Cover Story

Hi,

Let me introduce myself. My formal name is Am/Can Ch. Chriscendo Cachet, but everyone calls me "Peaches." I am one of the girls that resides at Star Dust Pomeranians.

My dad is Ch. Coy's Top of the Mark and my mom is Can. Ch. Chriscendo Cashmere. I was bred by Christine Hartz who knew I had the potential to be a winner.

I started my show career when I was 6 1/2 months old by winning Best Puppy in Show in Canada. I was expertly handled by John Hartz. I won a total of 7 Best Puppy in Shows while in Canada. I am also a multiple group winner as well as having multiple Group placements to my credit. I am told that this is quite an accomplishment for a girl. I have free whelped two litters and plan to return to the show ring again soon.

I will be specialed as soon as I get my coat back from my summer shed. You all know how that goes. As soon as my coat comes back look out 'cuz I'm comin'! I will be out strutting my stuff!

In future issues I will introduce you to some of my Pom friends at Star Dust Pomeranians.

See you at the shows.

Arf! Arf!

I had the good fortune of attending the APC Summer Specialty and the NCPC Specialty in June in San Francisco, California. The NCPC Club worked very hard getting it all together and it paid off as everything was superb. Congratulations to Julie Moreno and all her hard workers. The entries were very good and there were so many quality dogs there in competition. The banquet was especially nice and I'm sure no one walked away hungry. Mrs. Billings did a quality job judging as always, as did Mr. D. Jackson, the Sweepstakes judge for the APC Specialty.

I had been looking forward to this trip as having been out to the West Coast before, I was able to see and enjoy so many of you nice guys out there. I had my buddy, Edna, with me too. We did not expect to hit any cold weather but do express our thanks to the Roaches and Jean Schroll for the loan of their winter coats for our entire stay. Dave couldn't make this trip but keep everything intact back on the home front. Thanks again Dolly, for my lovely President's banner which now hangs in my kennel.

I had hoped to have a Board meeting while there, but unfortunately there were not enough Board members present for a quorum.

The recent vote sent to all members pertaining to the Constitutional By-Law change was approved. Our next step is to obtain AKC approval as provided in our Constitution.

Also, the 1991 slate of judges for the APC Specialty was voted on by the membership and Mr. Maynard Wood will be the Sweeps judge and Mrs. M. J. Ablett the judge for the regular classes.

The revision of the Summer Specialty Guidelines Booklet has been completed and is extremely well done by Mar Vickers. It is being presented to the Board for final consideration. When the booklet gets the Board's approval for printing, each regional club will receive a copy for their records.

Hope to be able to report some definite information to you in the next issue regarding the Awards to be given at our next National Specialty.

AMERICAN POMERANIAN CLUB, INC.

This club is devoted to encouraging the owning, breeding and exhibiting of the Pomeranian dog and the protection and advancement of the breed.

We are currently offering membership to all who are interested in these principles and aims.

If you are interested in joining the club please contact Mrs. Audrey Roberts, 1410 S. 10th. St., Leesville, LA 71446.

KENNEL VISIT

This issue we are pleased to visit the kennel of Lorinda Vasuta and Darren Lane in Akron, Ohio. Many thanks to them for having us, and to Barbara Stoffer for writing their story so well.

To qualify for a Kennel Visit, you must have been a member of APC for 5 years. Nominations are encouraged, as we would like to continue this tradition.

Ch. Dan-D's Tiny Jack Frost

(Ch. Emcee's Tiny Mite of Tico x Foxy Lady Baumgardners)

Many thanks to Dr. Morris Carson for his encouragement through my years of select breeding and from his foundation stock, Ch. Emcee's Solid Gold Diamond, now comes our first home grown champion!

Frosty finished in grand style. Shown here with judge Kenneth Falconi - BOW and 5 pt. major. The same weekend he took BOW and 5 pt. major under Judge Carol Holland and BOW and 5 pt. major under Alvin Maurer Jr. At the Pomeranian Club of Michigan Sweepstakes under Mr. Francis Wright, he was Best Opposite Sex. Later that day he was RWD under Mrs. Victor Olmos-Ollivier. All Frosty's points were earned in Michigan. My sincere thanks to these judges who saw his worthiness. Last but not least, my gratitude to Lorrie Carlton, a splendid handler, who cared for and showed him to perfection - a perfect team.

Ch. Dan-D's Tiny Jack Frost

(Ch. Emcee's Tiny Mite of Tico x Foxy Lady Baumgardners)

Shown here taking his first point under judge Elaine Rigdon at the Livonia Kennel Club. I want to thank everyone for their support. A special thanks to my co-owner and mom, who was always there, and my best friend and often right hand, Louise Crowe.

Congratulations to Lorinda Vasuta and Darren Lane on finishing your two new champions. Good luck to Shari Stoffer. She just needs one major to finish. Regards to Dupre Poms, nice going with Lady, Buster's daughter. Dan-D wishes Lyn-Lee continued success. We all wish Lorrie Carlton a speedy recovery after her ankle injury, FLASH! Frosty is a new Daddy! He has taken a Group 3 and 4 since he finished. What a Pom! We are so proud of him.

SECRETARY'S REPORT

by Audrey Roberts

1410 S. 10th St.

Leesville, LA 22303

(703) 960-7755

There has been some confusion on the Treasurer's Report in the Roster. In an effort to save the Club a lot of money, I chose to include only one of the 36 pages of Dr. Carson's voluminous and very accurate Treasurer's Report. I perhaps chose the wrong page. This is however my fault and not Dr. Carson's. Included with this report is an update sent to me by Dr. Carson. This will perhaps more fully explain the state of the money affairs of APC.

Your Board has been working very hard on updating several guidelines. The Summer Specialty Guidelines are currently being gone over for approval. Mary Vickers has headed this project and has come up with an excellent new guide. When approval is complete new copies will go out to all Specialty Clubs.

The Board is also in the process of approving some new yearly awards. This effort is also headed up by Mary Vickers. Some awards being considered are Breeder of the Year, Exhibitor of the Year, Show Dog of the Year, Top Obedience Pom, Top Obedience Exhibitor, also an ROM and ROMX. This is a Register of Merit. To receive this a dog must have produced a certain number of Champions; ROMX being for a larger amount of Champions produced. Another consideration is for a Gold Club. Members in this group must qualify by winning back to back Group Firsts, or back to back Best in Shows, or qualifying in Obedience with a perfect 200, or getting 100 Best of Breeds, or for bitches, 50 Breeds, etc. There are all in the works. We will soon have the guidelines and requirements, and the exact awards which we will be offering.

I have a severe problem associated with my move back to Louisiana. The U.S.P.O. has failed to continue my forwarding as long as I had requested. I recently received a large batch of mail from the folks who now occupy our home in California, some dated back to February. Hopefully they sent me all that came to them. But it is possible some mail was lost. If you have written or sent a member application and you have not received word from me, then please drop me a note. I apologize for this inconvenience.

I wish to congratulate Lorinda Vasuta and Darren Lane on their Kennel Visit. We are trying to continue this tradition on a regular basis. Nominations are welcome from all members for anyone who you think would enjoy a Kennel Visit. The requirements are that they must have been a member of APC for at least 5 years. Once they have received a Kennel Visit they are not permitted another. This is so more members will be permitted this privilege.

Respectfully Submitted,
Audrey Roberts

Feisty's Pomeranians

presents two new champions for their young sire, Ch. CJ's Masterpiece of Marks

Ch. Feisty's My-T-Fine

"Mighty" started his show career at 8 months of age and finished at 11 months. Thank you Jean Schroll for your professional presentation, and the extra TLC you always give. Many thanks to the judges who awarded him points: Joan Alexander, William Bergum, Mr. Adameck, William Field and Garland Baker.

Mighty is out of Feisty's Brandy Wine Cooler. He is now a proven sire. See his pedigree in Behind The New Champions

We thank all our ringside friends who are always there with words of encouragement and support. Congratulations to the Animation Kennel on your Kennel Visit.

Ch. Feisty's Image of Covergirl

We are lucky here in the Northwest to have so many shows available to us in a short period of time. "Footsie" started at 8 months of age and finished just a day before her 9th month birthday!

Our lines consist of mainly Scotia and Sungold breeding. Thank you Anna LaFortune and Edna Girardot, for without your hard work in creating these lines we wouldn't have these special kids.

Once again, thanks Jean and a big thank you to all those judges who found her special.

Footsie's dam is Bi-Mar Shesa Covergirl.

The APC-NCPC Summer Specialties

by Dolly B. Trauner

Cold? Wind, gusting to 35 mph, rushed down from the arctic. The sun hid behind ray murk the entire day. Exhibitors from warmer climates repeated every bad word ever said about San Francisco's unique summer weather, while natives glumly hoped the next day would be better.

Venue for the 1989 APC Summer Specialty (summer?) was the rear of the San Francisco Airport Holiday Inn. Rooms on three sides of the asphalt parking area containing the ring provided ringside viewing through picture windows in comparative comfort for spectators and those exhibitors not needed in the ring at the moment. Everyone wore (except while in the ring) a name tag attached to a souvenir badge - blue, with the San Francisco emblem of the Golden Gate Bridge and the APC Pom in white; these identified our group from other hotel guests, and helped put names to unfamiliar faces within the group.

The dogs seems to love it! The ancient blood of their northern ancestors responded happily to the chill, and we envied their fur coats.

Even the dullness of the sky failed to dim the brightness of the masses of silver trophies; all winners down through 4th place took at least one shining memento home with them. Diane Stevenson, Trophy Chairman had mounted a beautiful display. The Trophy table and ring stanchions were further decorated with blue and gold floral arrangements and pom-poms created by Decorations Chairman, Marge Kranzfelder. Marge also created the souvenir Pom plant-sticks, the Pom mobiles, and the floral arrangements in baskets that appeared at dinner. Dog biscuits shaped as bones and fire hydrants, and "people" biscuits shaped like Poms, were also distributed at dinner - both homemade by Dolly Trauner and her assistant. Marge had fashioned the Pom cookie-cutter from one that started life as a chow!

Chief Ring Steward, Al Graber, himself a multi-breed judge, assisted by Lucy Buttz, expertly handled their jobs with ease and grace, finding the right trophies for the classes from among those loading the table even when Diane was exhibiting in the ring and unable to point them out. Rita Perko, also a multi-breed judge and long experienced as a Show Secretary, answered questions and supervised the event "by the book." Rita and Lucy had been borrowed from their Poodle interests. Both are long-time friends of the Show Chairman, Julie Moreno, whose long involvement with Toy Poodles preceded her entry into Poms. Al Graber is loyal to his Shih Tzus but willing to help out his friends for this important occasion.

NCPC President, Wanda Roach, and husband Dudley, their work on the Specialties completed beforehand, could relax a bit and concentrate on showing some of their Queenaire Poms. Dudley's computer had run red-hot for weeks, composing the Premium Lists, the insert in the April issue of Pom Review, the ads the other "non-guts" portions of the catalogs, and the Dinner Programs. He said, "Never again!" but is already planning to do the same job for the November NCPC Specialty! Desktop publishing has taken him by storm.

From So. Carolina, the Sweepstakes judge, Derial Jackson, shrugged off the cold and conducted his assignment with smooth calm, starting at 10:00 a.m. A gentleman of true southern charm and manner. It was unfortunate that time did not allow us to sit at his feet to hear him tell of the famous dogs and breeders of the past: Little Emir, Little Rajah, Blue Boy, Mrs. Matta, and the many thers he knew personally and wrote about s the first Pom columnist for Dog World magazine. The Regular Classes started at 1:00, after a deli lunch in the Hospitality Suite for cast and crew. The Judge, Mrs. Michelle Killings, demonstrated once again the expertise and professionalism we had glimpsed briefly on TV when she found The Prince for Best in Show at Westminster in 1988. She is so warm and kind as she is lovely to look at. Even the losers - and there had to be many in the larger classes - appreciated the thoroughness of her judging, and the knowledgeable manner in which each dog was examined. She was overheard later to say that she had never seen an entry of overall excellent quality ever - and that any one of the 13 Poms she had moved into the first 7 places in the specials class could have been Best of Breed.

On both day, NCPC took the option now allowed by AKC; the non-regular, multi-entry classes were scheduled before judging Best of Breed. The Stud Dog class of 3 entries was of outstanding quality and beauty and included champions among the get. This scheduling insures that such classes, so important to the breed, receive the ringside attention they merit. The final class for Best of Breed then becomes the Grand Finale it should be.

A bit later, butterflies from caterpillars couldn't compare with the transformation to the silks and satins of the ladies, or the jackets and ties of the men attending the cocktail party and banquet. Dinner was an all-you-can-eat buffet that received high praise from even the most experienced and exacting specialty-goer, accustomed to the usual rubber chicken and withered peas of most hotel banquets.

We were especially honored with the presence of the grande-dame of Poms, Edna Girardot (Scotia Kennels), and another APC Life Member, Pauline Hughes (Point Loma Poms). Edna had come out from Maryland with APC's new president, Dolores Watts. Darrell Baker, his broken leg mended, was looking svelte; wife Olga was divine in a white version of a gay 90's gown. From Hawaii, Betty Aona, Ellen Takayama and Shirley Leu attended. Shirley is staying on for the wedding of the Moreno's younger daughter later this month (a wedding on top of chairing two specialties! Julie will have earned her 6-week vacation visiting Shirley in Hawaii later this fall!)

From Wisconsin came APC's 2nd Vice President Nadine Hersil, accompanied by APC's Education Chairman, Sally Baugnet. Randy Blackburn from Utah had donated one of his oil originals of a Pom head for Best of Breed. Her stunning white hair and youthful face identified Norma Creider in the crowd. Sue and Tim Goddard had their table in stitches with their wit and good humor. Victoria Lovely and friend Blake Jones from Puyallup, WA, looking so young, but wise and knowledgeable beyond appearances. Estelle McDonald - but, more of her later! The Ontiveros made off with the top prize. It's not enough that he's the President of the San Diego Pom Club, the tiny TV-Clock-Radio from the raffle was on his winning ticket. (Darn! I had my eye on it!) Jean Schroll from Columbia Pom Club; Connie and Tony Tellez, a handsome couple; Janice Luginsland, from Kansas who had judged the Winter Specialty in New York earlier this year all graced us with their presence. The guest who came the farthest was George Walther from West Germany!

An early ending of the day for most to rest up and get ready for the next day's events.

