Ch. LLL High Lights Thumbelina

Shown taking Best Opposite Sex at Dallas-Ft. Worth Pom Specialty 3/24/89 under Judge Jack Russell.

Thumbelina is sired by Ch. Tim Sue's High Lights, BISS and multiple BIS winner, and out of Ch. LLL Dazzlin' Gold Katrina, WB, New York Specialty 1988.

Thumbelina is expecting a litter by Ch. Chriscendo City Lights in late May. This would not have been possible except for the herculean efforts of numerous dedicated people who assisted in her transportation. Salutes to you all!

Cover Story

Ch. Tim Sue's High Lights is pictured on the front cover winning Best of Breed at the Dallas-Ft. Worth Pomeranian Specialty, expertly handled by Erika Moureau for owners Sue Goddard and Janice Luginsland under Judge Jack Russell.

High Lights is a breeder's dream come true. He is a multiple Best in Show winner, but to a breeder more importantly, he is proving himself to be an outstanding producer. He has three beautiful champion daughters and many other offspring now being or soon to be shown. He is passing on his magnificent coat and the outgoing personality that makes them a joy to show.

We extend heartfelt thanks to High's sire Am. Can. Ch. Chriscendo City Lights and to City Lights' breeder/co-owner, Chris Heartz. Thanks also to Ch. Tim Sue Angel Sabrina, High's dam, who deserves much credit for coat and type.

Very special thanks to High's co-owner, Janice Luginsland for finishing him at 9 months of age with two group firsts and his first Best in Show at a year and a half.

High sends congratulations to his 3/4 brother (back cover), puppy dog Ch. Tim Sue's Harbor Lights, and his owner Susan Conlee for his recent Best in Show.

With Summer fast approaching many exhibitors are gearing up for the Summer Specialty in California. I have been told that everything is just about ready and I am sure it will be a tremendous success.

When I took the Presidency in February of this year, I never expected I would spend so much time on the phone. I welcome these calls as a lot of them come from newcomers wanting to get into the Pom breed. They seem to be thirsting for knowledge and someone to answer a million questions. It brings back my memories of when I started several years ago.

Your Board is busy working on the issue which went out to the membership in a poll vote last year. Also, we are presently updating the Summer Specialty Guidelines booklet which had not been revised since 1980. We have a committee working on our Membership requirements. At the Annual Dinner Banquet we will also present awards for Top Stud Dog, Top Brood Bitch, Top Exhibitor, Top Breeder, etc. for the first time. This information will be made available to the members as soon as we have completed our project.

I would like to touch base with you in regard to membership dues. The time has just recently gone by for renewing our memberships. At the end of the courtesy deadline there were still 30 some members who had not renewed. A second notice was sent out to these members and most of them replied. However, the Annual Reports and Membership Roster was held up beyond the deadline to allow for this further extension of time, thereby enabling everyone to be listed in the Roster. It would be nice in the future if we could try and adhere to these dates so everyone involved can get their jobs done. I know we all tend to forget at times but it is a lot easier to get your dues in to the APC than to have to go through the process of rejoining

BAY COLONY POM CLUB

by Claire Flesner

Our Annual Specialty Show, banquet and meeting was held May 13 at West Springfield, MA in conjunction with the Springfield Kennel Club.

There were 22 breed entries and 2 obedience entries.

Breed judge was Alexander C Schwartz, Jr. and he chose Ch. Tomho Mega Pleaser, owned by Tommi Hooban for Best of Breed. Best of Winners went to Bel Canto La Cenerentola, owned by Jessie and Barbara Young. Best of Opposite Sex went to Ch. Tanglewood Humagumas, owned by Carol Aubit.

After the judging we all enjoyed our annual buffet banquet prepared by President Gladys Dykstra and friends. We held our annual meeting after we had all stuffed ourselves.

We elected the following officers: President - Mrs. Gladys Dykstra; Vice President - Jessie Young; Treasurer - Howard Mooney; Secretary - Alberta Mooney; Board of Directors - Claire Flesner, Amy McKay, Barbara Young, Fran Richardson, Sally Misuraca and Garrett O'Dell. Award plaques were presented to all who had finished a champion or obtained an obedience title in 1988. Several new members were voted in at this meeting.

We have lost two more members. Pam Welch died in February after a long bout with lymphoma. Pam's pride and joy was her beautiful mother-daughter brace who had back to back Best Brace in Show and 2 Brace Group Firsts. She was also a successful artist and many of her drawings have been selected for Cats Magazine and Irish Wolfhound and Golden Retriever publications. Pam and her dog family can be found on pages 225, 226 and 227 of the 1988 Anniversary Issue of the Review.

Then in early May Norma Craven died suddenly. Norma dabbled in obedience with her Poms, but was mostly noted for her hand crafted pillow sweaters of dog portraits. We raffled off one of her Pom pictures at this meeting. Many of us will remember her as a quiet, unassuming person who was forever being the most helpful, unselfish person you would ever want to meet. That's the way she was.

We will miss both of these lovely ladies very much.

Have you hugged your Pom today?

NEWS FROM THE CAROLINAS

by Patty Griffin

The Carolina Pomeranian Club has completed its first year with success. We now have 63 members, many of whom are active exhibitors. We can't wait to get together at the shows to see each other, especially the new enthusiasts. You would find it hard to believe how we all pull for each other. We have held a few of our meetings at area shows and that always guarantees large entries. Our members have finished a large number of champions this year alone and many others are well on their way. I'm sorry I don't have a complete list to report at this time.

Our treasury is in the black as a result of the generous donations to our silent auction held in conjunction with our Fun Match back in February. We have a lot of talented people in our club as was evident by the many hand-made items.

Our new officers for 1989 are Patty Griffin, President; Steve McCall, Vice President; Dot Martin, Secretary; Lance Bryson, Treasurer; Roger Beatty, Pat Brooks and Jerry Love, Board Members.

We wish to extend a big thank you to Chris Hartz. She graciously donated a set of Pom prints (The Four Seasons) to our club. We are conducting a raffle for them. The tickets are $1.00 each and can be obtained from Lance Bryson, 535 Huffman Hill Rd., Burling-

Speaking of our Fall Match, it will be held at the Piedmont Kennel Club Show Grounds in Pineville, NC in conjunction with the Piedmont Show. This is a three day circuit, so plan on attending. There certainly should be majors. And bring those puppies along!

CAROLINA POM CLUB MATCH by Patty Griffin

The Carolina Pomeranian Club held its first Fun Match on February 25, 1989 at the Piedmont Kennel Club show ground in Pineville, NC. In spite of a heavy snow storm the day before, we had a nice turnout of lovely Poms. Upon arrival we found the building already warm and our ring set up - big enough for a Great Dane Specialty. Our little babies would have needed a nap before completing a full lap! We quickly remedied the situation by pulling the mats in, arranging potted mums supplied by Lance Bryson between the mats and the gates, and moved the trophy table inside the ring. No one would have ever known this was our first venture. We drew a good audience from the obedience match being held at the other end of the building. (Even seen a Pom puppy that couldn't get a lot of attention?)

Best Opposite Sex Puppy, Queenaire Sunflame. Owner/Handler Patty Griffin

Trophy Chairman, Judy McCall had selected paper weights featuring our club logo for each class winner and large trophies for the Bests. The President's Trophy for Best in Match was a Pom print with a black and gold frame.

Our Match Chairman, Lance Bryson, had forethought enough to bring along two very capable friends, Pam and Harry. Pam stepped in and handled our entry table and replaced our snow-bound ring steward. Harry was everywhere making himself useful, especially handling our very successful silent auction.

Our judging was expertly handled

OHIO VALLEY POM CLUB

by Judy Shearer

The O.V.P.C. celebrated its second birthday at our All-Toy breed match in Akron on March 5, 1989. A beautifully decorated birthday cake was donated by Ron Feyh, Larry Rookstool and Mary Pflaum. It was enjoyed by all following the match, including judges Jim and Margaret Materna, two very lovely people.

