COVER STORY

Readers will recall that the January issue write-up of the 1982 APC Phoenix Specialty described the dramatic photographs of our cover boy, Am. Mex. Ch. Jolly Wee Fancy Dan of Peppi, with five of his get posed on the trophy table. After Danny had proudly paraded with his little spittin' images in the Stud Dog class, the photographers snapped happily to the roaring applause of the crowd. It was a rare moment and this month's cover shares it with those who missed the specialty.

This cover portrait is not only a tribute to a great little stud dog, but also a memorial, for tragedy struck in March with Danny's untimely death. Breeders across the nation share a deep sense of loss with Danny's adoring owners, Paul and Randy Frech of Georgia and California. No one can forget Danny's enthusiastic joy bestowed upon friends, judges, audiences and visiting bitches! He flaunted his beauty with a head held high and a light in his eyes.

A bystander at ringside as Danny won another Best of Breed once said it all: "There's the ideal Pom. He appeals not only to the judge looking at features of conformation, but also to the layman seeking obvious intelligence, joi d'vivre, and friendliness. For breeders he stamps himself upon his get, passing predictable size, color, coat, spirit and soundness. Danny is one of the truly great stud dogs of this decade."

Five of his offspring finished in 1982. They are Ch. Jolly Wee Desert Breeze, owned by Mary Hammond of Emolia, MO; Ch. Jolly Wee I'm A Pepper Too, owned by Randy Frech who confides she considers him the best Pom she ever bred; Ch. Jolly Wee Dan's Krystal Star, also owned by Randy; Ch. Jolly Wee Chatty Kathy, owned by Roxy Campbell of Houston, TX; and Ch. Jolly Wee Fancy Dan's Delight, owned by Isabelle Gryder of Tempe, AZ.

PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE

Marlene Scott Halsey
Rt. 1, Box 261
Blue Ridge, VA 24064

Sorry our April Review was late. Phyllis Perceny put together another very good issue. With the help of the new Circulation Manager, John Cribbs we will try to have the Review out on time. Those of you who do not know John will be interested in knowing a little about him. He is a retired Army Officer. John and Mrs. Cribbs have been breeding Poms for several years and are now producing some good ones. John will be happy to hear from you concerning the Pom Review. If you know subscribers who are not receiving their Reviews, have them get in touch with John. I am sure they will get a prompt answer. Thank you, John for your help with the Review.

When you read this, our Summer Specialty will be over. I am looking forward to the show in Denver, Colorado. I know I will meet some people who I know only by their Poms. Also, I look forward to seeing old friends.

In 1959 when I joined the club, it was more or less an eastern organization, however unintentionally. Because we are chartered in New York, we started having our Specialty there. We also had our meetings there. Now we are very much a national organization, with Pom folk from all parts of the country in the club, on the Board and enjoying all phases of our club as it should be.

Do you feel as though you really are a part of a breed club? Do you support the Club Specialties; do you use the Pom Review to sell your good pups; do you take a project when asked to? What do you expect your club to do for you? Let us hear from you. In order to participate, we have to communicate. We all share the same hobby. The Pom Club and the Review want you to feel you are a member of a club that is making progress; one that is making suggestions. If you have a good idea, let us hear it. If there are some things in the club you want no part of, let us know that too. I recall an instance years ago with the Pom Review that was funny, yet made a good point.

I was visiting Ruth Beam, a Pom breeder of many years. It was in the winter and an unexpected snow storm hit. I was snowed in at her home for several days. While I was there, Ruth typed her ad for the Pom Review. After the ad was complete, she wrote a note to the editor, whom we both knew, telling her how much we were enjoying the time together talking, eating and generally having a grand old time. The ad was placed in the Review and the note was put in Yips and Yaps. As soon as the Review had time to be mailed and enjoyed by all Pom fanciers, a letter came by return mail to the editor from a lady who said, "I do not care who is snowed in with who and having a good time eating, etc. Instead I would like some helpful information about Poms; breeding, selecting a good pup, what to do when a bitch whelps and has no milk, and several other questions one would expect to find in a breed magazine." Now, I think this lady made a good point, don't you? The oldest cliché in the world is, "This is not a club for a few select persons, it is the entire membership's club." I can't think of the better way to say just that, can you? Let me hear from you. See you at the shows.

THE DEADLINE FOR THE OCTOBER ISSUE IS AUGUST 15.

I love getting letters, especially from people reporting on dog show wins. It makes my job of reporting so much easier. Linda Gallacher reports that her homebred Sunswept Anticipation finished (subject to AKC confirmation) on one exciting weekend. Saturday, April 23 at Palouse Hills DFA show in Lewiston ID he was WD and BOS to Ch. Harbins Black Gold of India. He also earned 1st place in Novice B with a high score of 198.5 and tied for High Score in Trial. Unfortunately he lost in the run-off. Sunday, April 24th Skeeter was WD and BOB. Ch. Harbins Black Gold of India was BOS this time. He went on to place 3rd in the Group. To put frosting on the cake (as if that wasn't enough!) he was again 1st in Novice B to complete his C.D. title. Linda says she was more than thrilled. Skeeter is now Ch. Sunswept Anticipation C.D.

