problems. Young children must be supervised whenever they are around the dogs. There should be clear rules, firmly enforced. "Never pick up and carry a dog. Sit down and let it come to you. Do not open a cage without permission. Don't disturb a dog while it is eating. Don't run near dogs lest you trip over one. No grabbing, tail-pulling, or kicking. Don't let the in-season bitch loose."

There are rules for the Poms as well. "No growling or snapping. If you don't like something, run away. No mounting the kid. Don't come in the door unless you're invited."

More problems are caused by visiting children. Many do not know how to behave around dogs. I once had a child pick up and throw a Pom! (Ch. Trinket was uninjured, thank goodness!) Several children have been absolutely terrified of the wee beasties. It is the responsibility of the "host" child to make the rules plain to visitors, but adult supervision is still necessary with the under-seven set.

Dogs tend to steal kids' toys. "If it's on the floor, it's mine." You have to be sure they don't get something that could hurt them. I never buy Nerf (foam) toys as the dogs shred them (but don't consume them). The beasties do love crayons, and happily eat any they find. (Crayons are non-toxic to kids and dogs.) So I can have color-coded stools!

But there are numerous advantages for both the Poms and the children. My puppies are thoroughly socialized. From the day they are born they are accustomed to lots of noise of different kinds; voices of different pitch and tone; various size people; humans wearing strange costumes, masks, or hats; and being handled frequently. One of my favorite snapshots is proudly presents

GEMCh. Idlewylde Gemstone C.D.X.*

(May Morning Social Lion x Golden Tiara Dambestie CDX)

Our first homebred, Gem finished his championship on April 8, 1978 when Merrill Cohen awarded him a 4-pt. major. He finished the CDX on July 9, 1982 when he earned his third leg, again under Mr. Cohen. His record in Open A includes scores of 189.5 at Fayetteville K.C., 183 and first place at Dog Owners T.C. of Lynchburg, 195.5 and second place at Huntington K.C., and 195.5 and a tie for second place at Magic Valley K.C.

Gem is at stud to approved bitches. He is passing on style, charm, and temperament to his puppies. Two excellent male obedience prospects available.

Congratulations to Rosalind, Marian Lazzara and Morris on his High in Trial, and good luck to all those like Rosalind, Marian Lazzara and Carolyn Crockett who are showing that Poms can be outstanding in both rings.

THE PEARL OF GREAT PRICE

by Patricia M. Crary

A horse breeder once told me, "A good mare gives more than half to her foal." This was a knowledgeable man, a long-time successful breeder. I started to object — genetically the inheritance gift must be half. "No," he went on to say, "At the instant that the egg is fertilized, they have each given one half, stud and mare. But from that point on it is the mare's own healthy body that nourishes that newly created life. At the instant of fertilization that organism acquired its total potential. From then on realization of that potential will be up to the dam."

This is as true for the brood bitch as it is for the mare. Man, the breeder of record, will assume the responsibility only at some time after the actual birth, and if that responsibility MUST be taken very early in the young life, it is very possible that no matter how diligent the care, it shall never provide what could have been derived from a healthy, temperamentally sound dam providing from her own body the perfect diet, warmth and security.

The creation of a fine brood bitch must begin generations before the day she first whelps. Not only must she come from stock notable for beauty of form and movement, stability of temperament ideal for her breed, but there should be also behind her generations of dams and granddams who whelped easily, normally, and who nourished their litters without assistance, who never slackened their attention to the cleanliness and safety of their broods.

Laziness and weakness in the whelping box, enough to make the surgical birth, Caesarian section, necessary, and irresponsible maternal attitudes seem to be inherited. A bitch puppy whelped naturally in peaceful, comfortable surroundings, given the proper care by her dam from the first anxious lick, seems also to be "programmed" for performance of the same duties when her turn comes.