We've had an extremely busy year. In October of 1988 we had our Pom Specialty match at the Holiday Inn, Akron-South. There were lots of precious little babies to complicate judge Dee Latham's decisions. Best Jr. Puppy was Crystal Sweet Sugardust, owned and bred by Jim and Judy Shearer. Best Sr. Puppy was Kra La Mar Bit O Honey, owned and bred by Doris Pressley. Best Adult was Crystal Lite of L-R, owned and bred by Jim and Judy Shearer, with Best in Match overall going to the Jr. puppy, Crystal Sweet Sugardust.

Using a Halloween theme, Chairperson Linda Meade also planned a costume contest which was won by Ch. Animation's Babe From Toyland and her junior owner who were wearing identical costumes. The owner is the daughter of Rebecca Parks, who surely spent much time making those nice costumes. Mary Pflaum judged this contest for us. It was a very difficult job as there were so many cute and original costumes.

A Parade of Champions followed and included Ch. Emcee's O Suss'Anna, Ch. Animation's Babe From Toyland, Ch. Jeribeth's J-B Star and Ch. Bonners Penwag Sundust. Such proud little animals!

Our supported entry with the Medina Kennel Club on December 16, 1988 in Cleveland drew an entry under Judge Dorothy Bonner of 33 Poms. Winners Dog was Windjammer's Mosaic Dream, owned by Riki Barker. Best of Opposite was Gatekeeper's Brat Pak-Rhatt, owned by Debbie McLellan. Best of Breed was Ch. Jeribeth's J-B Star, owned by Jim and Judy Shearer. O.V.P.C. expresses sincere thanks to all who supported us at this show.

We were honored to be asked to chair the trophies for our Parent Club at their National Specialty Show in New York this year. Some very nice comments were received on our trophy table and choice of trophies. The O.V.P.C. and its members donated all the major prizes. O.V.P.C. President Ron Feyh was chief organizer of this affair and deserves much praise for all the time and energy he invested.

And speaking of praise, Audrey Roberts and Sam Zaneoff (and crews) deserve lots of it. The Show went along very smoothly and the banquet at the Marriott was superb. These people sure know their business!

Our All-Toy Match at Akron in March was won by a darling little Peke, owned by

Ch. Jan-Shar's Fuzz Buster

Ch. Garton's King of Bavaria - Winners Dog/APC Specialty, New York 1989. We're very proud of this exciting Prince Charming son, a consistent Group placer, now out and being shown. Congratulations!

Olga and Skip are proud of the unbelievable winning and now, for his extraordinary producing. Aren't we lucky?

Prince is producing the qualities in his offspring for which he is famous - the total soundness, shortness of body, correct huge coat, special showmanship and that "look" of what a Pomeranian should be.

With limited stud use due to an extensive show career, Prince has still clearly demonstrated exceptional quality in his get. Multi-group winners, many fine champions and lots of exciting, upcoming new stars, sired by Prince Charming. Stud Fee $300.00.

Chris and Pat Dresser. Dorothy Kralik won the Best Jr. Puppy with her little Papillon, and Karen Frame had the Best Sr. Puppy with her Shih Tzu. As chairperson for this match, I found myself with very little to do, thanks to my super work crew. They're the best! So I just had to amuse myself by playing with all those sweet, cuddly puppies and visiting with their friendly, outgoing owners. It was a tough day!

Our Awards Banquet and elections are scheduled for June. The Nominating Committee (really on the ball) have presented their slate of officers already. It reads: President - Jim Shearer; Vice President - Bonnie Stetson; Treasurer - Ruth Young; Secretary - Judy Shearer; Board of Directors - Ron Feyh, Larry Rookstool, and Carol Galavich.

New members welcomed into the club... in the past few months are: Edna Girardot, Vicki Glendenin, Skip Piazza, Pearl Fuhrer, Dorothy Silver, Mary Pflaum, and Paul Williams.

Our next Pom Specialty Match will be held on Nov. 26. Location to be announced. You won't want to miss this one. Chairperson Bonnie Stetson and helper Donna Megenhardt have really been busy. Lawrence Stanbridge will be our judge for this Super Match. Some of the prizes include a video camera and a trip for two to a choice of the Bahamas or Las Vegas! Watch for more information on this real soon.

We will again be supporting the Medina Kennel Club Show in December.

Bring all those pretty Pom kids and join us for both events!

Till the next time, smile. It gets great returns!

PUGET SOUND POM CLUB REPORT by Wendy Feist

Despite the snow, ice and rain this past winter, we all managed to continue lots of activities from club events to attending shows near and far. Now the sunshine is with us just in time for all the outdoor events.

One such event was our breed booth at the Seattle Kennel Club show. With so many people in attendance it was a challenge for our members to answer all the questions. We had put together a video that was presented to interested passersby. Information on the Pomeranian and the club was handed out and a club scrapbook was on hand for viewing. Many thanks for a job well done to all those members who made this event a success! It was the perfect way to educate the public about our special breed.

The ongoing senior pet food drive continues to help those in need. Pet food donations are brought to each meeting and later distributed. Keep up the good work and remember those cans of dog food. Bring them to the next meeting.

We now offer an Associate Membership. For more information contact: Janelle Reich, Corresponding Secretary, 19910 106th Ave. N.E., Arlington, WA 98223. It's the perfect type of membership for those who wish to belong, but have been unable to attend regularly due to conflicting activities or long distances.

On April 9, 1989 we held our Sanctioned B Match. It was a tremendous success! Food was sold - fantastic cheese cake that was simply sinful, turkey and the works on croissants, and these are just the highlights! Our raffle table was filled with lots of donated goodies. The trophy table was a splendid display of various crystal pieces. Thanks to everybody who donated. It was a perfect day for a match - beautiful sunshine at about 70 degrees. Who could ask for more! It would be unfair of me to say thank you to specific individuals as I could easily forget a helper.

There were so many. I can honestly say that I've not attended a Pom Match where so much team work was evident. It was the entire team that made it a hit, not just one person. I feel lucky to have been a part of it. Living here in Portland it was a bit of a drive but every mile was well worth the effort. Everyone was treated so special; as though we had just flown in from China. If you couldn't make this event, you really missed out. Be sure to join us at our next Sanctioned Match in the near future!

It was a pleasure to show under Judge Mary Ann Nixon. She was very professional and ready to give a bit of help and lots of patience to those puppies who decided to play "dust mop" rather than walk on lead. Blake Jones was a helpful ring steward, making sure that all made it to the ring and into the proper class. For some this was their first time at a match and he helped put armbands on exhibitors, watched a pup or two for the busy exhibitors and was generally very pleasant.

First in the ring was the Obedience Competition under Judge Nora Higbee. It was fun and educational to watch as Nora always does a fantastic job, giving 100% of herself all the time. The winner was Julie Lindgren with her "Buffy."

Nora also judged Junior Showmanship and the winner was Ryals Sir Blitzen with owner Viola Children.

Next came the Regular Classes and the winners are as follows:

Best Puppy and Best in Match - Valcopy Wakhan Holly Go Lightly

Best Adult - Harbin's Go For The Gold

Best Puppy and Best in Match Valcopy Wakhan Holly Go Lightly. Owners Dana Plonkey and Randy Gemmill.

There were 2 in the Exhibition class - Marjorie Baer and Julie Lindgren. Thank you to all exhibitors and spectators. There was a total of 19 Pomeranians shown. Considering that there were several other matches in the area that day, we had a fantastic turnout.

The Club wishes to congratulate the following members and their new champions:

Victoria Lovely and Blake Jones finished Ch. Bi-Mar's Son N Dance Man, known to all as Danny. This spunky fellow went BOB the first time in the ring as a Special. Is this a start for a young special, or what?

My first homebred champion. Thank you Judge Mr. Robert C. Graham for your encouraging words when at the age of 7 months and his first show, you gave him Best of Breed. Since then under the caring, expert handling of Jackie Rayner, he's gone on to capture nine more Bests of Breed and four Group placements. What a team!