In a recent column, Mollie Miller wrote about the relationship between dog and handler in training. She commented that sometimes the handler gets so involved in winning, he forgets that this should be fun. The dog especially should be happy to do what he is asked. Linda Gallacher demonstrates this attitude with her Poms. They watch her every move, always responding to her signals eagerly. They are a joy to watch. Congratulations, Linda! . . . and Skeeter, Buttons, and Katy.

Sally McGilbry, whose health prevents her from attending many shows, writes about two shows that she was able to attend At Willamette Valley K.C. March 13, Golden Glow Regi earned WD, BOW and BOB under judge Nick Calicura. Que Sera Daphne LaRita was WB and BOS. The other show which Sally attended was the Yakima Valley K.C. show Sunday, May 1. Judge Pauline Hughes gave BOB to Ch. Golden Glow Regi and BOS to Ch. Harbins Black Gold of India.

Back on March 12th at the Chintinimi K.C. show in Corvallis, OR, judge Mr. Joseph Rowe gave WD, BOW and BOB to Que Sera Fire Fox to LaRita, bred and owned by Rita LaVerne and myself. Winners Bitch and BOS was from the 9-12 class, Lessard's Natsa Takara, bred by Lorraine Bradbury, owned by Alice Lessard, both of Turlock, CA.

Another visitor to the northwest did well Sunday May 8th in Olympia. Wild Acres Touch of Gold completed his championship requirements when judge Richard Hammond awarded him WD and BOW. He goes back to his owner Judy Whipple in Utah who should be very proud of him. Winners Bitch was Riders Sungolden Gidget who was entrusted to me by former owners Anna LaFortune and Blanche Rider, and her breeder Marilyn Hawley of San Diego. Best of Breed went to Ch. Bi-Mars Sundance Kid, bred and owned by Mary Rosenbaum. "Sunny" has won many Best of Breeds and group placements. Best of Opposite Sex went to Ch. Harbins Black Gold of India. She is bred and owned by Irene Harbin. This very nice black and tan has four Best of Breeds to her credit — all earned on one seven day circuit.

Whidby Island K.C. show Saturday, May 7th was judged by Mrs. Wilma Hunter. Winners Dog went to Childrens Red Fox, bred by Mary Rosenbaum. He is a brother to group winning Ch. Bi-Mar's Sundance Kid and is now owned by Katherine Bartos and her daughter Linda K. Jackson. Winners Bitch and Best of Winners went to my own Riders Sungolden Gidget; Best of Breed was Ch. Bi-Mar's Sundance Kid and Best of Opposite Sex was Ch. Harbin's Black Gold of India. Lots of

We are also proud to announce the championship of Great Elms Jeany of Dendy. She went BOW at our New York Specialty at the age of 7½ months. She finished 7 shows later at Raleigh, March 25th. Many thanks to Ethel Dendy and Dan Triece for letting me have Jeany. She was trained by Bert Halsey and beautifully shown by Marlene Scott Halsey. Congratulations to all the breeders, owners and handlers who worked so hard for these awards.

Many Americans have mentioned that they would like to come to Canada some time. I thought I would give you some information — it might be just what you need to get you started.

The majority of Canadian Kennel Club shows are held by clubs over a week or weekend all on one show site or in one building. This makes things really convenient because you can set up your exercise pens, tables and crates and leave them that way until the shows are over.

The average Canadian Show totals between 300 and 500 dogs although they may be as large as 1500. If there are enough entered at breed level, or you place in the group (which gives you extra points) it is possible to complete your requirements for a championship (10 points under 3 different judges) in one weekend.

The Canadian Kennel Club's publication Dogs in Canada lists the shows all across the country. Most clubs still handle their own mailing list, premium lists and entries. The entry forms are very similar to AKC's and should not be confusing.

In order to take advantage of your American exchange rate (which at this time is higher) you would have to send an American Bank draft or money order in Canadian Funds. Personal checks are acceptable in U.S. funds only.

Mail service is slow in Canada and it is best of allow two weeks for entries. Mail everything Special Delivery. It's worth the few extra cents.

If your dog is not registered with the CKC it must be entered as "Listed" and an extra $2.00 fee is charged with each entry. The dog must also be registered before being entered in Best of Breed competition.

To cross the Canadian border you just need a current health certificate and rabies vaccination. It would be just as well to bring proof of U.S. Citizenship.

The address of the Canadian Kennel Club is:

2150 Bloor St. W.
Toronto, Ontario
Canada M6S 4V7

I think you will enjoy the relaxed atmosphere of Canadian shows, and bet you will be back. Next month I will give you the information on registering your dog in Canada. Until then, have fun.