Next day, Friday, the NCPC Specialty - another day of wind and gloom, broken only briefly on occasion by a wan sun offering weak warmth. Everything from the day before had to be cleared away: tables chairs, ropes and stanchions. Now, it all had to be set up again (hotel rules). We owed much to Grounds Chairman, Brad Bradbury, and his assistant Mac McConnel, for muscling those weighty items back and forth. Mac doubled as catalog salesman, and Brad lent his ringside room as Hospitality "annex" for the coffee urn and some edibles - the Suite being some distance away, and hot coffee a lifesaver for many igid attendees.

The Sweepstakes Judge, Helen Palmer, a beloved former member of the Club. Her husband, Fred, are now retired and living in Capitola, their days of breeding and showing their little Poms over but far from forgotten.

The Trophy table had taken on a new appearance. Along with the crystal offered by the Club were many wonderful items, handmade and donated by Estelle McDonald: ring magnets, colorful chintz pads appliqued with a pom and butterfly and quilted; Pom-sized corduroy bean-bag cushions; and the show medals! How to describe them! Shaped like a high-topped fleece clipper, made of colorful calico prints and quilted, large enough for a single Pom to hide in its toe or for two pups to curl up for a nap, these were the prizes everyone hoped to win! For Best of Breed, the shoe-bed was a rendition of the well-known white athletic shoe and bore a "trade-mark" tag - REBARK.

Mr. Garland Baker from Oklahoma judged the Regular Classes. Selections of both the Friday judges differed somewhat from the day before, giving a wider distribution of the points and prizes (awards for both days are listed elsewhere in this coverage).

And when the last ribbon and trophy were distributed, the crowd dissolved - to sight-see in the city, or to prepare for competition for more silver trophies at the NCPC supported Pom entries of the two all-breed shows on the weekend.

The lovely APC trophy table.

It was a delight to see so many lovely puppies and I felt very privileged to be able to judge them. The very good quality of these Poms (and those of the Regular classes) made it very hard to make choices.

In the Puppy Dogs, 6-9 months, first was Rhapsody's Moonlight Sonata, owned by Olga Baker and bred by Pat McClary. He is a real stunner. Second was Tim Sue's Jolly Wee Copyboy, owned by Nina Berry and bred by Sue Goddard and Randall M. Frech. He is an xcellent puppy, rich in color with good action. Third was Lovely Gentleman Jeffrey, red and owned by Victoria E. Lovely. He is stylish light orange. Fourth was J.J. Promises to Keep, bred by Donna Pickles and owned by Jean Schroll. He is a nice orange and good showman.

In the Puppy Dogs 9-12 class, first was Feisty's My-T-Fine, owned by Victor and Vendy Feist. He is a typey orange with a good head, coat and action. Second was Tim Sue's Just a Bright Light, bred by Tim and Sue Goddard and owned by Paul and Barbara Curry. As you would expect, he is very good, nice coat, bright orange and a good mover. Third was Tim Sue's Travel Light, bred and owned by Tim and Sue Goddard, half brother to the above as both are by Ch. Chriscendo City Lights as we Ch. Tim Sue's High Lights, the Best in Specialty winner. Fourth was Southland's Mr. Extraordinaire, bred by Charlotte Creed and Beverly Norris and owned by Marlene and Marlin Presser. He is a dark sable of good quality.

In the Puppy Bitches, 6-9 months, first was T-J's Annie Oakley, bred and owned by Theresa Reeder. She is a lovely little rich orange, good coat and excellent mover. Second was Feisty's Image of Covergirl, owned by Vendy Feist. She is a good-coated red orange. Third was Phyner Carmella, bred and owned by Dolly Trauner. Carmella is a very typey chocolate. One doesn't see many really good chocolates, and she is definitely a good one. Fourth was Wee Heart's Sudden Sensation, bred by Cassandra Ready and owned by Nancy Shellman. She is a nice sable.

In the Puppy Bitches, 9-12 months, first was Maranatha's Liberty Belle, bred and owned by Steve and Gloria Carlin. She is an extremely sound and excellent mover. She needs a coat, but she is personality and type plus. Second was Forever Sin-sational Choice, owned by Marge Kranzfelder. She is a very nice black, good color and sweet face. Third was Bo-Na Skylark Dream, bred and owned by Robert and Nadine Downey. She is an appealing light orange. Fourth was Forever Sinful Lace by Choice, bred and owned by Marge Kranzfelder. She is a rich deep orange and a good showman.

For Best in Sweepstakes, I put up Rhapsody's Moonlight Sonata. He is a bright orange, barely six months old, but what a showman. He walked into the ring as though he owned it. He's a real beauty. For Best Opposite Sex, Maranatha's Liberty Belle, in her own right a real showgirl.

I thoroughly enjoyed being there and congratulate Julie Moreno, the ring stewards and all others responsible for such a tip top show.

Judge's Critique, APC Regular Classes by Michelle Billings

This year the site for the National Summer Specialty was the South San Francisco Holiday Inn at the airport. This made it especially convenient for the exhibitors and judges alike. The host club, the Northern California Pomeranian Club, headed by Julie Moreno and her committees, left no stone unturned in tending to everyone's needs. All that was lacking was the weather as it was unseasonably cold, even for San Francisco. Much of the ringside was huddled under blankets to watch the judging.

Winners Dog went to Doctor's Pepper CF, a gorgeous 5 year old black dog. In my opinion he is the best black that I have seen in years with a good head, superb coat texture and outline. He is an exceptionally good mover and showed very well.

Winners Bitch was awarded to Mac's Autumn Fantasy, shown in full bloom. I understand this win finished her championship and that she was 4 weeks or so in whelp. With few noted exceptions, I did not feel that the quality in the classes was that strong.

The Specials class however, was a different story as there were about five or six dogs and a bitch that one would be happy to have almost anywhere for a Group 1st at the very least. Finally I selected Ch. Tim Sue's High Lights for Best of Breed and his daughter

We'd like you to meet Bruce...

... officially known as Can. Ch. Tynan Trademark of Hobbit, Bruce is a continuing source of enjoyment for us.

In the showing, Bruce has done quite nicely with limited showing. In New York in February, he managed to win his class in puppy sweeps and went second in the regular class. Considering that his self-pitying owner was semi-conscious with the flu, he won these placements on his own, with no help from this so-called "handler!"

Here at home, Bruce finished his Canadian title with a number of group placements including a group first from the senior puppy class.

Bruce participates in a local Kennel Club's Pet Therapy program, visiting various nursing homes. He has managed to gain a sizeable fan club for his neat little self!

Many thanks to his breeder Natalie Dunfee for allowing this super sound little guy to come to us!

Congratulations to Darren and Lorinda on their Kennel Visit.

The breed dog was in full coat, has a great outline and coat texture and stands on four beautiful legs. He shows very well standing still, but fights the lead and needs more training in this area.

I want to thank all of the exhibitors for their support in the wonderful entry and just hope they enjoyed themselves as much as I did.

Judge's Critique, NCPC Regular Classes by Garland Baker

First I would like to thank the Northern California Pomeranian Club for the invitation to judge their specialty June 9, 1989. I also would like to thank the exhibitors who honored me with such a nice entry.

The overall quality was very good. The puppies were as sound as anywhere I have judged.

My Winners Dog, Feisty's My-T-Fine came from the Open Class. He was very ready, mature and of true Pomeranian type. I selected the 6-9 month puppy, Rhapsody's Moonlight Sonata for Reserve. He is a real Pomer and acted like he knew what it was all about. Nice type and tremendous coat al-

My Winners Bitch and also Best of Winners was Jeribeth's Little Britches from the Open class. She was very sound and a true mover. Reserve went to Sanrito's Sho-Nuff Beauty Lite from the Open class. She was a very close second to my winners. What more can I say.

The Best of Breed line up was so outstanding. There were several that were so close in quality and any one of them could easily have gone Best of Breed. Ch. Jeribeth's Sir Lancelot was a sound, well balanced quality dog with coat in full bloom and a true showman.

Thank you, Pom Review
from the whole clan,
for paying us a visit.

Kennel Visit The Animation Kennel of Lorinda Vasuta and Darren Lane

Located in the center of busy and bustling Akron, one of Ohio's largest cities, is a small piece of Pom Paradise that you just wouldn't believe unless you saw it. The setting is almost like a Fantasyland. Once you enter the gates at Animation, you leave the asphalt and concrete world behind. More than half an acre of green grass, trees, flowers and shrubbery are landscaped in such a way that you have the feeling you've entered a story-book forest, secure from the rest of the world by what seems like miles of 6 foot stockade fencing.

Six years ago when Lorinda first saw this small parcel of land with its rustic house (a kind way of saying it was a little tumble-down and overgrown), she had a special feeling about it; that it could be one of dreams come true. It did take a lot of hard work and time but it was truly worth it. As a matter of fact the city thought so too, for the North Akron Board of Trade awarded Lorinda their beautification award for property improvement. Now behind the attractive wood fence that surrounds the yard and hides this beautiful fairy tale scene lives the amazing and somewhat magical family of Animation. At the present time this family consists of Lorinda Vasuta, Darren Lane and fourteen Pomeranians. Lorinda and Darren were married in a lovely garden ceremony in their back yard this past July 8, but wait, I'm getting a bit ahead of the story here . . .

Back at the beginning, once upon a time a very young and somewhat naive little lady started on her journey down "the yellow brick road." As in the original story, a faithful pet was always with her. In Lorinda's case her companion at first was not a Pom but in fact a lovely American Eskimo which became her first show dog (in obedience). After attending her first AKC all breed show, Lorinda became hooked and in order to continue on her journey "to the land of Oz" and her objective, she needed an AKC registered dog to accompany her. Influenced mainly by a childhood admiration of Rin Tin Tin and not really knowing which breed to try, Lorinda chose a German Shepherd. During the next two years of showing in this highly competitive breed, she quickly learned the hard way most of the tricks that an expert handler needs to know - and also that there really are witches, scarecrows and a few tin men out there. Although the German Shepherd breed did not turn out to be exactly what she wanted, Lorinda did want to continue showing. Thinking back to her American Eskimo, she tried to picture something as close to that breed as possible. At that time Lorinda had limited living space, so after coping with the big Shepherd for two years, she was ready for a small dog. It was then that she decided on Poms. Immediately she was as addicted to this endearing breed as she had been to the whole idea of showing in the first place.

In November of 1977 Lorinda purchased her first Pom from an area breeder with the intention of showing it. Unfortunately with this Pom she did not realize her dream. Two other Poms in the two years that followed were shown but did not finish.

At this time, Lorinda was fortunate enough to acquire Dandy. He was the ideal type that she was looking for. They really took to each other right away and so the first mystical faint dream of Animation Poms was born. Champion Cinquay's Yankee Doodle Dandy was outstanding in many ways, both in the show ring and at home. Together, he and his determined owner started a small dynasty of consistently sound and typey Poms that have earned a place in the breeding and exhibiting arenas of the Pom world. Dandy himself has made his mark on Pom history, particularly on the Ohio Poms being shown today.

After studying different lines, searching for a mate for Dandy, Lorinda finally chose the Emcee line. Because of its special look, it struck her as being exactly what she was seeking. She contacted Morris Carson and after some deliberation, he was finally convinced that she was a suitable buyer. Morris Carson is as discriminating and cautious about placing his Poms as Lorinda is about placing hers.

When Lorinda went to visit Emcee she got her first look at Anna-Banana. After months of age, Anna was a bit of an ugly duckling, but Lorinda knew that this little lady was exactly what she wanted to take home as Dandy. Morris made her promise that she would not show Anna unless she turned out to be good enough. He felt that otherwise it might reflect on the high standards he expected of the Emcee Poms. To make a long story short, Anna is now Ch. Emcee's Suss'Anna and she was Top Producer in the United States for 1987! She is 4 1/2 pounds and has free-whelped 4 puppies in 3 of her litters. Between Anna and Dandy, Animation Kennel had its beginning.

The name Animation was first suggested to Lorinda by a friend who had observed Dandy in the ring and commented on his exceptional animation, expression and behavior. To this day that particular comment has followed the Animation Poms wherever they go. Continuing with that suggestion, many of the Animation Poms are named after animated cartoon characters.

In 1986 Darren Lane became an important part of Animation. He loved the Poms and started right in helping Lorinda and he learned well. During his first year

arren showed several Poms and finished 70% of them. He was awarded Newcomer of the Year by the Ohio Valley Pomeranian Club, of which Lorinda and Darren are two of the founding members. It seems that Darren had taken to Poms like a duck to water. He developed a very special way of dealing with them and they really respond to him with interest and affection. Darren is also a very loving part of Lorinda's life. Together they have even higher dreams for Animation.

Some of their dreams are already becoming a reality as there are now nine champions living at Animation - Ch. Emcee's Huss'Anna, Ch. Animations' Tweety Bird, Ch. Animation's Raggedy Ann, Ch. Animation's Sweet Pea, Ch. Animation's Lucy Little, Ch. Animation's Atom Ant, Ch. Animation's Elano, Ch. Animation's Wiley B. Cyote and Ch. Milanes Frick. Ch. Cinquay's Yankee Doodle Candy died in 1987. There are several other Poms carrying the direct Animation bloodlines that live with loving owners elsewhere - Ch. Animations' Mr. Magoo (a Group winner), Ch. Animation's Sylvester The Cat, and Ch. Animation's Babe from Toyland. Many other Poms in Ohio carry the Animation bloodlines and have excelled in the show ring and breeding programs.

Ch. Animation's Atom Ant is probably the most noted of the winning Animation

Poms. He is their first Group winner and in his career as a special, many of his Best of Breed wins were over Best in Show specials. Atom has several champion and Group placing get.

The first thing you see when arriving at Animation is the grooming shop at the front of the house. Lorinda has had her own grooming business for 11 years now and is considered one of the best. Lorinda's Dogs of Distinction has earned much regard and comes very highly recommended in the Akron area. Animation Poms is a small kennel, producing two litters per year. The majority of their Poms have completed their championships. They do not breed for the purpose of selling their Poms, rather for the betterment of the breed and competition in the show ring. Although many of Lorinda's dreams have already begun to be realized, she hopes to consistently produce Poms with that special look that will identify them as Animation Poms. And perhaps to someday produce a Best in Show Pom that comes up to Lorinda's standards.

The Poms at Animation do not live in a separate kennel building. Each one is a treasured family member and lives with Lorinda and Darren in the house. They do have separate sleeping quarters at night or for special occasions, but they mostly have the run of the house. I have been there many times and it is always clean and neat. There is no hint of doggy smells and is a most unique operation. All living accommodations are upstairs for both Poms and people. The grooming shop occupies the downstairs rooms. I might also add that not every Pom at Animation is a show dog. There are a couple of pets too. All are loved and cared for with equal TLC. The Pom friends that have passed away rest in a peaceful shaded glen in the woods behind the gazebo that Darren built.

