INT. MEX. CAN. AM. CH. SHY ACRES OUR MAN FRIDAY

No Friday doesn't have a new handler. This is his picture from finishing his Mexican and FCI Championships last July! I never used the photo, and it's one of my favorites!

I started Friday at 10 months, he finished quickly garnering a Group I on his way to his Amer. title. He was then specialed for awhile by his owner. I then regained ownership and specialed him for a time. Then a nice offer from Kathy Bucher resulted in a visit to Oklahoma and many more Group I's. Then we took off for Canada to visit our dear friends the Dupuis' of Pomsprings. We took in shows and got our Can. Championship by going Group I out of the classes! This was a thrilling trip. Then in July 90 I heard Sandy Tremont was going to Mexico. I inquired and off Friday went to Mexico, where on his way to two titles, he got several Group I's.

As you can see Friday's career has been multifaceted and I was considering retiring him. But a lovely couple with vision approached me and said, "I think he has a Best In Show in him!" So off to Florida with Bill & Lisa Smart & handler Adrian Alford went Friday.

Well as a breeder my ultimate goals were to win a National Specialty BIS and an All-Breed BIS. Thanks to the wonderful vision of the Smart's my dreams came true! Thanks guys I certainly couldn't have done it without you! Friday is happy and very loved! Adrian takes impeccable care of Fri and he adores Adrian. Friday is in the absolute best condition of his life. I am so impressed with the care, love and attention Adrian and the Smarts have given to Fri! But after seeing their home and other dogs I knew it would be that way. We should all be so carefully treated!

Friday will be retiring later this year and he will be returning home to Louisiana. He will stand at stud here at Shy Acres. He deserves the opportunity to prove himself as a producer (like his daddy).

Thanks to all who have had a part in this little man's show career! Thank you Adrian, you & Friday are such a wonderful team. Thank you Bill & Lisa, you make dreams come true! Thank you Lisa for being a wonderful friend.

Thanks Coompaw for breeding Fri! Thank you Friday for being all I'd hoped for and more! Thanks to all of you who have supported Friday, I appreciate you!

Edna E. Girardot

"Scotia Pomeranians"

April 5, 1905 - May 13, 1991

Edna passed away of a heart attack on May 13, 1991, after a brief 6 day stay in the hospital. We loved her so and she will be greatly missed by my family. My companion, advisor, and a world of knowledge is gone. A parting of the ways came at the Hills of Rest Cemetery in Inverness, Florida. I found so much comfort from a dear person, when I was told "her time had come."

Edna had been pretty much on her own from about age ten. In her lifetime she accomplished so much, studying to become an R.N., which she left after a few years to build a career in the dog world, which I know many of you are aware of. One of her accomplishments that made her most proud, was that she attended the Westminster Kennel Club show for 50 years without a miss. She never really erased herself from the dogs when she retired from it, and she was the best when it came to saving pups. Edna wanted desperately to get back in the ring, so I told her "go for it," and she did! She appeared in the Veteran Bitch Class at our last Specialty on February 9, 1991. I worried that she may get dizzy or fall or that the crowd may not clap for the Veteran's, but applaud they did, and when I saw the look in her eyes, I soon forgot all the worry.

This picture of Edna was taken by the Ashbey brothers on her 86th birthday. My friend is not gone, she is just away.

TAILS TO TELL

from the editor

By Gail A. Garvey

Did you check the Landfill?

I would like to begin my column with a sincere apology to Gail Jeub of Star Dust Pomeranians. Gail was supposed to have both the center spread and the back cover advertisements in this issue. As I was finishing the layout, I noticed her material was missing. I called Gail to see if she had sent her material, and after a couple days of checking, it turned out she had (a cancelled check was confirmed by Al Williamson) and a frantic search began. Two weeks later, and after EVERYTHING in our offices had been rummaged through, at least half a dozen times, we gave up. Gail was kind enough to send another photo for the back cover ad you see in this issue, even though she was afraid we might lose another one (You should know that in five years we've been doing electronic publishing, this is the first time we've lost ANYTHING! [of course, no consolation to Gail])!

This is extremely embarrassing for us, but _____ happens, and hopefully this will be our first and last major blunder! For all we know at this point her material went out with the trash! We'll be replacing Gail's photos for her, but it doesn't quite make up for her losing the center spread in what was a very important issue to her.

Look, up in the sky, its...

This has not been a good month for us! My pom, Brandy, had her third and final litter back in February. She had three males and one female. The female, Cookie, literally thinks she's Super Dog! Even though she's the smallest in the litter, at 12 weeks old, she was the only one that was crazy enough to even attempt (and succeed!) to jump up onto the couch! Even though I scolded her every time she did it, within two days she had this trick down pat! One day as she was taunting the boys from the couch (where they still couldn't get to) she leaped off and smacked straight into the coffee table. She broke both bones in her front leg. This was bad enough, but the day after her leg had been set, she returned home coughing, and choking. That night the situation got worse and the coughs turned into gags. It got bad enough that an 11pm trip to the emergency clinic was necessary. They kept her overnight, in an oxygen tent, and gave her anti-inflammatory, yet by 4am the next morning, she went agonal and was brought back to life after removing scar tissue that had blocked her airway. It appears that during anesthesia, the tube had scraped her throat badly enough that massive healing was taking place, and the resulting tissue is what she was gagging on, and what she eventually choked on. Now, with a swollen throat, it appeared that every time she got excited she would start to breathe fast and start to collapse what little breathing space was left in her throat! Here we go again, back to the emergency clinic, this time at 10pm! I was sent home and told this was normal as her throat was swollen and sore. Needless to say it was a sleepless night thinking I may lose her at any moment. The next morning at 9 am, it was off to my vet with her hanging on by a thread. She was hospitalized there for almost a full week, and came home looking and feeling much better, I am now waiting to here from a specialist to see if she has a collapsing trachea.

I have to thank Anna Liselli for her much needed and appreciated company and emotional support at the Emergency Clinic visits which went into the wee hours of the morning. I guess this is all part of the game.

Magazine, what magazine?

If you are receiving this issue any later than you thought you would, at least you have a clue as to what's been going on here! The good news? As I'm sure we'll be at least a little late, we'll extend the deadline for the September/October issue to July 15th! But that's a definite. No if's, and's, or but's! If it's not here by the 15th (that means received, not a phone call saying you'll mail it), then it will have to wait for the next issue.

I do hope that everyone is pleased with this issue of the magazine. If you like big issues then keep writing articles, stories, and letters. I'm sure the more you have to read and look at, the happier you are about the magazine. Keep up the good work and keep those ads coming! Hopefully, the next issue I'll have at least a few pleasant things to say. Whew!

UPDATES

By Mary Vickers

from the president

The human mind is a vast, complex, and yet undocumented and untouchable, piece of work. It looks like the Pom Review's readers are the same. Look at this issue. Isn't it terrific? It easily shows how large the Pom world is; how involved the readers are.

Tom Nutting, who has video taped our Annual Specialty show for years and breeder of Newfoundlands, says he really enjoys being around the Pom people in New York and even at the shows. According to him, Pom people look at their dogs differently. Many times in other breeds, especially larger breeds, dogs are seen as livestock. Yes, he is talking about cattle, goats and such. With Poms, however, each dog is treasured for their individuality and the effect each has on its owner's life.

I think this is one of the finest compliments I have ever heard about Pom people. It should be valued even more as it comes from someone outside of Poms, although not away from the dog game.

Now how do you think these two paragraphs tie together? Tom's view of us throughout this magazine. Everyone who places an ad is showing off their Pom. They take pride in what they have, what their dog is producing, or the wins that made their Pom become a champion. In reality, the wins are secondary. Their PRIDE in their Pom is first. Their PRIDE is also in this magazine.

Each and everyone who is reading this larger issue is very happy with it they wish every issue could be as nice as this one. Good articles to read, many pictures of Poms both well known and some never seen before. It wets your interest to want to have the next issue NOW!

You cannot have the next issue now, but you can plan for the next issue following ones NOW. The price of a full page ad has increased to $75.00 plus $15.00 per photo, you are paying $90.00 for a full page. To myself, living paycheck to paycheck, I understand the struggle. Yet it is a worthwhile one. You do get a lot of page for your money. Now that the Review is being sent to all appreciative judges, that will be an incentive to some advertisers. But some just like showing off their dog to the fancy, or even having their dog seen for future reference. Even if you can not afford the full page, perhaps your talents lie in other areas. We are uncovering several gifted writers. What can you contribute?

Another vast, complex piece of work is the computer. It is much like the brain, but its power is limited only to the human behind it. Most of the time when we are dealing with the computer, if an error is made, it can be easily fixed. In using a computer like Gail or I use, we can spot errors and fix them. We know what we are putting in, or printing on the screen. Sometimes if the error occurs on a larger computer - especially a "mainframe," it takes days, weeks, even months to fix. In the case of the AKC computer, it was not until a few people complained that the AKC was not allowing registration of certain color Poms, that the AKC computer was checked. It was working with incorrect information. We know that it will not be fixed in a few days as it has to go through many human hands, but by the time you read this, all should be corrected. (See article on page 16).