A special thank you to Mrs. Sue A. Kauffman for his Group placement.

To all the Judges who saw his special qualities, my heartfelt thanks. Words cannot express my joy.

See pedigree in Behind The New Champions.

Jane and George Reed finished Jane's Vee Prince O' Jeribeth, known to most as the hot and spicy Tex. He already has several BOB and a Group win under his belt.

Congratulations to the following members on their recent wins:

Mary Rosenbaum with Bi-Mar's Sugar Pie Honey, who won a 5 point major; Randy Gemmill and Dana Plonkey on Valcopy Vakhan She Bear, also a 5 pt. major winner at only 10 months of age; Victor and Wendy Feist on Feisty's Once In Blue Moon, another 5 pt major winner at 10 months and Feisty's My-T-Fine, who at 8 months won a 5 pt. major. Congratulations also to Nora Higbee and Ingrida Gasaway on their Reserve wins.

This writer feels it is more important to mention how individual members are doing supporting our breed and mentioning their special wins rather than giving exact stats from the shows. The AKC Show Awards publication does the job much better and it eliminates tedious reading here. Further, I won't worry about hurting anyone's feelings by missing a placement. We'll just talk about all our members' accomplishments!

By the time you get this the Summer specialties will be over so congratulations in advance to all the winners.

THE SOONER POMERANIAN CLUB OF OKLAHOMA CITY, INC

by Ray Hudson

We had our Annual Spring show on Friday evening, April 14, 1989 at the Midwest City Civic Center. Our Sanctioned "A" match had 50 entries with 91 persons in attendance.

Our Puppy Sweepstakes was judged by Ms. Peggy J. Bush of Dallas, Texas and Regular Classes by Mr. Fred C. Bassett of Fort Worth, Texas. What a fantastic job they both did. The Chief Ring Steward was Mrs. Susan Ferguson. The Show Secretary was Mrs. Brenda Hudson and Show Chairman Mr. Ray Hudson.

The Puppy Sweepstakes winners were HHH Forever Ember, owned by Peggy Hendricks going Best in Sweeps, and Benji Hot Shot Tradition, owned by Nina Epps and Mary Rinehart going Best Opposite Sex in Sweeps.

The Regular Classes judging showed almost a repeat of the Sweepstakes winners and Benji Hot Shot Tradition going Best in Match and HHH Forever Ember going Best of Opposite.

The Parade of Champions featured Ch. Carousel Glass Tiger, owned by Mrs. Linda Gustafson; Am/Can Ch. De Artas Rock Music, owned by Nina Epps and Mary Rinehart; Ch. Wee Robins Dancer of Oakridge, owned by Nina Epps and Mary Rinehart; Ch. Carousel's Miss Bo Jangles, owned by Linda Gustafson; and Ch. Puf-Pride Tandilizing Tawni, owned by Warren and Virginia Dimick.

Following the judging was a Dress-up Parade with 12 entries. What a fun event it was. The gallery laughed throughout.

Earlier in the evening we had a covered dish dinner for guests and members. The food was out of this world. We have fantastic cooks in our club. Everyone ate too much, but it was enjoyed by all, nonetheless.

I want to thank all of you who showed and attended on behalf of the club. Your support is greatly appreciated. What a great job you all did. It takes all of us working together for better shows.

I am proud of this ambitious, hard working club. The membership has grown to 53 with more coming next month. Two members finished champions in the month of February - Brenda Hudson and Mary Rinehart.

Be sure to look for the Sooners in the show ring.

We are looking forward to our first point show.

American Canadian Mexican and International Ch. Bi-Mar Bit of Tassajara

Who would have known a little dog of 14 months, known as "Little Shit" could have gone so far? That was how old he was when I purchased him. He apparently never missed an opportunity to lift his leg on the nearest person, judges included. Three days at home and I could not have asked for a more perfect gentleman. He still has his hang-ups, such as never eating in a corner, being terrified of fly swatters and stopping showing if yanked by the lead. He will only show for me and show he does, no matter how hot, cold or wet the weather may be. The word "handsome" to him, means it's time for a bath and I will find him bouncing around my feet. He matured late and was not shown as a Special until he was four years old. The 1988 final ratings has him as #7 in the Nation.

His use as a stud dog has been very limited and then he has basically produced bitches, who are, luckily, producing some nice mixed litters. He has finally given me a son who is four months old and shows every indication of being just like papa. His first two litters of granddaughters are now all in show homes and five are in the ring.

Now, at almost 6 years of age, he deserves to go into semi-retirement. Puppies occasionally. See Stud Register for fees and pedigree.

I Remember When

by Dorothy Bonner

Soot the Black Labrador, our former friend, does not visit us any more. Since his disastrous experience here during a daily excursion, he probably takes a long path around our acreage which he imagines is equipped with booby-trapped fencing to be avoided at all costs. However, I did run into his owner the other day who told me about a funny situation, incidently triggered by Soot. This was how it was told to me:

"Last month a real nice family moved in to the place adjoining ours and we felt fortunate to have such amiable friends. Their kids had a big white rabbit that seemed a valued pet. Last weekend they took off in their motorhome for a couple of days at the coast. During that evening, everything seemed normal, but we really did not see Soot, or miss his usual request to come in for the night. The next morning I opened the front door and there sat Soot on the porch with the neighbor's dead rabbit in his mouth. I was horrified to image the neighbor's homecoming and the inevitable loss of friendship. Soot was reluctant to give up the rabbit, although he probably considered it a valuable gift to me, unmangled but very dirty. Devious thoughts entered my mind, and a "way out" defeated that of an honest confession. So I gave the rabbit a bath and carefully dried his fur. Then I walked over next door and put him back in his hutch. Soot took the loss quite casually and we saw that he was in the house early that evening.

"The neighbor returned on Sunday and I dreaded contact with him. My heart sank with the sight of the neighbor coming up our driveway. After small talk of a pleasant weekend, he finally confided, "A funny thing happened while we were away, something that we cannot explain. Our rabbit died and we buried him just before leaving and after we returned, the children found his body back in the hutch."

"Exotica"

Ch. Mercer's Exotica is a 4 1/2 lb wolf/sable. We haven't met anyone who has not complimented us on his exciting color. He has produced this color as well as black and tan. He also has the breeding behind him to carry through with the qualities that we desire in a Pomeranian. Stud fee $150.00.

Carved Prehistoric Figurine of the Pomeranian Progenitor

Dear Mrs. Ripley:

I am a member of the American Pomeranian club, but have been residing in West Germany the past 20 years. I am also a member of the German Pomeranian Club (Verein Fuer Deutsche Spitze).

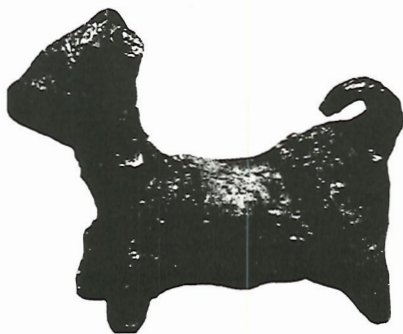

I thought perhaps the subscribers to the Pomeranian Review might enjoy reading the following (enclosed) story about the prehistoric progenitor of the present-day Pomeranian. Mrs. Eyke Schmidt-Rohde, corresponding Secretary of the German Pomeranian Club and Director of the Archives for the German Pomeranian, sent me the enclosed material, which I condensed and translated. Mrs. Schmidt-Rohde is also a leading journalist for the FCI (Federation Cynologique Internationale) in West Germany. She is the author of a book on the German Pomeranian and has published many articles on this and other Spitz breeds here in West Germany.

As you know, the origin of the modern Pomeranian can be traced back to Germany.