Lorinda relaxing with a special friend.

In the lovely garden area of Animation Kennel with "the gang."

Upstairs, the room that contains the sleeping quarters for the Poms is adorned with the beautiful Anniversary quilt that Lorinda and Darren won in the raffle at the 1988 Specialty in New York. The walls of the living room are home to a beautiful collection of individual paintings of several of the Animation Champion Poms. The portraits are unique and bring out the special character of each Pom they portray. Lorinda was awarded Breeder of the Year for 1988 by the Ohio Valley Pom Club and her trophy, along with Darren's, is proudly displayed in the living room. Many trophies and awards adorn the walls of the grooming shop reception room downstairs. A beautiful showcase contains a special prized collection of dogs of different breeds. Animation also treasures one of the most complete and beautiful collections of Pom figurines and artifacts that I have ever seen.

The atmosphere is always warm and friendly at Animation, although it retains one of the busiest and most hectic schedules you can imagine. But there always seems to be time for a friend, time for a chat and time for a loving pat to a cherished Pom friend.

Since Darren joined Lorinda at Animation they have built together a solid foundation for their future, retaining a firm foothold in the past by continuing to breed and exhibit top quality Poms. For those of us who have been seeking the elusive dream, Animation Kennel is a shining example of what hard work, dedication and lots of love can do.

As I close the gate and walk away from Animation, my thoughts and part of my heart still remain. The impression of tiny Pom pitter-scramper across my mind, and faint Pom voices ring in my ears. It is definitely a special wonderland to visit. Just ask Mickey Mouse, Elaroo, Wiley B. Cyote, Tweety Bird, Ant, Lucy Little and the rest of the gang.

Dallas-Ft. Worth Pomeranian Club Specialty by Mildred G. Patrick

On March 24, 1989 the Dallas-Ft. Worth Pomeranian Club held its 30th Spring Specialty show at Amon Carter Jr. Exhibit Building in Ft. Worth, TX. We had a total entry of 87 dogs. Our trophies were crystal and were beautifully displayed on the trophy table.

Our Sweepstakes judge was Tony Tellez, President of the Pomeranian Club of Greater Houston. He had an entry of 27 adorable puppies - 6 males and 21 females. As usual, Tony did a wonderful job of judging and he picked them as follows:

Other class winners were Justin's Little Jamson from American Bred; Gladyan's Meuff-Stuff from Bred By Exhibitor and Jambo's Royal Rascal from Open. In bitches Gladyan's Bush Baby won 6-9 month bitches; Bo-Na's Skylark Dream won 9-12 month bitches and Valcopy Wakhan She Bear won Open.

The Sweepstakes was very ably judged by Mrs. Lee Easton. Best in Sweepstakes was Harbin's Carry On For Irene, owned by Linda Gallacher. Best of Opposite Sex was Starlite Choco's Dream Delite, owned by Gayle Griffin. Other class winners were Southland N Janesa's Typhoon, owned by Emily Untalan. Aija's Chihuahua Black Sapphire, owned by Nancy Hunt and Ingrida Gasaway.

Many thanks must be given to the people that worked so hard - the beautiful trophies by Tom and Carol Gillespie, the many ads for our catalog by Wendy Feist, the very successful by Tom Gillespie. All in all, everyone worked very hard to make our specialty successful and it certainly was.

We had our usual pot luck with John Nye cooking. A fine job he does. A great time was had by all and I'm not sure all those folks here were Pom people, but we had so much food it didn't seem to matter. It certainly appeared that everyone enjoyed both food and company.

Ch. Theldun's Almond Fudge

Fudge passed away June 19, 1989. Although gone, he left with 40 champions to his credit and others nearly finished, including Best in Show, Group and Specialty winners. A King of Kings, he left his mark on the breed.

Although gone, Fudge will live on through his son, Ch. Bev-Nor's Toasted Fudge who has 24 Best in Shows, 5 Specialty wins and was #1 Pom for 3 years; and his grandson, Ch. Bev-Nor's Statesman. Though only shown for 2 weeks, he is a multiple group winner.

Ch. Bev-Nor's Toasted Fudge congratulates his 3 sons on being Top Producers for 1988: #1 Ch. Southland's Toasted Fudge, #2 Ch. Bev-Nor's Toastmaster and #3 Ch. Bev-Nor's Statesman, plus he was tied for #5.

Delaware Valley Pomeranian Club by Debbie Hall

The Delaware Valley Pomeranian Club conducted its 1989 Fun Match on June 10, 1989 on the grounds of the lovely home of Jack and Lois Horan in Wrightstown, New Jersey. Thanks to our grounds keeper Jack Horan, who solved a few mud problems. We had a beautiful day despite all the rain that preceded the match.

The trophies, trophy table and a beautiful hand-made table cover made by Leslie Clark were all donated to the club by Leslie. Leslie also made the table floral display and the hand printed Pom T-Shirts and sweat shirts that we sold to benefit our club. Thank you for a super job, Leslie! And, thanks to all of you who supported this effort.

Our judge was the very capable Gail Robertson who awarded Best Puppy to Silva de Joy's Silhouette, owned by David and Melissa Dahlenberg; Best Opposite Sex Puppy to Shadra's Full Steam Ahead, owned by Leslie and Jerry Clark; Best Adult to The Pines Not Stuff, owned by Lois L. Horan and Best Opposite Sex Adult to Posmark's Black Forest, owned by Maleta Walls.

We have elected a new Board of Directors for the Club. They are:

At our September meeting we are having a "Welcome Back From Summer" covered fish dinner, coordinated by Roberta Armetta and Debbie Hall. We plan to feature the Dog Clips video at our October meeting. Also in October our club will be supporting the Progressive show held in New York City.

Our membership has grown considerably since its inception two years ago. We are busy with shows this time of year, but we will keep everyone posted on our activities.

Pomeranian Club of Greater Baltimore, Inc. by Judy Green

Another year of the PCGB is coming to a close. We're holding our annual election in September and the new slate of officers is: President - Dianne Johnson; Vice-President - Sue Berney; Corresponding Secretary - Judy Green; Recording Secretary - Lynn Galloway; Membership Secretary - Joyce Dembinsky; Treasurer - Chip Galloway; Board of Directors - Rose Keller, Skip Piazza, Dolores Walls.

Our annual picnic/birthday party/auction is being held on Sunday September 10 at the home of Stu and Sue Berney. This is always great. It's a covered dish picnic and the auction is wonderful! Some lovely hand-made Pom items are always available from our talented members and, wow, do they bring a good price!

We are zipping right along in our quest to hold our own Specialty in conjunction with the APC Summer Specialty in July 1990! We held our first A-OA match in May and the AKC approved it. Now we are planning our second A-OA match for the end of October and hopefully that one will also be approved. What a lot of work this planning and fun is!

Iroquois Pomeranian Club by David R. Edwards

Our club recently held its Specialty Fun Match with the help of the Wyoming Valley Kennel Club and Eileen McNaulty, who permitted us to use a space on the grounds the same day they held their match, saving the club an added expense. We had a real nice entry of 20 Pomeranians. Our judge for the event was Pat Mucher of Perry, New York, who did an excellent job and was more than patient with the puppies, who much preferred bunny hopping through the mud to gaiting. Sharon Girven our Chairman, spent most the day labeling trophies, acting as steward and playing photographer. I have no idea where she found the energy. The club's

Dallas Went To Canada

Can. Ch. Razzle Dazzle Music Man Am/Can C

(Ch. Bell's Houston Star Performer x Ch. Millamor's Roxie Music)

In only four shows, Dallas earned his Canadian Championship by going Group 1 (pictured above), Group 2 and Group 3 and BOW. At the same time, he rushed into the obedience ring and earned his Canadian CD with a High in Trial, and class placings of 2nd and 3rd - and they say you can't show in breed and obedience at the same time!

Thank you, Chris Heartz, for handling Dallas to his Group 1 and Group 2. Thank you, Luke Ehricht, for finishing him with BOW in Toronto.

Dallas only needs some single points to finish his American Championship.

membership was more than generous with donations for the trophy table, which looked great. I guess you could say the club went all out for it and it showed. Best Puppy in Match went to Joyce Urban's Dodger. Best Opposite Sex went to Jackie Klein's Tiptoe. In the adult classes, Best Adult went to Jerry Cushman's DJ's Gypsy and Best Opposite went to Sue Austin and Dave Edward's Lee. A good time was had by all.

On May 20, Mr. Jerome Cushman gave the members a grooming demonstration. Sue Austin and Sharon Girven taped the demonstration for future viewing for those members who missed it, and for future reference. Shirley Hartz was kind enough to furnish the Pom. The demonstration took about 2 hours, giving all time to ask questions, as well as to trade helpful hints on conditioning coats and such. It proved to be quite an interesting and fun-filled day. I can just imagine what some Poms went through the day after their owners heard that demonstration!

Our club is exchanging newsletters with our other clubs, one of which is from Canada. It gives us all a chance to share ideas and keep up to date of the goings on. Other clubs might like to consider doing the same. We're sure enjoying it.

From all of us at IPC, best of health and good luck in the ring!

Pomeranian Club of Michigan by Evelyn Conley

The Pomeranian Club of Michigan, Inc. held its annual Spring Specialty show on May 28, 1989 in conjunction with the Kalamazoo Kennel Club in Kalamazoo, Michigan. It was a very successful event with the judges being Mrs. Victor Olmos Ollivier for the Regular Classes and Mr. Francis Wright doing the Sweepstakes.

At 12:00, Mr. Wright started our show by judging Sweepstakes. He was rewarded with an entry of 12 puppies. As there were 2 absentees, he had 3 handsome males and 7 pretty females from which to make his selection. For Best in Sweepstakes he chose an orange female, Blake's Barbie Doll, bred by Evelyn Blake and owned by Donna Megenhardt, Carol Galavich and Evelyn Blake. She was handled by Donna Megenhardt from Ohio. For Best of Opposite Sex he chose a cream male, Dan-D's Tiny Jack Frost, bred by Dorothy Baumgardner and owned by Dorathy Barnes. He was handled by Lori Carlton from Michigan.

Best Opposite Sex in Sweepstakes went to Dan-D's my Jack Frost, owned by Dorathy Barnes.

After the picture taking, Mrs. Victor Olmos-Ollivier, very neat and very much a lady, entered the ring and went to work. With the absentees, she was presented with 9 dogs and 19 bitches to select Winners Dog and Winners Bitch. Going over the dogs thoroughly, but gently, as our little friends should be, she made her selections. Winners Dog was Dia's Mr. Brandon Bear, bred and owned by David Hogg. He was handled by Paula McBay from Indiana. For Winners Bitch she selected the same one Mr. Wright did, Blake's Barbie Doll, and further placed her Best of Opposite Sex.

With four beautiful specials to look over, she chose a lovely female, Ch. LLL High

Puget Sound Pomeranian Club by Wendy Feist

We have been lucky this year. The weather has been rather mild compared with last summer.

We have now begun a new fiscal year and the membership has elected a new slate of officers. They are President - Janelle Reich; Vice President - Dana Plonkey; Treasurer - Frank Reich; Board Members - Nora Higbee, Wendy Feist, Barbara DeFord, Mary Rosenbaum and Bernard Niehouse.

This club has been putting out a fantastic newsletter for years. Aside from the fact that the club is in my hometown and this is my special breed, it was the newsletter that first drew me to it. It is sent out regularly and is fantastic for advertising new litters so that all your Pom friends get the news. Its name is "Poms and People" and also includes a section on show results and another on medical issues, plus much more. If you enjoy getting Pom publications then this one is a must. A one year subscription is only $10.00 and it is published monthly. For more information, please contact our dedicated editor, Jane Reed, 224 Johnson Rd., Winlock, WA 98596.

We are truly a growing club with 36 members to date and more in the application process. We'd like to welcome our newest member, Byrl Rosenbaum. As we grow in numbers we also grow in knowledge. We stay informed on our state's animal legislation acts, those newly imposed and the current laws. We keep abreast of all the latest changes in the AKC and we are nearly to our goal of a point show. Interested in more information, please contact our newsletter editor.

A big congratulations to the following members and their new champions: Randy Gemmill and Dan Plonkey have two new champion girls, Ch. Valcopy-Wakhan Oh So Snazzy and Ch. Day Star's New Attitude. Wendy and Victor Feist also have two new champions, Ch. Feisty's My-T-Fine and Ch. Feisty's Image of Covergirl.

Best wishes to the following club members who also have been doing some great things in the ring: Victoria Lovely put Winners Dog and Best of Winners on her cream sable, Lovely Gentleman Jeffrey and several points on Lovely Lady Shawna-Debutante.

Nora Higbee won a major on Jambos Royal Rascal.

Randy Gemmill and Dana Plonkey must be extremely proud of Valcopy Wakhan Holly Go Lightly. She was Winners Bitch, Best of Winners and Best of Breed from the 6-9 puppy class over a nice special!

Missy is shown winning Best of Breed under Miss Frances M. Thornton at the tender age of seven months. Many thanks to Nina Berry and Jerrie Freia who bred Missy and entrusted her to my care. She is a great mover with a sparkling personality.

My thanks also go to Bernie and Lois Ciliberto for my foundation bitch, Crescendo Allegretta and all the assistance and encouragement they have given me.

We are currently working on some exciting projects and I hope to report more about them next time. As you read this it's probably mid October and we will be shifting to a slower pace as the busy show season slows down again. Take a big, deep breath and relax, getting ready for a happy holiday season. Best wishes to all and good luck with our new show prospects!

San Diego Pomeranian Club, Inc. by Fern Rodrigues

On Friday May 19, 1989 The San Diego Pomeranian Club held its Spring Specialty and Sweepstakes. Judges for the show held at the Berry Street Park in Lemon Grove, California were Mr. Mitchell Wooten for Sweepstakes and Mr. Arthur J. Davison for Regular classes.

The day was perfect. In the Sweepstakes, Best was won by Elegant's Tiara Jewel, owner handled by Connie and Jerry Brown, bred by Samuel and Linda Levin. Best Opposite Sex in Sweepstakes went to Pen's Little Snow Wizard, breeder, owner, handled by Penny Dees.