Another vast, complex piece of work is all the people power used to put on a Specialty. Many people are coming forward with ideas to make our annual Specialty better than ever. Although you may think it is a bit soon to think about February, not so. All of you who like to draw, paint, are artistically inclined in that medium, or others like hand stitchery e.g. needlework, and such, thought is being given to having a DOG ART SHOW - put on by Pom people, for Pom people and featuring (of course, what else?) Pomeranians. After you have had time to ooohhh and aaahhh over these delightful presentations, they will then be auctioned off. Start thinking about your creation and saving your hard earned dollars. With the amazing talent in the APC, your trip to the Specialty this year will allow you a few different shows to see. Another venture presented but not yet given approval is an invitational tournament similar to the TOP TWENTY competition sponsored by the Doberman Club of America. The next time you see a Doberman walk by and ask the handler about it. One thing that you should be aware of is that the Westminster Kennel Club is changing a bit. This is definite, in 1992, that is February, THIS FEBRUARY, only dogs who have completed their championships will be allowed to be entered. NO MORE CLASS DOGS or classes for dogs/bitches will be allowed at WESTMINSTER!!! ONLY SPECIALS!

This human mind is switching off for awhile. It is time to read the REVIEW let more ideas settle in the sub-conscious. It is time to have other minds work on their own. Enjoy the Review! Enjoy thinking and creating! You can do it! The proof is in these pages.

"WHERE QUALITY SHOWS!"

Recording Secretary Report

By Happeth A. Jones

In keeping with the policy of this Board of running an open board, I will be giving you reports of our monthly agendas. Unfortunately you will get these reports a couple of months after the fact, but they still will give you an idea of what is going on in your club.

The agendas are really an APC board meeting by mail. Each board member writes down any motions or comments he or she wants to make and sends it to me, the Recording Secretary. This is due by the 20th of every month. I then compile all this information, make copies and mail them to each board member by the 5th of the next month. When this information is received by the Board they vote on current issues, comment on any pending votes, and submit new issues. This is mailed back to me to be included in the next agenda.

Board members also call each other by phone or computer and discuss the current issues that are before the board. Whenever it is possible I also will include the information from these phone/computer calls in my reports to you. They are not officially part of the agenda but part of the workings of the club and the information is important to you.

In urgent matters votes are sometimes phoned in. The normal course is for a motion to be sent in for one months agenda. Comments and votes on it are done in the next months agenda.

March Agenda

We received a letter from the Bay Colony Pom Club accepting Bruce Drigger's apology for using Bay Colony's copyrighted drawing. They are asking for a refund on their January advertisement as payment. There were several suggestions placed before the board. The main one being to give them the free ad. At this time no motions were made on this issue.

The APC board received a letter from AKC approving our increase in membership dues.

The previous Board voted for a subscription increase from $20/25 to $25/30 based on the proposed postage increase that came in February. What was forgotten was the increase from four issues to six issues per year. This results in the old price per issue being $5.00/6.20 and the current price per issue being $4.16/5.00. We are now receiving less money for more issues.

The cost of reproducing photographs in the Review are costing $12.00 to $13.00 per photo. Since the advertiser is only paying $10.00 the club has to pay the difference. We are also losing money in ads. A full page without the photo, cost us $59.48 The advertiser pays $55.00. We have to pay the difference. We also have to pay the price for all non ad pages such as articles. In order to make the Review more competitive several board members have asked that we send the Review to judges.

The issue of a new editor for the Review was resolved during this agenda. A Review Selection Committee was established and they carefully studied bids submitted from Hoflin Publications and Expedition Publishing (Gail & Leo Garvey).

Upon studying the bids submitted the committee found that Hoflin's bid was higher with a shorter term. The Review would be one of many and possibly would not receive the individual attention that it should. Their proposal had an error in addition. There was also a spelling error.

Expedition's presentation was flawless in regard to format, spelling, addition and was complete. The bid was for less cost and a longer contract. Their interest, aggressiveness, and attention to detail, seemed to show their desire to produce a high quality magazine. Their dog resources were few, but were offset by their current Review subscription and ownership of the breed. Therefore, the committee decided in favor of Expedition Publishing - Gail Garvey, editor.

Parliamentarian Mike Jones answered some questions for the board regarding one member's charges against another member. He states that the member who makes the allegation is the one who makes the charges (complainant), not the board. The board is an impartial arbitrator to hear the evidence that both sides present. Mike pointed out that it is essential that the board maintain impartiality.

It was mentioned that the Specialty report has not been received from Marlin. The board especially needs to know the financial reports from the Specialty. The report from Empire should have been mailed by the 1st of March.

There were many phone and computer calls this agenda period between the President, the Treasurer and available board members. The former treasurer had turned over $2000.00 to Al Williamson. Mary and Al could not find out what was left in the remaining accounts and could not get the records from Morris until he closed his bank accounts. After paying Bruce Driggers bill and a few operating expenses only about $1000.00 was left out of the $2000.00. By the 30th day in office the president and current treasurer still did not know what the treasury balance was. They were facing close to $8000.00 in immediate expenses. They still didn't know what the breakdown of the Specialty expenses were. This was making it very difficult to manage finances, plan budgets, or to pay the club bills. Many phone calls were made asking for this information. When the current treasurer and president finally got the records they found that the club bank account was overdrawn, apparently from expenses from the Specialty. The club did not have any money to pay its bills. To keep from declaring bankruptcy our president sent out a flyer to the general membership asking for donations. All board members were asked to donate $100.00 each. This was a painful decision for our president but a necessary one to save this club.

Mary Vickers received forty nine telephone calls from members who were upset that some of the Officers and Board have placed ads or articles in the competing Pomeranian magazines. The callers felt that this was working for our competition and was detrimental to the APC. Some of the callers felt that even the general membership should not advertise in the competing magazines.

VOTING RESULTS:

The contract on the Pomeranian Review with Gail Garvey as editor was passed. This was a call in vote.

MOTIONS:

Jean Schroll made a motion that we give a kennel visit to Shirley Bradley from Washington. Mary Vickers seconded.

Mary Vickers made a motion that any new subscribers to the Pomeranian Review be charged a rate of $30.00 for issues and bulk mailing and $35.00 for those with first class subscriptions. Seconded by Happeth Jones.

Mary Vickers made a motion that the cost of each picture in the Review be increased to $15.00 per picture ... effective immediately after increase is published in the Review. Seconded by Margaret McKee.

Mary Vickers made a motion that the cost of the Review's Stud Card be increased from the current $10.00, plus $10.00 for the picture, to $15.00 per card plus the cost of a normal photo. Seconded by Margaret McKee.

Sally Baugnet made a motion that Dorothy Bonner be given a life membership in the APC. Seconded by Margaret McKee.

Audrey Roberts made a motion that all judges be sent the Review. Seconded by Mary Vickers.

Mary Vickers made a motion that the following committee chairman be accepted. Seconded by Happeth Jones.

Awards - Judy Shearer

Skin Disease - Cheryl Jackson

Ways & Means - Lisa Smart

Review Subscriptions and back issues - Brenda Hutton

Mary Vickers made a motion that the APC officers and those on the board of directors, do not advertise, or submit articles unless directed by the club to any Pomeranian magazine, except for the POMERANIAN REVIEW. Needs a second.

APRIL AGENDA

The votes sent in approved Judy Shearer, Cheryl Jackson, Lisa Smart, as committee chairman and Brenda Hutton as Circulation Manager. Dorothy Bonner was approved for life membership. Shirley Bradley's kennel visit was approved. Increase in the Review subscription rates approved - 10 yes, 1 no, and 1 abstain.

Increase in charge for photos in the Review was approved - 11 yes, 1 no. Increase in charge for stud cards was approved - 12 yes.

The vote to send judges a copy of the Pomeranian Review was a close one but was approved - 7 yes, 5 no.

Mary Vickers motion that Officers and the Board do not advertise in other Pom magazines was seconded by Happeth Jones and goes up for voting in this agenda. This issue brought in some strong written comments. The pros and cons were that this was America and the Board members had a right to advertise in any magazine they chose. Other view points were that the Pomeranian Review is a major source of income for the APC and has lost considerable advertising dollars. That we need to encourage the membership to support its club by supporting the Review and that we couldn't do that if the Board was going over to the competition.

There was more discussion over the use of the Bay Colony's copyrighted Logo but still no motion. This is the second agenda this issue has posted so a request for a motion went out in this agenda.

The minutes from the last meeting of the former Board still haven't been received. Also the book of the club's minutes still has not been turned over. I have made many requests to the former Recording Secretary for these documents.

To make this club more efficient and financially stable Mary Vickers has started drawing up budgets for committees and operations of this club. (I believe this is the first time budgets for this club have been established). These budgets were presented to the Board. A budget for the Specialty could not be drawn up yet because the report from Marlin still hasn't been sent in.

Sally Bagniet suggested that we might sell more back issues of the Pomeranian Review if we had an index of articles for these back issues.

Some new changes to the Pomeranian Review are the puppy contests for the July issue, the Pom Query and Pom Patter columns. A listing of the people who have made donations to help save this club also will be put into the Review. Mary has some members working on getting dog food companies to sponsor ads for the Review. The Pomeranian Review at this time is not even breaking even, so the price of advertising must be increased.

Mary Vickers and Beverly Poplar found ninety members who had not responded to renewal of dues. Thirty of them apparently had not been notified. Since thirty of them were our fault and possibly many of the remaining could have been problems with the mail Mary motioned that we accept them back in, rather than have them reapply.

The board received the Treasurer's report for 1990. Morris Carson also mailed in all bank deposit slips and copies of checks that cover the period from January 1, 1991 until he turned over the books to Al Williamson. A copy of the Treasurer's report is included.