Modern veterinary medicine coupled with the "know how" of the experienced breeder have today made it possible to save many a pup, even many a litter that would a few decades past never have lived to maturity. This becomes a mixed blessing for it enables us to preserve the constitutionally inferior animal and from it propagate a weakened strain. The medical skills that can save the strong pup from epidemic viral disease and accidental post-natal injury are far too often employed to preserve a life that nature has marked as inadequate for continuance of the race. That body beautiful brought precariously into this world and maintained here solely through human effort and against nature's will to eliminate the weak may well survive to pass many essential weaknesses throughout subsequent generations.

Trust a good bitch. If she has six strong wiggling greedy beasties filled with the unlimited urge to survive, fighting for their nourishment, thriving, don't be upset about that seventh one that she has shoved off into a cool corner to expire. If she has been handling her personal affairs up to this point suitably, assume she knows something you don't know. Let that one go. And that littlest one who can't seem to hang onto a tit — let it go! Many a tiny one is as unbudgeable as is the biggest in the litter. Vigor and ability to survive is unalloyed with size, large or small.

Long ago in the eager altruistic early days of my dog breeding experience it was a matter of pride to "save them all." And many a time I was successful. One little female that I remember especially had to be fed minute quantities of food every 2 hours. Because she had thus become very dear to my heart as a result of our battle together, I gave her to a very good home. Within four months she had succumbed to the worst all-over case of red mange I have ever seen; while her siblings grew fat and hairy, she grew bald and scarred. I recommended euthanasia but her owners persisted in the most time-consuming care. At the age of 2½ years after finally achieving an orderly estral cycle, she kicked the mite and haired out almost completely except for a few areas permanently scarred as a result of secondary bacterial infections. Very much against my advice they bred her.

Slow, difficult labor produced two pups and a C-section the remaining four, of which one was dead, another dying. Massive infections followed and ultimately one pup survived. A few months later the bitch did finally have to be euthanized because of almost complete paralysis from back trouble. Full and half sisters of this same bitch, out of the same dam, bitches vigorous and strong from birth on are the best whelpers, the strongest, fiercest, most infection-resistant members of my kennel gang. With less detail, I will say that something like this did have to happen more than once before I became a believer. Now when someone mentions a lot of trouble with a litter, I ask questions about the bitch's family and make a mental note to follow the reproductive career of the survivors. Far too often is the sad story repeated in varying forms.

The inherent weaknesses having to do with reproductive capacity express themselves differently in the male. The undescended testicle is one thing; the low or nonexistent sperm count another. The breed as a whole is luckier than the individual proud owner when a terrific performer in the ring fails to reproduce himself. It suffers sorely when the constitutionally inadequate male that has been kept alive at all cost and raised to maturity because of his famous parentage and sheer external beauty does succeed in reproducing himself prodigiously. "We didn't want to lose the bloodline," may be the excuse. If that bloodline is essentially sturdy, this weakling will not honor it, and if not, then chances are that this "line" is one that nature, if left to her own devices, would have cancelled some generations earlier.

There is a bonus benefit. Inherent constitutional vigor carries with it in both the male and the female the ability to resist infection, disease and even severe parasitical infestation. The animal will flesh out and grow glossy coated with only a good maintenance diet, not requiring a superfluity of dietary supplements as it is able to extract the maximum available in the food ingested. It will adjust readily to extremes of heat and cold, thus it will require less artificial heating and cooling in the kennel. This in turn reduces chances of illness from

by Barb Linden

Getting a really good photo of your really good dog can sometimes be much more difficult a task than it seems. There just never seems to be enough time at home to groom the beast, not to mention the impossible feat of trying to take the photo all by yourself.

Show photos are great . . . IF they just happen to turn out!! One quick click and your dollars are either well spent or thrown away. Many is the time that I have anxiously awaited the arrival of a show photo . . . only to wonder how in the world that awful looking creature could have possibly won the show! Maybe your dogs are more photogenic than mine . . . boy mine are NOT!! Anyway, I have a rather large collection of absolutely worthless show photos . . . many more dollars down the drain than I would care to admit to anyone.