1983 Stud Register

This is Pomeranian Review's 1983 Register of outstanding stud dogs. On this and the following pages — and in some of the display ads — are stud dogs that, for their individual excellence, unique characteristics or special breeding, stand ready to help every breeder in the country. Inevitably, some owners of fine stud dogs failed to send their entries in, for one reason or another. But with so many represented, from every section of the country, and of many different bloodlines, we feel that our Register this year is very complete. May we request that when breeders send inquiries to stud dog owners, they mention: "I saw your stud card in the Review."

A Visit to My-Pat Pomeranians

Brooklyn, New York

My-Pat's Wicked Minnie going WB/BOS to finish under judge Burris Bosholt at Westminster Kennel Club 1983. Shown exclusively in Bred by exhibitor classes by Dr. Pat Scelso.

My-Pat Pomeranians officially began in 1973 but its real start was in 1971. It was in that year that I received my first Pomeranian — yes, from a pet shop! Oliver had been returned to the shop by his first owner because he refused to eat without his termate. A lot of love and spoiling took care of that and, although strictly pet quality, his wonderful personality gave me much pleasure that he was the inspiration to what great to be My-Pat Poms.

When my partner, Mike Meyer, who had had big dogs all his life, saw Oliver, he was very impressed. As Mike lived in a small apartment and was without a dog for the first time, he was ripe for conversion to Pomeranianism." He obtained Shunka, also from a pet shop, and she still reigns as Grand Dame of My-Pat.

By 1973, Mike and I had attended several dog shows to observe the Poms being shown. We had decided to buy the best bitch we could and show her to her championship. Since we lived in a Manhattan apartment at the time and owned two Poms already, we had no plans for extensive breeding. But Poms have a way of getting to you.

We contacted several breeders whose dogs we had admired in the Pom Review and received pictures and pedigrees. We finally settled on a three-month-old female from Edna Girardot's Scotia Kennels in Floral City, Florida. Maggie, as we named her, finished at 18 months of age to become Ch. Scotia My Magic Maggie, in spite of my less than perfect handling. In fact, we owe almost all of our success with Maggie to the many exhibitors, breeders, and handlers who helped and encouraged us, most notably, the late Mary Casey. Mary bouyed us when we were down and gave us innumerable showing and grooming tips.

When we decided to breed Maggie we were again faced with a large number of choices. Through study and observation we learned what we liked and who had it. But the really hard part was trying to find out where it came from and how to get it. We began collecting pedigrees and pictures and asking questions about various dogs and what they had produced; what traits they passed on; what flaws they corrected; etc. We inventoried Maggie's faults and favors and decided to look for a stud that did not duplicate any of her flaws and yet showed promise of augmenting her good points. Mike and I then decided that we should breed her to a dog which was related to Ch. Thelcolynn's Tiny Sundance, a dog we admired greatly and found prominently featured in Maggie's background. We settled on the Casey's stud, Ch. Nanjo Interlude, and My-Pat's was born!

This first breeding produced Ch. My-Pat's Phanciphul Phoebe, a delightful little red-orange bitch who whelped puppies with the greatest of ease in spite of dire warnings of sure sections. Phoebe was bred to Norma and Lloyd Jenkins' Ch. Enjay's Puppet On A String, another dog with a heavy Thelcolynn background and a cousin of Ch. Nanjo Interlude. This produced Ch. My-Pat's Northern Spy, a studly little gentleman who goes by the name of "Boris."

We also bought Moreno's Mr. Sweet Pickles from Dudley Roach in California and although shown only briefly and never finished, he did win Winner's Dog at Westminster in 1977. He has been used to compliment our lines with coat and joie-de-vivre. Boris was bred to a daughter of Pickles producing a daughter who was in turn bred back to Boris. This carefully considered inbreeding produced Ch. My-Pat's Wicked Minnie.

By this time we had moved from Manhattan to a small house in Brooklyn. Still, space is precious and our breeding program must be kept small and well planned, as we cannot afford to make many mistakes.

Our original Poms, Oliver and Shunka, were earning their obedience titles (Oliver, a C.D. at the age of seven and Shunka at the age of six). We found from them that Poms have an extraordinary aptitude in obedience work and we highly recommend this line of endeavor to everyone who has the time (it takes very little with a Pom) to pursue it.

We now keep no more than ten dogs here and they are all pets first. Here at My-Pat Poms, the dogs live in our home and have the run of the small backyard. We could probably keep more dogs if we kept them in cages as some do, but it is our policy that no dog is ever caged or crated at My-Pat. All of our dogs are house pets and, while not given free run of the entire place, they are kept together in generous spaces. We feel that this makes for a psychologically more well adjusted animal and, as a result, we have few problems with noise (very important in a city neighborhood), destructiveness or high levels of tension.

Puppies are born upstairs in the master bedroom and live there until they either go to new homes or are ready to join the "troops" downstairs.