*Most sincerely,
William Ledbetter
Kronthaler Weg 14

Work recently done underground brought this carving of a little black Pomeranian-like dog back to the light of day after having been buried nearly 22 centuries. This little carved figurine (height: 2 inches; length: 2 2/3 inches) made of black amber (jet) and found along with three pieces of pottery and a black amber ring jewel had probably belonged to the female member of a Germanic tribe; after cremation, as was the burial custom of Neolithic Stone Age man in Central Europe around 200 B.C., her ashes along with treasured personal belongings had been collected and buried in an urn, which resembled a bucket-shaped earthenware pot. Recently these items were all discovered purely by chance deep underground beneath the cellar of an old house being renovated, which is located at the Market Square by the White Tower in Darmstadt, West Germany (25 miles south of Frankfurt).

Black amber or jet is a fossil petrified hardwood. This little black figurine clearly represents the progenitor of our modern Pomeranian. Carved with a knife around 200 B.C., this tiny model amazingly shows breed characteristics most typical of our modern Pomeranian: the neat, wedge-shaped little head with a fine muzzle and ears mounted high on the head (unfortunately, the ear tips of the figurine were mutilated). The legs, also stubbed unfortunately, were originally at least twice as long as those which the figurine now embodies. The tail, so characteristic of our modern Pomeranian, turns over the figurine's back and unmistakably proves this ancient dog's identity as a representative of the Spitz family, to which our modern Pomeranian, of course, belongs.

This ancient carving of our Pomeranian's progenitor, as pictured here, is not an isolated finding. Up until now, eleven similar figurines, all of which date back to the late Neolithic Stone Age, have been discovered at nine different locations within a 50-mile radius of Frankfurt, West Germany. Of these eleven models, four were carved from black amber (jet); and the others were molded from kaolin (clay) or bronze.

According to a prominent German Archaeologist, Dr. Werner Jorns:

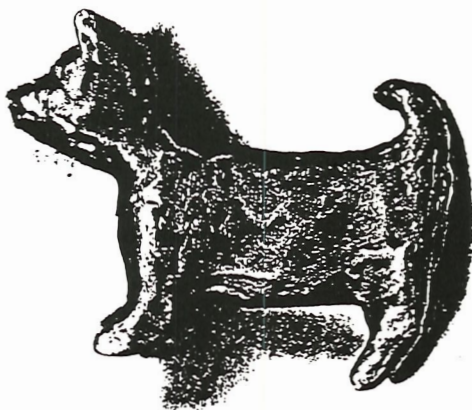

"Such ancient figurines of the Pomeranian progenitor were commonly made and treasured by female members of Germanic tribes originally inhabiting the Elbe River regions of North Germany. Numerous works of art which have been discovered here in Germany since the turn of the century and which date back to the late Neolithic Stone Age, a period of frequent and recurrent Germanic tribal migrations from present-day Denmark and North Germany into Central Germany, Northern Austria and Switzerland and a period in which the Germanic tribes peacefully co-existed with the Celtic tribes of the new regions to the south into which they migrated, show that this ancient progenitor of the present-day Pomeranian was always the most-treasured household companion."

Mrs. Eyke Schmidt-Rohde, leading FCI journalist and prominent canine expert of West Germany, whose primary interests focus on Pomeranians and other German Spitz varieties, writes:

"Fossil skeletal remains, which archaeologists have discovered all over the world, prove that the dogs of Stone Age man belonged, without exception, to the Spitz family, of which the Pomeranian is an important member. The close bond between the lives of man and Spitz, which dates back thousands of years, is documented clearly by drawings and sketches on the walls of caves in Spain, Italy, Scandinavia and the Sahara, in pictures on Greek vases and Roman coins, in tiny figurines of prehistoric Spitz dogs buried with their owners, as well as by amulets belonging to various ancient tribes, for example the Elamites and the Vikings. Due to superb utility characteristics, adaptability, intelligence and minimal maintenance requirements, the Pomeranian and other Spitz breeds have remained for mankind, whom they have faithfully served since time immemorial, an indispensable, invaluable life-supporter. Today one can scarcely fathom or imagine how much throughout the centuries the Pomeranian and other Spitz varieties have contributed to man's welfare. As an unbribable guard, they have watched over his house, household, homestead and livestock, have guided their masters safely through the wilderness, have comforted the lonely, have warmed babies, tiny toddlers and the elderly with their heavy, dense coats and warm bodies (all Spitz breeds have a normal body temperature of ca. 102 degrees Fahrenheit) - and as a last resort, they have saved their masters from starvation as a final food source."

Pictured below is the best of the other ten discoveries within a 50-mile radius of Frankfurt, West Germany. This figurine is also carved from black amber (jet stone):

Give Me An Old Blanket or Towel Any Day!

by David Edwards

I sometimes think that we try so hard to make life just a little bit more comfortable for our kennel dogs, that we go that one step too far. Right about now you might be wondering how this could be possible. I would like to take this opportunity to share an experience with you and perhaps by doing so, say you money and most of all, the life of a dear little friend.

We all have our favorite four legged friend and that is allowed the total comforts of our cozy homes; unfortunately, it is quite impossible to allow full run of the house to everyone. If you are anything like myself you try to spend as much time in your kennel area as possible with the other members of your dog family. I am constantly thinking of ways to make kennel life a bit more comfortable for these dogs. After all, don't they deserve it? Ten friends who are not breeders or exhibitors comment on how cruel it is to see these little darlings on cement and behind bars and that a terrible life they must have." No matter how many times I've tried telling these people that none is ever neglected; they all receive the best of food and care and of course, as much exercise and attention as I can give, I still felt badly. I began to wonder if it wasn't in fact cruel.

My thoughts turned to the kennel itself. I went through catalog after catalog, searching for the one thing that would make their lives a little better. All at once, there it was! My search was over. Huge, cedar-filled dog beds! This was it; what I had been seeking. They were so big that they would surely make my little ones comfortable. I had a king sized extra bed; they should have a proportionate extra bed on which to stretch out.

The day the beds arrived I quickly ran through the kennel area picking up those old towels and blankets, heading for the garbage can to throw them away. Never again would my little ones have to scratch and pull towels and blankets in every direction to achieve that perfect shape into which to drop. No. They would have these nice, new, huge beds. And they deserved it. I felt relieved.

Last week, perhaps Monday or Tuesday, I decided to gather up all the beds, remove the covers and give them a good washing. I am sorry to say the beds get used for more than just sleeping. It was a real nice, warm day and everyone was running and jumping through the high grass. After a good long washing, I interrupted play long enough to dump all the covers into the dryer with a nice fabric sheet. I do it for my clothes; they deserve as much.

I went about my chores and when I returned to the wash room to check the dryer I could hear this tiny, tinkling sound like there were pins bouncing around in the dryer. My first thought was that there was something wrong with the machine. I opened the door and removed the covers. I just about lost my breath at the sight of more than a hand full of metal shavings in the bottom of the dryer. I was frantic, thinking that the dryer would blow up or die right there on the spot. I went back to the kennel to put the covers over the beds when I reached one pen and found shiny pieces of metal all over the area. I thought, "My God, this stuff is everywhere." Then reality set in. The shavings hadn't come from the dryer or the covers. They were in the bedding - the cedar bedding. I took the bed out and examined it in the sun. Spreading newspapers all over, I began dumping the bedding out. First came the cedar shavings and foam. Then came what looked to be very tiny stones and hundreds of metal shavings. I couldn't believe my eyes. What if one of the dogs had chewed on the bed and swallowed this stuff? I sprang into action (and I haven't moved so fast in a long time). Beds were flying

Ballykins Orange Roughy

(De Arta's Foxy Man x Dia's Brandy Bear)

It's hard for us to clam up about our lil' shrimp. Although he was a small fry in a big pond, he beat them all - hook, line and sinker. Here is Ruffy winning the Toy Group at the Central Indiana KC, AKC sanctioned Match in Indianapolis under Mr. Don Johnson. He went on to win B.I.M. over a large entry - his first time out.

His dam, Brandy, enjoyed having a winning kid so much with Ch. Dia's Apricot Brandy Bear, she decided to do it again this year. See pedigree in Behind The New Champions.

Thank you, David Hogg, once again for letting one of the good ones get away . . . to me - and for all your invaluable guidance and encouragement.