MOTIONS:

Happeth Jones made a motion that the APC board temporarily suspend giving Bonus's to Board or Officers of APC until such time the APC is recovered financially; and to reevaluate before reinstating. Needs a second ...

Mary Vickers made a motion that the ads for a full page ad in the Pomeranian Review be increased to:

1. $75.00 or 2. $90.00. Seconded by Happeth Jones.

Audrey Roberts made a motion that we give approval to the La Cajun Pom Club to hold the APC 1994 Summer National Specialty. Seconded by Happeth Jones.

Mary Vickers made a motion that a freeze on the rate all current subscribers of the Review pay from the date of vote on this motion till December 31, 1991. Seconded by Happeth Jones.

In the March agenda Mary Vickers made a motion that APC officers and Board of Directors do not advertise, or submit articles to other Pom magazines. This motion has been seconded by Happeth Jones and is now up for voting.

Mary Vickers made a motion that we accept the ninety past due members as they come back in, rather than having them reapply for membership. Seconded by Happeth Jones.

In my last Secretary's Report I forgot to list the new members who were voted in during the February board meeting. The new members are:

Ann Jensen	Molly Brown	Helen Schaap
Betty Schaap	Beverly Henry	Bill Henry
Tom Stevens

The Treasurer's report shows that spending was cut in 1990 by 24%. I would like to point out that advertising in the Pom Review was cut by 42%. This was down $8,210.70 from last year. You might think of this the next time you advertise. The amount of money this club owes right now is about $8,000.00.

At the time of this agenda there was not enough input yet to know if the request for donations brought in enough to pay our immediate bills. The March Pom Review has to be paid for plus the May Pom Review. I have been told that we have received a bill for the printing of the January Review. The overdrawn checks have to be covered and there are others owed money by this club. None of the board members are being reimbursed for their postage or operating expenses for the club.

The board is getting some calls stating that some of the local Pomeranian Clubs are taking donations for us. Isn't that wonderful? As of the date I am writing this report, the financial support from the general membership (that's you) has been a little discouraging. Remember we the Board are not the American Pomeranian Club, you are and you have a choice right now, whether to support your club or let it fail.

Views From The Show Chairman

By Marlin Presser

The club tried something new for 1991 for holding the Specialty, independently but in conjunction with other Specialties. We have been losing a substantial amount of money on the Specialty in the past and we had hoped this might be our last salvation.

The feeling I received from the membership was that they did not like the arrangement of getting to and from the show site, the fact that we give up some of our individuality, too crowded and what I didn't like also was the fact that we are forced to use Moss- Bow (MB-F) as our superintendent who is too high in price for a Specialty.

Money could be made by being with the Empire Specialties Association Clubs. Being this was the first year for Empire, there were a lot of bugs that arose and most of them could be worked out. Shirley Thomas did an outstanding job in putting this together.

Therefore, we are back to square one. This is where we need the memberships support and help.

Several years ago a motion had been made at the annual meeting for our club to hold our Specialty elsewhere, as New York was too high in price and a lot of members could not attend for that reason. It was sent out to the membership for voting and you, as the members, wanted a change. What has happened to that change? I understand we need to change our charter. Why isn't someone working on this? My feelings are that APC can not afford to continue putting on their annual Specialty at New York prices. My feeling is that the time of year is also wrong because of weather conditions. Maybe an annual Spring Specialty and a roving Fall Specialty would be better for the club and it's members.

The Garden is going to Specials only and toys are shown on Tuesday, so the Garden really does not have any bearing with our Specialty and it's entry any longer. If we were to go to a Spring Specialty in front of some All Breed Shows, the entry from the Specialty would carry over to the All Breed Shows giving more dogs an opportunity to win majors, plus the fact that all the dogs brought to the Specialty could be shown at the All Breed Shows, including the puppies, if the owner wishes. It would also give us an opportunity to have several evenings available for social events and just plain visiting.

You as members, have a right to know what is going on in our club and the right to make your wishes known. Please do this, write or phone your officers and board members.

The seminar on skin disease that Janice Luginsland chaired on Saturday went very nicely and was very educational. I think more of this type of events should happen with the APC supporting it.

Thank you Sally Bagniet, and also Richard, for putting on an educational booth at the Specialty. I know many people enjoyed it and I hope it becomes a regular feature at our Specialties.

Thank you to all my committee heads and their helpers, and to everyone else that helped me out. If I forgot to thank you in person, I am thanking you now.

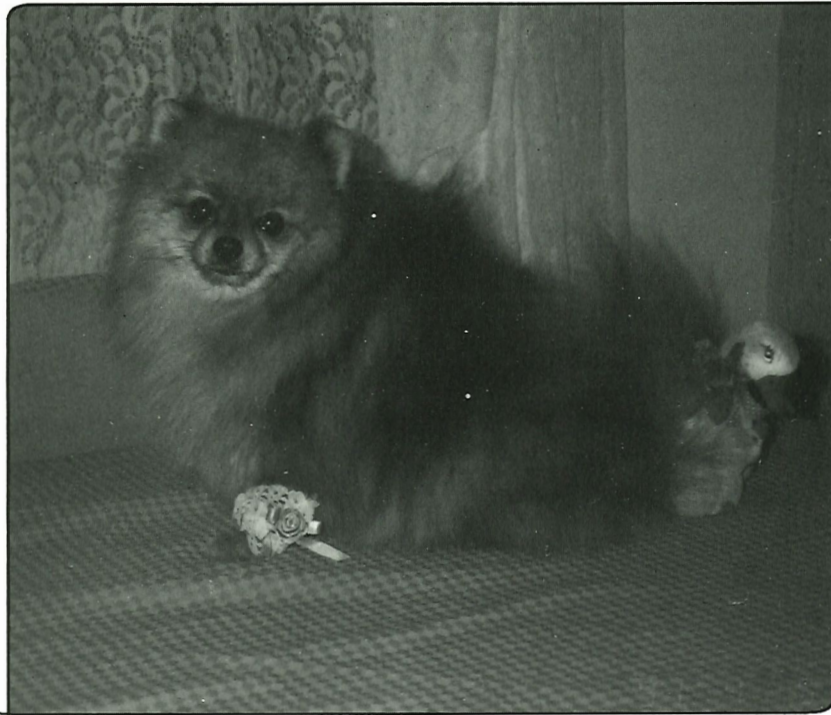

Marlin

SOME ILLEGAL POM COLORS

By Mary Vickers

There is a problem with the AMERICAN KENNEL CLUB regarding Pomeranians of certain colors being AKC registered. From what can be found those colors affected are: The cream sable, actually any sable other than orange or red; different shades of the chocolate family, for instance beaver, most of the parti-colored Poms.

To compound this, they have added a few different color categories including the color called "sable."

It seems that this problem occurred when the AKC moved their registration department to North Carolina. Why it occurred, how it came about is still unknown. But it did occur.

The AMERICAN POMERANIAN CLUB is working with the AMERICAN KENNEL CLUB on this problem.

Until a solution is reached, to register a Pom that is - CREAM SABLE, check off the box on the form marked "CREAM" and write in on the form WITH BLACK MARKINGS. If the cream sable is from the BROWN family and carries brown points (pigment) write in WITH BROWN MARKINGS.

PARTI-COLORED

WHITE & BLACK - Check off box marked WHITE and write in WITH BLACK MARKINGS; WHITE & RED - Check off the box marked WHITE and write in WITH RED MARKINGS;

Any other parti-colors... hold off until this problem is corrected or contact the author.

REMEMBER, although genetically in a white colored Pom and a parti-colored Pom can be different, a parti-colored Pom is described in the Pom standard as "is WHITE with any other color distributed in even patches." If you describe the dog as orange and white, you may confuse others who are correctly identifying the dog as a mis-marked orange with a white foot, for example.

BLACK & TAN - Write in on the form black & tan.

If you need to register a parti or any Pom that is beaver, blue, or continue to have problems contact Mary Vickers for further assistance.

Unfortunately, there are only 9 (nine) boxes on the AKC form and at least 26 different color variations in Poms to register. The AKC states they have been sending pamphlets out with every blue slip explaining Pom color registration. It appears that those having problems with color registration are not receiving this. If it does occur, it will help even when these problems with the computer no longer exist.

When a solution is reached there is expected to be problems with SABLE marked Poms. The AKC is interpreting SABLE as a color, rather than our meaning of "with sable shadings," e.g. orange sable, red sable, cream sable, chocolate sable, etc. If SABLE is deleted from the AKC form as a color to register any color of Pom as a "___ sable," you might have to check the box off showing the predominant color and write in SABLE or WITH BLACK MARKINGS. This is not definite, just a possibility.

The APC will not be informed when the solution is put into effect form is corrected. You will see it on the form itself.

Although it has always been a thought that the only change allowed an individual registration certificate was the owner's address change, apparently that is not the case. With money a new certificate can be obtained showing he dog's current title(s); a change in the owner's name (as in marriage or divorce), in the owner's address, and if the dog is found to be in the incorrect color category, that may be changed.

If your Pom has been caught up in this "color" problem, after they go through the computer system, you may request a change in your dog's color. Do this by sending the Pom's AKC individual registration form to the AKC indicating the correct color on it and enclosing a check for $7.00 - payable to the AKC.