In the Regular classes, Winners Dog went to Lor-Di's Check Mate, breeder, owner, handled by Diane L. Finkle. This very pretty orange boy is from Valley Center, California. Reserve Winners Dog went to Elegant's Baron Von Ruff Ruff, owned by Connie and Jerry Brown and Samuel and Linda Levin, bred by Elegant's Pomeranians and handled by Connie Brown. Winners Bitch went to Sun Ray's Batman's Star, owned by Samuel and Linda Levin, bred by Fern Rodrigues of Sun Ray Kennels and handled by Kim Dickinson. This beautiful red sable bitch went on to take Best of Winners and Best Opposite Sex, as well as finishing her championship that day. Reserve Winners Bitch went to Sun Ray's Red Velvet II, owned by Samuel and Linda Levin, bred by Ellen Frank and handled by Samuel Levin. Best of Breed went to Ch. Tim Sue's Harbor Lights, owned by Susan and Dr. Phillip Conlee, bred by Sue and Tim Goddard, and beautifully presented by Joanne Reed.

Best Brace went to Ch. Sun Ray's Gold Banner and Elegant Baron Von Ruff Ruff, a father/son combination owned by Samuel and Linda Levin and Connie and Jerry Brown, handled by Sam Levin. Best Team went to Ch. Sun Ray's Gold Banner, his littermate's sons, Elegant's Baron Von Ruff Ruff, Elegant's Ruff Tuff Creampuff, and Banner's half sister, Sun Rays Li'l Angela. The cream team is owned by Samuel and Linda Levin and Connie and Jerry Brown, handled by Connie Brown. It was a unique experience to see four poms move

Our Parade of Champions had Ch. Amata Ma Va Lous Marvin, bred by Darlys Maata and owned by Margaret K and Daniel Antiveros.

The fun was not over yet as the club sponsored a pot luck luncheon/bridal shower surprise Kim Dickinson. Kim was very grateful and she had to press her father into helping transport two carloads of presents home. A great time was had by all in attendance - good dogs, good food and good friends. It was the essence of all San Diego Pomeranian Club shows.

We are eagerly anticipating our next specialty in November, to be held in conjunction with the Del Sur Kennel Club.

Mt. Rainier Pomeranian Fanciers by Blake Jones

Beginning January 24th of this year, a new Pom Cub was formed to serve the central area of Washington state. This club, the Mount Rainier Pomeranian Fanciers, is devoted to the advancement of the entire Pomeranian breed in all its colors and markings. The club's membership is available to any interested person, regardless of where they live. Currently we have 19 members, two thirds of which are active exhibitors, with an average of 2 new applications per month. The club is proud of its education projects and also its schedule of 4 matches per year.

The Club's first match, held in March, had 34 entries. It was judged beautifully by S Judge Jane Anderson.

The education projects this year consisted of grooming, health care, ring procedures (conformation and obedience, breed history, and breed standard, followed by a discussion on colors, illustrated with examples of nearly every Pom color, supplied by club members.

The second match, held at the base of scenic Mt. Rainier in the small town of Eatonville, had another 34 entries. New Pom judge Joan Zielinski was both friendly and professional, showing a great deal of patience with young pups unwilling to cooperate on a day with temperatures in the 90s. The Pom rainbow was well represented with white, cream, orange, red, black, chocolate, black and tan, and parti colors or white and black, white and chocolate and white and orange in attendance. The class winners were as follows:

Webfoot Report by Jean Schroll

It's been some time since you have read a webfoot report and with our really wet spring it seemed appropriate. The rain is good for the lawns but doesn't do much for the gardens. There are many things going on in our Pacific Northwest. There are some really nice dogs being shown.

The Eastern Washington Circuit brought out several new dogs. Wendy Feist has a new little male and we won one of the shows. This dog also picked up two majors at Rogue Valley and Eugene. Dennis Larson has a new male from Daryls Flaata and he won two majors and a best of breed. Ed and Nancy Wharton's special won several breeds and a Group 2. Tom and Jessie Stephens finished their bitch. Dana Plonkey and Randy Gemmill finished a bitch that they co-own. Emily Untalan and Gail Jeub got a second major on a bitch.

Wendy Feist has a new little girl that has two 5 point majors. She is just eight months old and finished on the Idaho circuit.

I have just returned from the APC National and I'm sorry to say it was a huge disappointment. First of all, San Francisco's weather did not cooperate. It was extremely cold and these shows were held out doors in the parking lot of the Holiday Inn. There were no decent places to park, in spite of it being in a parking lot! Two favored persons were allowed to park adjacent to the show rings. The rest of us had to park at least a half mile away from the rings and carry our dogs to the rings. I had four dogs entered and one was a member of the APC. One of the favored ones had only one dog entered. I had parked next to the rings and was told to move because then someone else was given the spot I had in. I felt unwanted.

I cannot believe there was not an indoor place to have these specialties. All Holiday Inns I've been in have ballrooms and they rent them to clubs and other groups.

In spite of the hardships, my dogs did very well. Wendy and Victor Feist's male won his class at the Sweepstakes, their 6-9 month puppy bitch was 2nd in her class, and my 10 month male was 4th in his class. Wendy and Victor's male Feisty's My-T-Fine was Winner Dog at the NCPC for 5 points, finishing in fine style in four majors. Feisty's Image of Cover Girl was Reserve Winner Bitch at some of the breeds and finished her championship quite well. I was proud to handle these fine dogs to their championships.

The Columbia Pomeranian Club Show and Pomer Specialty is now history. Everyone seemed to have a good time at these shows on private grounds, owned by Greater Clatsop County Kennel Club. For all the details, please see the Columbia report at the beginning of this section.

n. Autumn's Cara Mia Monique

(Southland 'N Janesa's Mr. Tuff x Autumn's Lil Black Gem)

"Monique" is a Little Bit granddaughter and finished in grand style with three 5 point majors. She went BOS at our Specialty over two specials bitches, repeated the win the following day, then on Sunday, after being moved up, she again went BOS in the pouring rain! She has a red, thick coat with a coarse texture. All of her points are from the Bred-By class. She will be specialied until she blows coat. Thank you judges Sharon Krogh, Grace Moran (pictured above) and Frank Nishimura.

I was delighted to see so many Club reports this issue. Thank you for sharing.

Thanks also to Happeth Jones, a new writer for the Review. It was great to see an article from Molly Miller again. David Edwards has begun a "David Horowitz" type of column and it will be fun to watch it grow. It was fun reading a couple of articles by Pauline Hughes. I hope she will write again. Thanks again to our regular contributors - Margaret McKee, Brenda Hutton, Dorothy Bonner - you make the reading great!

Crescendo Honors Can. Ch. Jer Mac's Classic Gold Chip

Now owned by Tammy Corbin and Mavis Dustow of Edmonton, Alberta, Canada (403) 455-2388

- Beginning: Chipper is a voyager on an odyssey. He is very special. He was bred by Carolyn Roberts and went back to Morris Carson as his sire was Ch. Emcee's Terrific Wee Chips. From there he journeyed to Jerry and Mary Beverage in Little Rock. His next port o' call was at the home of Bernie and Lois Ciliberto.
- Middle: Chipper stepped from his flight crate with his colors flying. He demanded to be "shown now." Consequently he voyaged to the home of Tammy Corbin in Canada to grasp the golden ring of his destiny.
- End In Sight: His very first shows, 13 back to back, Chipper achieved the following: 1 BIS, 1 BOB Toy Specialty, 7 Gr. 1, 2 Gr. 2, 1 Gr. 3, 2 Gr. 4.
- Watch For Him: Chipper voyages to Florida this winter to be shown by Bernie Ciliberto, where Lois will hug him warmly once again. How we regretted letting this guy go. But he was a true CLASSIC GOLD CHIP off a very good breeding block and deserved all he could get, and as soon as he could get it! Chipper has a select harem at Tammy's including her top female, Canadian Ch. Schimmel's Princess Lia Lei, and 2 Crescendo gals.

WAY TO GO, CHIPPER!

Second Opinion

by Happeth Jones

When I started looking for a toy dog I had no intention of ever breeding dogs. I wanted a male puppy about two months old, preferably a Chihuahua. Instead I ended up with an eight month old female Pomeranian. The seller advised me to bring her back to be bred to one of her males. Shadow became my most beloved pet and is probably the most intelligent dog I have ever owned. She is the reason my husband and I became hooked on this marvelous breed. So naturally we felt we wanted more like her and at eighteen months of age we had her bred.

Up to four weeks post breeding there was no sign of pregnancy but by five weeks she started to bulge. At seven weeks she was almost as round as a watermelon. She waddled a little but was active and appeared to be very healthy. Therefore, I was surprised to learn that Shadow's litter sister, Tina had almost died when she was due to have her puppies.

Tina had been bred and became ill a week before she was due to whelp. The veterinarian did an emergency c-section and also spayed her. It seems Tina had a strange kind of blood disease and had become severely anemic and almost died on the operating table. To insure that Shadow did not have the same problem I asked for the name of the vet who had treated Tina and made an appointment. On the day of the appointment Shadow appeared as healthy as usual. I explained to the vet that Shadow was a litter sister of Tina's. She told me that she didn't know what had been wrong with Tina. It was the strangest thing she had ever seen. Something had made Tina so anemic that she had collapsed and when the vet did the c-section Tina almost died during surgery.

The vet took a blood sample from Shadow and the results showed that Shadow was anemic. I was given a tonic with iron in it and told to bring Shadow back in two days. At the second appointment another blood test was done and Shadow's anemia had not gotten better. The vet told me if I allowed the pregnancy to continue, Shadow could possibly die. When I expressed confusion that a dog that look so healthy could be that ill I was told that should could collapse at any time.

There were several things that concerned me. First the vet kept stressing the need to spay Shadow. I felt she should be more concerned with preventing this collapse that Shadow could have. Second she kept saying that Shadow could collapse at any time but she wouldn't do a c-section until after Shadow was in labor. This bothered me as I felt that if the Vet was correct in her diagnosis the sooner the puppies were removed the sooner their drain on Shadow would be stopped.

Also, Shadow was acting very unlike her normally friendly self in that she showed an extreme dislike of the vet (I told you she was intelligent). After I left the vet's office I decided that I did not like this woman and I did not want her to do the surgery.

The next day I went to another vet and he did a blood test and told me that Shadow was slightly anemic but that she was handling it. He said that Shadow wasn't sick at all and that a c-section was probably more dangerous for her than being slightly anemic. I went home and started feeding Shadow liver. I had read that anemia could be caused in a pregnant bitch as a result of insufficient amounts of vitamin C to handle the added demands of pregnancy. So I added Vitamin C to the liver. Shadow's next blood test was normal and a few days later she free whelped four lovely puppies. She subsequently whelped a second litter of three with no trouble at all and she is still a healthy, active Pom.

I eventually became interested in breeding and exhibiting Poms and purchased a show quality bitch which I subsequently bred. This girl did not show any signs of gnancy but about the third week she started going off into a corner and did not want to do anything but sleep. Thinking that this was a sign of pregnancy I didn't worry about her behavior. She never did gain weight and by the sixth week I began to suspect that she was not pregnant. One night in the seventh week post breeding she suddenly had a heavy, odorless cream-colored discharge.

She was not acting very ill but I knew this discharge was not normal and immediately took her to a 24 hour emergency vet. The emergency vet diagnosed pyometra and advised that the only way to save her was to spay her as soon as possible, preferably immediately. He also told me that there was no treatment with prostaglandin but in his experience it was not successful. I told him she was a valuable breeding bitch and asked if there was any possibility that something else could be wrong with her. He said no but decided to x-ray her.

When he showed me the developed x-rays he said that one did not show an enlarged uterus but that on the second x-ray she felt that was some enlargement. He told me she must be drinking excessive amounts of water and when I told him that she was drinking normally he very emphatically said she was drinking lots of water and I just hadn't noticed it. Meanwhile my Pom had perked up at being out and was barking whenever she heard another dog and generally was not acting very ill. When I pointed this out to the vet he admitted that she was in no immediate danger and that she probably could go 24 hours before she had the surgery done. My husband took me aside and reminded me of the incident with Shadow. So I decided to get a second opinion.

When we returned home I read the x-ray film I had received from the emergency vet and noticed that the vet had written that radiographically there was no noticeable enlargement of the uterus. This was in direct contradiction to what he had told my husband and myself. The contradiction bothered me and I began to doubt him. I got out all my books on dog health and I read as much as I could on pyometra and I came across a paragraph on endometritis. This paragraph stated that the symptoms for endometritis were similar to pyometra except that radiographically the uterus is not greatly enlarged.

The next morning, armed with this book and the x-rays from the night before, I went for a second opinion. I asked this vet (whom I shall call Dr. F.) about the possibility of endometritis. He neither answered me nor gave me an opinion, nor did he examine my dog, but instead called the emergency vet. After he spoke to him, he then diagnosed pyometra and wanted to do the surgery that day. When I asked about treatment with prostaglandin he said I was grasping at straws and he didn't even know if he could locate a supply of these hormones.

I didn't feel that Dr. F had given me a true second opinion but had only repeated what the emergency vet had told him, so I left without making arrangements for the surgery. I then called a Pom breeder who lives a considerable distance from me but whom I knew had a vet who was very experienced with reproduction problems in small dogs. This vet agreed to see me that day.

Dr. K, as I will call him, said my pom bitch was too young and was simply not sick enough to have pyometra. He suspected endometritis. However, if she did turn out to have pyometra he recommended treatment with prostaglandin. He had successfully treated several dogs with these hormones. Dr. K did a blood test and found that my bitch's white blood count was considerably elevated. My Pom was put on antibiotics for ten days and she responded immediately. After treatment, another test was done and it showed her white blood count had returned to normal. Dr. K said that if she had pyometra the elevated blood count would not have responded to the antibiotics. A vaginal culture was also taken and showed no infection. Dr. K feels she can be bred successfully at her next season.

Learn to help yourself

by Wendy Feist

When you call a vet because your dog is sick or injured there are a few basic questions you need to be able to answer immediately to help your vet and/or the receptionist help you the best and fastest way. However many of us are simply unaware of the type of information that is most helpful. Further, by giving good information at your fingertips you may be able to save money in the long run by avoiding a misdiagnosis.

Even with all his training, a vet can't diagnose a dog properly without good answers to some basic questions and these questions can vary from office to office. Your dog will usually be screened by the receptionist before you speak to the vet. If you don't present your problem giving all the facts, a serious problem that should be seen as an emergency may not be treated as such or something that could have waited until daylight might end up costing you many times more than necessary because you panicked and went to an emergency vet service at 11 p.m.

Of course the most important thing is not to panic! This is sometimes easier said than done but taking several deep breaths and forcing yourself to take one step at a time is absolutely necessary. My husband is a veterinarian and he taught me to do the following things before calling the vet. These suggestions are in reference to an ill dog, not a comatose or badly injured dog in which case you call the vet first to notify them of your imminent arrival so they can be ready.