My solution has been this. Get two friends to help, then set aside some special time to devote strictly to taking doggie pictures. Recently two good friends of mine and I decided that we were long overdue getting some new photos of several of our dogs. It helps if all three of you need photos . . . that way no one feels that she is imposing on the others. We patiently waited for the right day to come along . . . one when I was off work, and that was warm enough, sunny and not too windy. (The 3 degree weather we had been having was completely out!) Finally, our patience was rewarded with a 50 degree day, sunny skies and a legal day away from work. We set the wheels in motion, meeting at my house . . . then off to the park! We set up our grooming tables and groomed away! We had a lot of fun just getting together and visiting!

Once the dogs were in order, we set about with the actual process of preserving the lovely beasts on film for all posterity. One person to hold the lead and position the dog, another in charge of the camera, and the third makes a fool of herself trying to get the dog to look alert, by running and making wierd noises at a distance. A bitch in season helps with the boy-types, too! Al

Due to the fact that my kennel girl, who has been with me for 9 years, got married and left, I will not be attending as many shows and must cut down the work load. I will be selling pups at younger ages and will cut down on the older stock. Unless a miracle happens and I can get the right person to work for me, I may have to pull out altogether.

"There is a time to live and a time to die." These words were part of the funeral service for our dear friend, Clyde Andrews who died Aug. 11, 1982. Clyde will be missed in many ways. His wife, Phyllis is probably more familiar to most of you because of her service to the American Pomeranian Club, both as an active member and a member of last years Board of Directors. But Clyde was the quiet man who shared his life with her. They worked together with their beautiful Poms. We will miss him and pray that God will comfort his family. Surely goodness and mercy shall follow me all the days of my life and I will dwell in the house of the Lord forever.

The Columbia Pomeranian Club had a beautiful turnout for their Summer Specialty. This is reported in detail in another part of this issue, so I will only mention the winners. Best of Breed was new-champion Bi-Mar Sundance Kid, bred and owned by Mary Rosenbaum. Best of Winners and Winners Dog was Que Sera Mountain Fresh O' Bi-Mar, also bred by Mary Rosenbaum and owned by Jean Schroll. Best of Opposite Sex was Ch. Marantha's Lil Tabitha, bred by Gloria and Steve Carlin, owned by Jessie Stephens. Winners Bitch was Harbins Black Gold of India, bred by Irene Harbin and owned by Sylvia and Irene Harbin. Best Puppy was Char-Murs Glorious Dream, bred and owned by Muriel Gunther.

At the Portland Kennel Club show the day after the Specialty, as new star rose. Cedar Glen's Fashion Fancy finished her championship from the 6-9 month puppy class with a five point major. "Bridget" was bred by Alicia Kvamme and Nora Higbee, and is owned by Alicia's daughter Kristen. Judge Mr. Thomas Conway also gave her Best of Winners. His Best of Breed was Ch. Bi-Mar Sundance Kid. Best of Opposite Sex was Ch. Marantha's Lil Tabitha. Winners Dog was Westmost Bounce O'Riley, bred by Wayne and Bea George and owned by Jean Schroll.

Cedar Glen's Fashion Fancy was transferred to the specials class for the Sunday show. She was awarded Best of Opposite Sex over specials. Bridget is handled by the ten-year-old owner, Kristen. We did not stay for this show and no marked catalogs were available, so I do not know the names of the other winners. I do wish people would drop me a note when something special happens. Please include the name of the show, the judge, and the other winners. I do like to report all the good news, but I can't unless you tell me about it.

Congratulations to the winners and to the Bev-Nor Kennel on their Kennel Visit. We in the Northwest enjoy the pictures of your lovely Poms in the Review and invite you to come out to one of the Northwest shows.

See you.

changes of weather and temperature in the course of shipping and traveling to shows. This healthy animal will cost you a lot less in time and money to keep in top condition and may even spare you the heartache of an early demise with possible disruption of carefully formulated breeding plans.