It is not absolutely necessary that the correct color of your dog be on the registration slip. What is vital is that it occurs on all future stud books and pedigrees that come from the AKC. Therefore, if your Pom is at any time used for breeding, please make sure that the dog's color is corrected in the AKC's records.

APC Board Meeting By Judith Green

The Board meeting was held on Saturday, February 9, 1991 at the Loew's Summit Hotel in New York. In attendance were Nadine Hersil, Audrey Roberts, Dolores Watts, Mary Vickers, Dianne Johnson, Judy Green, Sue Goddard, Morris Carson, Sam Zaneoff and Anna LaFortune.

The minutes of the last meeting were read. D. Johnson made a motion they be accepted as read, Sue Goddard seconded, motion carried.

President's message (D. Watts) - received a letter from John Cribbs stating he would not be able to accept a position on the board; the board will need to appoint a new director. Bruce Driggers resigned as editor of the Pomeranian Review due to work commitments. Several quotes were presented for prospective editors. Mike Jones, Anna LaFortune & Sam Zaneoff were appointed to the Auditing Committee. John Cribbs, Circulation Manager, would like to be relieved of this position. Any volunteers?

Treasurer's report (M. Carson) - A motion was made that Sally Baugnet be reimbursed for letterhead for the Education Committee, Mary seconded, motion carried.

Corresponding Secretary (A. Roberts) - Dianne made a recommendation that the counting of the votes for the election of officers be changed so that the persons running for office will know if they are voted in before going to NY. They should be at the Board meeting on Saturday so they can get a feel of how things are run. Suggestions for counting the votes: Get one of the area clubs to count the votes at one of their membership meetings - this responsibility could be passed from club to club each election year.

Membership Secretary (B. Poplar) - absent.

Committees:

Show Secretary (A. Roberts) - Audrey said that club members need to support and use the host hotel so we can take advantage of "perks" offered by management. Dolores made a motion that the APC make a part of the Standing Rules under Specialty show that the APC will pay the President's expenses to New York in February thus allowing the President to conduct the necessary board meetings and the Annual meeting of the APC. These expenses would include airfare if over 275 miles, otherwise the APC would pay for gas, tolls and parking for 2 days, 2 nights lodging in hotel headquarters for APC, complimentary dinner to banquet for President and spouse if applicable with a maximum of $350.00 total. This will also apply to the Summer Specialty, Audrey seconded, motion carried. Mary made a motion that all checks for trophies for the NY Specialty be made payable to the APC and that this be printed in the premium list, Judy seconded, motion carried. Linda Terescho sent information for a Veteran's Sweepstakes and Marlene Presser will check into this in more detail. Dianne made a motion that we entertain the idea of two days of showing because of obedience, the possibility of Veterans Sweeps and Club business. Audrey seconded, motion carried. Marlene will look into this also.

Olga will continue as AKC Gazette columnist.

Olga made a motion that the President's trophy be deleted from the Standing Rules, Anna seconded, motion carried. (This is too cumbersome to carry around).

Nominating Committee was given kudos for printing qualification of prospective board members.

No unfinished business.

No new business.

Judy made a motion that the meeting be adjourned, Anna seconded, motion carried.

Dallas-Fort Worth Pom Club 31st Spring Specialty Show By Mildred G. Patrick & Bill McKinney

On March 22, 1991, a Friday evening, the Dallas-Fort Worth Pomeranian Club, Inc. held its 31st Spring Specialty Show. There were 48 dogs entered in this show with a total entry of 68. Our Sweepstakes judge was well known handler, C. L. Eudy. The entries in regular classes were judged by Barbara Camp who was an absolute delight to show under! We felt fortunate to obtain both our judges and feel their experience is reflected in their excellent placements.

SEBACEOUS ADENITIS

By Sally Baugnet

I have been studying, observing and speaking with people that breed and show other breeds to prepare myself for the possibility of one day applying to judge other additional breeds. I overheard the discussion of some Standard Poodle people discussing SA, short for Sebaceous Adenitis, a skin disease. What they were discussing sounded much like what Pom people call "elephant skin." Since Pomeranians have several skin diseases, I inquired about their topic of discussion. Barb Ingle graciously offered to send some information to me.

The Genodermatosis Foundation, Inc. publishes a free quarterly newsletter for owners, breeders and researchers interested in SA, called "Progress in SA Research." they also publish a pamphlet on SA. Permission is given to this foundation. All quotes and much information in this article are taken from the material published by the Genodermatosis Research Foundation, Inc., a non-profit corporation: 1635 Grange Hall Road, Dayton, Ohio 45432. The phone number is 513-426-7060.

"The GRF was organized in 1990 by a group of dog owners, breeders, and veterinarians with a common interest in genetic skin disorders in dogs. The foundation provides educational and scientific support for research leading to the alleviation of animal suffering through understanding, diagnosis, treatment cure and prevention of heritable skin diseases."

Interestingly enough, Pomeranians were one of the breeds listed as having been diagnosed with SA like symptoms. All other breeds mentioned were some of the large breeds from the sporting and working groups, plus Standard Poodles. No other breeds from the toy or non-sporting groups were mentioned.

"Sebaceous Adenitis" (inflammation and destruction of the sebaceous gland which is located around the bottom of the hair shaft under the skin) is an inherited disorder. It usually appears in dogs from one to six years of age. It is not contagious. Most dogs affected with SA are healthy in other respects. It is believed to be a recessive trait where both the dog's sire and dam contribute to the genes that produce SA."

"At the onset an SA affected dog will show varying degrees of hair loss or thinning, patches of dry skin may appear on the muzzle, tops of ears, or base of tail. The dogs skin may thicken as the disease progresses. Secondary skin infections are common. A strong odor may develop. A silver-gray scaling may appear. This dandruff is most commonly seen in affected Standard Poodles."

"Unfortunately, current methods of treating SA do not cure the disease, but do make the dog feel and look better. Frequent bathing with a therapeutic shampoo is recommended. Antibiotics are useful in controlling secondary skin infections. Although hair may grow back where it is lost, the new hair is different in texture than normal hair."

My article in the next issue will update you on the skin testing and treatment of SA currently being done. This information will be taken from the winter 1991 "Progress in SA Research" published by the Genodermatosis Research Foundation, Inc. Some local Pomeranian clubs want to support this research. The Poodle clubs are very active in their support.

WANT TO JOIN THE APC?

Be a part of the international club that bears the responsibility of promoting the Pomeranian breed to the world. The APC has grown tremendously through the caring and devotion of many Pomeranian breeders and owners, much like yourself.

APC membership shows you care about the breed and take pride in ownership.

APC membership shows you are concerned and want to stay abreast of all current issues affecting the future of the Pomeranian breed, whether it be health, standards, obedience, or general ownership.

As of June 1st all officers and board members have APC applications to go out. Also, your local club president, secretary or representative to the APC Local Clubs Committee will have them available. Besides the correct dues, you need two APC member sponsors, who are not related to you or to each other or who live in the same geographic area as you do.

Shirley Bradley

When I first met Shirley Bradley, in 1968, she informed me she thought she was a cat lover until she ran into Florence Ryals in the same year. The first time she saw a Pom she knew this breed was for her. She purchased a lovely white puppy. Now she knows she should have shown her. It is something she has regretted ever since. She was great-grandmother to Ch. Ryals Sir Blitzen bred by Florence and currently owned by Marie Smith. It is a shame Florence did not live to see Blitzen finish, she would have been so proud, since whites do not finish that easily even yet. It certainly would have been much harder to do in 1968.

Shirley decided she must breed these dogs so she obtained names of breeders from Florence and then the start of Bradley's kennels.

Outside Kennel (front view)

She purchased a bitch from Sally McGilbry and Edith Rose Mayes, both were daughters of Ch. Mayken's Handsome Playboy, along about that time she met

Inside Kennel

Alicia Kavamme (now Haggerston) and Alicia introduced her to dog shows. Where she met several other Pom folks including Jean Schroll. Who also owned Ch. Holder's A Lil Red Flash bred by Barbara Holder.

She decided to breed her first litter of Poms from Mayken's Fun Fun sired by Holder's Flaming Fanfare. This union produced a lovely puppy. Shirley decided she would take this puppy to her and the puppy's first fun match. She found that I was judging and I asked her "where did you get that puppy?" (this puppy finished her championship very easily) and Shirley pulled out a pedigree and found she was a niece of Ch. Holder's A Lil Red Flash. "Jean was campaigning (Texas as he was called). We became good friends and I asked Jean to handle for us and a close friendship has developed ever since. Jean has finished 7 dogs for us."

Shirley bred to "Texas" several times producing several championships from those unions.

Shirley found herself with 4 dogs in the ring at once, two were sired by Tomanoll dogs and two were sired by (Texas). I believe they all finished.

In the 70's Shirley and her daughter Cathy (Cathy worked for me on and off and showed dogs for Shirley and me from time to time), decided to visit the Ft. Worth-Dallas Pom Club. There they met Estelle MacDonald and Opal Mosher and she purchased Tomanoll's Tiny Teddy Bear (a lovely deep red) and a lasting friendship with these two great ladies.

In 1988 Opal decided to visit the N.W. and then found she could not stay away, she visited every year until she passed away of a stroke. She is missed very much.

Outside Kennel (side view)

In the beginning Shirley had a great success, finishing several dogs quite easily. She does not breed a lot of litters, so she has been out of the ring a lot of time.