First, do a head to toe evaluation. The head is first. Are the eyes bright or dull or cloudy? Is there a discharge or excessive tearing? Is there any discharge from the nose? Are the ears clean or is there a dark or light build-up present? Open the mouth and check the color. Is it nice and pink or is it sort of gray? Are there any tenderness or swelling in the head area?

Next check all the limbs for soreness or swelling or anything that doesn't look to be normal. Check the chest area for labored or rapid breathing, or again anything that doesn't look or sound quite right. Is the abdomen distended or bloated? Is it hot to the touch or bright red?

Check for dehydration. You should be able to gently pinch the skin and see it bounce back immediately. Urine output gives you an indication of dehydration also, but be sure you know how much and how frequently the dog is urinating. In a severe case you'd see it in the mouth. How does the coat look - healthy, or dry and flaky?

Check the anus. Is it swollen, irritated. How do the anal glands look? (I'm surprised how many people don't know that the anal glands need to be emptied!) Have you noticed any scooting? How do the stools look? Are they normal or is there diarrhea present. Is there blood, a foul odor, or strange color in the stool? When was the last fecal check done? Has there been a normal amount of urine output? What does it look like - clear, or extremely dark in color; any sign of blood?

How is he eating? What is he eating?

Take your dog's temperature.

Now it's time to call your vet. Don't let office staff intimidate you. If you feel you aren't getting the kind of response you need and you can't talk to the vet at the moment, ask to speak to a tech. Before leaving for the vet's office, get a stool sample. Even if it looks normal it could contain parasites that can cause intestinal irritation. If the urine looks abnormal bring a sample. An easy way to do it is to use a syringe. All samples should be fresh, but if you can't get to the vet's right away, refrigerate the sample and be sure to tell the person reading it what time it was collected. Be sure you know what kind of fecal check is done as many parasites can be missed on the old standard test.

Never feel silly asking questions or questioning a treatment. If you have been breeding dogs for a while and have had quite a bit of experience with veterinary treatments, you may have some good insights into treatments yourself. If something seems different or unusual, ask questions. Questions can always be posed in a non-threatening, polite manner so that the vet won't take offense. A good vet will answer any questions without a problem, especially when he believes that you are truly interested in your dog's well-being.

After a treatment, be sure to ask when you are to call back with the results. Before leaving the office be sure you know what to expect. How soon should your dog start acting better? If the symptoms don't change, how are you going to reach the vet? What exactly should you look for? If this vet won't be available, will his partner be advised so that you can turn with confidence to a new person? If you are concerned about your dog and have to call at night let your vet decide if your dog needs to be seen. If he isn't helpful or worse, it's time to find a new vet.

This may seem like a time consuming procedure and it is if you wait until your dog is really sick to start using it. Practice these techniques every time you groom your dog.
You will be able to evaluate your dogs in minutes and probably be able to have a better idea of each dogs' general health.
Furthermore, it will help your puppies when they do go to the vet because they will be used to this kind of examination.

Remember, your dogs can't speak for themselves. They need you to use all your powers of observation to maintain their care.
Your vet can be much more helpful to you if you can help him. He can't read your mind so knowing what kinds of information will help him treat your dog will make you a very powerful team and get the fastest, best care possible.

ALONG MYWAY
by Molly Miller
P.O. Box 717 - 77574
League City, TX 77574

The events that I am going to discuss are several months old. I purposefully did not write about them for several months because I did not want anyone to try to discern the participants. Of course the events described involved specific individuals, but the problem is a general one that needs to be addressed.

National breed clubs work continually to develop and maintain a breed standard that properly depicts their breed. Judges who are licensed by AKC to judge these breeds are expected - nay required - to judge to the best of their ability by these AKC approved standards. A judge does not have the latitude to judge by his own preferences, nor does he have the right to set aside sections of a breed's standard. However, this is being done by some judges.

My example of this took place at a large show which had a five point major in Poms. My bitch was reserve. While I would have liked to have had the major, I was not shocked (different people see dogs differently) until the judge explained his placing. He said, "Your bitch has too much coat. Cut about half of it off." I did not respond to this; and he proceeded to tell me how to sculpture a coat on the whole Pomeranian. Then I was shocked. This man is a well know, and, I had thought until this discourse, an ethical judge. Stunned by this flagitious disregard of the standard I responded, "You know the national club does not approve of that."

"I know it," he quipped, and his attitude told me I do not care.

Of course my fellow exhibitors had to know what the long in-ring discussion was. I had sooner had explained, than another shocked exhibitor arrived. To him this judge had said that since the points were higher in one sex than the other he would award BOW to the one with the lower points. Exhibitors all know judges often do this, and most do not object if the quality is relatively equal, but AKC has specific rules concerning the awarding of BOW. This particular exhibitor was shocked because he too was an AKC licensed judge and was acutely aware of how often AKC cautions judges not to do this. By announcing what he was doing, this judge once again was saying, "I am above the rules."

The exhibition of purebred dogs under the auspices of AKC is a huge machine. Its millions of parts can function smoothly only when each functions according to its rules. In this case the judge ignored the written standard and AKC directions to judges and placed dogs according to his whim. This is unfair to all of the exhibitors, not because the dogs placed were not decent dogs - in this case they were - but because all of the exhibitors did not have a guideline by which to work. The guideline of the standard tells breeders and exhibitors which dogs to select for exhibition and breeding. Without the security of this guideline, exhibition and breeding plans are senseless chaos.

Please, do not shout "Kill the judge." This is not a head hunting column. The judge was wrong, but who allowed him to be wrong? I did, and you did - or at least our counterparts in the club for which he was judging did. We know that there is a certain percentage of the human race that either through ignorance, egoism or dishonesty will not follow the established rules. These people we cannot change, but we do not have to hire them to judge. It is the responsibility of each active exhibitor to learn which judges adhere to the rules of AKC and which judges do not. This is a large order that requires team work within a club. It also requires that exhibitors of long standing remain active in the selection of judges. When a judge, such as the one above, hijacked the judge selection process of this club has failed. Such a man could be hired through ignorance - he had a "name;" or through dishonesty - he will put me up. Neither reason is acceptable and an active membership can circumvent such choices.

Announcing a new champion

Ch. Finch's Wee Heart Andy Gibb

Andy is a very animated 4# red. Special thanks to Anna La Fortune, who finished him in just one month's showing. Thanks to all the judges who saw his special qualities. Words cannot express my joy. Andy's first litters will arrive in September/October.

Puppies available by Ch. Tim Sue's Moon Rocket and Ch. Pomirish Robin's Top Shelf. Par and black litters due soon. Watch for Finch's Ima Perfect Parti Tu (perfectly marked white/black already winner of all her puppy matches) and Finch's Shesa Black Sensation (Ch. Tim Sue's Moon Rocket's unbelievably gorgeous black daughter) at the shows coming soon.

Whatever the club's judge selection process, the people making the selections must choose judges who, to the best of their ability, judge in accordance with the AKC rules and the breeds' standards. Every judge's knowledge varies from breed to breed, but his honesty does not. If he disregards one breed's standard, it may be assumed that he will have no respect for the standard of another breed. An honest judge will gain knowledge throughout his career. He can be educated by a breed that he does not judge well. A dishonest judge cannot be educated. He rejects rules.

A show's value rests not on its space, or parking lot, or even its number of restrooms. A show's value rests on the decision of its judges. If they do not do a good job, all of the other aspects of the show are valueless. The persons whose placements can be respected counter the emotions of winning or losing cool, make showing meaningful. They place dogs for reasons according to the written standards.

These honest judges may have a difficult time. They do not have the staunch and vocal support of those they "always put up." Since they judge dogs, they may put up a dog that does not belong to one of the "in crowd." Occasionally such a judge will not place a well known dog because on that day he was not as good as a lesser known one. All of these things the persons selecting judges hear in addition to the standard loser's complaints and winners joy. The selectors then add all that they see. Slowly judges who respect the job they are asked to do emerge. These judges make the show - and the sport of purebred dogs. Club members (you and I) must sacrifice time and effort to find them and assure their assignments.

I have taken on the job of writing this column since the passing of Irene Harbin. I only hope I can do it half as well as she did. We all miss her so very much.

My husband George and I have recently moved from Oregon to Washington and subsequently missed the last issue. We are still getting settled so I haven't attended any shows and unless I do, I don't know what happened. Please exhibitors, write or call me with your wins and the results of the shows that you attend. It will be more fun for everyone.

The results of the Columbia Pom Specialty are reported elsewhere in this issue so I won't detail that show again.

I can report to you about the Tualatin Kennel Club on Sunday July 23, judged by Lorraine Boutwell. Winners Dog and Best of Winners went to Bi-Mar Sho Gun of Jerbo's, bred by Mary Rosenbaum and owned by Jerry and Doris Owens. Reserve went to Tillabay's Mickey Finn, bred by George and Jane Reed and owned by Kathleen McKinney. Winners Bitch went to CJ's Dark Magic at Raintree, bred by Pete Castaneda and owned by Ray Mooney and Jack Hookie, shown by Jean Schroll. Best of Breed went to Ch. Wharton's Seppel von Honig, bred and owned by Ed and Nancy Wharton, shown by Jean Schroll.

There will be many more shows coming up in August and September to report on and I will try to give you all the information I can. Until then, give all the little pups a hug for me.

We start with a big congratulations to Margaret McKee and Ch. Idlewyld Lavalier IX. They're the Number 1 Pomeranian in annual First and Foremost rating of Open Utility Obedience Dogs for 1988. Behind them are: I Fidget In Style CDX, J. Meslin and Donna Eddins; Pomirish Twinkle Pak CDX, Bernie Brown; and Niks Lil Crash Angel Dust CDX, Judy Bach. It's wonderful to see Margaret out there in first, and I'm also very pleased to see Judy Bach up there too. I recently met her at a show. It seems that when she got Nik she had some difficulties to overcome that only someone with infinite patience and understanding could have tackled. Judy has done a really beautiful job with this dog. Congratulations to all the winners.

Vicky Leitner, APC member from Boneto, Illinois wrote a nice letter I'd like to share with you. After reporting her first ever obedience title on Wee H'R'T's Sunrise at Courbette CD, she wrote: "Yes, the CD on Tootsie was my first. I had attended classes with my English Springer Spaniel several years ago but never showed her. I read Diane Bauman's book and attended one of her clinics. Fantastic!!! Basically I train alone as there are no clubs around here. At present I am working on Tootsie's daughter, Ch. Courbette's Fudge It Fidget. I have only four Poms presently after seven years in Poms. Eventually I would like to have dual titles on all of them or even more. Poms are active, athletic dogs if bred properly and I feel they deserve the opportunity to show their stuff. Don't you feel sorry for all the Pom owners who don't try obedience? They're missing out on alot of FUN!" Vicky, I sure do! Right on!

Trudy Adair, APC member from Coeymans Hollow, NY also wrote after I reported her newest obedience accomplishment, a CD on Tykies Jackie BB of Tinytykes CD.

She's been working on and off for 28 years with Poms and German Shepherd Dogs. After putting 5 titles on 4 GSDs she got out of showing dogs for a number of years and returned to the sport after her husband passed away three years ago. She is retired, has Jackie's sister Lori, another Pom Loni, two non-Pom dogs and Jackie, purchased in Dec. 87. Jackie has not only earned his CD, but has a certificate from Therapy Dogs International for his work at nursing homes giving obedience demos and lots of love to the elderly. Trudy says, "I have determined that the Poms are every bit as smart as the Shepherds and a bit more attentive." Thank you, Trudy, for sharing your story with us.

And on to the scores and titles.

UTILITY

Big, big news in Utility. Linda Gallacher reports that Sunswept Hot Fudge Sundae CDX finished his Utility Dog title. It seems they started training in March of 1988, stopped for the summer, then started again in the fall. She reports their first leg came this past March and finished up this summer on an Idaho circuit. While earning his title he had one first place and two third placements. Good job, Linda!

Last issue I reported on a new UD on Miss Chief Suzy Morse CDX (breeder, Gertrude Wolszewski), owned by Mary Morse. I knew of a 181.5 and a 192.0 score. Well, they finished with a 198.0 and 4th place at Westside DTC, a 185.5 and a 193.0. Nice job, Mary.

Ken and Kay Lowe, after finishing a CDX on Minute of Whispering Pines CD (breeder, Lynda Sondag) in September of 1988 have earned their first Utility leg. They got it April 22 with a 181.0 at Mason City KC in Iowa. Only 2 to go.

OPEN B

As reported earlier, APC member Margaret McKee has been busy with Ch. Idlewyld Lavalier CDX (breeder, owner). In 5 outings between November 1988 and March 1989 they won a first, third and fourth from Open including a great score of 196.5 under Jim am at Skyline KC.

Congratulations to Animation Kennel on their Kennel Visit.

Also APC member Rosalind Goltz has been showing Ch. Penru's Sugar Plum Fairy CDX in Open B this spring. They've amassed 191.0, 193.0, 191.5 and 197.5 and 4th place under R.A. Gallant for their efforts. Keep it up, Roz.

We could write a book about Bernie Brown and Pomirish Twinkle Break CDX breeder, Sally Baugniet, sired by Ch. Deeree's GE Scooter). Since finishing their CDX they've been burning up the mats with some great scores. In 12 outings they are averaging 96.25 and have two 3rd and a 4th. However, in addition they have a High in Trial at the celebrated, benched, huge (I heard 50,000 people) International Kennel Club of Chicago. That's a great way to show off our wonderful breed!

OPEN A

Linda Gallacher is working on a CDX with Lady Di's Life of the Parti. So far I have recorded for them a 196.0 and 1st place at Chintimini KC under Mrs. B. Gaines and a 197.0 and 1st place at Willamette Valley CD under Mrs. P.A. Weaver.

Do you remember our High in Trial Pomettisfree's Pure Gold (breeder, Woodrowcott), owned by Helen Tyler? He finished his CD in three legs, all first placements and the first with a HIT. He's now been busy in Open doing much the same thing. From Open A he earned a 194 and 1st place at Pikes Peak, 196 and 1st place at Plum Creek KC of Colorado under R.C. Little and has finally finished his CDX with a 192.5 and 1st place at the Greater Gainesville under Miss L.M. Neeb. It looks like maybe he's moved from Colorado to Florida, so keep an eye out for them.

Last October I reported on a CD for Jane Thornburg and Wagner's Tex Terrific (breeder, Ruth Wagner). They've now gone out to finish their CDX. They did it with a 190.5 at San Jacinto and a 187.0 at San Antonio. Good job.

Earlier I reported on a CDX on Novell's Texas Pistoll CD, owned by Nancy Menard

(breeder, Mary Cochran). Since earning his title in Open A this team finished with a 196.0 and 3rd place at Brazoria, a 193.0 and 3rd place at Fort Bend and a 193.5 this past April in their first outing in Open B.