Our most recent homebred champion My-Pat's Wicked Minnie, who finished with a bang by going Winner's Bitch at Westminster this year (her third 4-point win), is the happy result of the amalgamation of two lines — our original which we linebred to Thelcolynn's and the Queenaire lines of Wanda and Dudley Roach through Pickles. Through this combination we are beginning to see the emergence of a "look" that is our own and yet remains within the standard — we try to get our dogs to meet the standard, not to have the standard changed to meet our dogs. At My-Pat, we feel that this is how it should be.

Our limited space has meant fewer breedings than we would like. Often, it has meant breeding a bitch only once or twice and then going on to the next generation. It has meant selling off all but the best puppies. But it has also meant the time to appreciate these little dogs to the fullest. Smaller numbers means knowing every dog we have very well — their quirks and foibles; their likes and dislikes. And to know a Pom is to love it!

We at My-Pat are proud of our dogs and although we cannot compete with large kennels or wealthy exhibitors, we are here to prove that good dogs can be bred and enjoyed even on such a small scale.

GROOMING TIP

Baby powder and Talc contain oil. Cornstarch or flea powder will fluff in back of ears much better.

HELPFUL HINTS

by Margaret R. McKee
7660 Idlewyld Road
Richmond, VA 23225

If you own more than one Pomeranian, if you exhibit in breed or obedience, or if you breed your dog you need to keep records. I suspect that this is one area where many of us are a little lax. We may be very careful about getting our dogs their shots, but our records are sloppy and incomplete.

The American Kennel Club requires that certain minimal records be kept. From the Rules Applying to Registration and Dog Show, Chapter 3-A, Section 2 "Each person who breeds, keeps, transfers ownership or possession of, or deals in dogs which are registered with the American Kennel Club, whether he acts as a principal or sells on consignment, must make in connection therewith and preserve for five years adequate and accurate records." Section 6, "The American Kennel Club, may refuse to register any dog or litter or to record the transfer of any dog, for the sole reason that the application is not supported by the records required by these rules and the regulation adopted under them." I do know that AKC has on occasion exercised its right to examine records, found them wanting, and refused to register the dogs involved. I also strongly suspect that some Pom breeders would be in trouble if AKC asked to see their records. To assist in keeping the records it expects, AKC publishes at a nominal charge, a spiral-bound book called Dog Ownership and Breeding Records. There are two kinds of pages in it: 1.) Ownership Record of Individual Dog, which includes a breeding record with spaces for six matings, and 2.)

Record of a Litter with spaces for information on each puppy. Carefully filled in, these pages will be sufficient record-keeping for AKC, but I consider them the barest minimum. A conscientious Pom person should do more.

If you show in breed or obedience, you should keep notes on each show or trial you go to — date, location, judge, placement or score, environment or ring conditions affecting dog's performance, comments on the judge. There are a number of ways to keep such records.

The easiest way to keep show records is to save the tear sheets from the catalog. (You could keep the whole catalog, but that's a little bulky.) A properly marked tear sheet shows date, show, judge, placings, and points or scores. You could add comments on the judging in the margins.

Many people keep a separate looseleaf notebook or file folder for each dog. These can contain all information pertaining to the individual dog, with separate pages for pedigree, health records, show records, obedience accomplishments, and each litter it sires or produces. This is a fairly comprehensive method of record keeping, and I strongly recommend it to you. Your dog's AKC registration slip should not be kept in this folder. Put a xerox copy in the file and put the original in a safety deposit box or home safe.

However you keep records, you should have duplicates of essential information in a separate place. Suppose you had a fire in your home or kennel and lost all your records. Regenerating your records from memory could prove to be very frustrating. Take advantage of those wonderful copy machines. Make copies of pedigrees, registration papers, names and addresses of puppy buyers.

Some of us keep a judges file. On an index card, put the judges name and address. Each time you show under him/her, note the date, show, indoor or out, ring conditions, which dog you showed, who handled it, size of entry, placements and comments. Comments might include the judge's behavior (polite, or even civil? Did all dogs get a fail look? Was a consistent type put up? What size, color, type was favored? Did he look at movement?) If you wish, you can include comments from clients or other handlers, but be sure to give the source. Your best friend's favorite judge might turn out to be someone you wouldn't give an entry to if the show were in your front yard. Don't dismiss a judge solely on someone else's opinion. Give the judge an entry or two, then draw your own conclusions. Keeping a judges file could save you some entry fees and increase your win percentage.

If you are a dedicated breeder, detailed data should be written down for each litter. I use a yellow legal pad. As the big day approaches, I head the page with "Penny's Third Litter," note the sire and dam and breeding dates. If I have an x-ray done, I write down the date and results. Thereafter, I write the date, day of conception (e.g., 58th day) in the left hand margin and record bitch's temperature and behavior. After whelping, in the margin goes the date and age of pups (e.g., 3 days, 12 days, 6 weeks). At first the notes are copious: colors, weights, nursing behavior, my impressions of conformation, dam's condition. By two weeks, if all is going smoothly, only weights and brief comments on appearance or behavior are noted. Keep track of anomalies. If a puppy is born with a white foot, be sure to record that the white disappeared by 3 weeks. Sometimes I graph the rate of growth (days vs. weight) on graph paper. Very enlightening. These records usually end when pups are 3 months old with a notation of weight, color, evaluation of tail set, legs, coat quality, temperament. The sheets are placed in the dam's folder. I have found these notes immensely helpful in planning breedings and predicting size and development. They are also reassuring. Those days when the tiny pup isn't gaining weight, you can look back at your records and see that "little Joe" had a no-growth or slow-growth period where you fretted and worried, and Joe grew up to be a hale and hearty 5 pounder. Such records can be invaluable in tracking down the cause of a problem. Why did that bitch abort? What was different this time from previous successful whelpings? Your records and careful thought may provide the clue.