So, if your bitch is beautiful AND healthy, strong and natural in her breeding behavior, talented in the performance of her maternal duties, trust her. Pick your winners from the healthiest of her offspring. HONOR her — she will honor you — this pearl of great price.

Seeing how the issues have been backed up, we won't discuss too much in this issue but we did want to mention that Jackie Klien finished a gorgeous new male, Beau. We don't know his exact name as she didn't tell us, but she did send us pictures of him and he is very pretty. Congratulations, Jackie. Jackie will also be judging the Houston Pom Specialty July 29th, which is definitely an honor to any breeder. Also finishing another champion on the East Coast is Diane Johnson. She finished her male Ch. Silva Lade the Enforcer. Congratulations, Diane, that's very nice.

Parvo Virus

Parvo Virus seems to be the dreaded killer of the 1980's. We have taken every precaution and have never come in contact with it, but in the breeding aspect, the vaccine against Parvo has definitely been a problem, not only with me but also with other breeders throughout the country. I bred 6 females, of which 5 were repeats. I had never had any problems whatsoever with any of these females but out of 6 litters I had 3 c-sections and only one puppy. I had problems with all my other litters too; premature, deformed puppies, etc. As breeders, I guess you could say with trying to protect our dogs, we're damned if we do and damned if we don't. I have seen absolutely no effect of the Parvo vaccine on male dogs. Hopefully, there will be a serum to combat this virus which will not affect our breedings.

September 18th we will have our first fun match and we are all very excited. We will have people from as far away as Ohio. Marlene Scott Halsey will judge the regular classes and after they have been completed, we will have another contest. It will give us a chance to bring out our brood bitches as well as champions to be evaluated on the best headpiece, best rear, best front, smallest ears, shortest body, etc. We think it will be a lot of fun for all. We will report the results in the next issue as everyone is looking forward to this event. We feel sure there have been more champions finished on the East Coast but they haven't been reported as of now. We don't like to report on our own dogs, but Ch. Bev-Nor's Toasted Fudge has now accumulated a total of 16 Best in Shows, and also Toasty's dad, Ch. Theldun's Almond Fudge has another champion son, Ch. Bev-Nor's Fudge Candyman. I'll close for now and wish all our breeders many more champions in the future.

in all, we had a great afternoon and our efforts were well rewarded.

Another time that is great for all this madness is at a rest stop on the way home from a show. If you travel together as we do, you already have plenty of help along . . . and the dogs are already groomed! As in the park, the dogs are usually much more alert in the strange surroundings than they are at home, and why waste a good job of grooming, especially if you just had a bad day at the show! Maybe the whole weekend can be salvaged if you can get one really outstanding photo on your way home!

ALONG MYWAY

by Molly Miller
P.O. Box 717
League City, TX 77573

It is often the casual comment that a person makes, as if assuming all will agree, that shocks me. I had a judge recently frighten me with a casual statement. After a large four point entry, I was left alone with him to wait for the photographer. His opening comment was, "There certainly were a surprising number of bad fronts here today." I was caught off guard and did not know how to respond, for the entry, in my opinion, had been a nice one that day and I had no intention of running it down. My rejoinder was, "I have always been much more worried about rears than fronts in this breed." It was then that he stunned me for he dismissed this with a shrug and said, "Oh, Pom rears are bad all over the country," and he continued to talk about fronts. Well, I want to talk about rears. It is the rear that gives a dog his propulsion. Please consider the rear when you select which dogs will remain in your breeding program. If, as this judge stated, rears are a problem all over the country, one can not avoid it by breeding to line "Great Rears" every few generations. Every breeder must continually select for good rears no matter what in-breeding or out-breeding program he is following. Please be careful. I have a dream of some day hearing a judge say, "I always enjoy judging Poms because they are such sound little dogs."