OBEDIENCE NEWS

by Brenda Hutton

First I must apologize for the short length of this column. We've been very busy at my house. Recently we acquired an Aerostar mini-van which is something I've been dreaming of getting for about four years now. Second, I've had some very sick doggies for most a month. Quite a number of dogs who attended a particular weekend of shows in my area became symptomatic with diarrhea and vomiting shortly after the show. I had attended with Sabrina, but it was Sunni who came down with diarrhea a couple of weeks later. It was a full 12 days before any of the medication seemed to kick in, or it may have just been the virus working through her system. A week later now Spunky has come down with the diarrhea which shortly turned very bloody combined with vomiting. I guess you know I had a panic attack. And wouldn't you know, all this is happening just when it's time to write this article. Anyway, since I don't have my homework done, I'll apologize and report all the new titles published in the AKC awards during the last quarter.

New Champion Dogs

APC member July Green finished a CD on Razzle Dazzle Music Man (she's the breeder, too) out of Ch. Bells Houston Star Performer x Ch. Millamor's Roxie Music.

Jean Spalding and Pat Foley earned a CD on Dover-Holihouse Fair E Tail (breeders: Pat Foley and Kathryn Hartz). Gary and Babette Eddie earned their CD on Foxy Little Gizmo (breeders: Bill Milligan and Evie Milligan). From the Kalamazoo, Michigan area Carole Watson earned a CD on Pomirish Change O Pace Arca (breeder: Sally Baugniet and Jo Ann Dinsmore) out of Ch. Pomirish Desiree's G E Scooter x Pomirish Allelujah's Glory. Carole has another Pomirish Pom named Pacer who I believe has his CD. Virginia and Warren Dimick got their CD on Puf-Pride's Lil Tandilizer (breeders: Virginia and Warren Dimick and Jan Hoskins) out of Ch. Lil Mite of Gold Deuce x Lil Happy Twinkling Tange.

Another CD is on Sungolds Snowy Mittens owned by Annaray Rhien (breeders: Lillian Muller and Mrs. J.L. Weltz) out of Ch. Muller's Just A Nip Jr. x Muller's Gypsy Tambourine. Our old friend Garrett O'Dell along with Sally Willig have finished their CD on Trouble's Tomboy At Tribble (breeder: Sal Lico) sired by The Trouble With Tribbles CD. Our last new CD is on Spinach Fitz owned by Judy Lofgren (breeder: Anna Marie Hetland).

New Companion Dog Excellent Titles

Our one new CDX title by an APC member belongs to Alice Lessard in California. She and Zanny have been having a good time this Spring. They went on the Raisin Circuit March 31 through April 3 and earned a 196.5, 197.0, 197.5 and 194.0 (it was 85 degrees and horribly humid that day in Bakersfield) which completed their title along with 3 first placements and one 2nd place. Way to go, Alice! They were out again the next weekend in Santa Cruz earning a 197.5 and 3rd place and a 189.0 and 4th place (again, terribly hot weather). They finished up their Open A career April 22 with a 197.0 and 2nd place. They were entered on the 23rd, but there were very violent winds and lots of rain that day, so they went home instead. After earning the High Novice Dog from the APC last year, I'm sure Alice is very happy with this outing in Open. Maybe Zanny will win High Dog each year with each new title? I believe they're training now for Utility. Keep it up, Alice. We're all very proud of your accomplishments!

As you've probably guessed, Bernie Brown finished a CDX on Pomirish Twinkle Break CD (breeder: Sally Baugniet) also sired by Ch. Pomirish Desiree's G E Scooter. He and Alice are neck and neck in the national ratings for High Pom, so they've both done wonderful jobs. I understand Bernie has modified his

United Kennel Club

I hope this won't sound too much like following our own horn, but old Mr. Spunks BK's Sir Spunky - breeder: Ardith Neil) has done it, made history that is, once again. On March 18, 1989 after an approximate two (or was it been three?) year absence from the obedience ring, he earned the third and final step toward a U-UD and became the first Pomeranian in history to have earned this most coveted (by me, anyway) title. And to what do I owe this accomplishment? Tracking, tracking, tracking! This folks is a new dog. Since he's become so successful in the area of tracking, his confidence has increased steadily (and mightily!) to the point where his attitude has become, "You think I can't do this? I'll show you!" He doesn't always jump, but he does things just right, but he's again having fun doing obedience work. We don't push it too much, and really train very little. My feeling is that he knows his stuff, the problem is if he will do it on a given day. And so far in the ring, he's right on top of his game. Besides happily doing limited obedience work, it's so-o-o wonderful to see him playing and romping with the puppy like he's never done before in his life. When we go outside he just runs and runs and runs. Tracking seems to him just a big game and no work at all. It's the most remarkable transformation I've ever seen in a dog. If you'd seen him two years ago, you'd never believe him now.

So far we've been out tracking several times in cove' that's rather difficult for him to handle. We've gone through some briar patches, some swale, and been out in fallow woody fields with overgrown grasses and such. So far he's handling it all quite well, only needing to be encouraged and coaxed to go through some really difficult cover. Two years ago he would have quit and totally refused to move. The last time out he started quartering back and forth over a leg where we weren't even close to a corner. It turns out he was on the scent of a dead mouse. When he found it would you would have thought he had found the most wonderful thing on earth! Fortunately I was able to talk him into dropping it instead of eating it and them continuing on the track. I hope this isn't boring your socks off, but I'm just amazed at the transformation and I want to share it with everyone. My message: DON'T GIVE UP!

As you'll be reading this in July, I hope wherever you are you're having a nice summer and that Spring Trials were very good to you. Think about getting involved with someone in your area, doing tracking or some other fun activity. You and your dog may just find there's more to dogs than conformation shows, obedience trials and work, work, work! As always, I'm looking for reports on your doings and love to share your good news. Call me at (517) 485- 5183. May your dogs always be happy heelers and terrific trackers!

in every direction, but all landing in the same spot - the garbage can! I have written to the distributor from whom I received the beds, informing them of my find, as well as sending them a FREE sample of their contents. I have certainly learned a lot from this experience and I hope that anyone else who might have bought durable, comfortable dog beds filled with cedar from Master Animal Care will be alerted to the potential hazard for their pets. In fact, any type of stuffed bedding probably should be checked. I have kept particles from the beds in case the distributor or manufacturer should question me and I would think anyone else finding suspicious contents in a bed would be well advised to do the same.

My dogs are back on blankets and towels. They aren't fancy but I know what's in them!

Goldcrest Pomeranians

Joart's Bianca of Goldcrest

Breeder: Art and Joy Davison

"Bianca," shown here at 14 weeks of age, is a beautiful built and extremely heavy coated orange female. She will be making her debut in August. Special thanks to her breeder for entrusting Bianca to us. This short backed, lovely little girl has lots of pizzaz and personality. Good luck to her brother who also will be debuting around the same time. Bianca will be exclusively handled by Michael and Glenn.

Sun Ray's Stacy

"Stacy," shown here at 11 weeks of age, is a half-sister to Bianca and the result of the remarkable blend of Jolly Wee and Sun Ray lines. Sound and also very heavy coated, with a touch of elegance, she is a one of a kind lady. She will make her grand appearance in the ring starting in August. Watch her. She's a beaut! Special thanks to her breeder for letting us have such a wonderful girl. She'll make all of us proud. She'll also be handled by her new owners!

We here at Goldcrest Pomeranians strive for quality, soundness, and type and obtain them through the help and advice of long-time breeders. We are extremely proud to begin our show careers with such gorgeous specimens as Bianca and Stacy. Thanks again!

HELPFUL HINTS

by Margaret McKee

It's interesting to attend other breed specialties and compare with ours. In April I participated in the Tibetan Terrier Club of America National Specialty which was held on Friday of the Cherry Blossom Circuit. The entry has huge! Including Sweepstakes and Obedience, it was 348! Why? I confess I'm mystified. The show site was outdoors; the weather was very cool, damp and breezy. The judge was an all-rounder who did an excellent job of sorting through the large classes. He looked at movement.