For every puppy I sell, there is a sales contract. It spells out puppy's call name, whelping date, color, sex, sire and dam, name, address, phone number of the buyer, litter number, price, terms, and date of sale. The buyer gets the original and I keep the carbon copy. Later I add the dog's registered name and number.

One delightful form of records is pictures. The 8 x 10's the show photographers take are merely a starting point. Certainly you want your majors, third leg, and other big wins recorded. But the show picture is sometimes hurriedly posed and not always flattering. They also show only the end product. Begin by taking pictures of your puppies when they are little — in the whelping box, playing in the yard, with the kids, as well as stacked on the table. You don't have to be a professional photographer. Today's automatic cameras are simple to use and reliably take good pictures. Have a friend take a few shots of the puppy in the ring at his first match. Go against human nature and take pictures of the puppy in the ugly stages, leggy and out-of-coat, as well as when it's an adorable bit of fuzz. If you sell the puppy, give some of the baby pictures to the buyer. He'll be thrilled. If you keep the puppy, continue taking pictures. You'll then have a graphic record that the ugly stage doesn't last forever. This pictorial record will help

REBEL REPORT

by Jane Johnston
3429 Oak View Dr.
Lakeland, FL 33803

I feel as if I have just seen a horror movie after reading of all the problems encountered by those who went to New York in February. I think all the brave souls who attempted it deserve congratulations whether they won or not!

Hope some of you saw Maggy Hallam and her Poms from England on Real People on April 25. I expected to have some advance notice of this from Maggy, but didn't. I had received a letter from her a few days before that in which she said she had heard from them and that it was to have been aired in March or perhaps April. We checked the highlights listed on the program on the Sunday before the program, but it was not listed. As this is not a program we normally watch, we just assumed it had already been on and we had missed it. Fortunately, a friend of ours in Sebring knew about it and was tuned in to the program and they announced in the beginning that she would be on. She gave us a quick call and told us. I did make about 6-8 local calls, but beyond that, could not let anyone else know. It was very interesting, but so brief — only about 3 minutes I think.

Coy Poms report the only wins this time. Coy's Lucky Eight completed his championship in Tallahassee, FL on Feb. 27 handled by Toddie Clark. Lucky has returned home and is now co-owned by me. Glad to have a new champion is our midst as we lost our most beloved Ch. M. Coy's Precious Kristine on April 15.

"Chrissie," in our opinion, was the best Pom ever bred here. She was co-owned and finished by Vicki McCoy at the Garden in 1976, having gone Best of Winners in the Summer Specialty in Ravenna, Ohio the preceding August. She went on to BOS at both the Specialty and all breed in New York. It's so very sad to lose those old ones. Still can't decide which is the greater — the joy derived from them or the heartbreak when we lose them. We do still have her mother, Ch. Coy's Little Miss Muffet, who will soon be 12.

Shirley Ann Hoffman of Skylark Kennels in California is planning to pay us a visit on July 10. We are looking forward to having Shirley very much. We have never met her, but have corresponded and talked on the phone with her for many years.

you evaluate future hopefuls. What did his sire look like at 5 months? Did his dam also have slight cowhocks which she outgrew? How old was she when the black mask cleared? It certainly is reassuring to have a beautiful dog before you and look at his baby pictures and see that he was not always gorgeous. Finally, when your dog is at his peak take him to a studio and have his portrait taken. Try the shopping center studios that specialize in children. I've gotten some wonderful pictures of my dogs, at a reasonable cost, at this type of studio.

How much money have you spent this month on entry fees and traveling to the shows? How much time have you spent on these endeavors? Now, how much time and money have you devoted to dog and animal welfare organizations during the same period? Why not sit down right now and write a check to your favorite dog charity.

Computers Are Going To The Dogs

The personal computer is rapidly becoming a part of every household. The explosive growth of the personal computer market was demonstrated at Christmas when the personal computer topped Santa's wish list. In 1982, the personal computer industry had its first million-unit year, thereby doubling the number of micro-computers in use in American offices and homes. It is predicted that by 1990, seventy percent of U.S. homes will have a personal computer. This means that you, the dog breeder, will, in all likelihood, own a computer. It may be difficult, at first, to justify the expenditure of $2,000 to $3,000 for use at your kennel. You might need to justify it as part of another business, as a learning tool for you and your children, as entertainment, or you might simply have to say, "I want a computer." Whatever the justification, you may become one of the growing number of "PC" owners.