Ken and Kay Lowe who are busy in Utility at the moment, are also busy in Open. They've finished a CDX on Pom Acres Kan Too Patrick CD (breeder, Juanita Fiddick, sired by Ch. Shy Acres I Kan Too). They did it by earning 187.5 at Mason City KC, 184.5 at Waterloo and 185.0 and 4th place at Quad Cities.

If you go back to the 1988 issues you'll find some wonderful mentions on Crickettes Midnight Song CS CD (breeder, Renee Lawrence) and her owner, Jimmie Lawrence. This very successful team has continued its winning ways into the Open ring. They started with a 195.5 and 1st place at Fort Bend under Mrs. J. Morgan. They followed it up with a 198.0 and High in Trial at San Jacinto under F. H. Grover, 197.0 and 1st place at Oklahoma City under R. N. Ayres and a 192.0 and 4th place at Longview. Me thinks we'll hear more about this little dog. Does anyone in Texas/Oklahoma area know this gentleman or anything about their training?

NOVICE B

APC member Lois Morkassel has done a nice job putting a CD on Kassels Gardean Sir Pant (breeder, owner; sire Ch. Theldun's John John). They started June 1988 with a 185, raised that to a 190.5 in November, topped it still further with a 191.5. In April at Minnesota River Valley KC under Mrs. M.L. Doak, had a 188 the following day and a 192.0 at Granite City.

Another APC member, Marian Lazzara was showing Driftwood Love That Bob CD (breeder, owner; Ch. Pomirish Hi Ball Dream Alex'dr x Pomirish Movin' on CDX) in Novice B. In April I reported 4 legs and a new CD. After those they continued while they could in Novice B earning 198.0 and 1st place at Westside under Ms. L. Fitzgerald, 195.5 at Glenbard, 197.0 at Car-Dun-Al under Linda Scanlon, 196.0 and 4th place under Ron

... back in the ring and certainly ready to go. Shawna has been a home-body for a while because on the same day she won her first major, she also got pregnant. This petite 4 1/2 lb. miss fresh whelped 2 beautiful babies, a boy and a girl, sired by my Australian Pom, Creskens Golden Boy. Shawna's kids, Lovely Organized Chaos, "Brumbie," and Lovely Gabrielle-Debutante, "Gabbie" will be hitting the ring as soon as they're "properly dressed." Little Brumbie already has a Toy Group 1 (a breed match) and a Best Puppy in Match (MRPF Specialty Match). As of this writing, Shawna has been to 5 shows since playing Mom, with 4 WB and 3 BOS.

May- rne, 197.5 and 2nd (lost run-off for 1st) at orthwest Chicago under Chuck Bradshaw id 198.0 and 3rd place at Yorkville under 'C. Burger. Whew! I'd love to see Marian id Bob and Alice Lessard and Zannie work- g team together! What a run! I recently saw arian and Bob and he's a real get-up-and- er. Nice job, Marian.

APC member Judy Green was reported the last issue to have earned a CD on azzle Dazzle Music Man (breeder, owner; h. Bells Houston Star Performer x Ch. Mil- mor's Roxie Music). She did plenty of show- g. They started in November of 88 with a 136.5, in December earned a 192.5 and 4th ace, 193.5 and 4th place, 195.0 and 2nd ace, in January 89 they got a 191.0, 184.0 nd a 196.5 and 2nd place at Annapolis nder R. J. Cash in February. Another great b.

Would you believe I left out a new title st time? APC member Brenda Hutton (me?) nally finished a CD on BK's Sunshine Super- rl Can CD, U-CD, TT (breeder, Erika oureau, sired by Ch. Teksun's Lone Star). fter getting her first leg in December of 87 (a 194.0) we got busy to finish with three 193.0s. he fourth leg was at the HUGE Detroit ennel Club show under John Benkey (who's own as a very tough judge) while in the next ng, the Flyball competition was going on. I ave never in my life shown during such a crazy situation and was very pleased to wind p with such a good score. We entered the World Series of Dog Obedience, but being 0th alternate wasn't quite close enough to et us in.

Lois Campbell in Fresno, California eports that Lorene Bradbury and Sandra ogan loaned her Ch. Jubilee Whisper of Mica (breeder, owner; sired by Ch. Moon- adows Mica) to train and show to a CD. The wo legs published so far are a 189.5 at Kings C of California and a 197.0 at Sun Maid nder Mrs. H.L. Thomas. Lois reports their third leg came at Bakersfield with a 4th place and 4 trophies.

We have another High in Trial Pomer- anian! The team of John Blackwell and Karen Evans finished a CD on JK's Brandi Von Walzen Berg (breeder, Lohoma L. Frazier). Their first leg was 196.0, 1st place and High in Trial at Mississippi Coast KC under Mrs. S.L. Gomez. They followed up with a 191.5 (los- ing a run off for 4th place) and a 188.5.

Holly and Jill Webster worked very hard for their CD on Southland's Mark Up (breeder, Charlotte Creed) with scores of 184.5, 190.0 and 4th place and 184.0 from Novice B.

Bonnie Buchanan has been very busy with Lindsey of Dover Holihouse (breeders, Kathryn Hartz and Patricia Foley). In March and April of this year they won the following: 190.0, 3rd place; 197.0, 1st place under D.A. Levinson; 198.0, 1st place, 2nd High in Trial under K.M. Nagler; 196.5, 1st place under J.T. Winn; 193.0; and 197.5, 2nd place (los- ing their run off). Another fine performance.

Emily and Don King have a new CD on Ace Hi's Kingcastle Kid (breeder, Stephanie Ann Martin, sired by Ch Ace Hi's Wee Stormy Rebel). The only scores I found on them are a 181.5 and 176.5.

Jerry Dietz has earned a CD on Pens Augusta Wind (breeder, Penny Thomas) with some wonderful wins. Somehow I managed to overlook their record sheet in my book. They started September 88 with a 198.5, 2nd place (losing a run off) at Santa Ana under judge J.W. Lewis. Then they earned a 197.5, 1st place at Conejo under Mrs. S. L. Long; 198.0 at San Gabriel under Mrs. B.M. Regan, 196.5 at Cabrillo under Miss N. Pollock and 195.5 at Imperial Valley under Mrs. N.E. Craig. Nice job indeed!

Deborah Julnes also completed a CD on Little Skookums' Tulie Bug (breeder, Marie T. Smith, sired by Ch. Ryals Flying High). The two scores published so far are 191.0 and 193.5, 3rd place.

The Central Arkansas Pomeranian Club will hold a Specialty Match Friday, December 1 following the Best in Show judging at the South Eastern Arkansas Kennel Club show in Little Rock, AR. In addition to ribbons and rosettes, there will be prizes for Best in Sweepstakes, Best Opposite in Sweepstakes, Best in Match, Best Opposite to Best in Match, Winners Dog, Winners Bitch, Best of Winners and first through fourth places in the regular classes and Sweepstakes.

All of you planning to attend the Arkansas shows please bring your babies and preteens along too so we can see how lovely they are. The judges haven't been confirmed yet, but they will be knowledgeable Pom lovers.

Pre-entries will be $3.50 with a closing date of November 15. Entries at the show will be $4.50 and will be taken ringside.

For pre-entries, you may use a plain sheet of paper or a regular AKC entry from the Gazette.

Send your entries to:

Grizzly (breeder, May Stapleton) have earned their first CD. In December 88 they earned a 191.0 and 192.0, followed by 185.0, 4th place and a 191.0 and 3rd place.

Marie Faura has earned her first CD on Sasha Marie Faura (breeder, Marta Milagros Matos) in Puerto Rico. They worked for scores of 190.0, 188.0, 190.0, 4th place.

Cheryl Barr and Asti Spumante III (breeder, Bonnie Schindler) teamed up for their first CD this spring. They've received a 196.5, 2nd place at Santa Clara under R. P. Mueller, 195.5, 2nd place at Santa Clara under J.F. Ten Eyck, and 192.5, 4th place (lost a runoff) at County-Wide DTC.

Valarie Wolfe and Foxy Wolfe (breeder, Charles Edwards, sired by Ch. Morocco's Running Bear) have also earned their first CD. They got a 195.5, 1st place at Berks County, a 189.5, 2nd place at Mt. Nittany DTC and a 189.5 at Harrisburg.

The last issue I reported on my dogs having some sort of illness causing diarrhea. Yes, everyone is fine. It turned out after three weeks of misery to be Giardia. Giardia is a protozoan and very difficult to find. We found one Giardia protozoan in a normal firm stool sample from Sabrina (my newest) who was not ill, but none in the dogs who were ill. It seems that in a dog with diarrhea you will only find it in a very fresh stool, less than one hour old. After messing around all that time, we treated with Flagyl for five days and it was totally cleared up. It didn't turn out badly but sure was a pain while we had it.

Looking back over these records it seems we have three High in Trial dogs here. I don't know if that's a record, but it sure strikes me as interesting. There are still few of us out there, but the quality of the work our Poms are doing is very nice and very competitive. Someone must be doing something right.

As always, the answering machine is always on and I love to talk Poms. Call me anytime at (517) 485-5183 with your results, brags, questions (unfortunately I answer the phone much faster than I do letters) or whatever. Until then, may your dog always be a happy heeler and a terrific tracker.

Southland's Make Me Famous

Southland expresses our sincerest condolences to Bev, Bill and Billy Norris on the loss of a great one, Fudge. He was not only a great contributor to the Pom fancy, but Fudge was their pet. He will be greatly missed.

But, Bev, look forward to the future, for Fudge lives on within many of his offspring. For example, Fame, pictured above, goes back to Fudge eight times. At 3 1/2 months of age he has won the Louisiana Pom Club puppy match and a Group 2 at the Baton Rouge all-breed match. Watch for Fame soon in the show ring.

I Remember When

by Dorothy Bonner

One day, many years ago, I steered my car around a kennel parked in the Shoenberg (Aristic) driveway. Gladys explained that the Pom inside had just been returned from the airport, a daughter of Pepper Pod sold for the current show price of $75.00 and unliked by the purchaser. As making up her mind to buy, it was always a major decision with Gladys and she was unhappy about the circumstances, I decided without examination (being a daughter of Pepper Pod was recommended enough for me) to buy Mona on the spot. I registered her as Aristic Wee Peppersweet. She was appreciated and loved and bred to her sire resulting in a son, Bonner's Peppersweet Red Pod. He was fantastic from the beginning and collected points at an early age. When almost finished he went Best of Breed in Houston over a well-known handler's entry and the aging judge volunteered that this was the best Pom he had ever seen. The handler repeated his remark to her employer, a successful breeder-exhibitor, who contacted me with an offer of $1,000 with opportunities that were beyond my personal ability at that time. There was a promise that Red Pod would be finished and speialed as long as he was able to win. As the sale was complete, the next week I showed Red Pod at Corpus Christi under the same old judge who had liked him so much at Houston, confident of picking up the few points lacking for a finish. Feeling badly, the judge sat in a chair while we moved the dogs back and forth in front of him. With absolutely no recognition, the handler was placed first and Red Pod fourth. Later, the purchaser called that she still wanted to buy him but was embarrassed to tell anybody that she had paid $1,000 for a fourth place winner. That was a lot of money in those days. The handler finished Red Pod at the next show and in a short time the little fellow won a number of Groups and Best in Shows. But when the first brood appeared he tragically refused to become a stud. Abruptly taken out of the show ring, he was sent back to me, hopefully to train. Having no girls in season at the moment, he was taken out to the Aristic Kennels where a proper mate was found. Using all of my skills developed for his often reluctant sire, the mating was finally completed, resulting in a lovely puppy. Red Pod was also bred to one of my retired broods just for the practice. She did not conceive as was expected, but no others came in at that time. The Aristic puppy looked to be a reproduction of Red Pod and I visualized what he might do for the breed, even with the difficulties of breeding. I wanted to own him again, however his purchaser was cheered by his action and insisted that he be shipped back to her immediately. This was done with the offer to tell her some of my Pepper Pod breeding methods with the refusal, "Not necessary. If you can breed him, I can." I never really knew what happened in that category, but heard that the purchaser said that she had too many studs who were anxious to breed to fool around with one who wasn't. So Red Pod was retired for awhile, then shown again to win a Best in Florida. The purchaser than advertised that she had given him away as a pet and the Schoenbergs received a Christmas card from some Irish Wolfhound breeders with Red Pod sitting in an upholstered chair. I never heard from him again and never tried as the situation looked hopeless. His little son died before maturity and the thought of what he could have produced haunted me long afterward.

Stolanne Pomeranians

Ch. Stolanne Mica Rockelle

(Ch. Dixieland Rock of Millamor x O My Starmist Minuette)

Mica is shown beginning a winning show career by taking a 5 point major under Mrs. Dolly Ward. She quickly finished her championship, following in the footsteps of her two littermate sisters, Ch. Stolanne Mystique Starlet and Ch. Stolanne's Sweet Ginger Brown. Thanks to the judges who recognized her fine qualities: Mrs. Dolly Ward - 5 pts., WB, BOW; Mr. Harvey Berman - 1 pt., WB, BOW, BOS; Mrs. Grace Moran - 3 pts., WB, BOW, BOS; Mrs. Dawn Vick Hansen - 2 pts., WB, BOW, BOS; Mrs. Cynthia Sommers - 1 pt, WB; Mrs. Lucretia P. HELPFUL HINTS

by Margaret McKee
2426 Sandy Hook Rd.
Goochland, VA 23063
(804) 556-3380

It certainly has been an eventful summer! I have several stories to tell you. I like anecdotes because I think they're not only entertaining and instructive, but you're more likely to remember a story (for future help) than an analytical dissertation.

Early one June morning two women called separately, each wanting an older male. Amazingly, I seemed to have what each wanted. The first buyer arrived in the morning. She had owned a Pom for many years and wanted another. She seemed to meet all my criteria. She took one look at Cagney and fell in love. Cagney is three years old and has never conceived. She is gorgeous, but there is no point in showing her if she won't have puppies. I warned the woman that Cagney was shy and sensitive. She and the dog clung to each other. When she protested that the price was too high, her husband said, "If you want her, I just won't make the truck payment this month!" They paid cash and left, armed with a big bag of dog food, treats and instructions for her care. I was so happy Cagney was going to be in a home where she'd get lots of attention and affection.

Late that afternoon the second woman arrived to look at Pearl. Pearl had been a spoiled rotten imp who was returned to me at age seven and was now approaching her 9th birthday. The woman's father had had a Pekinese for 16 years. Having recently retired as well as lost the Peke, he'd become depressed. The woman felt Pearl would be perfect to cheer him up. Again, it sounded like a great situation.