The trophy table was meager, embarrassing compared to the amazing display put on by the Ohio Pom Club at our February Specialty. The motel was okay, the banquet delicious. They conducted their annual meeting during the banquet, which I suppose increased attendance for the meeting. After the meeting (10 p.m.) there was an auction, but we didn't stay as we had to get up early (4:30) for the monster 4200-entry Old Dominion Kennel Club Show the next day.

Given all that, why was the entry so large a breed rarer than ours? I don't know. I suspect it's not any of the factors usually suggested, but their members' attitude toward specialties. Perhaps they know that one does not go to a Specialty just to win points or OB. One goes to learn, to see and be seen. One goes to watch the dogs, perhaps to look for stock to buy or to evaluate studs. If you are proud of what you're breeding, you want to show it off to your fellow fanciers. At a specialty, you're not just presenting your dog to the judge, but to ringsiders as well. You go to specialties to have fun, to participate in their activities. It's great to see old friends and make new ones. Here's your chance to do that with those names you've read about. There are small local specialties as well as two national ones each year. Make plans to attend a specialty soon. You deserve it!

A correction on that last column: that was "chicken" livers, not "check" livers. No ethnic slur intended (Sorry! Editor) I also discovered another reason a dog won't bait for liver besides fear - a young male who knows there are three bitches in season outside the ring and three more at home. He could care less about bait! If you don't have time to cook, or forgot and left the bait in the freezer, find a grocery store with a deli and buy sliced roast beef or chicken.

Two women moved to this area last fall from west of the Mississippi. Before moving, each had contacted me for information about local clubs and training classes. Both were interested in obedience and tracking with their big dogs. And there the similarities ended. Two days after Mrs. A arrived she was signed up for an obedience class and was out tracking with some of my friends. She volunteered to teach a class and steward at our upcoming trial. She has since joined our obedience club. Bubbling with energy and enthusiasm, she has been generous in sharing her time and talent.

Ms. B attended one club meeting and decided she didn't like the way we do things. The meeting was too long, too many committee reports, not enough programs. She concluded that our club didn't do enough for its members (I don't know what besides free training classes, 4 parties a year, two trials, awards, a newsletter, free seminar, etc. she thinks we need to do for members!). Her club in Texas did everything right. She attended one all-breed club meeting and dismissed that group too. She has volunteered to do nothing but criticize. At a show in April she was very scornful of the training and handling by the obedience exhibitors she had observed. This from a woman who is not teaching a class, not training a dog, and not exhibiting a dog!

Are you like one of these women - a worker or a critic? Certainly constructive criticism is needed, but I for one am more willing to listen when the criticism comes from a worker.

Several years ago I hear that one should decide right from the beginning, before you buy your first bitch, how big a kennel you can efficiently manage and stick to it. Very good advice. Most of us let the numbers of dogs increase without a plan. Like Topsy our kennels "just grew." Far too many of us wake up one day to realize we have too many dogs.

But the above advice is hard to follow. Few of us know in the very beginning how many dogs is "too many." We may not have any reason to know what our limitations of space, time and energy are. Sometimes we have to find out the hard way. Another drawback to the rule is it presumes that you get rid of old or unproductive dogs to make way for younger, more promising animals. Some people are able to do this quite easily. Will you? I can't. My oldsters stay here! I currently have 13 Poms in residence. Three don't belong to me; they're here to be trained and shown. Of the remaining 10, 5 are over the age of 8. That's not pragmatic or efficient, but I can't think of getting rid of my old guys.

But I have learned that about 15 Poms is my limit. More than that and I'm not taking proper care of them or giving them enough attention. Too many animals frequently leads to burn-out and the over-loaded owner over reacts and gets rid of all the dogs. To avoid exceeding your limit, grow slowly. Buy one dog, not three. Keep one out of the litter, not the whole litter. Give yourself time to build not only your breeding program but your store of knowledge.

How can you tell if you've exceeded your limit? Try asking yourself some questions:

1. Does every dog in the kennel get petted and talked to each day?
2. Do you know the names and ages of all your dogs? Don't laugh; I know of at least one breeder who had to ask the kennel help the names of the dogs.
3. Has each dog been groomed in the last 2 weeks?

4. Are you getting further and further behind on your vet bill? Do you wonder where you are going to get the money to pay your feed bill?

5. Do you just slop something in each dog's feed dish, or does each one get his own supper individually prepared as to amount of food, vitamins, and any special medicines or supplements?

6. Are you looking for ways to cut corners like not getting shots or heartworm pills? Do you only go to the vet in an emergency?

7. Is it getting harder and harder to motivate yourself to fix their dinner, cut their nails, or bathe and dip?

8. Is it impossible to get away for a weekend because there is no one to care for the dogs?

No criticism is implied in the above questions. A "yes" answer to one does not make you a bad person. Only you can decide how many dogs you can comfortably care for. However, we all need to stop occasionally and evaluate our kennel and how it is affecting our financial situation and our family life.

What do you use for bedding? Newspaper is adequate, but I like for my doggies to have something clean (no ink) and soft, something they can rearrange and bunch up it they wish. Towels are good. I like the fact that I can wash them in hot water and chlorine bleach. I can buy nice thick white ones inexpensively at the wholesale supply house (Price Club). Towels are often used as loss leaders so it's not hard to buy colorful ones cheaply. Avoid ones with fringe that could tangle a tiny foot or a toenail. (Be sure to see the related article in this issue on bedding.)

Mutt Mats are sold by mail (ads in Gazette) or, rarely at shows. These mats are very well made of sturdy, quilted material. The toy size is perfect for a #100 Vari-Kennel. They wear well and are resistant to snags. If your club is looking for a money-raiser, the Zerick Co. will give you a good discount on quantities.

An inexpensive alternative are small braided or rag rugs. You know, like the ones your mother put on the floor in front of the back door. I watch for K-Mart to put these on sale and buy a half dozen.

I had a wonderful chat yesterday with a young woman who had recently acquired a Pom and needed some advice. I mentioned an upcoming Pom match and invited her to attend. She said she would love to come. Could she bring her Pom since she was only pet quality? She went on to explain how she had had snobby breed people look down their noses at her pet quality Dobe when she showed in obedience.

Awful! And we Pom conformation exhibitors are also guilty of the same snobbery. Many of us act as though, if a Pom isn't show quality (i.e., as pretty as my dogs) then it isn't even a Pom and shouldn't be out in public. Shame on us! Was your first Pom a champion? Mine sure weren't. My first two Poms were sweet, smart, talented and, I thought, gorgeous. They weren't by my present standards, but they were beloved pets who gave their owners love and pleasure, and charmed crowds in the obedience ring. Since we occasionally have pet quality dogs to sell, it's a darn good thing there's room in this world for these wonderful dogs! Let's all be very careful not to hurt the feelings of pet owners by disparaging their precious beasties.

Why do we do that?

by Dr. Alvin Grossman

Sometimes late at night I sit up and wonder just why I acted so stupid at a meeting earlier in the day. This random thought then triggers thoughts about other times when I acted like a 10 year old. It seems like I have an endless supply of these episodes.

As I sit here I wonder why I can't, without a great deal of searching, remember all the times when I acted with all the confidence of the "highly intelligent" person I am. Why is it we remember the bad stuff for longer than the good stuff?

Right now my most vivid recollection in dogs is the first time one of my dogs took a Best of Breed in a large Specialty Show. One of the competing exhibitors came up to my handler and said, "Congratulations. Too bad he didn't deserve it." Now that's a statement I will never forget. On the other hand, the first Best in Show win is but a dim memory today. Why is it the bad crowds out the good?

Just the other day Bill Walsh, whose team, the San Francisco 49ers had just won Super Bowl XXXIII, held a press conference. As he walked into the room applause broke out among the media. It was a rare tribute. It seemed to be an ovation for three Super Bowl wins in eight seasons, for the dramatic touchdown drive that won this one and for Walsh, who engineered it all.

His reaction?