Her latest dog to finish was a little male that went winners dog for 5 pts. at the Columbia Pom Specialty a couple of years ago. Right now she has a dog in the ring not owned by her, but bred by her.

Shirley has not been a prolific breeder, just a few.

In the beginning she was turned in to the dog control by someone for having too many dogs (where have we heard that before?) for the area she lived in. So her husband, nice guy that he is, decided to sell there present house and to move to the country, purchasing 20 acres and putting the house right in the middle of the property, the runs facing the house so she can see all of them at any time. The runs are covered so the red-tailed hawks don't have Poms for lunch. Her property is pretty woodsy. Now she has some of the

Shirley and Poms

"powers that be" telling prospective kennel builders to go and see her kennel, it is nicely designed.

Her whelping room is the spare bedroom where there are exercise pens and whelping boxes. When the puppies are old enough to leave the nest they are brought out into the kitchen area for socializing.

Her bloodlines have been sold all over the country. Tomanoll is no longer available except through very few people. The pure Aristic bloodline is almost gone.

Quote Shirley, "I hope that in some way I have contributed to the betterment of the breed."

This kennel visit was prepared and submitted by Jean Schroll.

For those wishing to contact Shirley Bradley, you may write to her c/o Expedition Publishing, PO Box A, Mastic Beach, NY 11951.

RECORDING SECRETARY

Happeth A. Jones

Happeth Jones has always regarded herself as a country girl. She was born in Kansas City, Kansas but she spent her childhood on a farm in the Ozarks of Missouri. As with most farm people she was fond of animals and especially of dogs. Her first dog was a shepherd mix named Pugs, who saved Happie's life by pulling her from in front of a truck. At age 8, Happie moved with her family to Nebraska City, Nebraska in rural Otoe County. Happie's grandmother had lived in Nebraska City for many years and that was the reason the family chose that place to settle.

For Happie, Nebraska City will always be "Home." it had been her grandmother's home for her whole life and Happie always had a deep attachment to her grandmother and to Nebraska City. Despite being born in the city and spending most of her adult life in suburbia, the rural farm country of eastern Nebraska, where her grandmother and great grandmother lived and worked as pioneer women that will always have first claim on her heart.

After high school Happie moved to Lincoln where she met young man in the Air Force and got married. She had a child, Theresa and eventually she and her husband and child came to Long Island where her husband's family lived. The marriage did not work out and after a couple of years it ended in divorce. For the next several years, Happie was a single parent trying to work and raise a child by herself. She worked as a model and assistant buyer at Lerner's until eventually she went to work first as a casework assistant and then as an examiner for the Suffolk County Department of Social Services.

This was the first period in her life when Happie did not have a dog because the places where she lived did not allow dogs. When she was finally able to get an apartment that did allow pets she got her daughter a Chihuahua, named Taco.

In 1973, Happie and I met. I also worked for the Department of Social Services. I was a widower with two children and on August 10, 1974 Happie and I were married. Happie, Teri and Taco moved in with me and my children, Ruth and Chris and my Collie, Royal. Everything was fine until Chris developed asthma and severe allergies. As a result both Royal and Taco had to go. Taco went to Happie's mother in Nebraska and Royal was adopted by a fine family.

For the second time in her life, Happie did not have a dog. As Chris grew his condition improved and finally, the doctor said we could have a dog again. About this time, Happie began to experience serious health problems. She became quite ill and was unable to continue working. She had to retire on a disability pension and for awhile it looked as though she would be a total invalid. She even had to give up her painting and drawing which had been her hobby for many years.

Finally, the doctors were able to stabilize her condition and she was able to have limited activity. Now that she felt better she needed some company during the day while Chris was at school and I was at work. At first, she wanted a Chihuahua but she was not able to find one. This led her to look at other breeds. She eventually bought a beautiful Pom named Shadow. Well, Shadow may not have been a show quality dog but in every other respect she was a great advertisement for the breed. She was affectionate, amazingly smart and just the best companion a person could want.

Now that she had a Pom, Happie was anxious to find out as much as she could about the breed. In February 1987, Happie attended her first Pom Specialty at the Roosevelt Hotel and got hooked. A little later Happie got her first show dog, Emcee's Wee Gold Yetta (Jolie). A year and a half later, Happie finished Jolie. I don't know whether I can convey the true role these wonderful little dogs and the desire they gave Happie to show played on her health improving to the extent it has.

Anyone, who has been sick for an extended period, will know how negatively such an illness can affect a person. The Poms kept Happie company; they entertained her with their antics; they demanded her attention; and they gave her something to strive for. The desire to show her dogs gave Happie the incentive she needed to fight back against her disease. While she is still handicapped, it would have been hard to believe six years ago that Happie would be able to do all she is now doing. The unstinting love of these marvelous little dogs played a very large role in her recovery.

I had made it clear that I did not want a houseful of dogs like some of the other dog people we have met. Happie joined the Pom club and promised that we would never have more than a few dogs at any one time. She now has a few (12) dogs and Happie is the Pom Club's Recording Secretary and I have decided that 12 Poms is not really so many. After all, they are very small.

EMBARASSING & FRUSTRATING MOMENTS WITH YOUR STUD DOG

Working from past experience, Happeth Jones wondered what embarrassing or frustrating experiences other breeders may have had in the past. She contacted other breeders and asked them to share their experiences with us. What follows are the responses she has received.

Try, Try, and Try Again

By Happeth Jones

The first experience I had in breeding my Pom gave me the impression that breeding was easy. The owner of the stud had me sit on the floor while she helped the male. The breeding went smoothly and my bitch eventually had puppies. So I didn't foresee any problems when I decided to breed my bitch to my male.

They danced around each other for a while then I sat on the floor and put the bitch between my legs, he mounted her and tried to mate her left hip, then her right hip, and then his favorite, up her back. He would work his way all the way up to her shoulder, a few times he even managed to get her head. This would go on until he eventually expended his energy and wouldn't try any more.

Matings were attempted twice a day for three days with each attempt being a repeat of the first. In the beginning I had been very scrupulous about where my hands touched. After all, this was ... well ... you know ... "sex." By the end of those three days all fastidiousness had gone. If I could have managed it I would have grabbed the necessary parts and placed them where they belonged. Finally, I drove fifty miles to the home of a professional handler I knew and she managed to get the breeding.

Spotty and the Church

By Dorothy Bonner

Our home in San Antonio with our growing family of Poms and house pet, was in an old aristocratic neighborhood of large colonial houses. On the corner across from us was the big Methodist Church, and the residence of the Pastor. Our son had acquired a small Fox Terrier who got along amicably with the Poms. She was independent with much ingenuity. This particular day she was in season and confined to Bob's room. Bob's friends had over run the house, and when they finally left for a movie, I looked in to check that Spotty was o.k., she was GONE! I called and went through our house, but no sign of Spotty. Outside, the yard was clear, but Spotty could jump the picket fence, so I opened the front gate. I could see something across the street. I crossed and there was Spotty right in front of the Minister's house securely tied with a German Shepherd. Her rear was in the air, and the situation looked hopeless. Embarrassed, I beat a hasty retreat and watched from inside the front door. Thoughts running through my head, "who are those horrible dogs?" "I don't know, I never saw them before." At least that would be half the truth. After a horrible half hour, Spotty was free and responded to my call to come back home.

Hiding the Bitch

By Sharon Masnick

My first show dog, and stud dog was Ch. Twin Pines Tico Tico. Tico was pointed and a proven stud when I acquired him at 14 months of age. At the time I purchased him, I also acquired a bitch with the plans of mating them on her next season. When the time arrived, I was anxious and nervous and wanted to do everything right. For two days, I held the bitch for him and he would attempt to mount her, back off, lay down and look at me. I was upset, I thought my dog wouldn't breed! Thank goodness, a breeder friend came to visit and I explained what was going on. She offered to try and in two minutes we had a tie. Well, I thought she was a miracle worker! We had discussed what I was doing and she asked me to show her what and how I was handling the hopeful mating. She immediately discovered my problem. Not only was I holding the bitch, but I was bending over her like a prized possession and hiding her body with mine. Poor Tico lacked room to mount her. Each time I assist at a breeding, I have to laugh at my "hiding the bitch." Thank goodness Cassandra Evans, Wee Hearts Kennel was willing to help me.

The Possessive Lover

By Beverly Norris

I have been very fortunate in having no embarrassing moments (yet). The frustrating experience came not long after Toasty coming home. Having him back after three years I went to breed him to one of my girls, after a tie (I hold both dogs in my arms) Toasty growled and tried to bite my face. He is very possessive of his mates and does not like to be disturbed during his breeding. At first I was very mad and talking to myself, I was telling him I didn't care if he was #1 Pom for three years, you bite me and you're dead meat! But as anyone I learned to cope with it, and everyone who witnessed his breedings, knows what I'm talking about. Through the years it has gone from frustrating to amusing. He has no teeth now, but he doesn't know it and to this day (he's 11 yrs.) he has not changed.

The Problem

Name withheld at writer's request

I had a ten month old male Pomeranian that I wanted to use at stud. The female was co-operative and the male performed like an experienced male. Everything progressed normally, although it did seem to be a long tie. Then the male went to sleep and in a few minutes the female also fell asleep - both still tied! After an hour, I became concerned. At one hour and twenty minutes, I decided to go to my vet with the "problem" and watch him laugh at me. I carried both dogs to the car with my aching back. Just as I started the ignition, they came apart. It has never happened again, thank goodness.