One hour after leaving with Pearl, the woman called to ask if she could return her. It seems her mother had had an allergic reaction to the dog! After having a Peke for 16 years? I didn't question her, just told her to bring the dog back. Shortest sale on record!

About a week later, the woman who had bought Cagney called to say she wasn't eating well. I was really surprised because Cagney had been a good eater. I asked questions, gave advice, and assured the woman that no dog deliberately starves itself.

After another 5 weeks, she called again to complain that Cagney wasn't eating well and her vet had said to call me. (She implied the vet had examined the dog recently, but I later found out that wasn't true.) I again asked questions, but gathered that she wanted to return the dog. I said, "She must be homesick. Bring her back." Her husband was here within an hour. I was appalled at the sight of the dog he handed me. She was limp and lethargic. She had weighed 4 pounds when I sold her; now she was down to 3 and 3/8 pounds. She was too weak to stand. Her undercoat was gone. She was clean and well-brushed, but covered in huge fleas!

I immediately bathed and dipped her. Then I gave her some Nutrical and began coaxing her to eat. She declined all the goodies - canned dog food, canned chicken, vienna sausage, yogurt, rice pablum - that usually tempt sick dogs. Finally, in desperation, I offered her some dry puppy food (Eukanuba Puppy Food come in tiny nuggets) and she ate it! So I kept a small pile of puppy food by her nose, so she didn't even have to lift her head to eat. I put Pedialyte in her water dish. When I carried her outside, she was able to urinate. I was so alarmed at her weakness, I was afraid she was dying. I watched her closely, continuing to give her Nutrical and puppy vitamins (for the iron). The next day while giving her the Nutrical, I noticed her tongue and gums were nearly white. Boy, was she anemic! I called my vet, described her symptoms and what I was doing for her. I wondered if she needed a transfusion. He assured me that, since she was not vomiting, I was doing everything possible. Thank goodness she was keeping down what she ate. She continued to urinate, but I never saw her drinking, so I forced her to swallow Pedialyte

y squirting it into the back of her mouth with syringe. When she began fighting this procedure, I was greatly encouraged.

After three days she began to get stronger and her old silly personality began to reappear. Now that she was out of the woods, I looked more carefully at the report from the buyer's vet. He had examined her 2 days after they bought her. The report does not mention anything wrong, but she was given an anemia! Why, for crying out loud!

So what happened to Cagney? Was this a full-blown case of canine anorexia? I don't think it was abuse. I think the buyer meant well but didn't handle the situation properly. Poor Cagney was stressed by being in a new home so her appetite was off. The vet visit and anemia upset her more, further decreasing her appetite. Meantime, she got an awful flea infestation which contributed to her anemia. From there it was a downward spiral. I sold a perfectly healthy dog and got back a desperately ill Pom. She's sitting beside me now on the bed, cuddled close, wagging her tail. Her weight is back to 4 lbs. I'll never try to sell her again, but this won't discourage me from selling an older dog in the future. Poms are an adaptable breed, and placements usually work well.

Beware the dangerous bungee! Bungee cords are very handy items. (Oh, you know those stretchy rubber or nylon cords with a hook on each end.) I've used them for years to secure paraphernalia on the dolly, to attach one crate atop another in the van, or to close an x-pen whose pin has been bent. On a trip to West Virginia dog shows in July, my friend Sandra and I were unloading her van at the motel. We were preparing to take x-pens off the rack on the front of the van when my fingers slipped off the bungee and the hook flew up and smashed me in the face. I felt like I'd been punched by a fist. I dashed back into the motel room and grabbed a handful of ice out of the cooler. As Sandra helped me wrap ice in a towel, I could see my upper lip was cut (from my nose down into the red part). I told her we'd better find a doctor. The dogs were already safely in crates in the air-conditioned room. We drove to a small hospital two miles away. By the time we walked in, the towel and my shirt were quite bloody. I sat down at the desk and the girl asked, "Would you like to see a doctor?" It's a good thing I couldn't talk, as I might have snapped, "No, I just came in to get out of the heat!" Because talking was so difficult, I handed her my drivers license, my husband's business card, and my insurance card. That answered most of her questions.

In triage, a nurse took away my ice (probably, I know now, a big mistake) and taped a big wad of cotton over my upper lip. That was the extent of the examination. I asked that a plastic surgeon be called and the triage nurse agreed it was a good idea. One hour later I was informed that the plastic surgeon on call had refused to come "for a simple facial laceration." Angry and bewildered, Sandra and I left and went to another hospital in downtown Charleston where, after another hour's wait, I was told that they couldn't get a plastic surgeon either. I asked the MD on duty to stitch it up, sternly warning him that I keloid. Three hours after the accident, I left the hospital with 6 stitches in my face. The next day at the show I looked awful, the swelling was so bad. But I was lucky. My eyes weren't hurt, I didn't lose a tooth and my glasses weren't broken.

What can you learn from this? Well, it's no fun getting hurt, but if you're away from home it's worse. Always carry plenty of ID, including medical insurance cards, who to notify in case of emergency, blood type, drug allergies and whether you wear contacts. If you are unconscious or in shock, this may be the only way to get information on you. A first aid kit in the car is smart. I also have a small one in my tack box. My make-up case had band-aids, antibiotic ointment and analgesic tablets. I always carry assorted sizes of plastic bags and towels so making ice packs the next day was no problem. Be assertive in dealing with medical personnel. Ask; then insist. The squeaky wheel does get the grease in emer-ency rooms. If you're quiet, stoic, and patient, you'll wait a long time. And, of course, be careful with those bungees!

Linda Teresko called to tell me that her pretty show puppy had chewed the fur off her feet. The veterinarian diagnosed it as a contact allergy, probably caused by carpet deodorizing powder (Love My Carpet) that Linda had used on her den carpet. The vet said he'd seen about 25 similar cases. The bitch was given a cortisone shot and quit chewing within 4 hours. Linda then tested to see if it was that carpet that had caused the allergy. She kept the puppy off of it for two weeks, then put her in the rug for 10 minutes. The feet immediately became inflamed again.

The vet says the problem is the perfume on the commercial carpet powders. Plain baking soda would safely do the same job. I've also used Sevin powder on carpets with no problem. Carpet people have told Linda that these powders really aren't good for the carpet or the vacuum cleaner. It's probably impossible to get it all out of a rug with a vacuum cleaner. I suggested to Linda that she get her carpet team-cleaned by a professional.

Sandra White had a worse foot-chewing problem with one of her Tibetan Terriers. Slick" was maturing and ready to show when Sandra called to accuse my daughter of doing a horrible job of trimming his feet. (Rachel groomed for Sandra.) But the trimming continued! Those sturdy teeth removed all the hair from his feet, then began working his way up all four legs. He's a gorgeous dog, but there was no way to hide the damage. Of course, Sandra tried everything. Rubbing alcohol and "Bitter Apple" on his feet proved to be useless. Marlene Scott Halsey suggested mixing red pepper with petroleum jelly and coating his feet. On a lesser dog than Slick, it probably would have worked. By now the damage was up to his hips. We racked our brains to try to figure out why. Finally, Sandra found a combination that worked. First, she moved him out of the show kennel room into the room with the retired, spayed matrons. Sandra had remembered that a bitch had been in season when the problem started. Second, she coated the feet and legs with oil of mustard. Whew, this is strong stuff! If you have a foot or tail chewing problem, try the other hints first. If you decide to use the oil of mustard, go outdoors to apply it on a calm day. Wear goggles and rubber gloves. Yea, Slick is growing coat.

A personal plea to show chairmen: the most important people at your show are the exhibitors. Without them, there would be no need for concessionaires, spectators, judges, or AKC reps. While the comfort and convenience of the latter are important, it should not be at the expense of exhibitors. This was prompted by the Charleston show which was not the most pleasant I've attended. Both entrance ramps were blocked by motor homes. We were charged a $3.00 parking fee, but there was insufficient parking space and the attendant was no help. After I'd finished setting up 7 crates, 2 grooming tables, 2 tack boxes, a cooler and an x-pen, the show chairman told me to move as she wanted to put a late-arriving concession in that spot. It had not been so marked. I pointed to my ugly, swollen face, told her I'd just gotten out of the hospital and asked her where she was going to put my stuff. I did not move. All this was so unnecessary if a little proper planning had been done.

I hope you are reading this with two Poms in your lap. Please write or call.

Prince of Poms: His Story

by Pauline B. Hughes

I was whelped at the Great Elms Kennel where it seems that many of America's top winning Pomeranians have been born. Now it is so that I am the most famous of them all because I am the first and only Pom to win Best in Show at that prestigious Westminster Dog Show which has been held at the old and now new Madison Square Garden since before the century turned. It is still going strong. /hat a tradition and me, me, me, best of all. /hee!

When I first entered the world, Ruth team was right on hand to help be get going and grab the first nipple available. I was a go-getter even then. She kept me strong and healthy from the start so I am very fond of the first human I ever saw.

As I grew I found that those big things called people admired me very much. I liked that and learned to strut and show off so that they exclaimed and talked baby talk to me. They all seemed to want me to go along with them as they left. Ruth always said, "no." Eventually though it happened and now I belong to Olga Baker and Skip Piazza, people I love very much. They must have caught Ruth at a weak moment.

Actually I own those two legged things instead of their owning me. Early in my puppyhood I found that prancing around and looking at people with love in my eyes got me just about anything I wanted. What fun!

After awhile I was taken to big places where there were lots of other dogs, all sizes, shapes and sounds. The barking was very interesting; all kinds - lows, high, rumbles,elps, and shrieks. They called the areas dog shows. I wanted to explore, but found I was expected to stay more or less in a certain section. There were little fellows that looked like me, that is sort of. I always felt superior.

I was expected to walk on the end of a ring; around, and up and back, beside a foot. That was easy and fun, too. Standing on a table to meet a new person was exciting. I loved to watch gleaming eyes as I was checked all over. Then, after leading my guy around the ring a little more, all I had to do was walk over to a big wooden thing that had a number One on it. There were other numbers but I got the habit of going to that one. I kept the human I had at the other end of the string in good tow to get there fast. I learned that this meant I was beating them all.

I loved the brushing, clipping and undivided attention that I got before each Show Event. I was always willing to cooperate at the shows because everyone made so much of me when I finished. I just lapped it up. I learned to walk to perfection, stand to perfection and in fact, I soon became a perfect Pomeranian. I'm sure of it as so many said so.

After awhile I got to investigate those different looking dogs when I went into a space called a Group Ring. I had to stay there longer but soon found I had to do the same old thing on the end of a string. However, there was added a lot of noise called clapping which made it more exciting. I always headed for my number, but sometimes had to settle for 2, 3 or 4, because some judges liked another shape better than mine. Many of the dogs didn't get to go to any number, in which case they were said to lose. I felt sorry for them. I didn't do that very often.

Twenty four times this year I pranced to the Number One and found that after that I got to get nearer to several other dogs that all looked like giants to me. But they smelled like dogs and had a human with them also. I found that I had to walk at the end of the line as they could run faster than I. But they did what I did except for standing on the table. (They would in most cases overlap it.) I still got to look the judge right in the face. Maybe the eye contact did it, but twelve times this past

Sneak Preview of Coming Attractions

Just a sampling of the fantastic things we have planned for 1989:

Ch. Doctor's Pepper CF x Cobb's Lutece of Chaps

Napoleon (see this issue) is a BIS Ch. Jolly Wee I'm A Pepper To son and a double World Ch. Jolly Wee Fancy Dan of Peppi grandson. Lulu (see Ann. Issue) is a double BIS Ch. Jolly Wee I'm A Pepper To granddaughter and a triple World Ch. Jolly Wee Fancy Dan of Peppi Great granddaughter.

Ch. Doctor's PepperCF x MNM's A Lulu of A Jolly Wee

Weezie is a World Ch. Jolly Wee Fancy Dan of Peppi Granddaughter on her sire's side (our Moe - see Ann. Issue) and is out of our Lulu (listed above).

Ch. Sun Ray's Bat Man x Mason's Brightest Star

Bat Man (see 1989 Stud Reg.) is out of a father daughter breeding and his sire is Ch. Sun Ray's Ambassador. He's a gorgeous boy as well as a Group Winner - heavily inbred and linebred by Fern Rodriguez of Sun Ray Kennels. Boobers is a granddaughter of Ch. Finally's Danny Boy of Luells and a great granddaughter of Ch. D-Nee's Darin's Dinadan

Ch. Sun Ray's Bat Man x Del Sol's Penny Candy

100% solidly in-bred and linebred to the Sun Ray line. What a pedigree this litter has Penny is a Ch. Sun Ray's Fire Cracker granddaughter, a double Ch. Sun Ray's Ambassador great granddaughter and a Ch. Scotia President Jim great granddaughter.

Pedigrees and information on these, as well as other upcoming "box office hits," available upon request.

I wish to offer thanks to many people, some of whom are: Fern Rodrigues (Sun Ray) - the fountain of knowledge; Randy Frech (Jolly Wee) - for taking a chance; Sue Conlee (De Sol) - for giving us a break; Judy Evans (Ju-Paws) - mid-wife and crisis support; Glenn Bernardo (Goldcrest) for being a dear friend and working together, and to everyone that has helped us or been with us along the way - a heartfelt thank you to you all!

Just How Safe Are Our Dogs' Beds

by David Edwards

Since my last article titled, "Give Me An Old Blanket or Towel Any Day" appeared in the July issue of the Pomeranian Review I have received many telephone calls from other breeders and pet owners all asking the same question, "What can I do to safe-guard my dogs against the risk of swallowing obviously hazardous materials that make their way into the dog beds?"

I have since received a letter from both Master Animal Care and the manufacturer, Flexi-Mat Corporation, expressing their concerns over my findings. The manufacturer has offered to replace the beds at no charge to me. The letter was quite apologetic and educational. According to James N. Elesh, President of Flexi-Mat, "The foam comes from suppliers ranging from automobile seats to kitchen chairs; the cedar is a by-product of lumber mills. Since we do purchase these products from other companies we are somewhat at their mercy. It is very difficult to catch small particles such as what you found in one of our beds." We, as dog owners seem to be at the mercy of such companies as Flexi-Mat with much more at risk from an oversight of an employee.

So what can we do? First, I think we all owe it to our dogs to examine each dog bed we receive. This may mean taking a brand new bed apart and dumping its contents on the floor, sifting through it to make certain there are no hazardous materials inside, and then sewing it up again. Second, if indeed you do find any such materials you should notify the retailer and track down the manufacturer of the bed and let them know as well.