Speaking of selection, I think breeders need to be aware of how much selection we practice. This is of course what develops bloodlines. But we must be honest with ourselves and realize that there are some things that we can not accept even to get the qualities that we need. When seeking to buy a dog to add to a breeding program, always remember to tell the breeder which characteristics you must have, in addition to the ones that you are seeking to add. Remember, you must live with the whole dog, not just his lovely color or tiny ears! For example, I recently heard a breeder say, "If I could not have ---- in my Poms, I would not breed them." The quality that she mentioned is not a requirement of the standard. Although thousands of Poms finish without this quality, and many breeders do not even want it, this breeder knows that she must have it, and anyone from whom she buys a Pom must know it.

I recently had a puppy confuse and worry me and its mother. At about a week a bitch puppy, the only puppy in the litter, began to cry as if in pain. It was not the sickly fading puppy cry, but a loud demanding cry. When she was not crying she looked good, but she could exhaust herself if left to cry. Thinking that perhaps the mother's milk did not completely agree with her, friendly bacteria was added to the mother's food and that baby was supplemented with it. She continued to cry. If we picked her up, however, and firmly patted and rubbed her stomach we could, after a few minutes, stop her crying. We then medicated the puppy and then the mother. It took about a week and during that period Linda and I patted that puppy countless times. During the trouble, the puppy remained fat and continued to grow. She is now five weeks old and has had no more trouble. I do not know if we cured something or if she outgrew something. I am telling you of the experience because I am certain that the puppy would have died of exhaustion if we had not quieted her dozens of times a day. I write of this to say don't give up. Keep working with those puppies.

I want to close this column by giving you a recipe that my Poms love and yours will too. It comes from Dorothy Williamson who has Brussels Griffons. It appeared in the Griff magazine as a recipe for ring bait. Its two big advantages are that it does not require careful refrigeration and it does not cause digestive upsets, even if eaten in large quantities. It is taste tested on my dogs. They all love it, but I do not use it as ring bait as mine tend to chew it, and while I think they are cute chewing, judges are not looking for "cute."

REBEL REPORT

by Jane Johnston
3429 Oak View Dr.
Lakeland, FL 33803

It certainly is nice to see the Pom Review coming along again — we missed it very much.

Rebecca Mixon from Georgia spent the past weekend with Ken and Eleanor Miller and also paid us a visit. Always glad to see Pom folks.

Coy Poms lost their first homebred champion in May, Ch. Coy's Petticoat Princess, "Tammy." Tammy would have been 14 in October. Their spirits were considerably brightened a few days later when they received word from Chris and John Hertz in Canada that their Coy's Lucky Eight had completed his Canadian championship. Lucky is a cobby little black and is endowed with that special spark of showmanship which is so very vital. Following his return home, he promptly picked up 8 points on the Florida shows. Lucky was shown, for the most part, by Eleanor Miller.

I had a rather interesting experience. I have a little Pom (almost 6 years old) who has never conceived, although she has been bred many times to different studs. This time I decided she simply must have puppies so went the hormone shot route, which we have never done before. The vet gave no assurance that it would work, but said if it did, it would be from the breeding after the last shot. This was hard to believe as that breeding took place on the 17th day after color, having been bred at intervals three times before that. Sure enough, she did conceive — and it was from the last breeding. She free whelped one dead female puppy. I'm sure the shots were not responsible for the puppy being dead — it just happens. Really can't be sure if it was the shots that caused her to conceive or the fact that she was bred that late. Perhaps she is one who should be bred late.

After about 17 years in Poms, we experienced our first tonsillectomy yesterday. Couldn't believe how well it went — could not tell anything had happened to her and she hasn't refused a bite of food since.