"I see none of our local press were clapping."

On the field Walsh seems unflappable. Off the field he, like us poor dog show exhibitors, seems to remember every snip of criticism. He feels the criticism increases every year.

Walsh has three Super Bowl rings. Why would he care if someone writes that he made the wrong call on third and five?

I've thought over the years about why bad news and bad feelings tend to crowd out the good and have come to the conclusion that pain makes a much more searing impression on the brain than reward. I know this statement will provoke a negative response (see, already it's happening) from all of you who have taken courses in Child Psychology for you have learned that positive rewards are better than negative ones. Well, think again! As some of you may know I made my living for many years as a "shrink" and now I am finding out that some of my most cherished theories may not hold water any more. Being in the Dog Game will certainly challenge your oft held belief in the goodness of man.

It's too bad that most of us cannot separate our petty day- to-day concerns from the importance of the big picture. Those who cannot often go off and lick their wounds and call it a day. Is there any wonder that five years is the average run of an exhibitor. Who needs that kind of flak in a sport that's supposed to be enjoyable.

There is nothing so fearsome as an exhibitor who feels he has been done wrong. Look out! In their blind fury they will attack any and all things in sight, including friends who they thing stand in their way.

Recently I had the misfortune to be on a bench show committee that had to declare a dog ineligible to continue to compete in a non regular class. The handler and owner of the dog in question accepted the decision. However, other competing exhibitors and some "self styled experts" questioned the knowledge, heredity and integrity of the committee as a whole. They suggested such things as rejudging the class (the book had been marked) and awarding the win to the BOS so the show could go on. They were almost hysterical. It's amazing what some people believe are the rules of the AKC. Apparently the rule book isn't read until after the fact. Why do they do that?

Retrospective Falsification is a big word for forgetting what it was like before. It happens in dogs a lot. Get a group of old timers together to talk and you hear tales of old great Guzy Q. "Now there was a bitch. Beat all comers she did. There hasn't been another like her in the breed. These dogs today have very straight fronts, too much coat, etc., etc." And do you remember old Jeff Throgwhistle, now there was a judge. He could remember every dog that had even been under him and all its faults and good points. Now there judges today - well, it's not worth your time or money to go in under most of them. Yep, the judges of today just ain't worth their salt." Hey, these statements aren't made up. They are examples of conversations that take place at nearly every dog gathering.

Let me clarify the Retrospective Falsification concept. A number of years ago a famous Broadway producer was talking to friends about taking advantage of the current nostalgia craze and bringing back some of the old famous operettas. His friends were impressed with his astuteness as a business man feeling he could save a great deal of money doing this since he had warehouses full of old costumes and scenery. He laughed at their naivete. He pointed out that the main audience for these revivals would be people who had seen the shows before. It was his experience that they remembered them as very gaudy and colorful and therefore he was going to invest large sums of money in more splashy costumes and scenery; otherwise they would accuse him of putting on a pinch penny production. They actually visualized the show as much more colorful and gaudy than it had been. Their memory played tricks on them, i.e., Retrospective Falsification. That's why they did that! And that's why we see the past as better than today. We don't have reality in front of us and it's easy to insure that the dog of the past is better than the one we are looking at.

I would wager to say that even if the famous English Setter Ch. Rock Falls Colonel or the equally famous Boxer Ch. Bangaway of Sirrah Crest were lined up in a class with the top dogs of their breed of the past five years, the choice would not be that obvious.

Human nature being what it is we can expect competition to bring out the competitive nature we all have. However, how it's expressed is another matter. Naturally none of us likes to lose a competitive event in which we enter. After all that's why we are there - to win. Losing is the pits. However, over the years I have learned more from losing than winning. The winner doesn't ask himself why he won; he just accepts it as his due. The loser on the other hand tries to figure out why it happened. It could be his dog was not set down properly, it had too much coat for this judge, the dog screwed up on the return gait and was sidwinding, etc., etc. If we can use this analysis to improve the performance next time around we can get better and better. If, on the other hand, we use scapegoating techniques such as blaming the judge's eyesight or inferring he is crooked, then we have learned nothing and are headed for the exhibitor scrapheap.

FOR YOUR INFORMATION

The AKC sends me statistics on litters and dogs registered and I found it interesting to note that Pomeranians were number 4 in litter registrations in 1988 with 22,475. They are up from number 6 in 1987 when there were 21,063 litters registered. In individual dog registrations, there were 30,516 in 1988 making the Pom the number 14 breed. In 1987 it was number 16 with 27,911 dogs registered.

Are You Guilty?

by Gail Jeub

Are you guilty of the following:

-) Thinking about all the money your next litter or litters of puppies will bring;
-) Breeding that little three pound bitch because you spent X number of dollars for her and you have to get your money back in puppies, even though she is too small to whelp by herself.
-) Not giving each of your Poms individual attention seven days a week.
-) Breeding to any bitch regardless of her quality just to get that stud fee.
-) Selling precious little Pom puppies to people who you know will just breed them to death.

Just stop and think - are you guilty of any of the above? Put yourself in your Poms' place. Would you want to be treated that way? I know you wouldn't. Let's treat our Poms like they should be treated. Remember, you are a god in the eyes of your Pom. Read "A Dog's Prayer" and you will better understand how your Pom thinks.

A Dog's Prayer

Treat me kindly, my beloved master, for no heart in all the world is more grateful for kindness than the loving heart of me.

Do not break my spirit with a stick, for though I should lick your hand between the blows, your patience and understanding will more quickly teach me the things you would have me do.

Speak to me often, for your voice is the world's sweetest music, as you must know by the fierce wagging of my tail when your footstep falls upon my waiting ear.

When it is cold and wet, please take me inside for I am now a domesticated animal, no longer used to bitter elements, and I ask no greater glory than the privilege of sitting at your feet beside the hearth . . . though had you no home, I would rather follow you through ice and snow than rest upon the softest pillow in the warmest home in all the land. For you are my god, and I am your devoted worshipper.

Keep my pan filled with fresh water, for although I should not reproach you with it dry, I cannot tell you when I suffer thirst. Feed me clean food that I may stay well to romp and play and do your bidding, to walk by your side and stand ready, willing and able to protect you with my life, should your life be in danger.

And, beloved master, should the Great Master see fit to deprive me of my health or sight, do not turn me away from you. Rather hold me gently in your arms as skilled hands grant me the merciful boon or eternal rest . . . and I will leave you knowing with the last breath I drew my fate was ever safest in your hands.

THE DORAL VIDEO SERIES

1—Getting Started in Purebred Dogs

Ralph and Grace get bitten by the purebred dog "bug" and look to buy their first pedigreed dog. Learn how they go through the decision-making process of which breed, which breeder and finally arrive at an intelligent decision involving how to buy that all-important first show dog.

2—Sportsmanship

This fascinating program concentrates on the good things about the dog game and points out ways we can truly contribute to a great sport. It emphasizes good sportsmanship and gives telling examples of both good and bad behavior. As the times are reviving the amateur approach to dog shows, this program is one with which we can all identify.

3—Fundamentals of Gait

"Rudolph," Ralph and Grace's Siberian Husky, is now a highly-competitive champion. When a famous judge awards the prize to another competitor, Ralph and Grace wonder why? They consult a top judge and embark on one of the best learning experiences of their short life in dogs. An eye-opening and highly informative presentation of a difficult subject presented in a lucid and straightforward manner.

4—The Basics of Heredity

How can a complex subject such as genetics be made understandable to the average breeder? One way is to have cartoons highlight difficult points; another way is to use language that will strip away the complexities. Both methods have been utilized in this video which makes a difficult subject easier to understand. In a relatively short time span, The Basics of Heredity illuminates this scientific field so that one can immediately make use of one's new knowledge to breed better dogs.

5—Puppies, Puppies, Here They Come: Ready or Not!

You are ready to become a breeder. The "well-thought-through" first litter is about to arrive. On your mark, get ready, get set and go! A humorous but information-packed program of how to prepare the bitch and how to whelp the litter (including all the common complications). What to do, when to do it, and—best of all—HOW to do it. Probably the most complete video of its type available today.