We owe it to our dogs to carefully inspect each item we buy for them. When new babies join a household, people go from room to room child-proofing the house. They check each toy to be sure there are no dangerous parts that could injure the child or come off and be swallowed. This is precisely the thinking process we should employ every time we purchase toys or bedding for our dogs.

If enough letters are received by the retailers and manufacturers of all dog products, their quality control personnel will have to begin taking a closer look at how those products are made before they are shipped. Even when that day finally comes we are still completely responsible for the welfare and safety of our dogs.

year I got Best in Show. Then we got beautiful ribbons (I never got to play with them) and a lot of big things they call trophies. Cameras flashed bright lights at me. I had to get used to that. The complete adulation from my people and others is rewarding.

I heard the other day that they have People Dog Shows but call them Beauty Pageants. Only the young girls compete so I am sure they can't be as important as ours. What happens to all those nice men? Maybe they are only the clappers, or have to stay home to take care of puppies.

Come to think of it, I like the girl Pomeranians much better than the boys. Back home they often come to play with me. I hear that there are often surprising results. Beautiful puppies! Oh, well. When is the next dog show?

I would like to add (and you can draw your own conclusions) that the emergency vet's total charges to spay my girl would have been almost $600.00. The second vet, Dr. F. would have charged $300.00. Dr. K, the vet who did not want to spay, would have charged under $200.00.

I hope this story of my experiences will help someone else who runs into a similar situation. It at all possible, see more than one vet. My two poms would have been spayed unnecessarily if I had not gotten a second opinion.

by Pauline Hughes

This year might well be called the year of the Pomeranian. It all started with Ch. Great Elms Prince Charming winning Best in Show at America's most prestigious dog event. He took the crown as his right, and with the usual Pom expression which clearly says, "I love you and isn't this fun." He might have added, "You know, I really kept up with those other big dogs."

Michelle Billings, a beautiful lady and renowned judge was applauded for her choice and insight. Skip Piazza never missed a trick in his expert handling and Olga Baker flew on clouds for weeks. What glory!

Ruth Beam, his breeder, feels that her long dedication to producing better and ever better Pomeranians has paid off. This is a laurel she well deserves. Many, many top winning dogs have been of her breeding and she has her bloodline mixed somewhere in most of our outstanding champions of today.

Ruth has been planning to retire lately. She states that fifty one years is long enough. It is, after that one more litter. (Me too; and many others!) What is a Pom home without a few of those little busy fluff balls? The feel of them, the sound of them, the puppy smell, and even the cleanup after them. It is a delight. The love they give us!

Now back to our Pom Prince. Olga states that once she saw him she felt an immediate kinship. She wanted to own him. Eventually with help of Skip Piazza she was able to do so. Showing seemed to be born in the little fellow. He seems to love it and his buoyant attitude and precise gait make him a delight to judges and exhibitors alike.

Winning became a routine experience for him, even Group 1. But taking Best in any all breed show is something else. He now has nineteen. We Pom people expect many more.

We hear he has some outstanding kids too and is on the way to being a top producer. We salute you, Prince Charming.

Ruth Beam is also very proud of Ch. Great Elms Pride and Joy, owned by Bonnie Stetson. He has four Bests in Show already. It is not often a breeder has the two BIS top places in the same year filled by dogs she has produced. We congratulate her.

Sue Goddard has been active in the American Pomeranian Club for several years. She has also been a serious breeder-exhibitor. In this 1988 her Ch. Tim Sue's High Lights has three BIS wins. Janice Luginsland is the co-owner. He has two Champion daughters in the ring to prove his worth.

The Pressers have the pleasure of their Ch. Apolloette Moonlight Gambler being a top winner and staying among the elite for quite awhile. He has a BIS win to his credit and so does Ch. Homestead's Spit 'N Polish, owned by Hurley/Enbel.

Kennel Review gave the top winners for the eighties to include these others: Ch. Lennis's Tar Lacey Foxfire, Jenner (1980); Ch. Bev-Nor's Toasted Fudge, Norris/Jenner (1981, 1982, 1983), Ch. Coy's Top of the Mark (1984), Ch. D-Nee's Darin Duffie, Hersil (1985), Ch. Precious Petite's Gabriel, Pfeffer (1986), and Prince Charming for 1988 and so far this year ahead.

Ch. Gabriel has been a favorite of mine. He come to California from time to time where I can see him. I was impressed with Ch. Darin' Duffie too when I saw him at the Summer Specialty in California. I am hoping to see many of our best Poms on the West Coast this year. The APC Summer Specialty should attract many and there is always the big Beverly Hills show and of course, Santa Barbara. The welcome mat is always out.

Yips and Yaps

SPECIAL-TY

My trip to California for the APC and NCPC specialties and other shows following was exhilarating as far as I am personally concerned. I was with Dolores Watts, who being president of APC, gave limelight to my visit. How lucky can one be?

Flight out and return were uneventful. However, our early morning return time was cancelled for reason of the plane scheduled being crippled. The substitute took time and made for a wait and later arrival home. Quite acceptable versus a crash or whatever. As is always true, it is exciting to go but of course, so good to get home. Dave had done a commendable job of home duties so all was in good order upon our return. Weather was considerably warmer than what we had experienced on the west coast. It was cold and windy the entire stay though no rain, and the sun shone most of the time. Both Dolores and I wore heavy coats loaned us by Wanda Roach and Jean Schroll and the Pressers had an extra chair for me. Having spent my high school and college days in California I should have remembered the possibility of chilly weather especially in the San Francisco area.

The show committee and NCPC members did a splendid job of hosting the Specialties. Theirs was the day following the Parent Club. Hospitality, service, rooms, food, trophy display and decorations gave evidence of many hours of planning and work. The banquet was especially outstanding for the food was excellent and nicely served. The evening following was entertaining and interesting.

When I said the trip was exhilarating for me, I meant just that and more. I was seated at the judges table with Michelle Billings who judged the regular and non-regular classes, and Derial Jackson who did the Sweepstakes. I have known both of them for a long, long time - Michelle in the ring, whom I dearly admire and respect, and Derial, whom I thought of as a walking encyclopedia of information. He has generously shared much of with me. Also at our table were Julie Moren Bench Show Chairperson and Dolly Traune officer of NCPC. These two were no strangers as I have known them for a long time. Seated at my right was Dolores Watts, our AP President. As you all know I now live with her and husband Dave. There are not words suitable to express the love and admiration I feel for them. They are my savior and benefactor.

After the food was enjoyed by all personally thought it was super), Julie took over the podium as spokeslady. She professed not to be much of a speaker but I thought differently, for she kept everyone's attention. After clever repartee, she thanked her committee, judges, exhibitors and members of the NCPC for their help in making the specialty a success. Introductions started with each person, table to table, standing up giving their name and state they were from. Her comments were both amusing and entertaining as she proceeded. My great shock and surprise came when Julie went to some length talking about a lady honorary member and past president of the Parent Club with favorable and flattering statements and suddenly asked me to stand and be recognized. With somewhat wobbly legs, I managed to rise and as I did so, the entire audience stood up awarding me a standing ovation. I felt much as the late Lucille Ball must have felt when given her last ovation on TV. Needless to say tears came to my eyes and thoughts of, "How great it is" to know people understand, care and recognize you for what you are and have accomplished. It made me aware of the fact that just maybe my efforts had in some way contributed to all the hopes and joy our breed has given us. For certain, I am at a loss to find proper words to express my gratitude to all concerned.

The judges were asked to comment. Of course Michelle is so popular. She is known and admired by every Pom person for her Best in Show award to a Pom at the Westminster show in '88. What a thrill that was! I watched her on TV. Michelle looked so beautiful and confident and to all Pom lovers, she was. Her speech was short but rewarding with praise and some suggestions for improvement. Derial gave a little insight of the breed history.

Tickets were sold for one dollar each and numbers drawn and whomever had that number approached a table laden with packages of all shapes and color to choose his or her item. This continued until the last one was taken. Each opened their choice which brought a variety of laughs, oohs and aahs. I was lucky to select one that contained a powder blue sweat shirt with a Pom head sketched on the front.

As for me, the entire stay was an all new ball game;" not as an exhibitor but as a celebrity. Many asked for autographs, others wanted me to pose with them for a picture. They say "everyone has their day" and I surely had mine. Haven't returned to full reality of all that took place but I am writing this message to let my friends and admirers know I am most appreciative of their expression of good thoughts and wishes.

One more thing I would like to say is that I have been named General Education Coordinator. Sally Baugniet had more work than she could handle but she still retains the position of Judges Education Coordinator. I shall make every effort to fulfill my duties. I am honored to have been given such responsibility.

Faithfully yours,
Edna Girardot

OBEDIENCE BREEDING

Are there people (I know there are, since I'm seeing it in bits and pieces in the Review and the Anniversary Issue) who breed Poms with an eye to obedience as the/a major consideration? How do they go about it? Is there any consensus or scientific basis on which to work, or is it as it seems to have been in the old days in show breeding - just a matter of picking the two best dogs for whatever you want and breeding them? I've read some things on breeding for obedience that seem to indicate that too many genetic possibilities are involved, i.e., willingness to work, intelligence, patience, etc.

I know that not looking for such things at all can result in problems; I can't count the number of people who have admired my Pom, Anjing, with such great surprise: "I thought they were such nervous dogs." (She goes with me almost everywhere, and has even helped me teach Sunday School - and she's not yet 9 months old.) I'm willing to take part credit for raising, socializing, training, etc. In fact, I'll take all the credit anyone wants to give me, but much of it must be due to better breeding than these people were seeing in the past. But how do I, when Anjing grows up enough and has all those degrees, go about doing anything about it myself?

Or maybe there's a book out there that has all THE ANSWERS?

Sincerely,
Mrs. Barbara McClatchey

TRIMMING

I feel I must write about all the trimming that is going on in Poms. It is about time we take a firmer stand as a club and stop hiring and showing under the judges that are ignoring our standard.

There is not much use in having a Standard if it is going to be ignored. It is being ignored by people who are judging and who, in the past have had something to say about over-trimming.

The Standard states "Overtrimming shall be severely penalized." In my opinion, and I'm sure in the opinion of a lot of other Pom people, it is disappointing to see the judges continuing to put these dogs up. Granted, they are generally nice quality dogs but in order to put a stop to the overtrimming, the judges are going to have to take a firm stand and put them down. We, as a club, could make it a disqualification and stick to it. There are APC members who judge who are just as guilty as the all-rounders. Until some of these member judges start following the Standard, it will be hard to get others to do so.

If I had wanted a poodle I would have gotten one. Their trimming is just fine since their standard calls for it.

Even novices are able to spot the trimming, so I am sure it is not hard for licensed judges to discern. Unless, as the old saying goes, they are all blind. Maybe they are, but some are awfully young for that to be setting in!

Maybe the new thing we are creating could be called something else - an un-poodle or something equally ridiculous.

Poms are a real thing of beauty when in full coat. Judges, please start doing the job you were hired to do.

Sincerley,
Jean Schroll

We have just returned from the Rogue Valley and Eugene shows, both held at the beautiful Valley of the Rogue State Park. What a lovely place to hold a show and the entry was 24 lovely Poms. Best of Breed the first day was Ever Ready Rocky, shown by Marlin Presser and I agreed with that placing completely. They went on to Group 2.

The second day the judge put up an otherwise lovely Pom except that the skirt was bobbed off, giving the Pom a round behind with no long hairs at all in the rear. Two other handlers also showed Poms bobbed off in the rear. Are we going to let the judges put up these bobbed Poms without a complaint. I AM NOT!

After the judging was completed I confronted the judge with the Standard. He asked me if I would put down an otherwise perfect specimen for a little overtrimming. I told him I certainly would; that the Standard says overtrimming should be "heavily penalized."

I did not have a Pom conformation that day; only in obedience.

Sincerely,
Elma Manies

THANKS

Just returned from the two specialties in South San Francisco, California. The Northern California Pom Club did a lovely job of hosting the two events. Getting to know some of our Northern California neighbors outside the ring was special. Thanks for the little things you did to make us feel welcome. Meeting newcomers to Poms is always a highlighted treat.

Congratulations to the deserving winners, in particular the outstanding black Doctor's Pepper CF, handled nicely by Glenn C. Bernardo. Visiting with APC friends including Nadine, Dolores, Sally and Edna and making new friends in a sober environment was unique and much appreciated.

Looking forward to our fifth APC Summer Specialty in 1990. Don't forget San Diego Pom Club's independent specialty on Saturday, June 23, 1990 in the Greater Los Angeles Area of California, Golden West Dog Club. It will be a Toy Clubs Specialty Show similar to the Great Western Terrier Specialties Show.

Sincerely,
Daniel and Margaret Ontiveros

COLOR ISSUE

Dear Phyllis,

Hurray! I am ready for another color issue! My other one is getting worn out so count me in. By the way, are we going to have a Brood Bitch Register?

Sincerely,
Emily Untalan

How many people want a Brood Bitch Register? I am sure willing because I've always put so much importance on bitches, but when I tried to offer it a few years ago, the interest really wasn't too keen. We could do it the same way we do the Stud Register, if it's all right with the Board. I'd be happy to do it. Let me know.

The January issue has been traditionally set aside for obedience, the April issue goes to the judges and the July issue is the Stud Register. It's too late this year but next year we could have a Brood Register in the October issue. There's plenty of time to work on your friends and spread the word. Let's go for it!

P.S. I have received a great deal of support for the idea of an annual color issue. Now all we have to do is decide which issue and how soon we want to do it. I'll work up a price schedule and print it in the next issue. The prices probably won't be as attractive as they were for the Anniversary Issue, so prepare yourselves. Color is really special and "really special" is often really costly. I hope you will work on getting some really spectacular photographs of your really spectacular dogs. Show photos are nice for recording the event, but it is possible to ask the show photographers to take casual shots elsewhere on the show grounds, when the show is nearly over and they aren't being called from one ring to the next. (Group time is a good time.) Dog show photographers are familiar with shooting dogs and how to make them look their best. You may be surprised at the reasonable cost of having such a photo taken, considering the hassle of getting your dog ready, waiting for good weather, and bribing a friend with a good camera to help you!

Shy Acres

Ch. Shy Acres Our Man Friday

Can. Ch. LLL Shy Acres Sugarcane Kan

We went to Canada and took on the best they had. We came home with two new Canadian Champions. Also a Group 1, 2, 3. Ch. Friday finished in 3 shows with 2 Group placements and 1 Group win against Canada's top toys.

Our lovely lady "Sugar" finished in 5 shows with 5 BOS. The beautiful blonde pictured above is my daughter Shy, who handled and finished Sugar!

Thank you Mr. S.W. Hood for our Group 1.