The dog breeder is a natural candidate for a personal computer. A computer can greatly simplify record storage, maintenance, and retrieval. Data base managers, electronic filing systems, and user specific software are available to the dog breeder to assist in managing his record keeping.

Personal computers are available in a broad range of prices and capabilities — from inexpensive game playing models right up through complete small business systems. Software packages (the instructions that tell the computer what to do) for a PC range from games, to general purpose packages (such as word processors, filing systems, and financial records managers), to specific programs such as Compu Ped* a program specifically designed to generate dog pedigrees.

For a minimal computer configuration, a person needs the computer, a monitor (viewing screen), a disk drive for storage of programs and information, and a line printer for printing letters, pedigrees, and so forth. When selecting these components, a person needs to consider the following points:

1. When you buy a computer, you are beginning a new way of dealing with information. As you learn more about these new ways of dealing with information your needs and wants will increase. It is, therefore, important to buy a computer that is able to handle more than a bare minimum so that as your needs increase your computer system can keep up with the expanded work load.

2. Make sure there is an abundance of packaged software available for the computer you select. Although it can be fun to write your own programs, it can also be difficult, time consuming, and frustrating. For the beginner, an assortment of ready-to-run software is a necessity. At the very least, a user's library of off-the-shelf software should include a word processor and some type of data base manager or filing system. If you need specific software, such as Compu Ped to generate pedigrees, you must determine what PC's support the needed software. At first, you might have only limited needs, but be sure to keep your options open by investing in a machine that can support your needs as they increase or change.

3. When determining if you can afford a personal computer, remember that a computer is a lot like a Barbie doll. The doll itself is a one-time expense. The more you play (work) with the doll (computer) the more things such as dresses and toy cars (software, peripherals, disks, etc.) you'll want for it. Keep this in mind when pricing a computer. For maximum enjoyment you will want to buy a computer that has lots of readily available accessories.

4. The quality of the lineprinter should be carefully considered. The better it is, the more expensive it is. Buying a printer that does not produce acceptable type may save you money in the short run, but in the long run you can become dissatisfied. Buying a second, better printer, simply doubles your expenditure. Most needs are satisfied with a good quality dot matrix printer selling for less than $1,000.

5. There should be a good repair facility available. Buying a brand x computer might save you money, but if it is not easily fixed when it breaks, it will be worse than useless. If you are putting your computer to good use you'll be lost without it and will need to have it quickly repaired.

6. Consider what computer your friends have or what computer is actively supported by a local store and/or user's group. These will be people you can go to for help when you are first learning or when you run into difficulties later on.

Once you have your computer, you will quickly discover many uses for it. All your correspondence can be quickly done using a word processor. A word processor is simply a program that lets you type letters, make corrections, save, change, and print text. Word processors are an absolute blessing. Copies of all your correspondence can quickly be stored on the computer's disk for permanent records. Form letters can be generated and personalized with minimal effort. Typing errors can be easily corrected and perfect letters produced.

An example of user specific software is the pedigree generating program, Compu Ped. This program is designed to run on an Apple computer (Apple is a registered trademark of Apple Computer Corp.) and has been designed specifically to quickly produce a printed copy of a dog's pedigree. It enables the breeder to quickly enter, change, store, and print pedigrees. Compu Ped is written so that the most novice user can quickly and easily begin to productively use it.

Additional general interest software for personal computers includes data base managers, electronic filing systems, and financial report managers. Being general purpose in nature, these packages can be somewhat difficult to learn but they are quite powerful. All of your dog records can be stored in a data base and the information retrieved in a variety of ways. For example, you could retrieve information by dog name, birthdate, immunization date, age, or whatever keyword you specify.

The 1980's will see many significant changes. The introduction of the personal computer into every home, office and business will be one of the most widespread of these changes.

NORTHERN CALIFORNIA POMERANIAN CLUB

by Jessie Stephens

Plans for the November Specialty have changed and we will now be holding it in conjunction with the Golden Valley Kennel Club, as we did last year. This is a three day circuit so here is a good chance to pick up a major. It was a successful show last year so let's make it even more so this year. Come and support your favorite breed. Let's have exhibitors from out of state. Our judge is a popular and respected judge, Ed Biven. We'll look forward to getting to know more of you on this weekend of fun.

Another successful match was held with Anne Hayden as Chairman, in spite of being under the weather with a flu bug. She proved it all and saw that things went well. Good going, Anne. The pot luck, organized by Julie Moreno, was sumptuous and there was more than enough of everything to eat and drink. Dolly Trauner provided Easter surprises. All in all a fun time was had by all including our judge Al Graber. Best Puppy was Rocky, owned by M.M. Presser; Best of Opposite Sex Puppy was Moreno's Kiwi By Choice, owned by J. Moreno. Best Adult was Jestom's Tim's Image, (D) owned by the Edmiston's. Best Opposite Sex Adult was Appoloette Zack's Magic Touch, owned by M.M. Presser. Two specials were brought out in the Parade of Champions for the admiration of all. They were Ch. Phynor Black Sombrero owned by Dolly Trauner, and Ch. Moreno's Critic's Choice, owned by Julie and Gonzie Moreno.