6—Raising The Litter

The logical follow-up to the above program. Using explicit cartoons with the voice of experience produces a well-documented and informative program for both the novice and experienced breeder alike. How to pick the good ones, which puppies to keep, why puppies go bad. All this and much, much more is covered in this video.

7—Choosing A Professional Handler

Ralph and Grace's Siberian Husky, "Rudolph," turns out to be a real winner. Share their thrills and learn how you should go about selecting that ONE professional handler who can bring out the best in your dog. Learn how Ralph and Grace go about studying the problem and the hard logic that was used to make a sensible decision. A light-hearted and factual discussion of an important decision.

8—Campaigning A Specials Dog

Learn all about life in the fast lane: competing at local and national levels. Learn about the pitfalls and pratfalls of campaigning "THAT dog." Find out how national rankings can determine winners and why this happens. This video provides you—the exhibitor—with a keen insight into the whys and wherefores of the "specials" ring. Hidden costs, rivalries . . . all of the "inside scoop" about campaigning a champion!

9—Come Blow Your Horn

Many of us wonder how to attract attention to our dogs—whether it be for campaigning a top champion or to interest others in using your dog at stud. This lively video shows how the owners of a new champion explore the ways and means of ballyhooing their dog. Learn some amazing facts about the advertising game while you laugh away the time it takes to see this program.

There are nine programs in this complete series designed to take a total novice from purchasing their first good puppy right through to learning how to be a top breeder. Directed and narrated by Dr. Alvin Grossman—an award-winning author who was a successful breeder, exhibitor and is now an AKC judge. Illustrated by Joe Murray—a highly acclaimed cartoonist. These videos are presented with a light and humorous touch and they hold your attention all the way through!

Showaholics

by Wendy Feist

Are you a showaholic? Here are a few symptoms to look for when diagnosing a showaholic.

1) When you look at those in your area who began showing about the time you did, are you one of the few still involved?

2) When your litters of puppies are old enough to go to a new home, do you find that you are keeping more to grow out than you have to sell?

3) When asked if you do any handling, is your answer usually "no" as you have your own to show? Do you encourage them to show their own and tell them where to find the next handling class?

4) Leaving the ring after losing do you say to yourself, "There will be other shows," and "It was fun seeing everybody again," or "After all, you can't win them all," or even one of Jane Curtain's lines, "It was an honor just being nominated!" Do you say anything to try and stay positive?

5) When you go a month without a show do you feel as though you're going through withdrawal. Do you find yourself planning the next three months of shows, working harder on the upcoming puppy's training, the only relief in sight the next show?

6) When planning the family vacation do you get out the show calendar just to see which shows are in the "general" vicinity. If you're going to be in the area . . .

7) Do you make it a point to get to as many of the shows this year that you couldn't make the year before; do you try to add just one more state to the list you already include in your regular showing schedule?

8) Do you travel 5 hours one way for a one day show, and a one pointer to boot? After all, a point is a point, right?

If you answered yes to just one of the above symptoms, you have the makings of a showaholic. I'm sure you know others like yourself. They are the ones who always congratulate you when you win; compliment you on how well your dog performed even though you didn't place; remembered not only your dogs' names but your name as well.

It's my opinion that to be a showaholic is what it takes to be a long-time player in the show game. These are but a few symptoms. I'm sure there are hundreds more. It is the one disease that should definitely be encouraged, with no attempt whatsoever made to cure it. Showaholics will be responsible for keeping our breed in the ring.

Words cannot express our gratitude to Mrs. Randall M. Frech of the renowned Jolly Wee Kennels for her generosity in allowing LG to come stay with us. We were thrilled and flabbergasted but managed to squeak out a "yes" and a tearful "thank you."

LG has consistently taken Group 1's at the matches as well as a Best Movement in match win over 53 dogs of all breeds. He is now making his AKC show debut and we know he will continue to amaze us with his performance. Watch for him - you too will be amazed by his wonderful movement and animation.

Gratitude and thanks do not seem enough to offer Randy in appreciation for what she has done for us. I can only say that we are honored by her confidence in us and we hope to make her very proud of LG.

Dear Phyllis,

I now have the data in for the complete year of 1988 for the Top Producing Sire. The only changes from what you have published are:

Cedarwood's Image of Diamond would move from third place to second place with the addition of one more son, Queenaire Starburst.

Ch. Emcee's Solid Gold Diamond moves from fifth place to third place with the addition of Emcee's Tiny I Am and Emcee's Wee Gold Yetta.

I am taking the 1989 statistics using the Gazette year so next April you will have all the dogs at the time of publishing.

Yours truly,

Happeth Jones

COLOR ISSUE

The Anniversary Issue is so gorgeous, I think we can all agree it is a keepsake. It is a shame to wait another ten years for an issue with color in it so I am recommending that the Pomeranian Review have a special color issue every two years (instead of 10) so that those who want to show everyone our special Poms in color may do so. If we wait ten years, that special Pom that we breed may well be retired and we would therefore miss the opportunity to feature that dog in the next color issue.

Perhaps a questionnaire of some sort could be sent out to everyone who subscribes to the Review and get their opinion too.

I know I refer to my Anniversary Issue all the time and I'll bet many other readers do as well. How do you feel about my idea? Would you support color every two years? Write the editor and let her know. And speaking of the editor, Phyllis goes way beyond the call of duty to produce such fantastic issues. Many, many thanks, Phyllis for a great job!

Sincerely,

Gail Jeub

If advertisers want to designate an issue a year (or every two years, whatever), we can certainly do that. It is important that we have a group of ads (at least 16, 32 or more is better) so that our costs remain affordable. In a color issue a full page ad would cost $250.00. This cost would not be applicable in issues other than a color issue, as it is the group of ads that gives us this low (?) cost. We are dividing the overall cost among more people, thereby making each advertiser's share smaller.

There would be one color picture per page with color borders and color type. Black and white pages would also be available with color borders and type at $60.00 additional (i.e., full page b/w + photo(s) + $60.00 for color border and type). More than one photo would be available for black and white ads. Cover costs will have to be figured separately.

If this sounds like a good idea to you, talk to your friends and the Board and let's set it up. I'm willing. It is a tremendous amount of work, but well worth the effort when you have the final result in your hands. Oh yes, when you are considering which issue to designate, consider the April issue. It goes to all the judges. Editor.

Registrable breeds applying for ILPs will require neutering.

At the May 9, 1989 Board Meeting, the Board of Directors approved the policy that will require dogs of registrable breeds to be neutered before ILP applications are granted. This would not apply to dogs of the Miscellaneous Class breeds. This will become effective September 1, 1989.

The Board, acting to close a loophole on indiscriminate breeding of unregistrable dogs of registrable breeds and the use of the Indefinite Listing Privilege as an alternative form of registration with unregistrable dogs being bred on the basis of the ILP number, approved the following policy:

Effective for applications for Indefinite Listing Privileges received after September 1, 1989, for an unregistrable dog of a registrable breed, all such applications must be accompanied by a certification from a veterinarian or animal shelter verifying that the dog has been spayed or neutered.

The American Kennel Club's primary function is to regulate the breeding and exhibition of registered pure-bred dogs. The issuance of an Indefinite Listing Privilege for an unregistrable dog is strictly a discretionary accommodation.

Certification that a dog has been spayed or neutered must be attached to all application forms received by AKC after September 1, 1989. The fee for an ILP remains $25.00. ILP dogs continued to be eligible to be entered in Obedience Trials or in Tracking Tests only.

This spay/neuter requirement for application for an Indefinite Listing Privilege applies only to registrable breeds and not the Miscellaneous Class breeds: Australian Kelpies, Border Collies, Cane Dogs, Cavalier King Charles Spaniels, Chinese Crested, Chinese Shar-Pei, Greater Swiss Mountain Dogs, Miniature Bull Terriers, Petit Basset Griffon Vendeen, and Spinoni Italiani.