Robin

By Pauline B. Hughes

"Robin" (Ch. Preserven Gold Marvel) was a tiny, red male who had just finished his Amer. championship. I could truthfully say that he never turned a female down. This day Pauline Kivlin brought her little red female over from Coronado Island to breed. She told me she had to meet her daughter's school bus at the Ferry, ten minutes from me, at four o'clock. "Plenty of time" I said. It was then about 2pm.

We chatted awhile and then introduced the two Poms. They were tied within five minutes. We checked the time: two thirty. O.K. so we waited, and we waited. We made out the stud service papers to save time. Then we waited and waited some more. It got late, and at three thirty, I tried cold water, no luck. In desperation I tried to pull them apart, but gently, no luck. I got frantic. Pauline began to fidget. Finally she decided to go and come back after she picked up her daughter.

At exactly 4pm, Robin slipped out, kicked his heels and looked at me as if to say, "how did I do Mama?" An hour and a half, never before or since! What a record for my Poms. Result was two lovely red Poms a boy and a girl.

Helen's Two Pekes

By Pauline B. Hughes

Helen had two pet Pekes a male and female. She had hoped to have puppies one day. Didn't that generally happen? Seasons passed and each time she was disappointed. Finally, she gave up and decided to buy a Pom puppy from me (a show puppy) so we picked one out and hoped for the best.

A few months later she phoned me. "Pauline, what do you think, my Pekes must have made it after all." A month later she called again. "Pauline, do Peke puppies start out with ears that stand up?" After my "No," she said in distress. "I already sold the pretty one." I had to ask her if maybe her male puppy had been in the house with her Pekes. "Yes," she answered, but he is just a baby." I think he showed her.

Sir Percy of Point Loma

By Pauline B. Hughes

Mr. Jones wished to bring his larger female over to breed to Robin. "O.K." I told him. Robin is not intimidated by size." So they came over. We introduced them and she snapped at him. Robin snapped back saying to her, from my point of view. "You are only a girl, shut up." Mr. Jones put her down on the grass and she proceeded to run, with Robin after her. She wouldn't let him get within speaking distance of her. I was overwhelmed and embarrassed. The female had looked ready, when we checked her.

"Maybe she doesn't like him," I ventured. "He is so small. Let me get Percy, his son. He is bigger but also siring champions." (Ch. Sir Percy of Point Loma was a lovely red sable and a bit over four pounds. Side by side he looked much larger than Robin). In those days the smaller the better, show wise and breed wise.

The man agreed so I went in for Percy. I put him down and surprise of surprises the female came running over and the service was done without more ado. I could scarcely believe it. Do bitches have preferences too?

Put on the Spot

By Ruth L. Beam

Quite a number of years ago, a couple brought their bitch to me to be bred. A few days after she whelped, I received a call from the husband who was very upset with me because he said I had let his Pom get out and was bred to another dog as the pups had spots on them.

I told the man that there was no possible way his Pom could get out of my house and that I never took a visitor outside even to relieve herself. He said he saw two dogs with spots on them in a pen at my neighbor's house. I told him they were both females and assured him there was no way anyone's visitor could get outside as I was the only one that had access to visitors as I lived alone.

The man's wife finally remembered that she let their Pom out with her while working in her flowers for about 30 minutes a day or two before they brought her to me.

One of the most exasperating phone calls I ever received was from a pet owner who wanted me to let her breed her male to one of my matrons for a puppy. The conversation was much too long to put in this space. I told her I had several champion studs. She said her male was a champion even though he had never been entered in a dog show. She wound up offering me money if I would use her male. Her ignorance was unbelievable. I'm sure many of our club members have had this same experience.

BIG BROTHER IS WATCHING

By Mary Vickers

The APC "ISSN"

Wouldn't it be nice if the POM REVIEW were like other magazines like National Geographic and carried in the small print on the first few pages those funny numbers? "ISSN 0000-0000." That would mean the POM REVIEW had finally arrived!

Imagine my surprise when I talked with the National Serials Data the Library of Congress and found we have had one for years. Not only that but this obscure government agency has a history on us as long as the POM REVIEW has been in business! They did have a problem however, they thought in 1990 we may have moved to Virginia - possibly Virginia Beach, but were not sure. They had a bit of trouble understanding that we were in Virginia, but now are in New York. Everything has been straightened out.

It seems that a few years back one of the past editors applied a Second Class Mailing status from the US Postal Service to send the REVIEW. This gave us a USPS number, but that has died. Apparently any printed matter sent through the Post Office automatically gets sent to the National Serials Data Program. Once there it is given this ISSN.

The ISSN stands for the International Standard Serial Number. I internationally accepted code for the identification of serials: magazines, journals, newspapers and the like. The ISSN consists of 8 digits. The Pom Review is ISSN 0744-8546.

What use do these numbers have? It means very little to us, but brochure - "the ISSN provides serials publishers, subscription agencies, abstracting and indexing services, librarians, and purveyors of computer based reference services with a tool for economically communicating basic information" about us. Or rather what we put in the REVIEW.

"A database of all ISSN assignments is maintained at the Paris headquarters." Also a similar record is carried in the database of the Online Computer Library Center, which is used by over 2,500 libraries in the United State.

Does this mean that you could just go to your local library and REVIEW? No, but you might be able to find out that the POM REVIEW exists!

The ISSN does us no harm. It is free and we are already enrolled it is more like the POM REVIEW having it's own social security number. It's own international identity. But it was very strange hearing some unknown person read from a computer things about the POM REVIEW that I had no idea they knew.

Now if I could only find the REVIEW on the shelves of the Library of Congress. That will come.

COPYRIGHTED

The APC has taken official steps (that is we have filed the official $20.00 form) so the POM REVIEW is formally copyright protected by registration. The same is true of our APC logo. Actually the copyright is secured automatically when any of this magazine is created. Going through with the forms and money gives us more legal standing.

What this means to you ... let's say you like the Pom that appears and you want to use it on your stationary. You cannot. It belongs to the APC and has belonged to the APC since Chris Hertz created it for us. If you use it, we can actually take you to court.

The same is true of anything printed in the POM REVIEW. Let's say you place an ad in the REVIEW, you could not place the exact same ad in say, The Canine Chronicle. You can run the same picture and say nearly the same things, but not the exact same thing.

There is an 'out.' Say you read a terrific Obedience article in the March issue that you think should be republished in Front and Finish. All you have to do is ask! Permission for use can be obtained.

STATISTICS ON POMS

According to the figures released by the AKC in 1990, there were individual Poms registered during that time frame. Poms by individual registration remain where they were in 1989, in 14th place out of 131 breeds.

26,585 litters of Poms were registered in 1990, keeping us in 3rd. In the last 5 years there have been 150,000 Pomeranians given individual registration by the AKC. It makes you wonder how many were not registered? Sometimes it is nice to have Big Brother watching. □

OBEEDIENCE NEWS

By Brenda Hutton

Recently a lovely letter arrived from Lois Hamil. She wanted me to let everyone know about the Eastern Regional Gaines Tournament which will be held in New England in 1994. The Yankee Spirit Dog Obedience Association has been formed to organize, plan and fund-raise for the event. Individual membership into the Association is $20, a one-time fee, and includes free entry the whole weekend of the event as well as a membership pin and pride in supporting obedience. Club or organization membership is a one-time fee of $200 which includes advertising in the show catalog and 10 free passes for the regional. They need to raise between $30-$50,000. If you'd like to be a part of this event, you may contact: Yankee Spirit D.O.A., P.O. Box 322, N. Brookfield, MA, 01535 or you may also call MaryJo Baldwin at 508/867-5780.

Utility A

Lilae Shope FINALLY called to tell me about her first utility leg on SHOPE'S CUPID BELLA DONNA CDX, after already discovering this tidbit in the Gazette Awards. (I just don't understand why everyone isn't bursting at the seams to get Utility legs!!!) They managed this feat after showing in Open for several years, stopping for a couple of litters, one of which produced Lilae's first Champion which was entirely breeder/owner handled. This leg came as an early Christmas present December 1, 1990 at the Philadelphia DTC with a 184.5 and 3rd place under T.E. Wickel. Way to go Lilae! And the next leg, CALL ME!! I love to share wonderful news.

Jimmie Lawrence is another person who's forgotten to call me with her monumental news about Utility. She and CRICKETTES MIDNIGHT SONG CS CDX (Breeder: Renee Lawrence) have earned 2 legs since last we heard from them. The first came September 16, 1990 with a 182.0 and 2nd place at Greater Collin KC under Mrs. BJ Baker. They then earned a 177.0 and 3rd place at Faith City KC under Mrs. C. Wright on October 28. They were also showing in Open and received a 197.0 (which didn't even place!) at Cen-Tex KC under Mrs. S.J. Jednacz and a 196.5 and 2nd place at Oklahoma City OTC under R. Gates. Nice job Jimmie and Crickette! Now let's hear from you when you have such good news!

Open A

Trudy Adair is out there making her presence known. She and TYKIES JACKI Bb OF TINYTYKES CD (Breeder: Ina F. Kniffin) have just finished their CDX.

They began with a 190.5 at Rockland County KC and followed up with a 179.5 at Ulster DTC and a 189.5 and 2nd place at Central New York KC which also earned him a beautiful trophy for highest scoring therapy dog in trial.