Julie recently won the Breed and a nice Group 2 in Las Vegas with Smokey and it looks like he is on the trail again. I am sure he will be top winning Pom for this club and the area again, always owner handled. Anne Hayden's little male, Maranatha's Lil Ezekiel picked up a 5 point major in Arizona and was also BOW at his last show. Another new one in the area is Ch.

Model's Bit O' Whiz, bred by Bob Goodrich, and now owned by Dudley and Wanda Roach of Queenaire Kennels, handled by Phyllis Greer. He also is doing some nice winning and group placing. It is always good to see a Pom in the Group getting noticed. Chief Tomkins and his wife have been showing a lovely orange female. She should be finished soon, as she really is an eye catcher. Hopefully we will be seeing something from Ruth Dotson's Sundot Poms coming out soon. Hopefully someone else has some surprises to make the Pom judging interesting.

Our elections will be on the 14th May and a new slate will be elected. To our previous President Bob Hayden, we all say a big "thank you." Bob has been ill for some time now and I am glad to report he is home again. He kept the club together and took an interest even from his hospital bed — not an easy task but undertaken with the club at heart. All our best wishes to you and Anne and to your continued interest in the Pomeranian Club. Again, a big "thank you."

Chuck Reynolds is now on his own after his set back and I am glad to say he is doing fine. He has a new address: 158 Chandler St., Vacaville, CA 94806, phone (707) 447-4637. How about giving him a call to say hi and share some doggy news. Or just drop him a note. He is always glad to hear from NCPC members. It meant so much to him in the past. He was one of the founders and was very active for a long time. The club was started in 1960 and from early news letters it seems they had a lot of fun with a very active group. Times and people have changed but this club is still going strong. We are always happy to see new members and new faces coming along.

Remember, November 26th is our specialty with Ed Biven as judge. Come and give us your support to make this one of our best shows yet. We need you out there. Come and get acquainted, it will be a fun weekend for all.

DALLAS - FT. WORTH POMERANIAN CLUB, INC.

by Peggy Hendricks

The Dallas-Ft. Worth Pomeranian Club hosted its 24th Spring Specialty on March 5, 1983 in the Women's Building, State Fair Grounds, Dallas, Texas.

As everyone arrived at the building, our members gave a sigh of relief knowing the work was done and the enjoyment beginning with the warm greeting of old friends and the introductions to new ones.

There were 51 dogs entered, with a total of 77 entries. The evening began as our Sweepstakes judge, Mr. A.C. Williamson of Pineville, Louisiana took his first look at 16 adorable puppies. After considerable deliberation he chose as his Best Puppy in Sweepstakes Olga Baker's Jeribeth's E.T., and Best of Opposite Sex in Sweepstakes Mac's Peppermint Patti, owned by Estelle McDonald. Both nice outstanding puppies, but still not an easy decision with so many precious cuties to choose from.

Our Regular class judge, Mrs. Joy Davison of Spring, Texas then took over her task of placing the many gorgeous Poms — a task which she handled expertly and with a great deal of study. Her placements were as follows:

Winners Dog — Mac's Maybe I Will, owned by Estelle McDonald. Reserve Winners Dog — Rider's Sungold Diamond Chip, owned by Darrell and Olga Baker. Winners Bitch — Chesai Cherry Cheese Cake, owned by Joan M. Reilly. Reserve Winners Bitch — Dav-Dolly's Baby Sister, owned by David L. Fleming. Best of Breed — Ch. Bev Nor's Toasted Fudge, owned by Edward B. Jenner. Best of Winners — Mac's Maybe I Will, owned by Estelle McDonald. Best of Opposite Sex — Ch. West's Sugar Bear, owned by Jean West. Best Puppy — Rider's Sungold Diamond Chip, owned by Olga Baker.

To both of our judges, we would like to say a fond "thank you" for a job well done.

The show was followed by a dinner at Kirby's Steakhouse where everyone enjoyed good food and good fellowship. Members and friends had an opportunity to visit with each other which is always a pleasure. The club held a drawing for a Basket of Cheer raffle which was fun. Then everyone surprised our President, Doug Baynham, by singing "Happy Birthday" to him as it was his birthday. It was a lot of fun and everyone seemed to enjoy himself.

Our congratulations to Estelle McDonald on her new champion Ch. Mac's Maybe I Will, "Willie" who attained his championship in 4 straight shows with 16 points including 3 majors. Congratulations also to Frances Freeman on finishing her Ch. Patrick's Mr. Sho-Off of Pom Grove, who finished with 17 points.