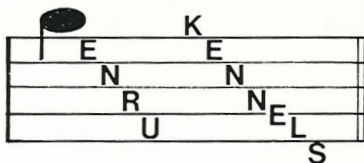

I think the Carolina circuit was a big surprise to everyone this year since all the shows were majors. Do not have the full information on the Greenville show on July 29, but can report that Anne Riddick's little male, Cedarwood's Image of Diamond finished his championship with a 3 point major. Entered as a special two days later in Charlotte, he took the Breed and Group 2. On July 30, it was Coy's Lucky Eight as Winners Dog for a 4 point major, leaving this little fellow lacking only one major to gain his title. Winners Bitch and Best of Winners to Bel-Mei's Princess Dawn, owned by Patricia Melton of Georgia, with Breed going to her Ch. Golden Glow Peter Pan. Following this show at Spartanburg, SC came Asheville in which Great Elm's Snooty Hooty, owned by Harry Pennington of Atlanta took the major with Best of Breed to finish. Winners Bitch went to Lorwood Foxy Lady of Lennis, owned by Margaret Sampels of Matthews, NC. The following day in Charlotte a 4 point major went to Mar-Len's Toby D of Browns as Winners Dog. Toby is owned by Marguerite Hohmann of Louisville, KY and this win put a big CH in front of his name. Scotia Tin Tin Fabulous, owned by Edna Girardot, was Winners Bitch and Best of Winners for a major. Congratulations to all!

The first half of 1982 is over and there is now lots of show news to report.

Earlier this year two new residents to Canada finished their championships very quickly. Anyone who attended the APC Specialty or The Garden this February will probably recognize them both. Can. Ch. Mike Mar's Mint Patty (Am. Ch. Postscript's Crowd Pleaser x Mike Mar's Creme DeMint) finished her title in just 3 weekends with Group placements. "Patty" was bred by Michael Wolf (who I'm sure needs no introduction) and is the litter sister to Mike Mar's Foxy Lady, who was Winners at the Garden. She is owned by Olive Darbyshire who is certainly well known to many, being involved mainly in Pokes and seems to always have one out doing winning. Olive also owned the cream dog, Can. Am. Ch. Mike Mar's Triple Crown, who did very well on both sides of the border a few years ago.

The second "new" girl is Can. Ch. Lennis' Brahms Lullabye (Vesta's Little Bit O Love x Ida Mono Lisa). She is owned by Jullian and Gordon Salls, Pettipoint Kennels of Androsan, Alberta, and bred by Vesta Hall. "Libby" was Reserve Winners Bitch at APC this year, and already has a Best in Show while still a puppy, under her teeny belt!!

From the newsletter of the Pomeranian Club of Canada comes news of two recently finished champions. Mrs. W. Repka finished her Schmmel's Tiny Tim Simon Says, at some of the first shows of the year. I'm sorry that I have no information on the breeding of this dog, but finishing in the Edmonton area where they seem to be getting the largest entries in the country right now, is no small feat. Anne Welshinger of Superior, WI is often seen in Canada, and recently finished a very nice orange boy, Anador's Dragon Smasher (Sissons Silver Dollar x Pomirish Little Matilda). Anne is a great supporter of the Canadian Pom Club and a real help to many.

Here in the East, recent champions include my own Chriscendo Chatelaine (Ch. Millamor's Rock Medallion x Mercer's Melodee Touch). The McDonald family, in Halifax were really pleased and surprised by a visit from Morris Carson, Emcee Pomeranians, of Virginia. Morris came up to Nova Scotia for the HKC shows and to take home a male puppy the McDonalds had bred, Chips Ahoy at Hobbit (Can. Am. Ch. Emcee's Sparkling Chip x Emcee's Diamond Starlisa). The puppy was able to go to his new home finished in Canada at just 6 months (and a bit). The litter sister, Starchild at Hobbit also picked up points at the same shows and is very near finishing. Certainly a litter to be proud of! (I've just heard that they have just repeated the breeding and have 2 girls and 2 boys!!) At those same shows Fred and Kay Baxstrome's Ch. Chriscendo Causin a Commotion picked up his third BIS in as many weeks. Natalie Dunfee also finished her Tynan Sunkissed (Can. Am. Ch. Golden Glow Prince x Tynan Tiptoe Tawney).

Please remember to send me your area news, and keep up the good work!