NOVICE B

Amy Wolf has another CD, this time on DOVER-HOLIHOUSE DISBUDSFURU (Breeders: Kathryn Hartz and D. Ninatoski and Patricia Foley from Annon's Image In Black 'N Tan x CH. Annon's Lea' Tar of Dover). They came out in May of '90 with a 188.0 and 3rd place at Windham County KC. Then they followed up with a 187.5 at Nathan Hale Obedience Club last November and another 187.5 at South Windsor KC.

Cathy Anderson and CATES CRIMMSON LEATHER N LACE (Breeder: Janette Bader) also did some nice work to earn a CD. In May of 1990 they earned a 180.5 at North Shore DTC. It looks like they went back to school and really improved. Last November they earned a 193.0 at Westside DTC, a 193.5 at Car-Dun-Al OTC and a 186.0 at Fox Valley DTC. Good work!

Trudy Adair also has another Pom on the obedience trail, namely EMMY'S GLORIA OF TINY TYKES (Breeder: Ina F. Kniffin), call name "Lori". They earned their first CD leg 2/18/90 at Hartford, CT with a 172.0 under judge Sharon Redmer, who commented, "I wish I could give points for CUTE." They got their second leg 11/4/90 at Ulster DTC with a 173.5 and finished with a 187.5 at Central New York KC 11/11/90; and Trudy says that same day Lori's brother, Jackie (mentioned above), finished his CDX. She also says that both Lori and Jackie are registered therapy dogs. Trudy, it's wonderful that you are able to show people that Poms are both an even-tempered, adaptable and friendly breed besides being very intelligent and desiring to please. You are a great ambassador for our breed!

We hear from Helen Tyler again with her latest CD on PETTISTREE FOREVER (Breeder: Woodrow W. Scott). In April of '90 they earned a pair of 192.0's at Greater Ocala Dog Club and Greater Gainesville Dog Fanciers Assoc., the second earned them a 1st place. After some apparent fine-tuning they came out again in November for two weekends with: 196.5 and 2nd place at Seminole Dog Fanciers Assoc. under Mrs. M.G. Jonas; a 195.0 and 3rd place at Inverness Florida KC under Ken Buxton; a 188.5 and 2nd place at Greater Ocala Dog Club; and a 195.5 and 3rd place at Greater Gainesville Dog Fanciers Assoc. under C. Jones. Very nice job, Helen!

We have another Bench Champion out there doing their thing with obedience. CH. JANESA'S CHATAWA BIG ORANGE (Breeder: Jerrie Freia by CH. Theldun's Almond Fudge x Janesa's Sunkist Runner), with his owner Billy Ann Terry completed their CD last November with some nice scores. At Lake Eustis KC they earned a 193.5 and 2nd place, followed by a 187.0 at Seminole Dog Fanciers Assoc. They finished with a terrific 195.5 and 3rd place at Montgomery KC under W.N. Dillard. Sounds like Jerrie's breeding some pretty smart Poms to me!

Linda Brodt also has a CD on HONEY B BEAR (Breeder: Phyllis McGovern). Their record is a 190.5 and 3rd place at Phoenix Field and Obedience Club (they lost a run off for 2nd place) November 4, 1990. They followed that with a 192.0 and 1st place at Scottsdale Dog Fanciers Assoc. and another 3rd place with a 189.5 at Prescott Arizona KC. Nice job, Linda!

TRU-KEP MEADOW CHABLAIS (Breeder: Trudy B. Keplinger out of CH. Theldun's Dandee Sensation x Keplingers' Princess Buffy) and her owner, Linda Bradshaw also have completed their CD. After starting with a 196.5 and no placement at Camden County KC under L.W. Blum, they went on to earn a 197.0 and 1st place the next weekend at Cape May County OTC under Ms. K.A. Hertzog and a 193.5 the following weekend at Lower Camden County DTC.

Mary Straslicka has a CD on MARLORN'S NO-SEE-UM (Breeder: Owner by CH. Blake's Sir Robert John x Magic Omen's Storm Angel). They showed last fall earning a 180.0 at Toledo Kennel Club, a 185.5 at Lorain County KC, and a 190.5 at Medina KC.

Novice A

Joyce Hayes worked hard and earned a CD with SUMI II (Breeder: Georgia A. Mc Crory). October 28 they got a 189.0 and 2nd place at Suhuaro State KC; December 1 saw them receive a 191.5 and 4th place at Yuma KC; followed the next day with a 181.5 at Imperial Valley KC. Congratulations, Joyce.

Anna Goins is another novice with her first CD on CASEY LEE (Breeder: Gerada H. McAbee). It seems I've missed a score, but I've recorded a 194.0 and 3rd place at Lexington KC under Buss Taylor and a 188.5 at Columbus All Breed Training Club last November.

Marla Berger and her Pom WYNDAMERE'S LITTLE FIZZBIN (Breeder: Catherine E. Ferguson) achieved their first CD last fall. Showing in September and November they earned a 180.5 at Logansport KC, a 191.5 at Central Indiana KC and a 191.0 and 4th place at Steel City Kennel Club.

As always, call me! You'll probably get the answering machine, but I sure love hearing from you. Happy heeling and terrific tracking!

You may call Brenda at (517) 485-5183. If you're shy of answering machines why not track her down by writing to: Brenda Hutton, 102 Tudor Lane, Lansing, MI 48906.

Beeble's Pet Shop

By Linda Teresko

The trill of canaries poured out the door of Mr. Beebles' Pet Shop. Saturday mornings were usually busy. Located on Elden Street between Tandy's shoestore and Rexalls, the small shop hummed this sunny morning with the buzz of aquarium pumps. The smell of cedar shavings hung dustily in the air.

People, usually accompanied by their kids, were buying bird seed and additions to their habitrails - a fat lady was at the checkout counter, her pudgy arms full of catnip toys.

Behind the counter, half asleep on his little blue plaid cushion bed, dozed Joey, a five pound orange sable Pomeranian. The little dog had no interest at all in the activity this morning. To him it was just another boring day full of strange people and familiar sounds.

Mr. Beebles was an older man - old enough to start thinking about retirement, but as with most men, afraid to let go of a business that had provided him with a purpose in life.

The pet shop was not his sole source of income. Over the years, he and the Mrs. had invested in real estate. The goal was to make enough money in these investments so they could comfortably retire in Florida. Yes Sir, palm trees, sunny skies and a small bungalow with the wife would be the golden years. Maybe even get a boat, he had always dreamed of lazy afternoons on the water fishing for specks, coming home to a nice supper, a few beers on the porch.

They had no kids. They had always had a dog. The first one a Collie mix named Blue. Blue was the Misses favorite color and he had one blue eye. The years passed by with the two other dogs, both mixed breeds, enjoying a good life the dogs shared with them.

One rainy night in September, Mrs. Beebles came home with a towel wrapped around a small bundle. She unwrapped the towel on the living room floor at her husband's feet. Out popped a tiny ball of fluff, tail down, sniffing the rug.

"What the heck is that?" Beebles said as he dropped his newspaper onto the floor.

"He's a Pomeranian, and he's got papers and I paid $500.00 dollars for him."

"Where did you get the money for that?"

"Bingo. I've finally saved up for the dog I want. His name is Joey."

Joey walked over to the newspaper on the floor, tail snapping up, and promptly wet on the real estate section.

"See, he's already housebroken!"

Mrs. Beebles loved that dog, and Mr. Beebles realized this was the first dog they ever had that truly made her happy.

Mrs. Beebles became very ill the following year and doctors instructed her to stay in bed. Joey laid in bed with her and remained a constant source of love and companionship for the woman until the end.

Mr. Beebles spent every available hour at the pet shop to keep himself busy. Joey accompanied him all the time now. Dreams of Florida faded. Joey even seemed to be depressed by an emptiness he couldn't understand.

"Excuse me Mister."

A skinny blue eyed girl about 12 years old was leaning on the front counter looking curious.

"How much do your hamsters cost? I'm saving to buy one."

"They're $3.00 dollars. But you need to buy a cage for him if you don't have one."

"Of course I know that" she bluntly said.

"I plan a habitrail too. But right now all I want is to know how much the hamster costs. You've told me that already, thank you."

The kid was walking toward the door.

"Hey, wait a minute." Beebles whisked around the counter and stopped the kid as she was opening the door.

Joey opened one eye. He sensed something was going on. He ran over to them.

"Oh he's so cute." The girl scooped him up and Joey promptly began licking her face.

Mr. Beebles stood back. The shop was full of customers now. But the only thing he saw was Joey licking the girl's face and wagging his tail.

"He's certainly taken a shine to you. I haven't seen him that excited in over a year.

"Oh, what's his name?"

"What's your name young lady?"

December 17, 1977 - October 9, 1990

It's taken a long time for me to be able to write this and it's still very difficult. Jeff and I did a lot together....living, loving, laughing, crying, and the list goes on.

He was a wonderful friend and is terribly missed.

"Linda, sir, Linda Rhodes. What kind of dog is he?"

"Well to answer your first question, his name is Joey, and he is a Pom a Pomeranian to be exact.

"Your name must be Mr. Beebles" she replied.

The little dog wriggled closer up to the girl's soft blonde hair and rubbed his face along her cheek.

"Well aren't you a bright young whipper snapper."