POMERANIAN CLUB OF GREATER HOUSTON
 by Sue Goddard

Our February meeting was held at the home of Jim and Roxie Campbell, with a pitch-in dinner and the opportunity to watch the Westminster groups on tape. Most of our meetings are in a meeting room, so this was a nice change and somehow this type of meeting really brings out a good crowd.

Our club completed the first of a two show sequence in March with a Spring Specialty held in conjunction with the combined specialties, later to be coupled with our August show, August 11, 1983, held at the fabulous Astro Hall. Our emphasis is still to be placed on the August show as this was a trial run for a Spring show, held in the middle of the Texas circuit. It afforded the Pom exhibitors another opportunity for majors. Anna K. Nicholas found her Best of Breed in Ed Jenner's Ch. Bev Nor's Toasted Fudge. Best of Opposite Sex was the Winners Bitch, Wee Dancing Robin of Oakridge, owned and bred by Nina K. Epps. Winners Dog and Best of Winners went to Estelle McDonald's Mac's Maybe I Will.

Our plans are well underway for the August Specialty with noted judge, Ken W. Miller doing the regular classes, and his wife Eleanor has agreed to pass judgement on the sweepstakes entries, subject to AKC approval.

This show will be followed by our annual banquet and we are hoping for a super turn out. The specialty is held on Thursday and is followed by three more all breed shows. Let this be an invitation for all of you to come and Go Texan!

Recent champions for club members are: Texican's Fame N' Fortune for breeder owner Erika Moureau, finished entirely from the Bred by Exhibitor class. Darrell and Olga Baker have finished their precocious puppy dog, Rider's Sungold Diamond Chip at the tender age of 8 months. He was bred by Blanche Rider. Dallas member, Mildred Patrick finished her homebred Patrick's Mr. Sho-Off of Pom Grove for owner Frances Freeman. Mildred's husband, Jimmy has been quite ill and all our prayers go out to them.

Several of our members are looking forward to the Summer Specialty in Denver. Planning for the trip are the Bakers, Sue Goddard, Wayne, Erika and Jennifer Moureau, and Connie and Tony Tellez. We should be well represented.

OCTOBER BROOD BITCH ISSUE

The October issue will again feature the Brood Bitch. We look forward to seeing a great many of the valuable producers who are contributing so significantly to the improvement of this breed. Customarily, we only see ads in the Review on bitches that are shown. While we certainly don't mean to diminish the importance of these fine bitches, we know that there are some pretty important matrons working behind-the-scenes who also deserve recognition. In fact, a great many of the dogs finishing championships in the recent years have come from non-champion bitches.

Although we can't offer the 1/3 page special rate like the Stud Register, we know you breeders will want to send pictures and pedigrees of your broods. Why not also include a list and/or pictures of their produce, whether they are champions, pointed or just plain loved? By supporting this issue, your bitches whose get make a valuable contribution in the future, will be pictured here. Then when you are asked what Ch. Big Star of the Day's mother looked like you can say, "She was pictured in the October 1983 Bitch Issue."

Since you may not have current photos of all your girls and will have to get some, let me say a few words about pictures. Is it because Poms are small dogs that I get so many teeny, tiny pictures? They are cute, but they just aren't practical. Small pictures are usually low in detail and when they are enlarged for full page ads, they appear dark and muddy. Since you asked, a good size to order is 5 x 7 — and I'm not talking about show pictures. I'm talking about the pictures you are going to take in your backyard. Since some of the broods you will want to advertise may not be seen except in Brood Bitch ads, it will be important to make this picture as representative of her fine qualities as it can be.

The deadline is August 15. Send your ads, pictures, pedigrees and checks made out to American Pomeranian Club, to the Editor. Don't forget to enclose the $7.00 photo reproduction charge.

Plan your ad right now!

REMINDER

OCTOBER KENNEL VISIT

beautiful Poms. Congratulations to all.

Que Sera Kennel is on the move again. The last time we moved, the highwa department decided to put a freeway through our house. This time a job transfer sends us about sixty miles south to the charming little city of Puyallup — and we had just learned to spell Snohomish. Hopefully this move will go as smoothly as the last one. I hope we will stay in our new little place long enough to unpack all the boxes. Our new address will appear in the next issue. God love you and keep you safe always.

NOTICE

To all advertisers who had full color pictures in the Anniversary Issue:

I still have the 4-color negatives from these pictures. These could be used at far less expense than you think, as the color preparation is the most expensive part of any full color printing. I will be happy to send them to you. Just send me $1.00 to cover the cost of mailing.

I will keep them until August 15 only, so answer promptly.

Millamor's Rock Concert

(Ch. Millamor's Rock Music x Millamor's Rock Rosette)

One look at his pedigree will tell you why we are so excited about our newest addition. "Rocky" is sired by Ch. Millamor's Rock Music who was a Group winner from the puppy class and is a champion producer. His dam is a litter sister of our Medallion. She produced our lovely Best in Show winning puppy Can. Ch. Millamor's Moon Shadow. This is a half brother/sister cross on the outstanding Ch. Millamor's Moon Rock. This puppy looks like he will live up to his impressive heritage.