Before I leave I would like to share this darling anecdote with you, borrowed from Toy Tales, originally from Readers' Digest:

When our dog presented us with a surprise litter of six pups, we tried unsuccessfully to give them away. My patience began to wear thin after cleaning the daily deposits one too many times, and I issued an ultimatum to my wife: "Either the puppies go or I go." Two days later she shoved the local newspaper in front of me with an ad circled. It read: "Husband says either he or puppies must go. Puppies are adorable, fat, mixed breed. Husband is cross and unsympathetic. Your choice, free!"

Ch. Hi Time Simply Jeremy Jabil

Jeremy finished his title going Best of Winners at the Bay Colony Pomeranian Club Specialty. Jeremy is a proven stud and is available to approved bitches. See his pedigree in Behind The New Champions. We are very proud of this last son of Am. Can. Ch. Jabil's Simply Smashing.

of Elaine, then less than 2 years old, sitting in the whelping box "reading" a book to two of Chatter's puppies. All this stands my dogs in good stead when they must go to obedience class or to shows. They readily adapt to new situations. When we give demonstrations at nursing homes or for children's groups, they aren't spooked by wheelchairs or crutches. They tolerate being held awkwardly by arthritic fingers or being passed around by tiny eager hands. When a little nose comes near theirs, they simply kiss it.

The kids are a big help to me with the dogs. They can let them in and out of the house, feed them when I'm sick, take one in the ring if I'm showing more than one. Five-year-old Elaine plays steward and judge for me when I'm practicing ring procedure, calling commands like a pro. Children playing nearby are superb distractions while obedience training.

For the children, they've learned a greater appreciation of all God's creatures. They love dogs and, for the most part know how to behave around them. Elaine still thinks ALL dogs love her, so must be watched around strange dogs. I'm one of those who believes strongly that most children under the age of ten do not belong at dog shows unless they are carefully supervised. They are a menace to themselves and others. If you must take your kids with you to shows, hire one of those nice, responsible teenagers who show in Junior Showmanship to watch your children while you are grooming and in the ring.

Frequently children in a doggy household become interested in some aspect of the dog sport as a hobby. Exhibiting in conformation, obedience, or Junior Showmanship is a wonderful way to learn patience, responsibility, poise, and good sportsmanship. They learn that before the fun and glamor of a win, there must be hard work, practice, and not-so-glamorous things like scooping and grooming. If your child is interested in showing, offer him encouragement and support, but don't push him into it if it really doesn't appeal to him.

No kids in your home to get all these grand benefits? I'll be glad to rent you mine!

“No” to Lysol!

Just received my copy of Pom Review (courtesy of “Babe” Stranahan and her darling Poms which have become my fuzzy God-children.)

Margaret McKee of Virginia had an excellent article about preparing for a whelping (especially about your choosing and/or changing) a vet. However, I must stop a moment and share the dangers of Lysol with those not already familiar with it.

Although the quantities are minute, it does contain Phenylphenol which is lethal to cats and often causes potentially lethal convulsions (via respiratory arrest) in puppies and young dogs. (Ever notice the sneezing “spasms” of a dog right after Lysol is sprayed?) We’ve used it for years, nay decades, but no more since last year we had a Sammy puppy convulse severely, crash into walls and fall into a seizure. Only one incident was too many for us. It’s back to good old Clorox solution — if it was good enough to stave off Parvo all these years, I feel (and vets do, too) that it’s effective enough for anything! Granted, it’s easier to pop-a-top and spray than to get into a sloppy pan of smelly water and scrub an area, but it sure beats watching a puppy go into a seizure. (We won’t even discuss the agony if one were to be lost.)

While I’m yapping, I’d like to add a heartwarm “thanx” to some super Pom-people who have been a tremendous credit to your breed and a source of much needed assistance to Babe and I recently — Rebecca Mixon of Georgia and Ron Feyh of Columbus, OH. Your Club should be proud of breeder/fanciers of their calibre of concern, honesty and genuine love of their dogs and each one’s welfare. These two and their integrity helped us (without knowing it) to overcome some serious setbacks we’ve endured for lack of integrity on the part of others. I sincerely hope other newcomers to Poms can meet and enjoy either one of these two. Anyone would be richer for it.