"Don't have to be bright to see your name on the store sign out front." Mr. Beebles was impressed. The kid was smart and attentive. But what really impressed him was the new found attitude Joey was showing. Something he hadn't seen in the little Pom in a long time. The tiny dog's eyes shined and sparked a smile in them that reminded him of his wife. For a moment his memory jolted back to a warm and good feeling. A feeling he hadn't felt since the good old days when the Mrs. was healthy and Florida was the place to be. He even thought of greyhound races. The momentary trance came to a stop by the bell clanging on the counter. A customer was impatiently standing there.

"Heh, what's the price of this doggie sweater? It's not marked." It was one of those gaudy dog items that had a turtleneck collar and fire hydrants printed along the sides. The woman holding it was wearing a sweatshirt with the words "I Love My Dog" splashed across the front.

Mr. Beebles was jolted out of his frozen stance. Linda had been oblivious to everything too. She and Joey seemed to be wrapped up in their own world. Joey's face was smiling. His little sliver of tongue curled up, ending in a point.

"Is he for sale?" Linda asked.

"He certainly is NOT!", Beebles retorted. "Never sold a dog anytime in my shop. Never kept a dog or even a cat here. Never saw it a necessity. Too much work cleanin up after em. Besides, it wouldn't be fair to the little buggers to be cooped up in this dusty old shop. Got enough people, like the old biddy at the counter, wantin to buy some silly canine coat for her mutt to wear.

"But you got Joey here."

"Joey is special. He comes to work with me every day. Besides, I thought you was interested in a hamster?"

"Well, I do want one. But he's cuter than a dozen hamsters put together"

Beebles was getting agitated. The old lady at the counter was tapping on the bell purposefully.

"You just wait here young lady. I gotta make some sales before the natives get restless." He winked at the girl and she winked back.

"What a bright kid" he thought.

After several purchases had been rung up, the crowd began to thin out. Linda and Joey had settled down to a corner of the shop. She was lying on the floor and Joey was bouncing around he as she wiggled her fingers in front of him.

"You know, I've been thinking," Beebles said. "I could use some extra help. What with the birds and cleanin up their cages and all the inventory that needs to be taken care of. Well, if you really want that hamster, you could help me out with the shop. You could get the habitrail and whole set of works in just a couple of weeks."

The young girl stood up. Joey lay on the floor, his head cocked to one side. He was watching her.

"You mean I got a job?"

"Gracious God girl, you not only got a job, but you can start right now! Sweep these aisles real good and then you gotta take Joey out for his walk."

Linda had finished sweeping the floors and rearranging pet supplies. "Where's his leash and collar? He looks like he's ready to go!"

The old man stood back. He was still behind the counter waiting on a few straggling customers.

"Well to be quite honest, I haven't taken Joey for a walk in a long time."

"You've got plenty of leashes and collars here. May I pick one out for him?"

"Sure, why not." The old man said.

Linda walked over to the display stand and chose a tiny rolled leather collar with a thin leash to match. Beebles heart skipped a beat. She had picked out a blue leash and collar similar to the one his wife had when she had taken Joey for his afternoon walks. She slipped the collar on the Pom. He started hopping in the aisle. The girl and dog left the shop. Beebles watched them prance down the sidewalk. The sun was shining brightly. It's rays bounced off the girl's hair and made Joey's coat gleam as he trotted along.

Two weeks passed. Beebles was reading a brochure on Florida - deep sea fishing.

The sale had been a success.

Linda walked into the shop. "We gotta clean out the guppie tanks today" she said.

Joey ran to her feet. He sat there quietly. Ears pricked up.

Linda looked around. Practically everything was gone.

"Sold," Beebles said. Almost everything."

"Why? What's going on?"

"I'm packin it in. Goin to Florida." He scratched his head.

"Don't know why it took me so long to decide to go. But I've been thinking about it for the past couple weeks..."

"What about the shop?" Linda's blue eyes were wide in shock. She looked down at the Pom. She was almost afraid to ask. "What about Joey?"

"What about your hamster?"

Joey pawed gently on Linda's leg. She picked him up. He licked her face. His long guard hairs crushed softly against her cheek.

"I sort of lost interest in the hamster. Besides, I see they're all gone too."

"Well, I gathered that much," Beebles said. "You've been so busy fussing over that Pom, I figured a dozen hamsters couldn't hold your interest now. Yep, the shop is sold. Got a pretty penny for it, too. Some young guy and his wife bought it. They're gonna turn it into one of those fancy cheese and wine gourmet shops, where you gotta pay your life's savings for a hunk of cheese."

Linda was very quiet. She could only hear Joey's excited panting clicking in her ear.

"But, Beebles said, if you look behind the counter, you'll find some things I want you to have."

Linda quietly walked behind the register. On the floor lay a new blue plaid cushion bed, two blue ceramic dog bowls, and a blue leash and collar. She put Joey down, and went over to the bed. She picked up the leash and collar. Joey started hopping on his back legs, front paws waving excitedly in the air.

"Well, can you figure it out?" Beebles said.

Linda's face beamed. "You don't have to be bright to figure this one out," she cried.

"Reckon not," he said. "Looks like Joey thinks he's goin for a walk."

Linda slipped the collar and leash on the little dancing dog. The two of them raced to the door and skipped out onto the sidewalk.

Beebles watched them run down Elder Street. The morning looked especially sunny today. He had lots of good feelings inside. He thought of palm trees and sandy beaches. He thought of catching blues on his own boat.

He watched two happy souls skipping around the corner, and heard the young girl say, "you know Joey, blue's my favorite color."

After a four year absence it's nice to be back breeding and showing. I finished ten champions under my former kennel name, Cherokee Pomeranians. Quite by accident I came across a remarkable little male not ten miles from where I live. His owners were selling all their Poms due to illness. Of course I couldn't resist buying him on the spot. That male was Stylestepper Mark of Oakridge who quickly attained his championship with several Best of Breeds and twice going up over Best In Show Specials.

Now comes the hard part. Building a breeding program from ground zero. We are still looking for nice bitches in his line if anyone can be of help.

I'm also looking for a breedable size female from my past breeding days. Does anyone know who owns Ch. Cherokee's Summer Fashion? Anyone who owns Poms with my old champions in the pedigree who are willing to sell something to me please write or call.

The biggest difference I see in showing Poms now and showing them five years age is the grooming. So much shaping the coat. One needs to be an expert groomer to be competitive. So who do you think missed the grooming demonstration sponsored by our local Pomeranian Club! Duty called and I had to work that night.

It's been nice renewing old acquaintances and meeting people I had only spoken to on the phone. Carolyn Roberts, Sue White, Eleanor Miller, Norma Creider, all lovely, charming ladies who extended their hospitality to me. Thank you for making me welcome.

I just finished reading the article by Margaret McKee titled Beyond AKC Obedience and would like to add my two cents worth on the Gaines Events.

Each year for the past five, I and my K-9 friend, have been one of the lucky teams to be able to compete in the Gaines Regionals. I have yet to win or even place, but the honor of rubbing elbows with some of the finest trainers and their dogs and to compete on this high level of professionalism is a thrill beyond words.

Like everything else inflation has hit the Gaines events with the price being $60.00 to enter in Novice, Open $75.00 in Superdog. That's still a bargain since this is for showing three times in Novice or Open, or six times in the Superdog division. The price of the entry fee also includes a great banquet and entertainment on Saturday night.

Because the entries are limited to 70 in Novice, 60 in Open and Superdog, it is essential that the exhibitor sent the application off as soon as the qualifying scores are obtained. In the Regionals, the exhibitor must have three scores of 193 or above, and for the Gaines Classic, the exhibitor must have three scores of 195 or above.

Yes, things are done a little different at a Gaines Event and I think for the better. There are warm up rings, where each team is allowed five minutes to get the last minute jitters out. Upon completing your performance in the ring, you are given a score indicating the number of points off and at the same time a large board is raised so the audience can see your score too. A perfect score is a zero, not a 200. For run-offs in Novice and in Open, the Off-Lead Figure Eight and Drop on Recall. A runoff in Superdog is the signal exercise.

The Gaines Obedience Competitions are something to be seen whether you are into obedience or not. To see a team, be it a Pomeranian with it's trainer or a Lab with it's trainer, at a Gaines Event a dog and his or her trainer is poetry in motion.

By the way, this year's Gaines events are held at Tulsa, Oklahoma on June 15th and 16th, York, Pennsylvania on July 27th and 28th, Salt Lake City on August 10th and 11th, with the Classic at Sacramento, California on November 23rd and 24th.

Thanks for hearing me out. As you can tell, I LOVE the Gaines Events!

PS: I will be at Salt Lake and at Sacramento competing with a Peke and a Pom.

Among Spice's accomplishments to date are 2 Best In Match awards, one as a 6 mos. 3 day old pup, with an entry of about 800, and again as an adult with an entry of 1,100 dogs in the prestigious Spartan Mid-Winter Fun Match. In Canada, she's defeated an Amer. Ch. twice and been awarded both a Group 3 and Group 4! And she's always been Breeder/Owner handled! "Angel"

She was born at Xmas time, a very welcome gift, especially since this would be her mom's last litter. Thus becoming our ANGEL. Angel finished with 4 majors. Thank you judges, Janice Luginsland, M. McCoy, L. White, R. Prichard, R. Graham and Dr. R. Berndh (see pedigree behind new titlists). We will be bringing out two tiny Sundancer sons soon, plus a grandson, who is for sale to a show home. Other Ch. sired male pups for sale (LLL/Millamor/Oakridge) guaranteed finishable. Phone calls preferred 10-12pm.
